Warnick Finishes Baseball Career At Colby-Sawyer

Ben Warnick, South Deerfield, Mass., recently completed his collegiate baseball career at Colby-Sawyer College in New London, N.H., as a three-year starter for the CSC Chargers, who play in the Commonwealth Coast Conference.

Warnick is the son of Rod and Deb Warnick of South Deerfield, and the grandson of Mahlon and Dot Warnick, Grantsville.

Warnick received the Coaches' Award at the student athlete banquet for his leadership as the team's catcher. He finished the season with a .993 fielding average while hitting .244.

The Chargers concluded their season with their best conference record (13-9) since winning the conference championship in 1999.

Warnick was recruited to play at CSC after a strong high school career in which he was a two-time All-Western Massachusetts catcher for the Frontier Redhawks of South Deerfield, Mass. He was also a starting catcher for three seasons for Northampton Legion Post 28, and the 16-year-old Mickey Mantle team that finished second in the state championship in 2001. He received the Franklin-Hampshire League Umpires Scholarship and a Rising Scholar scholarship to attend Colby-Sawyer College in 2003.

He was also a standout in soccer and basketball while in high school.

Warnick graduated with a BS degree in sports management and business administration in May. He made the student athlete honor roll and all-academic team, and served on the Student Athlete Advisory Council. He was sports writer for the student newspaper in the off season.

Warnick will begin employment this fall in the Boston College Athletic Department as a media specialist covering football, soccer, basketball, and baseball.

Warnick continues to play baseball in the summer for the Tri-County League's Northampton Teddy Bear Pools, and is currently batting over .400.

Maryland State Police Investigate Rt. 560 Accident

Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack is currently investigating a motor vehicle accident that occurred last Saturday between the hours of 2 and 5 a.m. on southbound Rt. 560 (Gorman Road) and Apache Trail.

The accident caused property damage to several mailboxes and vehicles along the road. The suspect vehicle, believed to be a white 2005 Dodge Durango, involved in the accident left the scene. The suspect vehicle sustained heavy damage and was driven toward Loch Lynn, where it became disabled and was towed from a welding shop located south of Loch Lynn.

Persons with information should contact Tfc. D.T. Wagoner at the McHenry Maryland State Police Barrack at 301-387-1101.

Applications To Be Accepted For Education Grants

The Maryland Higher Education Commission announces that it is accepting proposals from institutions of higher education interested in providing teacher training as part of the federal government's "No Child Left Behind" program. The purpose of the grants is to provide professional development to teachers and principals in core academic subject areas.

The awards total approximately $8 million with a maximum grant of $200,000. Grants will be awarded to K-16 partnerships that include at least one public or private institution of higher education and its division that prepares teachers and principals; a school of arts and sciences; and a "high-need" local education agency (LEA), which is defined by law as a school system with a high number of students living in poverty and a high percentage of teachers who are either teaching outside the areas in which they were trained or who lack full certification.

The partnership may also include additional LEAs, nonprofit cultural organizations, educational service agencies, teacher or principal organizations, businesses, and certain other entities.

The grants will be awarded on a competitive basis and must be used to improve teacher quality, increase the number of highly qualified teachers and principals, and increase the academic achievement of Maryland students.

A technical assistance meeting is scheduled for Aug. 24 at the Gateway Business and Technology Training Center, Room 2, in Columbia at 6751 Columbia Gateway Drive. Proposals are due on Dec. 12, and grant awards will be made in February.

Further information can be obtained by visiting the web site at http://www.mhec.state.md.us/Grants/ITQ/ITQ.asp or by calling Paula Fitzwater at 410-260-4504.

Preston County
Farm Service Agency Reports

Eric M. McCartney, County Executive Director
Preston County FSA Office
425 E. Main St., Suite 420, Kingwood, WV 26537-1793
304-329-1923

Eric McCartney, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, reminds farmers of the availability of Farm Storage Facility loans.

The Farm Service Agency is offering seven-year, low-cost loans to producers of corn, grain sorghum, oats, wheat, and barley for structures to store and handle dry grain, as well as structures to store these commodities when they are harvested as other than whole grain. However, flat storage structures to store commodities as dry hay are not eligible for loans.

Interest rates are subject to change monthly; however, the interest rate in effect at the time of loan approval is the rate in effect for the term of the loan. The interest rate for loans approved in August 2007 is 5.000 percent.

The maximum loan amount shall not exceed 85 percent of the net cost of the applicant's needed storage or handling equipment not to exceed $100,000 per loan, even for independent borrowers obtaining loans on joint structures.

Crop insurance is required for all insurable crops produced on the farm that are considered to be of economic significance. Such crops include any insurable crop that contributes 10 percent or more of the total value of all crops grown by the loan applicant. Multi-peril insurance is also required on the structure for the term of the loan.

Eligible storage and handling equipment includes new structures that are upright, bunker-type, horizontal, or open silo structures designed for whole grain storage, or other than whole grain storage structures having a useful life of 10 years. Also eligible for loans are remanufactured oxygen-limiting storage structures built to the original manufacturer's design specifications using original manufacturer's "rebuild kits" designed for whole grain storage or other than whole grain storage, also having a useful life of at least 10 years.

Also eligible under the Farm Storage Facility Loan Program are loans for renovating existing storage without an increase in storage capacity and the purchase of safety equipment as required by Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) and meeting Occupational and Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) requirements such as lighting, and inside and outside ladders.

To obtain a Farm Storage Facility loan or further information regarding loans, persons are invited to visit the Farm Service Agency office located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone 304-329-1923.

Local Firefighters Battle Sweeping Fires Out West

Four local firefighters, among a group of 17 men and three women, recently completed a two-week tour of duty, helping to battle the fires that have been blazing across the West.

From July 11 through 26, Mark Beals, Cumberland (formerly of Grantsville), of Green Ridge State Forest, Mike Fazenbaker, McHenry, of the Wildlife and Heritage Service, Eric Warnick, Swanton, of the Natural Resources Forest Service, and Rick Long, Oakland, also of the Natural Resources Forest Service, worked 12 to 16 hour days in 110 degree heat striving to contain the fires. They slept in tents during the much cooler nights.

The crew spent the first two days at a 66,000-acre fire at the Highway 93 Complex in Jackpot, Nev., before moving on to the Tongue Complex in southwest Idaho, where their help was needed more.

The men worked as an initial attack crew in fire line construction to contain the fires, structure protection, and mop-up, which is making sure the that fire is contained and double-checking the situation.

The Maryland Natural Resources Forest Service is responsible for the containment of natural fuel fires, which include woods, grass, and wildland. The Forest Service trains individuals in the skills needed to travel on such assignments — the individuals are required to be volunteer firefighters or DNR state employees.

The response time in accepting the assignment of these tours of duty is sometimes very short. If they decide to go, individuals sometimes have just 24 hours to respond.

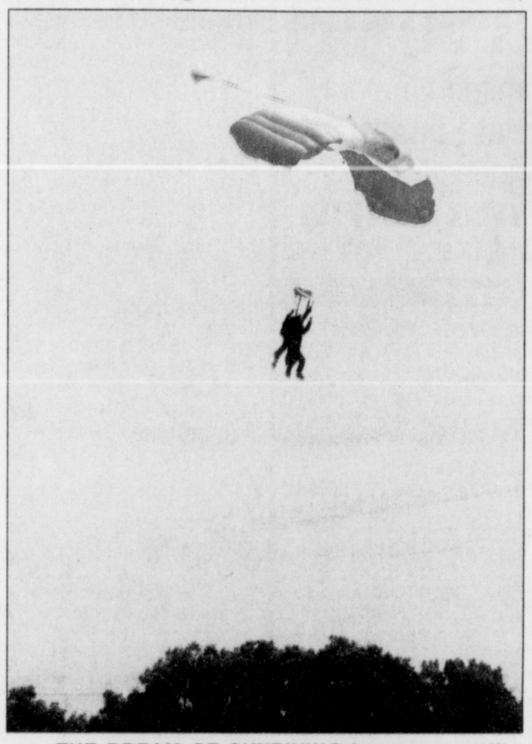
This was the sixth trip battling fires for Beals, who acted as squad boss. "We are another resource to help. Resources are exhausted, and these locations will take any help available," said Beals. He expressed a sense of gratitude from the people he met while working out West. He said that he appreciated the camaraderie and enjoys helping to protect the outdoors.

Warnick remembers most how well they all came together as a team.

"The firefighters of Maryland Crew No. 1 really pulled together as a team —they looked out for each other, helped each other, and did the task at hand," he said. "I also really remember most the sense of gratitude we received from the people out there that we helped."

The second group of Maryland firefighters was headed out West as these men and women returned, and international crews are also being recruited to help fight these fires.

"These fires are catastrophic," Warnick said. "The fire problem there is as extreme as it can be at the present time."



THE DREAM OF SKYDIVING became a reality for Deer Park resident Lonnie Rodeheaver last Friday. Hooking up with world champion Robbie Spencer, Rodeheaver took the flying leap over the skydiving institute in Chambersburg, Pa. He said that the experience "would never be matched," although he says he is looking forward to another freefall in the near future. Rodeheaver, pictured far right with Spencer, also expressed his appreciation to Spencer and the staff at the institute for their "class and professionalism."

HEALTH CENTER WEEK PROCLAIMED – The Garrett County commissioners on Tuesday proclaimed Aug. 5-11 as National Health Center Week. "America's Health Centers: Your Health Care Home" is the theme of this year's national campaign, underscoring the importance of access to affordable health care. A "startling" 56 million Americans – nearly one in five residents – do not have access to a health care home to address their basic needs, according to a report by the National Association of Community Health Centers. Health centers provide care for 16 million Americans, and they never turn anyone away – regardless of insurance status or ability to pay, the proclamation notes. "Everyone should have a health care home where they can go to address their basic health care needs, such as a common cold or a migraine," said Jill Utterback, CEO of Mountain Laurel Medical Center (MLMC). "Access to affordable health care through a health center is the best and most effective way to fight disease, reduce unmet medical needs, and lower health care costs. That is why MLMC is celebrating National Health Center Week 2007: to spread the word to our elected leaders that our good health depends on the support of health centers." TIME TO MOVE!

When you've found the home of your dreams, you don't want to delay in producing your offer to purchase, so it's a great benefit to know what to expect in advance. While there is no foolproof formula for negotiating a fair price, you can begin by looking at recent sales in the neighborhood and comparing their list price to their final sale price.

If homes are generally selling at 5% below list, you have that starting point for determining your offer. Once a price has been accepted, it's time to put it into high gear by obtaining your financing, scheduling a home inspection, and establishing a closing date. Your offer should be contingent upon securing a loan and a satisfactory "walk-through" before closing.

Earnest money, or the "deposit" on your purchase, will be placed in escrow. It will eventually transfer to the sellers, or will be refunded to you if any unsettled issues prevent the closing of the transaction. If major repairs are needed, the seller may fix the problems, or offer a reduction in price. With such a contingency clearly stated in your offer, you can walk away from the deal if the seller doesn't comply.

As these few considerations are the tip of the iceberg, your best bet is to always work with a real estate professional, whose objectivity and experience help guarantee a smooth transaction. If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Summer SLUMP

Jimmie Johnson battling to avoid his seasonal swoon

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Since he joined the Nextel Cup circuit full time in 2002, Jimmie Johnson has been amazingly consistent, winning 27 races, scoring 76 top-five and 122 top-10 finishes in 204 career starts. And he never has finished worse than fifth in the final standings.

But just as regularly, he has suffered a late-summer swoon before rebounding at season's end.

In 2002, he was second in the standings heading into Watkins Glen but dropped to third by the 30th of 36 points races that season. In 2003, he dropped from fourth to fifth in the same span, while in 2004, the swoon was more pronounced — from first to ninth, in part because of the resetting of points at the start of the Chase for the Nextel Cup.

In 2005, he was second heading into The Glen, but fifth after 30 races. Last year, in his championship season, he went from a 107-point lead over runner-up Matt Kenseth to eighth, 156 points behind then-leader Jeff Burton, during the same period.

After a fifth-place finish at Pocono on Sunday, he's seventh in the Cup standings, 612 points behind leader Jeff Gordon.

Johnson said last week that summer swoons are old hat for him.

"I remember different summer months having trouble at the Cup level, and then I've been through it in Busch and off-road ranks as well," he said.

But with the resetting of the points to start the Chase for the Nextel Cup and his history of strong performances in the fall, he's not worried.

"I think spring and fall have the great tracks for us," he said. "We do, for whatever reason, have this slow spot in the summer. This year, I think we've probably been a little bit better than other years, but just don't have the results. I am excited. And with the format of the Chase, it's very, very forgiving. My season is an example of that.

"If we are able to transfer in, and then be seeded up toward the top, the way it looks, then it's very forgiving. And we're not losing sight of the fact that we still have a shot at this championship. Our first goal is to finish off strong and make the Chase. But we also know in the back of our minds that we have a very strong chance at the title."

But there's also a chance that he could fall out of the top 12. Those thoughts, he said, were foremost on his mind when he crashed at Indianapolis two weeks ago. On a scale of one to 10, his fears were at the top of the chart, at least at first.

"When I crashed out, I was about a 10," he said. "And then I found out that some other guys had some troubles and there was an OK cushion from where we were back to 12th or 13th. So I went down to about a seven. There is still a very big concern."

In the Chase format, the top 12 drivers after Richmond will have their points set at 5,000 apiece, plus 10 points for each win up to that point.

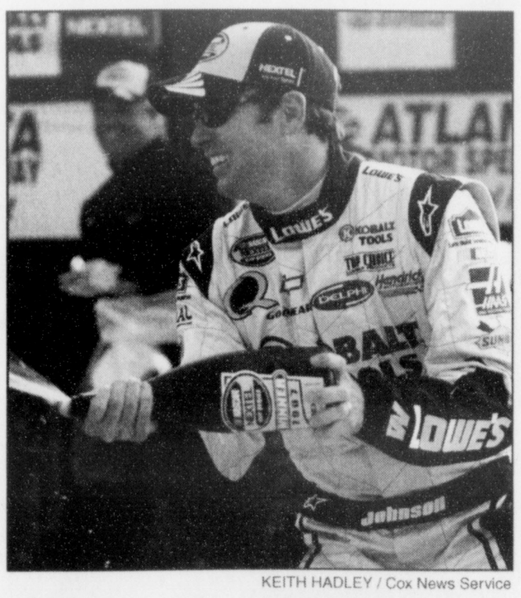
With Johnson's four wins, he'll be at or near the top of the standings heading into the final 10 races, assuming he makes the cut.

"It certainly looks like I'll be a big beneficiary of it [resetting the points] and with the way that it is, I'll take that forgiveness the way the point system is structured right now and try to capitalize on it," he said.

But he does feel kind of bad for Hendrick Motorsports teammate Jeff Gordon, who has dominated the points standings all season, but is set to see his big lead erased at the start of the Chase.

"When you look at Jeff's point situation and how strong he has been, deep down inside there is still a part of me that says, 'Man, the guy's had a great year and deserves to be the champion and to have it re-racked with everybody on top of him again probably isn't fair,' " he said. "But it's the way it is.

"The Chase does a lot of positive things for our sport. I'm in a position where I could capitalize on a tough summer. So you deal with the situation, as it exists. It's different racing today than it was years back."



KEITH HADLEY / Cox News Service

Driver Jimmie Johnson was hot early in the season, winning three of four consecutive races, including the Kobalt Tools 500 at Atlanta Motor Speedway (above). But Johnson has found himself in the midst of a stretch he describes as a summer "slow spot."

Rick Minter's OBSERVATIONS

Some story lines as the Cup Series heads to The Glen.

Penske teams rejuvenated

With their runaway victory in the Pennsylvania 500 at Pocono Raceway on Sunday, Kurt Busch and his No. 2 Dodge team at Penske Racing served notice that they'll be strong contenders to secure one of the 12 spots in the Chase for the Nextel Cup, which begins after five more races.

The entire Penske organization, including Ryan Newman and his No. 12 team, appear to be on an upsurge, but Busch seems to be on the faster track, especially since veteran crew chief Pat Tryson moved from Roush Racing to lead Busch's team.

"This is all due to Pat Tryson," Busch said in Victory Lane after leading all but 25 of 200 laps in getting his first victory in 51 tries.

His win propelled him past Dale Earnhardt Jr. into the 12th and final transfer spot for the Chase. In the six races since Tryson took over as his crew chief, Busch has moved from 16th to 12th, making up a 171-point deficit to Earnhardt Jr..

But there's little breathing room as Earnhardt Jr. finished second at Pocono, thanks in large part to a mid-race shock swap by his team, and is just seven points behind Busch.

"I got to thank [crew chief Tony Eury Jr.] and the team for figuring out a way to get us up through there," Earnhardt Jr. told reporters.

And he said the battle with Busch for the final transfer spot is on.

"He did what he had to do, and so did we," Earnhardt Jr. said.

No appeal for Robby Gordon

As Robby Gordon's incident last week during the Busch Series race at Montreal points out, there's really no way to appeal a mid-race ruling by NASCAR officials.

A late-race scramble ended with Gordon, then the race leader, being spun by second-running Marcos Ambrose, apparently just after a wreck immediately behind them.

Gordon felt he should have been placed in first or second place at that point, but NASCAR officials decided that he belonged in 13th, based on scoring loop data.

Gordon said he knew that if he obeyed the ruling at that point, any hope of appealing would be lost as the race would be resumed with no further discussion.

So he maintained his position, and NASCAR responded by black-flagging him and ultimately parking him for the Nextel Cup race on Sunday at Pocono Raceway. Gordon issued a statement expressing regret, but also restating his position.

GORDON

"I decided to preserve the status quo by holding the second position and racing from that position to the end of the race," he said. "My belief was that it would be no harm, no foul if my protest was denied because I would then be disqualified in the race regardless. It was not my purpose to disrespect the authority of NASCAR or the officials. I do respect their authority to run the race and make the calls, and I understand the significance of the black flag. I strongly disagree with the calls that affected me at the end of the race. Being spun under the yellow and not being allowed to resume my position prior to the spin put me in a position to react as I did."

NASCAR spokesman Ramsey Poston explained the sanctioning body's position, saying Gordon lost out because he did not maintain a cautious pace when the yellow flag flew and therefore wasn't scored until he recovered and blended back in line, which put him 13th.

UP AND COMING A look at some of the sport's rising stars

With racing in his blood, Georgia teenager hopes to make the big time

When it comes to racing pedigrees, Travis Pennington's is as good as it gets. The Winston, Ga., teenager is the son of Jack Pennington, one of the nation's most successful dirt-track drivers and one who showed flashes of brilliance in a brief career in NASCAR's Busch and Cup series.

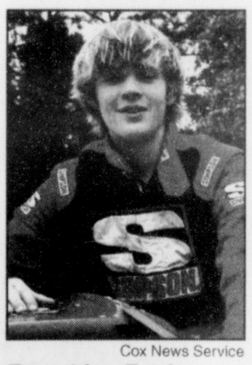
Consider this: The elder Pennington ran only six Busch races in his career, all in 1989. In his next-to-last start, he finished third at Darlington Raceway, one of the toughest tracks in auto racing. Then he backed that up with a fourth-place finish at Charlotte. He ran a limited schedule on the Cup circuit the following season, with best finishes of 11th at Talladega and 12th at Charlotte, despite driving for an inexperienced upstart team.

But that's only half the story. Like Dale Earnhardt Jr., Travis Pennington, 15, has just as much or more racing heritage on his mother's side of the family.

His mother, Sharon Massey Pennington, is the daughter of Ed Massey, who more than 50 years ago started a short-track racing dynasty that has been a driving force in Atlanta-area racing for decades. The Massey clan continues to compete today with the third and fourth generations of the family now taking the wheels of race cars.

For the most part, the Massey clan has focused on the short tracks of the Southeast, but many in the sport say they could have competed successfully in any league.

"They could have raced anywhere they wanted, in NASCAR if they'd liked, but they were content to race here around Atlanta," said veteran short-track promoter Mike Swims, who explains that the Masseys of Georgia have a lot in common with the Earnhardts of North Carolina in that they're both tough, hard-working everyday people to whom the working-class fans in the stands could relate. And they were fierce competitors, on the track and in the occasional pit-area scuffle.



Cox News Service

Teen driver Travis Pennington wants the opportunity to "stand up for the family name."

"They were the people's champions," Swims said. "They were truck drivers, and people in the stands knew they wrestled those trucks around Atlanta for 50 hours a week, then worked into the night on their race cars. Fans could identify with that."

But the family that once was satisfied to race and win close to home now wants more. They want to see Travis advance from the dirt Late Models he's now driving to the highest levels of NASCAR.

They're already working on a deal to move on to the Hooters Pro Cup or NASCAR Busch East circuit, possibly as soon as this fall.

Young Pennington, like his father, isn't as much of a talker as his maternal kin, but he drives a lot like all of them.

And he plans to keep working hard until he's a full-time Nextel Cup driver.

CATCHING UP WITH ... CARL EDWARDS

Carl Edwards, who is atop the Busch Series standings by 787 points over runner-up David Reutimann, is sixth in the Nextel Cup standings heading into Sunday's race at Watkins Glen International.

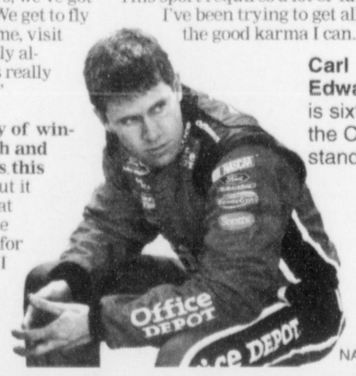
He recently participated in a teleconference with reporters, including Rick Minter of Cox News Service, to discuss his season.

On the difficulties drivers may have controlling their emotions, especially on camera immediately after incidents on the racetrack: "We all slip up and say things we shouldn't say. It's an amazing moment when you win a race or you're involved in a big wreck or you're having a fight with someone or whatever. Someone sticks a camera or microphone right in your face, it's really, really hard sometimes to choose your words. Sometimes you just slip up."

On the debate over whether drivers should risk injury participating in extracurricular racing activities, in light of his recent thumb injury suffered in a dirt-track race: "The bottom line is, I'm a racecar driver. I started racing cars because I love to do it. I never imagined that I'd have so much responsibility attached to it as far as people's jobs, marketing for sponsors, things like that. Just having that slight injury there, seeing how much it could affect my Nextel Cup season, my Busch season, kind of made me take just a little bit of a step back. Personally, I know in the future I'll be just a little more cautious when I go do things like that."

On whether running full time on both the Busch and Cup circuits wears him down: "I don't really get tired. I have a great trainer. His name is Dean Golich. He's from Carmichael Training Systems, based out of Colorado Springs [Colo.]. That's been a big help to me to have a trainer, someone to look at my schedule, plan out my workouts, my travel days, point out bottlenecks in the season where it's going to be really tough, and to train accordingly. It's hardest on the people who do all the stuff for the drivers. The guys that do all my PR, my travel, planning, the season gets really long for them. The crew guys essentially work seven days a week, 18 hours a day. This is a grueling season. As the drivers, we've got every perk there is. We get to fly our airplanes, go home, visit our friends and family almost every week. It's really pretty simple for us."

On the possibility of winning both the Busch and Cup championships this season: "I think about it every day. I mean, that would be the ultimate achievement I think for me personally. What I have to do to make that a reality is apply everything I've learned the last couple years since I've been driving in NASCAR. I have to make sure Bob Osborne, my crew chief in the Cup Series, makes sure we do everything we can to gather the most points we can. We practiced a little bit last year at the end of the season. With 10 races to go, we said we were going to go points racing. At the end of the year, I think we accumulated more points than anyone else in the series in the last 10 races. I feel like we can do it. We just have to do everything right and rely on luck to be on our side. This sport requires a lot of luck. I've been trying to get all the good karma I can."



Carl Edwards is sixth in the Cup standings.

Church Offering Second Evening Worship Service

The members of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Grantsville, invite the public to attend their second evening worship service this Sunday, Aug. 12, at 7:30 p.m.

"This service of prayer and praise is not only offered to our friends and neighbors of the Grantsville Charge, but is open to all," said Pastor Bill Durst. "It will be a contemplative service, open enough to allow for reconciliation, wholeness, and healing. We invite all in the community to join us."

Pastor Durst explained that it is called a Sozo service, from the root word in the New Testament for healing, wholeness, and salvation.

"Spiritual healing in the United Methodist tradition is not necessarily curing our physical illnesses, although that sometimes happens," he said. "The aim of the service is to enable reconciliation with each other, with God, and with factions within communities."

Periods of prayer and special music will be included in the service, as well as anointing and laying on of hands.

There will be light refreshments and fellowship following the service.

This evening service will be held once a month during the summer months. For more information, persons may contact Pastor Durst at 301-746-7049, or e-mail: wadurst@yahoo.com.

Hetrick Reunion Slated Sunday

The 25th annual Jonas Hetrick reunion will be held Sunday, Aug. 19, at the Oak Grove Mennonite pavilion. The church is located along Zehner Road, three miles west of Grantsville.

A covered dish meal will be served at 1 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by the Maple City Bluegrass Band.

There will be special entertainment this year for the children, as well as the annual white elephant auction in the afternoon. Gifts should be marked for a man, women, boy, girl or baby. Non-perishable food items will also be collected for the baskets that will be raffled off.

The door prize this year and the "pig in a poke" will be donated by last year's winners.

Paper plates, napkins, cups, and silverware will be furnished.

For additional information, persons may call 301-895-5684 or 1-814-662-2521.

Lutheran Women Hold Convention In Huttonsville

"Act Boldly: Celebrate the Gifts of Women and Children in Ministry" was the theme for the 20th annual convention for the West Virginia/Western Maryland Synodical Women's Organization held in Huttonsville, W.Va., last Friday and Saturday.

Business included the election of the following officers: president, Dolly Nilsen, Franklin, W.Va.; vice president, Beverly McDonald, Inwood, W.Va.; and secretary, Linda Roland, Eleanor, W.Va. Continuing as treasurer is Jane Hazer of Elkins, W.Va. Board members elected for a term of two years were: Linda Gillet of St. John's, Martinsburg; Pastor Janet Hensen; Denise Porter, St. Mark's, Clarksburg; and Kitty Kelly-Smoot, Christ the King, Huntington, W.Va. Elected to the board for a one-year term was Marilyn Pemberton, Grace Lutheran, Hurricane, W.Va.

Elected to attend Triennial Convention next year were: Jane Hazer, Elkins, and Peggy Blatt, Edgwood, Wheeling. Alternate to Triennial is Doris Hughes, St. John's, Martinsburg.

A resolution for a memorial concerning "Mountaintop Removal Mining" was adopted. Peggy Blatt explained that restoration is not happening as it should, and that devastation, pollution, the threat of flooding, and the leaking of chemicals threatens many West Virginia communities. Members decided that awareness of this problem needs to be elevated.

Kathryn Schnierle of Cincinnati brought greetings from the church-wide organization in Chicago.

Other guests included Pastor Craig and Pastor Wendy Richter, who conducted the worship service, and Pastor Sarah Lee-Faulkner, who led Bible studies with the Richters. Devotions were led by Pastor Ted Bessey of Elkins, Linda Buckel of Bittinger, Norma Bowyer of New Milton, and Brianna Richardson of Brandywine, W.Va.

The keynote speaker was the recently retired guidance counselor from Randolph County Schools, Sandra DiBacco. Having taught grades 4 through 7 for 25 years, she brought insight and ideas of how to support and encourage children to "feel and reflect God's love" in their lives. She demonstrat-ed the use of many visual aids, such as puppets and toys to get the children's attention.

Entertainment for Friday night was the musical group Pam Dodds and Friends, which presented melodies of the 1800s. Their costumes also reflected the era.

A memorial service was led by Norma Adkins of St. Timothy in South Charleston. Pat Schillings of Trinity Church in Charleston led the love offering service, which at this time has collected $1,526. From this amount, half goes to the Women's Scholarship Fund, a fourth to Lutheran Lines newsletter, and a fourth to Camp Luther.

Attending the synod convention from Garrett County were Linda Buckel from Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger, and Barbara Flinn from St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House.

Next year's convention will be held August 1-2 at Mineral Wells near Parkersburg, W.Va.

Forklift Training To Be Held At Outreach Center

Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Division in coordination with Winchester Equipment Company will offer fork lift training on Friday, Sept. 14, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Northern Outreach Center in Grantsville. Charlie Roy, the company's customer service representative, will be the instructor.

This course is designed to teach the student how to properly operate an industrial powered forklift. The course satisfies 29 CRF 1910.178 of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's (OSHA) Powered Industrial Truck Operator Training Standard, according to a college spokesperson.

Students will receive formal training in the classroom, practical training with hands-on instruction, and an evaluation upon completion. Topics will include pre-inspection, loading and unloading, maneuvering and operational skills, rules and regulations, and safety.

Successful participants will receive a certificate of training and wallet card, which requires a joint evaluation by participant's employer to be valid.

For additional information persons may contact, Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center coordinator, at 301-895-4700 or tbeachy@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for the training, one may contact Kista Wilt, Continuing Education and Workforce Development, at 301-387-3069 or kwilt@garrettcollege.edu.

TV Pipeline

Anne Heche and her 'Men' have returned

By Jay Bobbin

Anne Heche

Q: Will "Men in Trees" be coming back to television in our area? I understand it is on in Chicago. –Joan Brunner, Decatur, Ill.

A: It should be on anywhere there is an ABC-affiliated station. The Anne Heche show has returned to the network's lineup on Thursdays with repeats of its first-season episodes in preparation for its upcoming second year.

Q: Are there any plans to continue USA Network's "Starter Wife" as a series? What about releasing the first episodes on DVD? –Lisa Gill, Dallas

A: At this writing, there hadn't been mention of the story continuing in future episodes. Based on Gigi Levangie Grazer's best-seller and starring Debra Messing, the comedy-drama was a limited miniseries that seemed more like a weekly show because of the way USA decided to run it. There's better news on the DVD front, though: The complete set is scheduled to be released Sept. 11.

Q: Can you tell me if ABC is renewing "Traveler"? I would hate to see it canceled. –Gina Damis, Holbrook, N.Y.

A: Sorry, a renewal won't happen. The show had been intended for midseason, but was held until the official television season was over, never a good sign. Once it did air, its ratings were nothing to write home about – even with a preview that gave it "Grey's Anatomy" as a lead-in – and that sealed the deal for it.

Q: I was stunned by the sudden passing of Beverly Sills. Are there any plans for a television special, perhaps on PBS, honoring her? –Herb Stark, Massapequa, N.Y.

A: In fact, the PBS series "Great Performances" had done a thorough profile of the opera legend, and a repeat of that episode was offered to affiliates in the days following Sills' death last month. Many stations did make room for that program on short notice.

Q: "Dateline NBC" had a 15-year special on Stone Phillips. Is that the end of the show? What is he going to be doing next? –Kelli Rothpletz, Hickory Creek, Texas

A: Phillips' contract wasn't renewed by NBC, but "Dateline" will go on without him. A weekly Saturday edition will start the fall season, with a Sunday episode to be added in January after the NFL football season ends. At this writing, Phillips hadn't announced his future plans.

Fur Trapper Ed. To Be Offered At Hickory Ctr.

The Maryland Fur Trapper's Association in coordination with Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Division will offer a course in trapper education on Friday, Sept. 7, through Sunday, Sept. 9, at the Hickory Environmental Education Center, Accident.

This course is designed to provide experience for beginning to advanced trappers to learn about the importance of trapping as a conservation and wildlife management tool. It will cover the basic principles of wildlife management and hands-on techniques, and habitat management practices employed by wildlife managers. Trapping will be conducted on both public and private lands.

Instruction will center on an overview of the fur harvest industry, furbearer biology and management, laws and regulations, proper trapping techniques, and the importance of trapping in resource management and animal damage control.

Topics to be covered include animal behaviors and their application in trap line strategies, diseases and parasites affecting wildlife, monitoring wildlife movements, effective lure and bait usage, principles of land and water trapping, use of snares, fur handling and grading, and trapping ethics.

Trappers from Maryland and the Mid-Atlantic region will instruct the course. In addition, Maryland Department of Natural Resources Wildlife and Heritage Service personnel will be present to conduct lectures and provide technical expertise.

Housing will be provided at the Hickory Environmental Education Center, which is a modern, year-round environmental education facility. Sleeping quarters, cafeteria, and the lecture hall are climate controlled. Amenities provided will be meals, snacks, and drinks and all necessary trapping equipment; however, students are encouraged to bring their own equipment if desired. The student will need to provide his/her own toiletries and bedding.

Class size is limited to approximately 40 individuals. Pre-registration is encouraged.

For further information about the cost of this course, interested parties may contact Dan Tucker at 301-663-6258, or Terry Beachy, Garrett College's Northern Outreach Center coordinator, at 301-895-4700 or tbeachy@garrett-college.edu.

Garrett Charter School Initiative

A charter school is a public school. The difference is in how the school is run and the flexibility the school has to teach children individually.

Charter schools are run by boards of dedicated people, usually parents, educators, local business people, and other members of the community willing to create additional educational opportunities for the children living in their area.

All charter schools are held accountable to the same high standards as public schools.

The Garrett Charter School Initiative, Inc. shall not discriminate against students on the basis of gender, race, color, national origin, religion, sexual orientation, and/or disability in the rights, privileges, programs and activities generally made available to students at the school.

Our Vision

Garrett Charter School will:

- offer an individually guided, academically challenging, hands-on, child-centered education.
- provide an expanded curriculum rich in the arts to enhance the joy of learning and empower students to become confident, creative, critical thinkers.
- promote each child's intellectual, emotional, and physical development and encourage self esteem and positive social relationships so that they may attain the fullest expression of their individual potentials.
- have multi-age classrooms that use collaborative instructional methods that are integrated and interdisciplinary.
- preserve Garrett County's rural history, crafts, and cultural heritage through community-based investigations offering hands-on experiences relevant to students' lives.
- promote sustainable agriculture energy, and living within the context of our curriculum, school, and community.
- include the arts, foreign language, and physical movement as fundamental elements of our curriculum.
- use authentic assessments such as portfolios and written evaluations, to assess student learning.
- promote parental and community involvement in the curriculum, as well as through service learning and fundraising.

People who are sailboat buffs look down their noses at powerboats. Conversely, those who prefer powerboats think there is too little action in the sport of sailing. It's a matter of personal preference.

Fortunately, there is enough water in the world to permit both kinds of boating. There is enough of everything on this earth to enable us to live in dignity while doing personally what we like best, if we use our resources carefully and remember to consider our fellow man.

Personal preferences...consideration. These two things apply to boating. They also apply to choice of a mate, where to live, kind of occupation, and where and how to worship. We have freedom of choice, we just have to use it! Choose to worship this week.

Who Is Our Family

We often hear politicians and preachers speak about "family values." But, what is actually meant by this phrase is as variedas the people who preachabout it. For some, it means having a wholesome sexualmorality and reserving these activities for the confines of marriage. For others, it means taking care of our families by having a minimum wage that lifts families out of poverty and having some form of national health insurance to ensure that all children receive the medical care that they need. We will never get everyone to agree on exactly what is covered by the term "family values," and perhaps part of this has to do with the fact that we can't even agree on what a family is. Some people think of a family as a mother and father raising their children, while others argue that we surely have to also include the single mother raising her children, as a family as well. And of course, there are blended families and extended families, and the family as a basic social unit in today's world is really in flux. For better or worse it adapts to social change. Furthermore, when thinking about family today, it may be best to take a broader view, since more and more people live alone. Our extended family is the whole human race, and when we think about these sorts of issues, we really ought to be thinking about our human family. But for some, even that view may be too narrow. For all living things on this planet are related, because God, as their creator is the Father of them all.

There is one God and Father of us all, who is above all and through all and in all.
R.S.V. Ephesians 4:6

Vitamin C May Be Useful For Tinnitus

Vitamin C (also called ascorbic acid) is necessary for many bodily processes including the formation of bones, cartilage, and blood vessels. It is also necessary for the absorption of iron in the gut. The vitamin is found in fresh fruits and vegetables, and it is known for its antioxidant activity. Antioxidants protect cells in the body from damage caused by substances called reactive oxygen species (ROS). One recent study evaluated the effects of vitamin C on the condition known as tinnitus, a ringing in the ears. It has been theorized that ROS are responsible for the nerve cell damage associated with tinnitus. People with tinnitus have been shown to have high levels of ROS. Thirty-one individuals with tinnitus took a supplement containing various vitamins (including vitamin C) for 18 weeks. At the end of the study, the ROS levels were significantly lower, and the symptoms of tinnitus had improved.

The recommended daily intake of vitamin C for men ages 18 and older is 90 mg. The recommended daily intake for women ages 18 and older is 75mg. Possible side effects include nausea, heartburn, stomach cramps, and headache.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Those who study such things claim that there are roughly 5 million bubbles in a single glass of champagne. That factoid begs the question: How do you count the bubbles in a glass of champagne?

• It was Douglas Adams, British author of the "Hitchhikers Guide to the Galaxy" series, who made the following sage observation: "Assumptions are the things you don't know you're making."

• You don't often think of sports and classical music as having much in common, but there are times when the two worlds intersect. In 1941, the Brooklyn Dodgers were doing very well, and fans were delighted with their success. One of those fans was American composer Robert Russell Bennett. On Aug. 4, 1941, his "Symphony in D" premiered — and he made a point of letting everyone know that the "D" stood for "Dodgers." The Dodgers won the pennant that year, but, despite Bennett's musical tribute. they ended up losing the World Series to the Yankees.

• There are 1,600 named features on the surface of the moon.

• Have you ever titivated anything? You may not realize it, but unless you're an inveterate slob, it's fairly likely that you have. "Titivate" simply means "to make (something) look neat" or "to spruce (something) up."

• Chicago is well-known as "The Windy City," and most people assume that the city on the shores of Lake Michigan got that moniker because of its gusty weather. The true origin of the nickname, though, is in the residents' penchant for bragging — as the story goes, citizens of Chicago talked so much about how great their town was that they were deemed "windy."

Pill-Giving Doesn't Have to be a Chore

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: In regard to the reader having trouble giving his cat a pill, I think I may be able to help. I have 14 cats, so my experience is adequate.

First, I would ask the vet if the medicine also comes in liquid form, as some do. It's much easier to give liquid. Your vet can supply a syringe (the no-needle kind). This works best.

Second, your vet also has "pill poppers." These work like a slingshot. The pill fits into the cylinder, and you put it in the cat's mouth as far back toward the throat as you can without stimulating the gag reflex. Then you push the hand end of the cylinder, and the pill goes to the back of the throat, which causes a swallowing effect. It's very successful, quick and painless.

The pills also can be stuffed into a piece of cheese or another chewy kind of treat; some pet stores will have treats made for this purpose. As for pills rattling in the bottle and alerting the cat, try putting them in an envelope or a labeled Ziploc bag.

I hope you'll try these methods. All of them are much less stressful for your cat and you. Good luck. — Dale in Illinois

DEAR DALE: Many thanks. I know this will be a great help to readers who need to give their pets medicine both on a temporary and a regular basis. Readers, check with your pet's veterinarian for alternatives to medications in pill form.

Q. I have an American Button Hole Sewing Machine, model No. 7. I bought it at a public sale several years ago. The machine is intact and still has its original box cover and attachments. I seem to be the only person who owns this particular machine and wonder if you can tell me more about it. — Barbara, Denver, Pa.

A. According to Antique American Sewing Machines, a value guide by James W. Slaten, your machine was made between 1867 and 1877 and is valued at about $550. Since my copy of this guide is several years old, I suspect it might be worth slightly more.

Q. I have four dolls made in Italy. I have owned them for more than 30 years, and they are in like-new condition. Since they are exquisitely made and dressed, I am, of course, curious about how much they are worth. Can you advise me? — Mary, Thomas, West Virginia

A. Judith Katz-Schwartz buys, sells and appraises dolls. Her contact information is c/o Twin Brooks Antiques & Collectibles, P.O. Box 6572, New York, NY 10128. You should expect to pay a fee for her services. For a second opinion, you can contact Ann Seymore, president of the United Federation of Doll Clubs, 10920 North Ambassador Drive, Suite 130, Kansas City, MO 64153. She can, perhaps, put you in touch with collectors in your area.

Q. I have some Knot Hole Passes which were given away to children in 1937 so they could gain free entry to Cardinals baseball games in St. Louis. Any value? — Jane, Summit, Miss.

A. There is always demand for vintage baseball collectibles. To find out how much your passes are worth, you should contact an established dealer. Robert Casner is a dealer/collector, and he might be able to help you. Write to him c/o Bob's Baseball Collectibles, 20978 East Berry Place, Aurora, CO 80015. Another excellent source is Sports Cards Magazine and Price Guide, edited by Stracie Berger, Krause Publications, 700 East State St., Iola, WI 54990.

Fire Prevention Week Activities Slated In LaVale

The Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Fire & Rescue Association's Fire Prevention Committee has planned Fire Prevention Week activities at the Country Club Mall in LaVale. To commemorate Fire Prevention Week, October 7-13, the committee will provide fire prevention literature and various activities for all ages. The theme this year is "Practice Your Escape Plan!"

According to a committee spokesperson, young people will have the opportunity to participate in activities and games, including coloring pages and word puzzles. They will learn how a smoke alarm works, and plan a family-escape route in the event of fire in the home.

Packets of fire prevention materials will be available for the taking, and fire helmets will be given to the children. Face painting will also be available at various times.

Applications for smoke alarms for the hearing impaired will be made available, and blood pressure screenings will be held each day. Some of these alarms are made available through a grant from the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office.

An emergency service competition will be held Saturday, Sept. 13, starting at 2 p.m. involving emergency providers from the area in quick-dress, hydrant hook-up, and hose evolutions. First- and second-place prizes will be awarded. Participants must be at least 18 years old and must bring their own complete set of turnout gear. All fire/rescue personnel are invited to participate.

Displays of fire vehicles and equipment will be on display. Smokey Bear will visit on Saturday, and Diddle the Clown will make an appearance during the weeklong observance.

A Fire Prevention pageant will be held Friday evening at Center Court. Contestants will vie for the honor of being named Miss Fire Prevention of Allegany and Garrett counties. Judging will be based on knowledge of fire prevention, poise, and speaking ability. Miss Fire Prevention and a runner-up will be crowned following the judging. The winner will then compete in the Maryland State Firemen's Association's Miss Fire Prevention contest at Ocean City next June.

Contestants must be between the ages of 16 and 24 years old, never married, and be sponsored by a fire department or ladies' auxiliary. For an application, persons may contact Pat Bowser at either 301-746-5576 or 301-616-5576, or contact any local fire/rescue department.

For more information on this Fire Prevention Week program, persons may go to the following web site: www.agcvfra.org, or e-mail therbowsers@verizon.net.

Oak Park Church To Provide Third Worship Service

Pastor Mel Menker announced this week that a third Sunday morning worship will be added because of the increase in worship attendance at Oak Park Church of the Brethren. Beginning Aug. 12, the church will offer services at 8:15, 9:30, and 10:45 a.m.

"The services will be structured so all will be basically the same each Sunday," Menker said. "This expands the options as to which service people would like to attend, and markedly opens up the comfortable seating potential of the church. This will also provide better parking availability."

He added that as each service is only about one hour in length, the 10:45 a.m. service will still end before noon. Also, the added service will not affect any aspect of the current Sunday school program, which begins at 9:30 a.m., Menker said.

Persons with questions may call the church office at 301-334-5906 for more information. The church is located along Oakland Drive across from Southern High School.

1930 Oakland High Yearbook Available Online

Western Maryland Public Libraries has added the 1930 edition of The Oak, the Oakland High School yearbook, to Whilbr, its historical web site at whilbr.org/Oak1930/index.aspx.

The yearbook contains lists of students, faculty, Board of Education members, and the names of many community members. It also shows some photographs of the students, faculty, superintendent, and the building.

The web site is searchable and includes a short history of the Oakland High school from Alice Eary's book Yesteryears' Garrett County Schools, which will be available at the Garrett County Historical Society Museum in Oakland, along with a number of other old yearbooks from local schools.

Whilbr features digitized images of source documents from the collections of public libraries, historical societies, and citizens in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties.

Whilbr offers users the opportunity to view photographs, newspaper articles and indexes, rare books, and more at whilbr.org. It includes the 1872 tax records for Allegany County and the future Garrett County, the map of military lots in western Maryland given to Revolutionary War soldiers, city directories (Hagerstown 1893 and Cumberland 1895), and other items of local historical and genealogical interest.

The web site has been listed by AmericanHeritage.com in its "Guide to the Best of the Web."

For additional information about local history and genealogy, persons can visit the Ruth Enlow Library's web site at relib.net, which contains a link to Whilbr, or contact Keela Pfaff at 301-334-3996, ext. 3, or pfaff@relib.net.

Garrett County Memorial To Hold Semi-Annual Gala

Garrett County Memorial Hospital's semi-annual Gala is slated for Saturday, Nov. 17, beginning with a cocktail hour at 6 p.m. The event is to be held at the Lodge at the Wisp Resort.

Gala festivities will include a live and silent auction, a sit-down meal, and music by the Mon River Big Band. The band is a 16-piece ensemble that "plays traditional music from the Big Band era," explains director Mike Roberts.

The evening is scheduled to begin at 6 with the availability of silent auction items. Guests will be seated at 6:45 and served a dinner prepared for the occasion.

Following dinner, a live auction will occur. Guest speakers have also been invited to acknowledge those businesses who have contributed to the foundation.

"We will finish the evening with great music, dancing, and a lot of fun," noted Kathy Greaser, CFRE, foundation director.

To date, the upcoming event has 10 primary corporate sponsors. Wisp Resort has signed on as a major sponsor at the Platinum level ($15,000). In addition, Uno Chicago Grill has pledged to become a Gold sponsor ($10,000) for the event. Beitzel Corporation, Clear Mountain Bank, First United Bank & Trust, M&T Bank, TEDCO Construction, Thrasher Engineering, and Will O' the Wisp are all sponsoring the Gala as Silver level supporters ($5,000). Additionally, Mettiki Coal Corporation and Mountaineer Log and Siding will be supporting the Gala as Bronze level sponsors ($2,500).

"This exciting affair is expected to raise $150,000 to support the funding of a new CT scanner and, in turn, enhance the health status of the community," explained Wayne Johnson, chairman of the Gala Steering Committee. "It will also provide an excellent opportunity for the foundation to honor a wonderful friend, Wisp Resort, for their exemplary support of our hospital," he added.

The GCMH Foundation was established in 1987 as a voluntary association of public-spirited citizens whose long-term purpose is to enable the hospital to obtain equipment and facilities which would otherwise exceed the hospital's own funding capabilities.

Most recently, the foundation completed a Capital Campaign to fund over $2.7 million toward the major expansion and renovation project. Additionally, the foundation has funded more than $5 million in patient care equipment.

The hospital identified the need to replace its existing CT (computed tomography) scan unit with a newer version that will bring this service current with state-of-the-art technology.

"This investment of $750,000 brings with it improved services for our patients such as brain perfusion studies that can detect strokes earlier. Cat scan technology has revolutionized the practice of medicine," explains Richard Perry, M.D., chief of emergency medicine at GCMH. "Without it, we would be essentially crippled in terms of our ability to provide top quality medical care."

"As a donor – whether it's in the capacity of a sponsor, Gala attendee, or advertiser – you can help us maintain the benefit of cutting edge technology," notes Greaser.

Tickets for the event are available though the Garrett County Hospital Foundation office or by calling 301-533-4178.

Parties interested in becoming a sponsor or advertiser for this event can contact the public relations department at 301-533-4041.

MON RIVER BIG BAND TO PLAY AT GALA – The Garrett County Memorial Hospital will host a concert by the Mon River Big Band for its semi-annual Gala, slated for Saturday, Nov. 17. The Gala will start at 6 p.m., with the music beginning around 7 p.m. See story for details.

SHOOTING STARS
by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. What is a "shooting star"? Why do they happen in summer?

A. The next few nights are the ideal time to look for shooting stars. If the sky is clear at night, you'll be able to see quite a sight. According to NASA astronomers, this coming Saturday night into Sunday morning (midnight Aug. 12 to 6 a.m. Aug. 13) is going to be the peak time for this summer's shower of meteors.

A single shooting star only lasts a few seconds, but an entire meteor shower lasts all night long. Here is what is going on:

There are all kinds of debris floating in outer space all the time – dust, grains of sand, pebbles, small rocks, etc. They were produced by exploding stars a very long time ago. Over a few billion years, that debris can accumulate into a planet. But in the short run, it's just out there drifting around and going nowhere. In various parts of space, there are patches where a greater amount of such debris has gathered. As Earth orbits the sun, it travels through mostly empty space, but sometimes plows through bands of debris.

A shooting star is seen when an object in space comes into Earth's atmosphere at high speed. Collisions with air molecules generate a lot of heat, and the object burns up as it penetrates lower into the atmosphere. The very hot object glows enough to give off light, just like the filament in a light bulb. When this happens on a dark, clear night, the light it gives off is intense enough to be visible as a brief streak across the sky.

The path of Earth's orbit is very predictable, and at certain times of the year, it goes through some patches in space where debris is plentiful. It takes several days to traverse the patch, and during that time there are so many shooting star events that we call it a meteor shower. In other words, a meteor shower is thousands of shooting stars in a short time period.

In August, the debris seem to be coming from the direction of the constellation Perseus, and so the resulting meteor shower is called the "Perseid shower." In November, Earth passes through another debris patch, which is seen in the direction of the constellation Leo, and this results in the "Leonid shower." If you don't know where those constellations are, don't give up: just look generally at the eastern sky.

It's worth mentioning that there is some superstition surrounding shooting stars. In ancient times, in the dark of night with nothing to do, people would give free rein to their imaginations. When astrology was widely believed, shooting stars were considered omens of good luck or bad; and, of course, a meteor shower was even more of the same.

Dr. Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at MIT. He lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT Notice of Intent to Establish Low pH Total Maximum Daily Loads for Casselman River, Georges Creek, Savage River, Upper North Branch Potomac River and Wills Creek Allegany and Garrett Counties, Maryland

Section 303(d) of the federal Clean Water Act requires Maryland to: (1) identify waters, known as water quality limited segments (WQLSs), where technology-based effluent limitations and other required controls cannot achieve water quality standards; (2) for each listed water, establish Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs) for pollutants preventing the attainment of water quality standards; and (3) offer an opportunity for public review and comment on the proposed TMDLs.

WQLS	Basin Code	Location	Substance(s)
Casselman River	05020204	Garrett Co., MD	Low pH
Georges Creek	02141004	Garrrett Co., MD	Low pH
Savage River	0214006	Allegany & Garrett Counties, MD	Low pH
Upper North Branch Potomac River	02141005	Allegany & Garrett Counties, MD	Low pH
Wills Creek	02141003	Allegany & Garrett Counties, MD	Low pH

The TMDL sets the maximum load limit for the impairing substance. The TMDL also reflects load allocations to point sources, non-point sources and a margin of safety that accounts for uncertainty in the procedures used to estimate the TMDLs. Once established by the State, the TMDLs will be subject to approval by the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The established TMDLs will support measures needed to attain water quality standards in the identified watersheds.

OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLIC REVIEW AND COMMENT

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

It seems that the most important item this week is the chicken barbecue to be held this Saturday beginning at 3:30 p.m. at the Bittinger fire hall. This will be the final barbecue for the firemen this year, so come early before they are sold out.

I saw some pretty sick, cut hay fields along Rock Lodge Road last week, including those of my family farm. It is no wonder that some cut hay got ruined, with the daily thunderstorms. However, my family said that the hay was pretty good, as the second crop was growing in it. I can hear the sound of haymaking outside my home today (Friday, Aug. 3).

I once knew a show horse that was named the Third of August. She was named for her trainer's divorce that was final on that day. She was a very beautiful mare and she deserved a better name.

The sound of the haymaking is driving me crazy, because one day I was a top hand during haymaking and now I can't do anything to help. Our fresh green bales were worth top dollars in the horse country of Virginia. The way my parents found out that I had a broken arm is that they found me in bed during haymaking time. I was a pretty secretive kid.

The first produce stand around Bittinger is on Rt. 495 just above Buckel's Store. They now have green beans for sale. I heard that in the Oakland area there is fresh corn for sale. So far Kate Fratz's sweet corn will not be ready for a week or so.

My weedy flowerbed attracted at least a half dozen species of butterflies. The most unusual is a very small black or navy blue one.

For once I wish I had air conditioning because it is stinking hot here in Bittinger. The fan helps somewhat, and believe it or not, there is no breeze blowing outside. According to Rodney, I underestimated the quality of hay that we just made.

Saturday, Aug. 4, was a perfect summer day. We had plenty of sun and a gentle breeze blowing. It is T-shirt kind of weather. My hollyhocks look like silk satin.

I was shocked to learn that a waitress needs to report at 3 p.m. for the dinner shifts. I am not getting as much time with my daughters as I had hoped this summer. Besides working, they enjoy the lake, and I guess that is how it should be when you are living in a resort area. The locals should enjoy the assets of the area because you don't have to deal with the negative aspects, like too much traffic. But when you are a backyard away from a great lake and a nice ski mountain, it would be a shame not to utilize them. I used to enjoy winter weather much more when I was a skier.

Fair week is here. I hope I will be able to enter my art. People who only go to the midway miss the best part of the fair, with the livestock and the other exhibits. If you have kids, be sure to take them down to the goat and pony barns. Goats are so cute, especially when they are babies. But beware, because you might find yourself as a livestock owner, especially if your kids visit the rabbit barn and see the fancy chickens in the poultry barn. If your kids loved Charlotte's Web, you may take them to the swine barn. In the horse barn you will see all kind of horses, some of every color and size, even some draft horses; and if you get to the dairy barn you may see cows being milked just like at the farm.

If your family members are meat eaters, catch the 4-H/FFA livestock sale on Saturday night. Buy a baby beef, market hog, or a sheep, and you can fill up your freezer. The best thing about buying and eating the 4-H livestock is that you know they were raised with love, which is an important aspect.

Visit the 4-H exhibit building to see the wonderful works our 4-H'ers have done with the beautiful canned goods, mouthwatering baked goods, crafts, and very nicely handmade clothing items, and various 4-H booths. I bet you wish your kid were a 4-H'er. Lots of 4-H baked goods will be on sale. Also be sure to go through the big exhibit barn to see the accomplishments of our farm family. You will see beautiful garden produce, which include huge pumpkins, and at the agriculture produce you will see the tallest corn stalk. You can smell the prize-winning hay entries. There are quilts, needlework, and garments. At the flower department you will see all varieties of cut flowers and the many houseplants. Maybe you will decide to enter your jade plant. Look at the wonderful photographs and the fine art. I think I have a good bunch of paintings to enter.

Of course, no one who goes to the fair can pass by the food booths. They have just about anything you desire. The band boosters from each school, school athletic boosters – and the county's Young Farm Bureau booth features ice cream of your choice and great milk shakes. No visit to the fair should miss the Rotary Club's french fries, which are the best fries you can imagine. There are so many I can't get them all in. But the Kitzmiller booth has been there as long as I can remember. When we were at the fair the whole week, we would check out the various prices and see which were the best buy, as our finances were low. Back then the Kitzmiller booth proved to be cheapest for us 4-H'ers who were there for the week.

When the fair arrives my Claire's birthday comes up real quick. I can't believe it was 21 years ago when I was staggering around with a baby inside me. She was born on a Sunday, the day after the fair ended.

Also don't miss the horse pulling contest on Sunday, Aug. 12. The interdenominational vesper service will be held that evening at 6:30 p.m., followed by the crowning of the Farm Queen. Of course, you can ride the thrill rides in the carnival. Most of the years I attended, the only ride I took was the annual ride on the Ferris wheel. I almost never missed the chance to get a funnel cake. Another event with family appeal is the costume animal parade on Friday evening. Something new this year is an antique tractor show. Small children will have the pet show on Thursday afternoon. A very fun event is the baby crawl on Wednesday. When the girls were little, Claire was ineligible since she newly turned 1 year old and was already walking. But both Meredith and Caitlin won when they participated. It is a very fun event.

I have to confront my disability every day. Today the issue is that my left leg is not good. It aches when a storm is coming. I just heard the first thunder today. It is very unusual to have thunder in the morning. The first drop of rain is falling.

The past Sunday was not a good day for Claire to be on the lake. A couple weeks ago Claire was out in a boat when a thunderstorm rolled in and they knew it was not a good place to be during an electrical storm. This is a very mild storm. Boo did not even noticed it. Even if we didn't get loud thunder crashes, the rain is really coming down. Thank goodness for the nice rain we have gotten.

According to my physical therapist, Mike Voekel, I need surgery on my ankle. The word surgery throws me into a major panic attack. But if it will help me to walk better, I guess it will probably be worth it.

Quite a few people from our Bittinger Parish are supporting the arts in Garrett County by going to Theatre on the Lake's production of The Secret Garden. Cindy Richardson was joined at the theatre by her son, a friend from Wheeling, Paula McDonald, Wanda Reynolds, and Carol Peck. They met up with Sam and Cindy Stanton there. Cindy gave an excellent rating for the production.

Our parish youth group is going on a whitewater adventure at Ohiopyle, Pa., on Wednesday, Aug. 8. When I was a member of the youth group it was not just all work without some fun. Besides singing in the junior choir and caroling to shut-ins, we visited nursing homes. I can remember a hayride and nighttime sled riding party in Brenneman Grove with a big bonfire. I can remember how beautiful the evening was. The night was so dark with no moon, and the Milky Way was sparkling in the black sky. The fire was so brilliant with red and gold flames, and the coals glowed with vibrant scarlet color. The hot chocolate was so delicious. I feel a little sorry for kids from more urban backgrounds who never experience that kind of activity.

I was surprised that western Pennsylvania is in a drought. Most of the time they have the same kind of weather that we get. I don't think we have a drought here in Garrett County, as we got over three inches of rain on Sunday. My aunt who lives in Williamsport said it is so dry there they haven't had to cut the grass for ages. When we got the nice rain on Sunday, my brother Barry in Frederick said that maybe they got a quarter of an inch.

WINS NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP – Local water skier Sam Ingram, 45, of Swanton won the Men's 4 Division slalom water ski national championship on Monday. Ingram won his age division with a total score of 106 buoys, which is also scored as 4 @ 39.5 off. The 65th annual GOODE Water Ski National Championships was held near Bakersfield, Calif., and featured more than 700 water ski athletes from across the United States – ages 5 through 94 – competing for national titles in slalom, tricks, jumping, and overall in respective age divisions. Ingram also heads the Deep Creek Lake Watersports Club and can be seen regularly practicing early mornings on Deep Creek Lake and nearby Terra Alta Lake in West Virginia. Members of the club will be demonstrating their skills on Broadford Lake this weekend. See other photos and more information on the back page of this section.

Garrett Chamber Awarded $24,000 Grant From ARC

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has approved a grant of $24,000 to the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, Rep. Roscoe Bartlett announced Tuesday. The funding will be used for the Garrett County Economic Impact Analysis Project to promote tourism.

In addition to ARC funding, local sources will provide $24,000 to the effort, bringing the total project funding to $48,000, according to Bartlett.

With an increase of more than 200,000 tourists in the western Maryland region, the best accommodations are essential to fostering the growth of the developing tourism industry, according to Bartlett. To realize the necessary accommodations, data will be collected to determine the degree to which tourism is impacting the local economy and to identify future development opportunities that are likely to result from growth in tourism.

The resulting survey data

Group Against Oakland Bypass Meets; Finds Reviews Mixed In Hopwood, Pa.

by Glenn Tolbert

Garrett Countians for Smart Growth, an organized group of citizens who are opposed to the construction of a bypass around Oakland, met last Thursday to continue work on a presentation that will be made to Maryland comptroller Peter Franchot.

As part of that effort, the group sent this writer just north of the Garrett County border to speak to citizens of another town around which a bypass opened a few years ago.

Officials in Uniontown, Pa., decided some time ago that a bypass was needed there, especially to get rid of truck traffic through the downtown area. The small, adjacent community of Hopwood was also bypassed in the process, and the subsequent effects on businesses there have at best been a mix.

Taking a walk down the main street offers a fascinating revelation on the subject. One of the first stores has a piece of plywood over it with "Closed" painted on it.

"You might as well kiss it goodbye," is what Katherine Herring said when told Oakland was going to have a bypass. Herring, part owner of Herring's Restaurant for more than 30 years, says that ever since the bypass opened, her business has been cut in half.

But that wasn't the story with every business,

Dan Polito's carpet store has been in business for generations, and he says the bypass hasn't hurt his business in the slightest.

"Families have been buying here for years and they continue to do so. I haven't had any problems with the bypass at all," he said.

A few doors down is a pharmacy. It is attractively lit and has a sizable ice cream parlor in the corner. The owner would only give his name as "Fred."

"That bypass has cut my business in half or more," he says. "Don't let them build one around Oakland. If you have any pharmacies there, it will be the same story."

Adrian Chester has a different story.

As part owner of a grocery store, he says the bypass made him sharpen his marketing skills.

Douglas Ray Oxford Jr., teacher at Southern Garrett High School, was recently named Garrett County's Teacher of the Year, according to information received from the Board of Education. He has been an educator for over 27 years, and has worked as a teacher of social studies, psychology, American history, sociology, contemporary problems, and government at Southern High since 1983.

62nd Garrett County Farm Queen Crowned Sunday At Fairgrounds

The 62nd Garrett County Farm Queen was crowned last Sunday night at the Garrett County Fair. Catlin ("Catie") Jones was chosen from a total of eight contestants. The first runner-up was Andrea Steyer.

"If the level of participation in the farm queen program is an indication of the importance of both the fair and agriculture to the Garrett County community, the future for both the fair and agriculture in the county is very bright," said Terri Rodeheaver, fair board member and Garrett County Farm Queen Committee member.

Catie is the daughter of Johnny and Kim Jones of Oakland. She and her family raise custom beef and hogs. She is 16 years old, and is a student at Southern High School, where she is enrolled in the agricultural management program.

She is an active member of the Southern Garrett FFA Chapter, having held various offices. She is also a member of the Red House 4-H Club.

Catie has been an exhibitor at the Garrett County Fair for six years, showing market steers and pigs, as well as entering indoor exhibits.

Andrea Steyer is the daughter of Randall and Kay Steyer of Oakland. She and her family operate a dairy farm, where they milk 60 Holstein cows and raise replacement heifers.

Andrea is actively involved in many of the activities associated with the farming operation, and owns 25 of her own dairy animals.

She will be a senior at Southern High School, where she is an active member of the FFA Chapter, serving as the current president. She is also a member of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club.

Andrea will be taking courses at Garrett College during her senior year, and plans to become a veterinarian.

Other contestants were as follows:

Rachel Schmidt is the daughter of John and Darlene Schmidt, Accident. The family operates a beef farm.

As a 4-H'er, Rachel was active in showing market livestock as well as rabbits and dairy animals. She owns several registered Angus and Holstein cattle of her own. Having completed her 4-H career, she continues to be involved as a volunteer leader.

Man Sentenced To Five Years In DOC For Burglary

A 21-year-old Mtn. Lake Park man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court last Tuesday to conspiracy to commit first-degree burglary. Related charges against Louis Allen Collins were dismissed upon his plea.

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced him to five years in the Division of Corrections.

Collins and a co-defendant, Christopher Jose Munoz, were originally arrested by officers with the Garrett Bureau of Investigation in February, hours after a Loch Lynn resident reported his home had been burglarized and items, including firearms, were stolen. Collins was charged based on footprints found at the scene, the statements of witnesses, and Munoz being found in Collins's residence with the stolen property, according to the state's attorney.

The case was brought to the Circuit Court in March after an indictment was handed down by the grand jury. Munoz had previously pleaded guilty to burglary and had been sentenced to 20 years in the Division of Corrections.

In other court proceedings, Bryan Kelley, 34, Accident, was sentenced last Monday to three years in

Dental Program Gives Garrett County Children "Something To Smile About"

Initiative May Expand To Include Adults

The Garrett County Health Department's dental network for children is a "success story," according to the "Maryland Rural Health Plan," recently published by the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. With that accomplishment for children, the Health Department now wants to include adults in its Something to Smile About program, staff members told the commissioners last week.

"It's gotten a lot of national attention, gotten really good results, and has done wonders for dental access for children in Garrett County," health officer Rodney Glotfelty said about the program. "However, everybody knows there's still a big problem with adult dental care."

Something to Smile About was initiated in 1999 with a $600,000 federal rural outreach grant. The program provides dental services such as cleanings, sealants, restorative treatment, extractions, and outpatient surgery to those in the Maryland Children's Health Insurance Program. Even with MCHIP insurance, the "Maryland Rural Health Plan" points out, children do not always have full access to dental care.

"Prior to initiation of the Garrett County Something to Smile About dental network program," the plan states, "there were many barriers to dental care, including a lack of dentists, providers' reluctance to accept dental insurance, and cultural norms that did not include regular preventive dental care."

A phone survey conducted among MCHIP recipients showed that prior to 1999 more than 37 percent of children in Garrett County over age 3 had not visited a dentist. More than 60 percent of parents had not been able to use their MCHIP card for dental

IT WAS TWO BIG DAYS of fishing for Michael Warnick of McHenry last week, who set one Maryland state record and just missed setting another one while fishing in Deep Creek Lake. Warnick is pictured directly above with a state-record carp, which he caught last Wednesday near Bill's Marine Service. The critter was 48 inches long and weighed 51 pounds. Warnick said he was using corn for bait. He is pictured at right with a 10-pound, 3-ounce largemouth bass that was 26½ inches long, which he caught the very next day in the McHenry Cove. The bass fell just 4 ounces short of the current state record. Warnick said that he first snagged about a 10-inch bass with worm as bait, but the 10-incher then became the bait for the monster bass, which it consumed in one big bite. Warnick was pictured last year after catching a 27-pound catfish in a private pond.

Fundraiser Grosses Nearly $7,000 For The Dove Center

Nearly $7,000 was raised during the Dove Center's 6th annual "Stop the Violence" Walk & Rock fundraiser on July 21 in Loch Lynn, with a chunk of the money raised by just three walkers. Twenty-four participants either walked through the streets of Loch Lynn or rocked in the rocking chairs under the pavilion.

Prizes donated by businesses and individuals were given to the top three adult money raisers, and to the children who raised the most money.

Mary Shreve raised the largest amount of money with a grand total of $2,533. The second highest amount of money was raised by Ron Umbel at $1,350, and Karen Lohr came in third place with a total of $1,015.

Zack and Brandon Hanline won the child's prize by collecting a combined total of $350. The total amount turned in the day of the event was $6,912, which is the highest amount of proceeds collected during the six years the event has been held.

First prize included a $25 Wal-Mart gift card, a weekend stay at Canaan Valley Resort, a $15 gift certificate to Melanie's Restaurant, and two Garrett County Fair passes. Second place prizes included a $25 Wal-Mart gift card, six free carriage rides at Pleasant Valley Dream Rides, two gift certificates to Denny's restaurant, and two Garrett County Fair passes. Third place prizes included a $25 Wal-Mart gift card, four tickets for the Western Maryland Scenic Railroad, a Ruby Tuesday gift card, and two Garrett County Fair passes. The child's prize included two general admission tickets and a gift bag from the Baltimore Aquarium, four coupons for Pizza Hut personal pizzas, and two all-day passes to Smiley's Fun Zone.

Each participant was given a gift bag and a certificate of participation, and door prize drawings were held for the remainder of the donated prizes.

The Dove Center staff noted its appreciation to the 63 businesses and individuals who donated prizes for the event, Patty Lohr for taking photos at the walk, and to the individuals who raised and donated money to support the agency.

by Heather L. Hanline, Dove Center executive director

The Dove Center is approaching its 15th year of providing services to victims of domestic violence and sexual assault in Garrett County. These services include a 24-hour help-line; safe shelter; group and individual counseling; advocacy and accompaniment to legal, medical, and other appointments; a 9-1-1 cell phone program; free professional clothing for clients; information and referral; outreach services; abuse intervention counseling; and public awareness and education.

Many people are unaware of the fact that the number of clients served by the Dove Center, the variety of services offered, and the number of staff required to provide those services have increased substantially since the agency began. The reason for this increase is the exhaustive community awareness and educational activities engaged in by the Dove Center staff on a daily basis, as well as the reputation the agency has gained by the quality of services it offers.

The agency staff and Dove Center board members wish to devote such dedication to this matter because they care deeply about the well-being and safety of the residents of our county, and unfortunately, domestic violence is a problem here.

Overall, the agency serves more than 350 clients per year, with an average of 100 of those housed in the emergency shelter for over 1,000 bed-nights.

This growth has made it necessary for the agency to pursue a new facility. As client numbers continue to grow, the agency is limited by space constraints, as well as being divided among different sites and locations; therefore, the agency's staff, board, and Capital Campaign Committee are looking to the future and making plans to continuously improve the quality and quantity of services provided to clients and the community at large.

Some of the examples of the service provision restraints placed upon the agency by its current facilities are the fact that three counselors share one office at the current administrative/counseling location in Oakland. This makes scheduling appointments with more than one client at the same time very difficult. Furthermore, the shelter facility, which is able to hold up to 15 residents, has only five bedrooms (two of which are not much larger than a walk-in closet) and only one bathroom for client use.

The primary goal of a domestic violence shelter is to provide a place of safety, comfort, and long-term healing for victims of abuse. This can be difficult under the current conditions. It is also important to note that the Dove Center assists when possible by providing shelter to homeless women and children. Having a facility with more beds would make it possible for the agency to assist more people with this local problem.

A new location is being pursued by the agency which would allow for consolidation of the shelter facility and administrative/counseling office, and would allow for triple the number of offices, twice as many bedrooms in the shelter, and at least four bathrooms. A Capital Campaign is under way, raising local money to act as a match for a grant that will be pursued early next year.

The Dove Center is asking the community to assist with this project, as it does benefit the community as a whole. Domestic violence seeps into society, reaching everyone, whether directly or indirectly.

For example, it is estimated that business owners lose between $3 and $5 billion annually in medical costs and an additional $860 million per year in lost wages and work due to the effects of domestic violence on its employees. It is estimated that 1,750,000 workdays are lost each year because of domestic violence. Children who are raised in violent homes are 70 percent more likely to be victims of physical, sexual, or emotional abuse.

Child victims of abuse are much more likely to become teen parents. Teen parents are much less likely to complete high school and/or college, necessitating the need for public assistance such as food stamps, Medicaid, and Temporary Cash Assistance.

Furthermore, many domestic violence perpetrators refuse to pay child support if a victim leaves the home, in an effort to continue exerting power and control. This too leads to the need for a victim to access public assistance.

Victims experience higher rates of mental illness and substance abuse as a result of trauma, leading to the need to access public mental health services.

The ways that domestic violence impacts society are much too extensive to list; however, it is programs such as the Dove Center that address these issues by educating, treating, and preventing.

The Dove Center is a small, private, non-profit that must work extremely hard for every penny in its budget. Most of its services are provided free of charge, and if a dollar amount were placed on every service provided in a year, that number would be more than 25 times the amount of the agency's actual budget.

The agency is now asking the community for assistance to better address this community issue. Individuals interested in helping the Dove Center to purchase its larger facility may send donations to: Dove Center Capital Campaign, P.O. Box 402, Oakland, MD 21550.

For more information on this project, individuals may contact me. To inquire about Dove Center services, individuals may call 301-334-9000.

Dove Center To Benefit From Internet Surfing

The Dove Center, Garrett County's domestic violence and sexual assault resource center, will now benefit from web surfing through a company called GoodSearch.com. This relatively new search engine was developed by Internet entrepreneurs Ken and J.J. Ramberg.

It is powered by Yahoo, and donates 50 percent of its revenue (approximately a penny per search) to the charities designated by its users.

"It works exactly like any other search engine, and the quality of the searches are just as good," said Heather Hanline, Dove Center executive director. "It is possible for an agency to earn as much as $7,000 a year from this source."

The Dove Center serves more than 300 clients a year, providing shelter, a 24-hour help-line, counseling, information and referral, advocacy and accompaniment, outreach offices, and public awareness. The facility houses an average of 100 victims and children per year for an average of 1,000 bed-nights, according to Hanline.

The agency counts on unrestricted fundraisers to help pay the costs of utilities and food at the shelter.

"GoodSearch.com makes it possible for everyone to support the Dove Center just by doing an everyday activity – searching the Internet," said Hanline. "It is a great program, and we hope the community will utilize it. Those pennies will add up quickly, and every cent is of help to our agency. Simply go to www.GoodSearch.com, enter Dove Center in the charity line, do your normal searching, and log off knowing that you have helped a very worthy cause."

Individuals wanting more information about this fundraiser or the Dove Center may call 301-334-6255. To speak to a hotline worker, they may call 301-334-9000.

Safety Vs. Higher Profits...

"You get what you pay for" is the cliché that comes to mind when pondering the current discovery of several dozen lines of China-made, lead-contaminated toys from major toy companies are being sold throughout the United States.

On average, the ratio of cost in producing a toy in the USA to producing the same toy in China is 8 to 1. That is, if 100 toys are made in the United States at a cost of $800, those same 100 toys can be produced in China for only $100. Guess which supplier most of the toy companies are going to deal with.

Now Mattel Toys is facing a huge problem, one that will likely end up costing it even more than the amount that was saved via the aforementioned 8-1 ratio. Not only are they having to recall 9 million toys – at an enormous expense – but they are also at great risk from a legal standpoint, as the filing of lawsuits is likely. Now we're talking about potential losses of tens of millions of dollars.

This is one of the difficult problems with having a world economy. Because of the huge differences in standards of living, cultures, and expectations, there are likewise huge economic gaps. A worker in China would be doing quite well at $2 pay per hour, but Americans could not begin to survive working for that amount.

But there are also regulatory and quality issues, well demonstrated by the lead-poisoned toy fiasco. While higher labor costs represent a large chunk of the difference in production expenses between nations, guaranteeing the quality and safety of the product is also a significant piece. It is far more difficult for a United States manufacturer to get away with producing an unsafe product, as various regulators and watch groups stand ready to pounce. Thus, more money must be spent by the U.S. manufacturer to make sure the product is safe, a quality control issue that the Chinese manufacturer apparently does not have to worry about.

While we are generally opposed to increased intervention (invasion?) by government agencies into business, it is obvious that there needs to be more scrutiny by government into the quality of imported products, at least in the area of safety. Lives are at risk and, in a sense, at the mercy of big business, which in this case is clearly not doing an adequate job of scrutinizing, and is thereby sacrificing safety of its customers for higher profits.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

To the young man who hit me on Bradley Lane on Saturday, Aug. 11, between noon and 12:30 p.m. while I was sitting at a stop sign, you were driving a gray van with a black luggage rack on top. You were wearing red shorts and a white T-shirt. You stopped for only a moment. Before the police got there, you left. Officer Alexander said he could not do anything because I got only the first three digits on your Maryland tag.

I will see you again. I will get your full tag number. Then justice will be done. You damaged my car and injured me.

I hope you can live with yourself. You can hide out only for a while.

We have owned property at Deep Creek Lake for 40 years, and we want to send thanks and kudos to Robert and Mary Carter from Richmond, Va., for their letter published Aug. 9. They hit the nail right on the head. The "money people" have sold this lake to the highest bidders. How much longer will the commissioners and planners succumb to the wishes and wants of developers and investors? When will the part- and full-time residents say Stop! Enough! Maryland's best kept secret is no more.

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to ask members of the community to start saving now for Christmas. Set aside a jar and fill it with loose change. Set aside an envelope and fill it with dollar bills. And when you approach a shopping center, whether it is Wal-Mart or a big city mall, notice the Salvation Army ringer. Take with you your "Christmas money" and slip it into the ringer's container.

Here's why: The Salvation Army feeds many by providing meals to men, women, and families with children. They can provide shelter in times of life's storms. They offer encouragement, companionship, and counseling in this trying world. The Salvation Army has been a wonderful assistance to many who have to find affordable housing on underemployed wages.

So, stop and take a few moments out of enjoying the end of summer to think of others. I also was educated in knowing that the Salvation Army has been doing this type of good work for decades. During World War II, the Salvation Army and the Red Cross both went to the front lines. They offered soldiers coffee and donuts. The difference between the two groups was that the Salvation Army provided its goods for free. I don't know, but maybe the Salvation Army is even helping our men and women in uniform still today.

So remember, Christmas isn't far off, and your change could benefit so many others in so many ways.

Thanks,
Scott Eric Wilson

To the Editor:

To Bob and Mary from Richmond, thank you for your decision to stay in Richmond after spending 46 years of your summer watching a county naturally grow and mature. Did you really believe that our beautiful county would stand still rather than dutifully embrace change and even provide its many residents and tourists better highways and an increased tax base to support itself?

I have looked for that "paradise" you write about and still find it in Garrett County. And the reason is quite simple: It is the people who grow up here, are educated here, and plan their futures, and their futures seem even brighter now than ever before.

Maple Street or Main Street can be found all over our country. My own hometown in Florida was practically founded by my five-generation Floridian family. Today it is still recognizable because many of the same wonderful people reside there.

Your letter to the editor seems filled with disdain. Your assessment that Garrett County is "going to the dogs" is absolutely ridiculous. Most of us are always searching for that perfect place to unwind, relax, and enjoy, and most tourists and residents still believe that "our" county can compete with many others in that regard.

I am so glad that you did not live during the expansion period to the West. We would all still be living in Jamestown.

Let's face the facts, Robert and Mary, we are just getting older – we don't like change.

Yours truly,
Jerry Stonham

To the Editor:

My son recently took the test for early entrance to kindergarten because his birthday is 8 days after the "cutoff date." Unfortunately, he did not meet the requirements. He has already spent two years at Head Start, but now I have been told that he cannot return to Head Start if he does not get into kindergarten just because I make too much money!

I am a single mother! So now what is he to do for one year before he can get into kindergarten? I have to work to support us! I want to know why these kids have to take this test to get into kindergarten just because they were born after September 1. I feel that this is ridiculous. My birthday was in October, and I started kindergarten when I was 4. I think I did just fine; in fact, I am working as an LPN. So, tell me, what does his birthday have to do with education?

Like I said before, he spent two years in Head Start and now he has to go without any education for a year because his birthday is 8 days after September 1.

Another thing is that he has made friends for the past two years, and they are moving on because their birthdays are right, and he can't go. Do you know how upset he is because of this? What I want to know is why these kids have to take this test when those who get to go to kindergarten just because their birthday is after Sept. 1 do not have to take this test. I bet there are some who get to go to kindergarten who have not had any education up to this point and may not even know the letters of the alphabet or numbers, but get to go just because their birthday is the right time of year.

To the Editor:

Because we now reside in Pennsylvania we learned of the passing of Farris "Floyd" Gregory after the fact. We first met Floyd 20 years ago when he stopped to help us install a stubborn mailbox. Floyd rented a small farm house down the road from us. He was a kind, generous man who worked hard for everything he had. He raised his boys alone, took care of his aging parents, and asked for little in life. He served in Vietnam and believed his illness in later life was a result of exposure to chemicals overseas. Floyd served his country well, was a friend and good neighbor to all who knew him, and asked for nothing in return.

He quickly befriended the two old "flatlanders" from Long Island and was determined that we learn the "Garrett County way of life." He took us on our first "ramp hunt." Sadly, we decided that ramps were an acquired taste. He introduced us to "strawberry picking season." What fun we had ... but we learned the hard way how many strawberries those buckets could hold. Hours of cleaning and preparing for freezing lay ahead!

Floyd invited us to dinner. Prior to the evening, he pulled up in his pickup with the biggest, fattest hog I ever saw. He wanted us to meet the meal. He was making pork chops! I managed to pet the critter and smile. For years after we laughed together over that. Floyd would stop for coffee in the morning, and check to see that all was well with us. He plowed our driveway in the winter with a tractor and blower that was held together with spit and glue. We shared local gossip, world events, and our everyday problems.

When I read his obituary I wondered how many others really knew this man. How much he loved his family, how devoted he was to his country, and how he appreciated the land around him. One small life in Garrett County. Rest in peace, Floyd.

To the Editor:

It is a major tragedy – on July 29, 2007, Donald Webb, a Division of Correction (DOC) lieutenant at the Baltimore City Correctional Center, shot his stepson, killed his wife, and committed suicide.

Déjà vu – on June 2, 1993, Rodney Stokes, a lifer on work release, killed his girlfriend and committed suicide.

When the Stokes tragedy occurred, the DOC commissioner of correction immediately removed 134 lifers from work release and sent us to medium security with orders that we each be given a screening by the prison psychologist before further consideration could be given to returning us to work release security status. The commissioner advised us in writing that they would review the classification process and design and implement new lifer work release regulations to preclude future domestic tragedies. (That never occurred; for 14 years the commissioner of correction has never honored that promise.)

In 1993 the 134 lifers on work release had the best security status of all lifers; just as the DOC majors, captains, and lieutenants have the best security status of all correctional officers.

If the DOC commissioner is consistent, the Webb tragedy should result in the commissioner's order to immediately remove all DOC majors, captains, and lieutenants from their posts until they each receive screening by a prison psychologist prior to any consideration to returning them to their security status! Now is the time for the DOC to review the classification process for supervisors, and design and implement new regulations, for DOC majors, captains, and lieutenants to preclude future domestic tragedies!

And if there is any poetic justice in this life, the DOC majors, captains, and lieutenants will themselves be waiting 14 years for the DOC commissioner to implement new policies in response to Lieutenant Webb's crime!

Sincerely yours,
Douglas Scott Arey
Westover

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to Governor Martin O'Malley requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Governor O'Malley:

We urge you to restore gypsy moth suppression funding for Garrett County for the 2008 gypsy moth season.

Garrett Countians are deeply disturbed about the devastation being inflicted upon our public and private lands by gypsy moths. These forests have great economic value to our county and state at large. Garrett County forestry provides jobs that would be lost, directly affecting families' livelihoods, should the gypsy moth win. An entire industry depends upon healthy forests, including first, jobs, then lumber, pulpwood, cordwood, trucking, and also maple syrup. Should we lose thousands of our trees, affected public and private lands would be devalued, thus reducing resale income and the county tax base; wildlife habitat protection materials would be depleted; there would be less food such as nuts, fruits, seeds, insects, and flowers to support wildlife, and fewer seedlings for tree replacement. Tourist and local resident usage of our forests would be adversely affected as hunters, hikers, campers, and scouts go elsewhere.

Attached are letters to Senator George Edwards and Delegate Wendell Beitzel signed by both Civic Club members and other concerned residents requesting they address the gypsy moth issue which is of grave importance to voters of Garrett County.

We recognize and appreciate the past and ongoing efforts of our local government officials and Senator Edwards and Delegate Beitzel, but they cannot accomplish an effective program without your help.

Cool green mountains are a major attraction for tourists to Garrett County, thus growth to our local and state economy. Please, do not neglect such an important asset in your state and on your watch. Governor, we desperately need you to approve the funds necessary to provide widespread aerial spraying to help keep Garrett County forests safe from gypsy moth damages.

Sincerely,
Maureen Bobo
President
Civic Club of Oakland

To the Editor:

In a recent letter (Republican, August 9), a couple from Richmond expressed their disgust at the crowdedness of Deep Creek Lake. Part of their attack was against personal water craft: "The lake's downhill slide started with allowing Jet Skis and PWCs on the lake."

That is what is known as a "whipping boy." Blaming everything on Jet Skis is a convenient target, but is in fact totally irrelevant. Personal water craft are already banned between 11 and 4 on summer weekends, and still the lake is very crowded.

One major problem is that boats moving slower than planing speed create huge wakes. Such boats are typically pulling tubers, not water skiers or wakeboarders. Whether in the main channel or in coves, wakes during midday weekends are so severe that it is virtually impossible to water ski during those hours. A boat driver cannot avoid large rollers, and the skier just hangs on for dear life and hopes to survive the next big wake. Not much fun for a novice.

Moreover, it is the huge wakes that cause docked boats to slam against the sides of their docks, and that is where damage comes from.

None of this has anything to do with personal water craft, which produce small wakes that dissipate quickly. Focusing criticism upon jet skis cannot solve anything.

The greatest hazard of all is boat drivers who are inattentive and haven't been properly trained in boating safety and right-of-way rules. Driving a car in rush-hour city traffic requires a driver's license plus skill and attentiveness; driving a tractor on a farm in Kansas is much safer. Despite the obvious differences in traffic density, Maryland's qualifications for driving a boat are the same on a Sunday in August as on a Tuesday in October.

Tightening boat-driver requirements would certainly enhance safety on Deep Creek Lake. The alternative is to ban still more classes of vehicles from the lake – an approach that accomplishes nothing when applied to personal water craft.

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to Congressman Roscoe Bartlett requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Congressman Bartlett:

This letter is to urge your immediate attention and assistance to Garrett County residents and voters to fight the gypsy moth destruction that is taking place in Garrett County. We are aware that you have received the very well-prepared documentation of this destruction, which includes information, photos, and aerial photos that show the infestation. We are also aware that our local and state government elected officials have expressed their concern to you.

We note that you have made use of the Congressional earmark system to provide approximately $45,279,000 for 18 non-defense related projects, none of which are for Garrett County. We also note that you have used the Congressional earmark system to provide approximately $270,000,000 for 32 defense-related interests. Your "earmarks" total more than 315 million dollars, of which the closest project to Garrett County is in Allegany County for $39,000!

Our "special interest" – the people of Garrett County, our farmers, our foresters, our residents depending on the tourism industry for jobs, and our working families – request that you support federal assistance with the gypsy moth infestation. Funds must be made available immediately so that action can be taken to prevent three consecutive years of defoliation.

We understand that Washington is very far away from our Garrett County. We know that you often are able to attend only the Autumn Glory Festival parade. On your way up this year, you will be able to see the damage that has taken place already, and perhaps this will move you to support the request for assistance that nearly every local elected official and many community groups have requested.

This is a quiet, ever-increasing catastrophe that needs your immediate attention and assistance.

Sincerely,
James R. "Smokey" Stanton
Chair,
Garrett County Democratic Central Committee

To the Editor:

We were privileged to grow up in Oakland, and travel back there several times a year. Living in Charlotte, N.C., now, we are afforded a multitude of educational, fun, and cultural activities for our kids. A couple weeks ago, we participated in that type of program right there in Garrett County. Our boys attended the second Landon's Library Play-Date on Aug. 4. What a blast!

We wanted to thank Brian, Crystal, and Landon Boal for their labor of love. The amazing love of their little boy, friends, family, and community, and their unwavering faith in God is contagious. We watched the Ruth Enlow Library be transformed into a children's playground — where for one hour, kids got to experience magic (literally and figuratively) through nine events that included a puppet show with real local "heroes" (Oakland police, fire and U.S. Postal workers), a horse and carriage ride, bowling, making piggy banks, and more, all with the goal of the kids becoming more involved in books and daring to grow an active imagination.

Brian and Crystal have been dear friends to us for years. From growing up in Oakland, to living in Charlotte, to celebrating wedding days, to growing our families, to dealing with personal tragedy, and witnessing their amazing response to that tragedy.... We watched them create the concept of Landon's Library. We watched them painstakingly pore through the details to ensure they got it "right." And we watched it unfold and witnessed Landon's forever friends get another "play date" with Landon.

We are amazed at the incredible support this community provides, and encourage you to continue that support through prayers, love, and time.

Can a 2-year-old little guy leave such a legacy? He can and is! We can hear him giggle from above as his mom and dad work to ensure each event is perfect. As you register your children for Landon's Library events, we hope that you will get to experience, through your children, the undying faith and belief in the "impossible," and that they might utter what our son Matthew uttered before the event: "I can't wait to play with Landon tomorrow." And no one can tell him that he didn't play with Landon on that Saturday morning.

As Landon would say, "Come play with us," and you and your kids will leave with a smile on your faces and a wonderful memory on your hearts!

GOLF TOURNEY BENEFITS UNITED WAY – First United Bank & Trust recently sponsored the 19th annual Charity Golf Tournament at the Oakland Golf Club. This was the ninth year that the bank has organized the event. "The tournament has become a tradition over the past 18 years and has raised over $260,000 for Garrett County charities," said a bank spokesperson. "Participants were able to enjoy a challenging round of golf, and, at the same time, help raise much needed funds for worthy community projects. This year the recipient of the proceeds was the United Way of Garrett County, to which First United donated more than $24,000. "We are extremely appreciative of the hard work and support that First United provided as a result of this year's tournament," said Jeannette Rudy Fitzwater, executive committee chair of United Way of Garrett County. "The donation will be of great use to the United Way charities in our community." Pictured, left to right, are Steven Lantz of First United presenting the check to Mary Beth Pirolozzi, United Way representative, and Robin Murray, United Way representative and a First United employee.

Oakland Woman Sustains Injuries In Car Collision

An Oakland woman was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital after sustaining injuries during a Friday afternoon collision at Glotfelty Tire on Garrett Highway.

According to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, Yossett Goralski, 38, attempted to turn left into Glotfelty Tire when her vehicle was struck by a vehicle that was following her, driven by Dante Hastings, 20, Edgewater.

According to authorities, Hastings allegedly failed to reduce the speed of his vehicle and struck Goralski's in the driver's side. Hastings then continued off the southbound shoulder, striking a concrete culvert, and continuing into the parking area of the tire shop, where his vehicle hit two other vehicles.

Hastings was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Also responding to the accident were Southern Rescue Squad and Oakland Fire Department.

Accident Caused When Man Fails To Yield Right Of Way

Sheriff's deputies responded to the scene of a motor vehicle accident on Glendale Road, just east of Beckman's Peninsula, on Saturday.

Taylor Snyder, 19, was traveling eastbound on Glendale Rd. when he attempted a left turn onto a private roadway. Traveling westbound on Glendale was a motorcycle operated by John Altobello, 50, who swerved to avoid the turning vehicle.

Altobello's vehicle skidded and overturned, ejecting him and his passenger. They were both transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where they were treated for their injuries.

Deputies charged Snyder with failure to yield right of way to oncoming traffic when turning left.

Vehicle Struck While Stopped At Traffic Light

A two vehicle collision was investigated by Oakland Police on Wednesday at the intersection of Maryland Highway and Garrett Highway.

Melvin Friend, 62, Oakland, was stopped at the traffic light on Maryland Highway traveling west, when he was struck by a vehicle operated by Ronald Friend, 42, Oakland.

No injuries were reported, and Ronald Friend was cited by police for failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

Five Injured In Car Crash; One Flown To Cumberland

Five persons were transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital last night at 7:30 p.m., after a three-car collision that occurred on Garrett Highway, North of Glendale Road.

According to the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack, a 1994 Acura Sedan driven by Victor Kipnis, 50, Potomac, was traveling southbound on Garrett Highway and attempted to make a left hand turn into the Will O' the Wisp. The rear of Kipnis's vehicle was struck by a 2006 Nissan Frontier, driven by Edward Morris, 41, Alum Creek, W.Va., and was pushed into opposing traffic, where it was hit a second time, head on, by a third vehicle, a 1997 Ford Taurus, driven by Deborah DeWitt, 50, Grantsville.

Kipnis was flown by Trooper 5 to Cumberland Memorial, and the two passengers of his vehicle, Imma Kipnis, 50, and a 10-year-old boy, were transported by ambulance to the hospital, along with Morris and DeWitt.

Northern and Southern rescue squads, as well as Oakland and Deep Creek volunteer fire departments, responded to the scene of the accident.

Charges from the accident are still pending.

Seven Juveniles Referred On ORV Charges Saturday

The Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) referred seven juveniles to the Department of Juvenile Services with multiple violations in the Blue Lick area of Savage River State Forest on Saturday at 1:50 p.m.

NRP was patrolling the area on Pea Ridge Spur Road and observed the youths had driven their all-terrain vehicles (ATVs) into the river. The group had constructed a fire and had thrown cans around the area. The youths, ranging in ages from 12 to 16, all of Frostburg, Lonaconing, Riva, Sterling, Va. and Bridgeport, W. Va., were referred for operating an off-road vehicle (ORV) in a prohibited area, failure to register an ORV with the department, driving in a non-designated area, littering, and constructing a fire without a permit. Four of the youths were also referred for operating an ORV without a driver's license.

In a separate incident, the NRP arrested Rodney Elia Iannelli, 47, Pittsburgh, Pa., on alcohol and drug violations on Deep Creek Lake on Saturday at 8:50 p.m.

Iannelli was stopped by NRP for operating his vessel without proper navigational lights after sunset. Iannelli displayed signs of intoxication, and after failing field sobriety tests, was placed under arrest. Once in custody, NRP found a small quantity of suspected marijuana on Iannelli. He was transported to the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack, where he took a breath test, which registered a blood alcohol level of .14 percent.

Iannelli was charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance, marijuana; operating a motor vessel while under the influence of alcohol; operating a motor vessel while impaired by alcohol; operating a motor vessel while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs; and operating a vessel between the hours of sunset and sunrise without proper navigational lights. He was taken before a Garrett County District Court commissioner and released on his own recognizance.

Man Arrested After Attempting To Flee From GC Deputies

While Garrett County sheriff's deputies were in the area of Wilson Corona Rd. investigating a prowler and destruction of property complaint early last Wednesday morning, a vehicle was observed approaching the scene with its lights off.

Deputies attempted to make contact with the vehicle, which was later identified as a Chevy Blazer. The driver attempted to flee from the deputies.

When the vehicle was eventually stopped, the driver was identified as Rodney Moreland, 25, Oakland. He was charged with driving under the influence, driving while intoxicated, driving suspended, driving revoked, fleeing from police, and numerous other traffic offenses.

There was also a bench warrant for violation of probation for Moreland.

He was taken to Garrett County Detention Center to be held on a $25,000 bond.

He was also preceded in death by his wife, Eda Pausek Thayer, who died three years ago; one daughter, Kathryn Thayer; one son-in-law, Edward Lewondowski; and six brothers and sisters, Gwendolyn, Winifred, Richard, Norman, Carol, and Joan.

He graduated from Thomas High School in 1937 and served in the U.S. Air Force during WWII.

Like his Grandfather, Stuart, he worked many years in the coal fields. He was a business proprietor in Thomas for over 47 years.

He married his beloved Eda Pausek Jan. 8, 1942, and they reared six children together.

Having been a lifelong member of the Thomas United Methodist Church, he served the Lord by being a faithful steward of God's good creation and cherished, protected, and cared for the great outdoors.

Dad enjoyed both fly fishing and hunting his entire life. His love of fly fishing and caretaking of streams and wilderness has been passed on to his loved ones. All of his grandchildren and great-grandchildren have benefited from the exemplary life their grandfather lived.

It is befitting, to close Stuart's earthly chapter with Psalm 36: 7–9, "How precious is Thy loving kindness, O God! And the children of men take refuge in the shadow of Thy wings. They drink their fill of the abundance of Thy house; And Thou dost give them to drink of the river of Thy delights. For with Thee is the fountain of life; In Thy light we see light." Amen!

He is survived by five children, Mary Ellen (Thayer) and husband Edward Helmick, Omaha, Neb., Stuart Jr. and wife Vivian Thayer, Oakland, Deborah (Thayer) and husband Ashton Curtis, Elkins, W.Va., Karen (Thayer) Lewondowski, Thomas, and Edie Gwen (Thayer) and husband Matthew McDowell, Davis, W.Va.; a special niece, Rebecca Wilkins, Keyser, W.Va.; 13 grandchildren; and 12 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at Hinkle Funeral Home, Davis.

A service was held Sunday, Aug. 12, at the Thomas United Methodist Church, with Rev. Jeff Winters and Rev. Jim Martin officiating.

Interment followed at the Rose Hill Cemetery.

In Loving Memory of
BARRY E. BEACHY

It is just a cluster of memories,
Sprayed with a million tears.
Wishing God could have spared you
For many, many more years.

We often sit and think of you,
And think of how you died.
To think you could not say godbye,
Before you closed your eyes.

Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why some things have to be.
But in His wisdom God has plannned
Beyond our power to see.

So looking back in tenderness
Along the path we trod,
We cherish the years we had with you
And leave the rest to God.

No one knows how much we miss you.
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you
Life has never been the same.

A million times we've needed you
A million times we've cried.
If love alone could have saved you,
You never would have died.

In life we loved you dearly.
In death we love you still.
In our hearts you hold a place
No one can ever fill.

Sadly Missed By,
Mom & Dad,
Sharon, Tammy,

Chili Splash At Wisp Raises Funds For Dove Center

Over 800 tasters walked through the gates of the 2nd annual Deep Creek Chili Splash held at Wisp on Saturday for a fundraising event to benefit the Dove Center.

"The Dove Center seeks to empower victims of domestic violence and sexual assault to develop a sense of self-worth and to take control of their lives, and to promote and foster public awareness of these issues," stated Heather Hanline, executive director.

A grand total of $2,084 was raised through tasting ticket sales, a quilt raffle, a 50/50 raffle, and various donations.

The crowd was entertained by live music featuring Timmy and Jimmy of the local band Boat House, as well as the Channel Cats of Cumberland. Local artisans and vendors such as a chainsaw carver, caricature artist, and jewelry vendors sold their fares, and a few contributed a portion of their proceeds to the day's cause. Children had their own corner with games, giant lawn checkers, face painting and more.

Contests were held throughout the day, and the winners were Kenny Lazorchak and Suzanne Nicholas as Mr. Hot Sauce and Ms. Chili Pepper, John Kauffman—Splash Contest, Eric Buras —Hot Pepper Eating Contest, Zack Roberts—Wet T- Shirt Contest, and Pat Han-line—People's Choice Car Show.

This International Chili Society-sanctioned regional event attracted cooks from a 600-mile radius of the mountains of western Maryland. Wes Carlson, a red chili cook of Loves Park, Ill., has cooked in 48 of the 50 states and won the World's Chili Verde Competition in 2004. While other cooks such as a husband and wife team, Rose and Brian Warmuth, chair their own cookoff in Wheeling, W.Va., and have placed on the final tables of the World's Chili Cookoff.

Chuck Nolan of Deer Park won Best Showmanship for his decorative booth and high spirits. A Morgantown native, Rob Wolfe of the 2 Fat Cousins, won second place in all three categories: red, green and salsa.

Red Chili – 1. Kim Eckley; 2. Rob Wolfe; 3. Ghon Eckley.

Chili Verde or Green Chili – 1. Christian Park; 2. Rob Wolfe; 3. Kim Eckley.

Salsa – 1. Butch Talbert; 2. Rob Wolfe; 3. Rose Warmuth.

Other awards included Best Showmanship Booth – Chuck Nolan; Rookie of the Year – Jimmy Walker; and People's Choice Chili Winner – Rob Wolfe.

The first place winners in each category will represent Wisp Resort's Deep Creek Chili Splash in the World's Championship Chili Cookoff from Oct. 5 through 7 in Omaha, Neb.

The Retirement Of A Race Horse: Gaining Local Celebrity Status

by Mandy Geisler

Nostrils flaring, tails flicking, heads nodding – the gate flies open and "they're off." Hooves hammering, dirt flying, adrenaline soaring – into the second lap. Hearts pounding, lungs heaving, muscles burning...

Generally, most owners stop racing horses once the horse reaches about 10 years old, and sadly sometimes a slow, old, or losing horse's retirement plan is that of a death sentence.

It may come as a surprise to many Garrett County residents who aren't involved in animal rescue programs and animal rights issues that animal abuse and neglect exist in the area, as well as nationally and internationally.

For horse lovers Dee Dee Clatterbuck, Melissa Johnson, and Dona Alveraz, who make up the unofficial "horse rescuers" of the Garrett County Humane Society, witnessing neglect of their favorite four-legged companions is an everyday reminder.

The "horse rescuers" purchase horses from owners who, for many unknown reasons, cannot meet the needs of the animal in their care.

One of the numerous neglect cases the trio has seen is that of 22-year-old Sultan. According to his Jockey Club official records, he was born in Connecticut as a bay throughbred under the registered name Whereizzy, and he was raced 10 times before the age of 5, never sinking below fourth place. It is unclear what happened to Sultan during his racing career and prior to his rescue.

When Sultan took refuge at Johnson's barn, he was extremely malnourished and near death. His ribcage, hip bones, and vertebrae were protruding from his body in the most shocking way. Making Sultan's life even more pitiful was a cancerous tumor engulfing his left eye, which grew as Sultan regained his strength.

As winter settled in, Clatterbuck suggested that Johnson send her worst looking horse to her stable on Rt. 135, where she had an extra warm stall, and naturally, Sultan was chosen.

With each horse rescued, more and more is required of the three women who provide a safe haven for the animals. A very important factor in the cycle of rescuing animals is that they are eventually adopted out to responsible individuals in order to allow for other animals to come in.

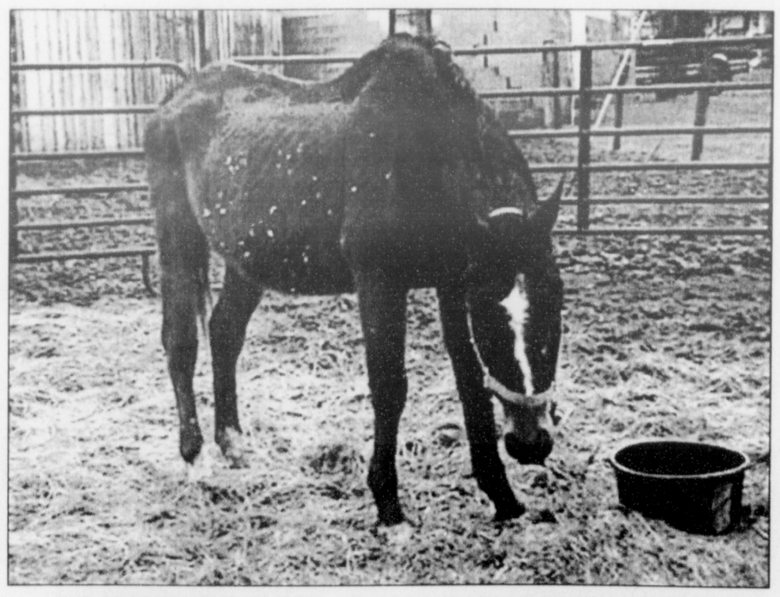
Luckily for Sultan, 9 year-old Makaily McCroskey of Swanton and her family were looking for a horse of their own, and according to Makaily's mother Melita McCroskey, Sultan was the exact opposite of what she was looking for in a horse, with his much needed eye surgery and health history. "As you can see, this is why some people would have preferred to put him down instead of investing the overwhelming amount of time that was required to get him through the recovery process," said Melita.

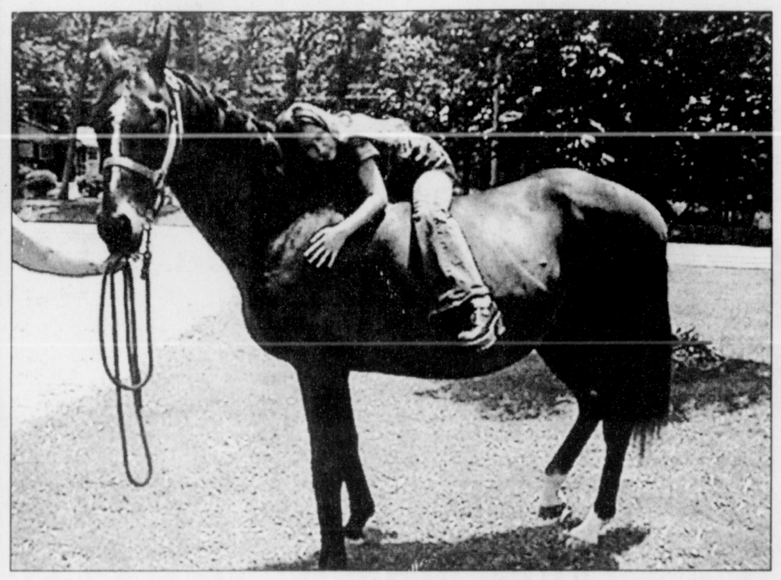
The McCroskeys, along with the trio of horse lovers approached the Humane Society about the issue of Sultan's eye, and the society agreed to pay for the $1,000 procedure to remove the tumor. Sultan was transported to the Marion duPont Scott Equine Medical Center in Leesburg, Va., for a 5 a.m. surgery on May 16. Unfortunately, he lost his eye during the surgery, but was otherwise on the trail to recovery. As Sultan improved, Clatterbuck said it was noticeable that he "felt better." When asked about his post-surgery behavior, she said he's "a very sweet old soul."

"I love him very much. We go on long trail rides, and he loves me very much," said Makailey in a thank-you letter to the Humane Society. Sultan, although adopted by the McCroskeys, remains boarded at Clatterbuck's barn.

Sultan's retirement – full of trail riding, daily attention, and appearances at Humane Society fundraisers – is one of which many retired horses only dream. Melita said Sultan is very calm and loving, but he is still a race horse at heart with a personality that is eager to please.

...Sweat glistening, chest thumping, ears ringing – a photo finish Consciousness recovering, pride rising, nerves settling – the lifestyle is over for this horse. Happiness soaring, love emitting, gratification building – it looks like this race horse got a second chance.





THE SECOND TIME AROUND – Thanks to the caring hearts and perseverance of a handful of Garrett County residents, retired race horse Sultan was given a second chance in life after battling neglect and an eye tumor. With the help of unofficial "horse rescuers" Dee Dee Clatterbuck, Melissa Johnson, and Dona Alvarez, along with the Garrett County Humane Society and the McCroskeys, Sultan's adoptive owners, the horse was nursed back to health before undergoing an expensive surgery to remove the tumor. "I am thankful to Melissa Johnson for getting him to me, and Denise Clatterbuck, our trainer and boarder, along with the other girls, Stefany and Caroline, for the ongoing help and support that we have received since Sultan's adoption," said Melita McCroskey. Sultan, near death, is pictured above around the time he was rescued, and is pictured below, sans tumor with loving owner Makaily McCroskey. See story.

Northern High Slates "Huskies Festival" Sept. 8

Northern High School will host a Huskies Festival on Saturday, Sept. 8, to promote its Conflict Resolution Program. The festival is open to all vendors, organizations, and individuals interesting in selling wares at this late-season yard sale. (The selling of firearms will not be permitted.)

The event will be held rain or shine, with the set-up time slated for 7:30 a.m. The sale will begin at 9 a.m. and run until 3 p.m. Vendors will be allowed to set up on either side of Pride Parkway, the entranceway to the school.

For pre-registration information, persons may call 301-746-8668 or 301-895-5434. The fee to participate is $10. No commission of sales will be required.

The Northern Garrett High School Conflict Resolution Program was established last year in an effort to create a pleasant and safe environment at school. A team of staff members implemented the program that promotes and rewards positive behavior. Incentive rewards were provided to students throughout the year through donations from local businesses and residents.

A spokesperson for the program said that when the committee met at the close of the school year this spring, it was discovered that negative discipline issues had decreased, and students held themselves more accountable for school property and their behavior. The committee leaders said they plan to add more students to the group "in order to enhance the function of the program."

Back To School Night Set For St. Mark's CELC

A back-to-school open house will be hosted by St. Mark's Christian Early Learning Center (CELC) on Thursday, Aug. 23, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the center, which is located at 14689 Garrett Highway, Suite 3, just north of Oakland. All registered children and their families are invited to attend the event, as well as persons interested in enrolling a child in the school.

There are openings remaining for the 2007-2008 school year. A student may attend full time, which is Monday through Friday, 8:15 a.m. through 5:15 p.m., or may have flexible part time hours. Because of increasing demand, priority is given to parents who wish to enroll a child full-time, a church spokesperson said.

Persons may call St. Mark's Lutheran Church at 301-334-2668 for more information.

St. Mark's CELC is a state-accredited, non-profit Christian early learning center for children ages 3 to 5. Children are taught basic educational concepts, such as the alphabet, numbers, shapes, and colors, and they also study Bible stories, learn Bible songs, and make crafts related to the lessons. The children are taken on field trips at various times throughout the school year, and host various visitors. The center is staffed by a certified teacher and assistant.

RED AND MURPHY & CO. TO PLAY AT PENN ALPS – The 15th season of Music at Penn Alps will continue this Saturday, Aug. 18, with a performance by bluegrass favorites Red and Murphy & Co., pictured. The concert will be held at the Great Hall at Penn Alps in Grantsville, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The husband and wife team has been performing together for more than 30 years, and are now joined by their two children, Casey and Christopher. "It will be a family concert of old favorites, original songs, humor, and plenty of high powered picking," an MPA spokesperson said. See story.

MPS To Present Red And Murphy & Co. Bluegrass

Music at Penn Alps will present bluegrass artists Red and Murphy & Co. on Saturday, Aug. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall in Grantsville.

Red and Murphy Henry are a veteran husband-and-wife bluegrass team, performing together for over 30 years. Red on mandolin and Murphy on banjo are now joined by daughter Casey on bass and banjo and son Christopher on guitar and mandolin.

A spokesperson said the program will include audience favorites such as "Fried Chicken," Murphy's nostalgic look at Sunday dinner down South; "Helton Creek," an instrumental piece by Red, with mandolin, banjo, and guitar; "Dixie Breakdown," written by Don Reno, performed on two banjos by Murphy and Casey; and "Rawhide," an instrumental from Bill Monroe which Red and Christopher perform on two mandolins.

During the course of the evening's entertainment, Red will also present some of his stories, the spokesperson said.

Since the start of their music career in 1974, Red and Murphy have produced 10 albums and six CDs together, and have recorded separately and with their children. They developed the Murphy Method, a "by ear" method for bluegrass instruments, and all four family members have taught at numerous music camps, including Augusta Heritage Week in Elkins, W.Va.; the Kaufman Kamp in Tennessee; Wintergrass in Washington state; and the first Bill Monroe Style Mandolin Camp in Owensboro, Ky.

Red serves as recording engineer and video producer. Murphy writes for the Bluegrass Unlimited magazine and Banjo Newsletter, and publishes the Women in Bluegrass newsletter. In addition, she has served on the board of directors of the International Bluegrass Music Association, and is currently working on a book about women in bluegrass for the University of Illinois Press. Casey and Christopher now both live in Nashville, Tenn., where they record and perform individually and with their own band, Casey and Chris and the Two-Stringers.

The concert is sponsored by the Sincell Publishing Company Inc./The Republican newspaper.

General admission is $12. Those younger than 19 are admitted free.

Music at Penn Alps offers 10 chamber music and two American music concerts annually during the summer months. Concerts take place in the Great Hall at Penn Alps, located along Alt. Route 40 in Grantsville.

Arts Council To Present Abstract Art Workshop

The Garrett County Arts Council will present a two-day workshop on creating abstract paintings with mixed media on Sept. 5 and 6 at the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park. The sessions will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

"It just isn't as easy to do an abstract as most people think it is," said Bob Corrigan, the workshop instructor. The sessions are designed and intended to be "fun and creative," according to Corrigan.

Workshop participants will experiment with concepts of color and composition, and explore sources of inspiration while creating three finished works of art.

The workshop fee of $50 will include all needed materials, including acrylic and oil paint, metallics and iridescents, watercolors, pastels, charcoal, grit, gels and pastes, and copper strips.

The deadline to register is Aug. 29.

Corrigan belongs to several regional artists' cooperatives and teaches workshops in the Cumberland area. He is a self-taught watercolorist currently experimenting with digital contemporary art and printmaking techniques.

Additional information is available by contacting the Garrett County Arts Council at 301-334-6580 or visiting the Web site at garrettarts@verizon.net.

THE ACCIDENT COMMUNITY CONCERT BAND will hold its annual summer concert on Sunday, Aug. 19, at 4 p.m. at the Accident fire hall pavilion. Most communities in the late 1800s and early 1900s had their own community band, as did the town of Accident. Gradually, as membership decreased, the community bands ceased to exist. In January of 1989, the Accident Cultural and Historical Society worked with Rev. Wilfred Karsten to reorganize the town band. Since then, the band has been active with membership consisting of residents of Garrett County, as well as Pennsylvania and other parts of Maryland. The original bass drum, which is over 100 years old, is still being used. The Windy Ridge Hoedown, a lively local group known for their bluegrass music, will also be performing at the concert. A free-will offering will be accepted in order to benefit the Bolivia Project. Band members, with some members pictured above, include director Bill Robinson, George Keller, Shari Beitzel, Jack Slocomb, Keith Carrington, Noah Schrock, Lillian Reckner, Annette Keller, Sheila Edwards, Rosanne Sherwood, Charee Reckner, Sally Schwing, Dr. Donald Richter, Rodney Glotfelty, Becky Fike, Shirley Crush, and Isaiah Carrington. Band rehearsals are held the 2nd and 4th Mondays of each month in the town hall. No auditions are required. The band welcomes all new members. Members of the Windy Ridge Hoedown include Steve Yeash, Ron Beitzel, Don Beitzel, Garland Maust, and Olen Beitzel. Light refreshments will be served after the music program. Picnic tables are provided, and attendees are encouraged to bring lawn chairs.

Anchored in Love

by John Carter Cash

c. 2007, Thomas Nelson, $24.99, 202 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

From the baby gazing into her mother's eyes to the toddler with a mitt full of flowering weeds ... from the valentine made with paper doilies to the teenager, grateful that Mom interceded on curfew ... from birth to old age, nearly every kid alive thinks, at least at some point, that his or her mom is the world's best.

When it comes to author John Carter Cash, millions of his mother's fans might agree. In his new book, Anchored in Love, Cash writes about his late mother: her alternately shaky and stable years with Johnny Cash, her achievements and dreams, and the fierce love for her family that June Carter Cash carried with her all her life.

Valerie June Carter was born June 23, 1929, into a family that was already on its way to national renown. That's because A.P. Carter, June's uncle, took his wife and his sister-in-law to perform for a recording agent in mid-1927. Carter family fame quickly spread across the country.

Even though she had musical roots, Cash says his mother sang loudly and off-key on early recordings. Her talents, instead, were her quick wit and her ability to make others laugh. On stage with her mother and sisters, June was always willing to break out in a "signature jig," and her corny jokes made fans roar.

But the happy face that June showed audiences wasn't always the one she had off stage. Her first marriage crumbled while her stardom soared. Her second marriage ended in a way that family members thought abrupt. She was performing around the country and often had to leave her two young daughters in the care of family members.

But in 1961, June Carter accepted a gig that would change her life. She became a regular member of the Johnny Cash Show, a job she was hesitant to accept because she knew about Cash's drug problems.

Despite her reluctance, June took the job and, eventually, took Cash as her husband. Through his many hospitalizations, his on-again-off-again drug habit, family crises, and her own addiction, John Carter Cash says that his mother kept faith in God foremost in her life.

Imagine how difficult it would be to whip the blanket off the truths your mother carefully kept covered. Author John Carter Cash does that, but in a down-home, comfortable way that makes you feel like the Carter-Cash family lives just next door. He hints freely about his mother's possible affair with Elvis Presley, and he is frank about the pain of living with addicts and becoming an addict himself. Cash says in the beginning of this book that it isn't meant to be a professional biography of his mother, but more of a collection of his memories. Read Anchored in Love, and you'll agree that he did a right fine job of writing.

If you're looking for an easy biography to read for yourself, your dad, or your mother, this one is a good book to find. Anchored in Love will have you anchored in your chair for a good solid afternoon.

Against Bypass

"We were about to expand when the bypass was built," he said. "But instead we improved on what we had. It really sharpened our marketing skills."

A walk through the store demonstrated what Adrian was talking about. Mounds of fresh fruit and beautifully displayed canned goods all under beautiful lighting are reflected off a gleaming floor.

Chester is also involved in a group applying for funds to restore the town to its historical roots of the 1800s.

"You can't just give up and say 'the bypass ruined us.' You have to think of alternative ways to attract people," he concluded.

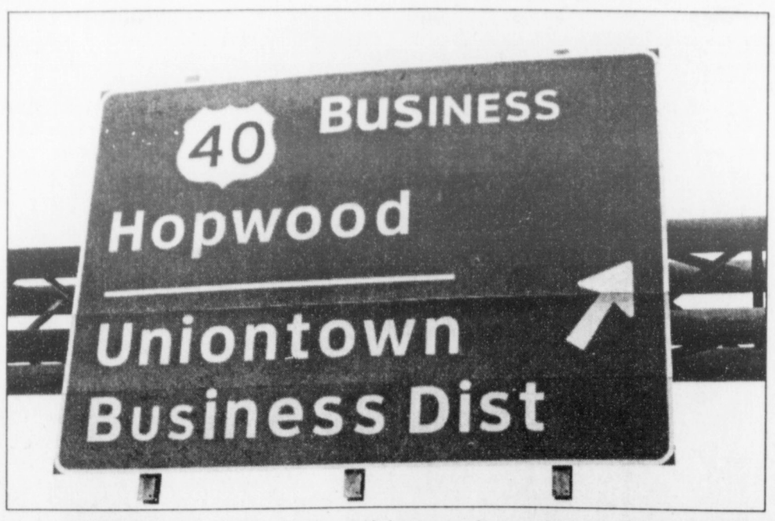
At last Thursday's meeting of Garrett Countians for Smart Growth, much time was spent discussing the issue that Oakland was designated years ago as a Main Street Community. This designation gives the town some priorities when it comes to funding from the state to upgrade the appearance of the town.

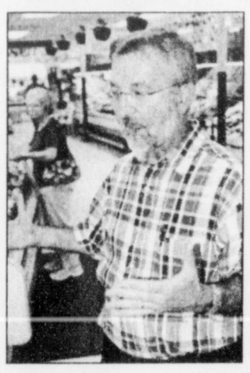
No one argued that, with the help of many thousands of dollars received via the Main Street designation, downtown Oakland has become an excellent example of what can be done with this kind of support. However, it was pointed out that the specialists hired to assist in the planning all agreed that, when it comes to downtown revitalization, traffic is good, because without traffic there are no customers. The bypass, as its name implies, is designed to pass traffic by downtown.

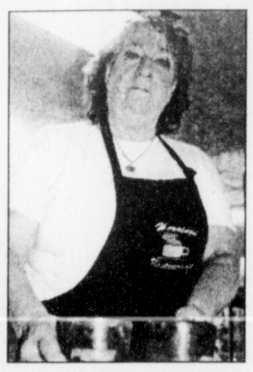
Those at the meeting also agreed that the impact on the local environment, particularly on farmland through which the bypass will be constructed, is one of the major concerns that they want to share with Comptroller Franchot.

Members also noted that, with the state's current deficit, the $42 million intended to be spent for construction of the bypass for less than three miles of pavement could be far better spent in other ways.

The group will hold another brain-storming meeting next week to finalize the presentation.







HOPWOOD, PA., just outside of Uniontown, is now bypassed by a four-lane highway, and there are mixed reviews from the residents as to the effects of the bypass. Adrian Chesler, part owner of a grocery store in Hopwood, pictured below, said the bypass made his business change marketing techniques for the better and thus "keeps me on my toes." A far more gloomy assessment was offered by Kathering Herring, part owner of the Herring Diner, below right, who predicted, "You can kiss that place goodbye," in reference to Oakland if the proposed bypass there becomes a reality. Most Maryland Schools Continue To Meet Rising Achievement Goals

Sufficient growth in reading and mathematics scores for the vast majority of Maryland elementary and middle schools has resulted in their meeting federally mandated progress targets for 2007.

Once again, nearly 80 percent of Maryland schools met the targets, known as Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP), according to data released yesterday by the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE).

For 19 schools that had a history of struggles, this year's data brought even better news, according to the MSDE, as their latest scores, combined with strong results from last year, allow them to exit the state's rigorous School Improvement status.

The federal No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB) requires that states identify schools not achieving Adequate Yearly Progress for two years in a row and place them into a School Improvement status to help them improve student performance. Those schools slated to leave the improvement process saw their scores rise to federally approved targets for both 2006 and 2007 in all race/ethnicity and special services categories (such as special education or English language learners) and achieved AYP, according to MSDE data.

The new data are contained in information made available yesterday on the MSDE report card web site (www.mdreportcard.org). Preliminary data for high schools, such as graduation rates and some high school assessment scores, will be released later this month, with final high school and school system data available in the fall. Also being released later this month will be teacher quality data. This will indicate how many classes are being taught by teachers who have reached the qualification levels required by NCLB.

"Scores of our schools are making the grade even as performance goals move up another notch," said State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "It is clear that our students, parents, teachers, and administrators are taking these tests seriously. This process gets tougher every year, but it pays big dividends for Maryland."

Maryland has a long history of school improvement through accountability and assessment, Grasmick added. Achievement in grades 3, 5, and 8 has been assessed in Maryland since 1991, while grades 4, 6, and 7 have been included in the accountability program for the past two years.

Maryland School Assessment (MSA) results released earlier this summer found test scores rising across the board. Yesterday's release of school-level AYP data found parallel improvement for most systems.

Under the federal NCLB initiative, schools must show progress in both reading and mathematics across all grade levels and in all race/ethnicity and special services categories – special education, limited English proficient, and economically disadvantaged students. If a school is unable to make progress in all areas, including attendance, for two consecutive years, it is identified for School Improvement status and faces a variety of consequences designed to bring about improvements. In some instances, parents are able to transfer their children out of underperforming schools or take advantage of tutoring services.

Maryland had 167 schools identified for School Improvement status last school year. That number rose slightly, to 176, with the release of the 2007 results. The schools now in School Improvement represent just 15.6 percent of Maryland elementary and middle schools.

Among the data included in yesterday's release on the Maryland report card site (www.mdreportcard.org):

•Fifty-two schools will enter School Improvement for the first time in 2007-2008. These are elementary or middle schools that did not meet their AYP targets in 2006 and 2007, and will enter School Improvement for the first time under Year 1 status.

•Forty additional schools could exit School Improvement during the 2008-2009 school year. These elementary and middle schools achieved their AYP targets this year after having previously been identified for School Improvement. If they make their targets again next year, they will exit the School Improvement process.

Man Sentenced

the Division of Corrections for an assault charge. Judge Sherbin then suspended that sentence and placed Kelley on supervised probation, with conditions that include having no contact with the victim and paying $1,877 in restitution.

Kelley, 34, was charged in October after an incident at a McHenry area residence. Kelley was a guest at the home and was participating in a card game when he became angry and threw a table onto the victim, according to the state's attorney. The victim was treated and released from the hospital for minor injuries.

Kelley had pleaded guilty to the assault in June, and the court had postponed sentencing until last week.

In other Circuit Court proceeding, Matthew James Patton, 23, Aurora, W.Va., pleaded guilty last Monday to a fourth-degree sexual offense. Judge Sherbin sentenced him to six months in the Garrett County Jail and suspended the sentence. Patton was then placed on supervised probation and ordered to have no contact with the victim in the case.

Patton was arrested and charged Garrett Bureau of Investigation officers in December after they determined he had picked up a young female when she skipped school in Preston County (W.Va.) and traveled into Garrett County, where he had inappropriate contact with her, the state's attorney explained.

In an unrelated case Robert Roger Robinette II, 35, LaVale, pleaded guilty in Circuit Court last Tuesday to driving while impaired by alcohol. Sherbin then granted probation before judgment to Robinette and placed him on probation. A fine of $500 was also assessed.

Robinette was arrested and charged by Maryland State Police in July 2006 after his vehicle was stopped along the Glendale Road for traveling into the eastbound lane as it was heading westbound. He was arrested after officers observed his condition and he failed to perform field sobriety tests properly.

Earl Conrad Miller, 36, Grantsville, also pleaded guilty in Circuit Court last Tuesday to driving under the influence of alcohol. He was sentenced to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail, to be served on weekends. Miller is also on probation and must pay a fine of $500.

He was arrested and charged by Maryland State Police who observed him driving on Bittinger Road at 70 miles per hour in a 50 mph zone last December. After observing Miller's condition and abilities, the MSP arrested him.

In court proceedings from last Tuesday, Peter Lawrence Wagner, 32, Roanoke, Va., pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol. He was then granted probation before judgment by the court and placed on supervised probation. He was also fined $200.

Wagner was arrested by sheriff's deputies who observed his vehicle along Garrett Highway in the early morning hours of April 23, 2006. Wagner was discovered inside the vehicle, where evidence showed he had been drinking and had stopped because he was ill, the state's attorney noted. After additional observations of Wagner's abilities and conditions, he was arrested.

Charges of sexual assault and child abuse against Jeffrey Eugene Jacobs, 32, Markleysburg, Pa., were dismissed by the state in Circuit Court last Tuesday.

"The state has insufficient evidence at this time to prove the charges beyond a reasonable doubt," said the state's attorney.

Arrested After Traffic Stop

Oakland Police arrested Gregory A. Dawson, 34, Oakland, after they conducted a traffic stop on his vehicle on High Street last Saturday.

Dawson was charged with driving under the influence (DUI), DUI per se, and driving while intoxicated. He was later released.

Corey Carr Leads Garrett County Players Named To All-WMIL Team

Post-season high school baseball honors continue to be won by Northern High School's Corey Carr, who was voted the Western Maryland Interscholastic League's Player of the Year by a vote of WMIL team coaches.

Carr, who led the Huskies to a 22-2 record along with league, region, and area championships this past season, as well as a spot in the Maryland 1A state championship game, is one of six players for Coach Phil Carr who were named to the All-WMIL first team.

Four Southern High School players were also selected, giving Garrett County 10 of the 19 first-team honorees.

Other Huskies named to the squad were Matt Sisler, Brock Glotfelty, Scott Bass, Patrick Brady, and Dom DiRienzo. Named from Southern were Jason Ashby, Reece Duncan, Shane Weaver, and Nick Tressler.

Carr, who was also selected the Area Player of the Year last month, was senior catcher and pitcher for the Huskies this past season. The pre-season All-State selection set single-season and career records in hits and home runs. He was named to the MPSSAA Coaches' Classic All-Star team, played in the Mid-Maryland All-Star Classic in Hagerstown, and was selected to play in the Brooks Robinson All-Star game in Camden Yards.

His batting average for his senior year was .455 with 35 hits in 77 at-bats. He hit nine home runs and five doubles, and recorded 42 RBI. As a pitcher he went 5-1, allowing onlv 36 hits in 51 2/3 innings and striking out 81.

Glotfelty, who played in the infield his senior season, had a .468 batting average, with 26 hits in 62 at-bats. He hit three doubles and recorded 17 RBI.

Bass, also a senior infielder, finished the season with a .420 batting average, getting 21 hits in 69 at-bats. He hit one homer and five doubles. He also finished with 17 RBI and scored 17 times.

Brady, who completed his junior year in the Husky outfield, batted .419 with 21 hits in 62 attempts. He recorded one homer and two doubles, and scored 14 runs. He had 18 RBI and drew a team-high 22 walks.

DiRienzo, a senior, batted .339 as a designated hitter, recording 22 hits in 67 at-bats. He scored 21 times, had 22 RBI, and stroked three home runs and two doubles.

Playing his junior season at shortstop for the Southern Rams, Ashby was a key player in a 14-5 season. He batted .441 with 30 hits in 68 at-bats. He rapped seven homers, three triples, and three doubles. He finished with 31 RBI and scored 26 runs. On the pitcher's mound, Ashby amassed a 7-1 record with a 2.30 ERA. He walked 20, gave up 41 hits, and struck out 78 in 51 2/3 innings pitched.

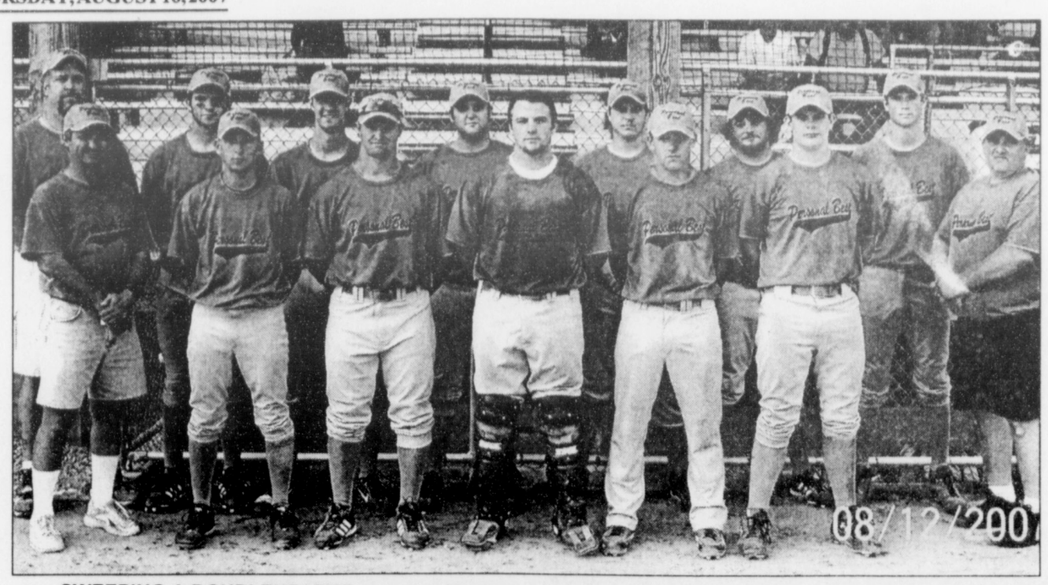
As a sophomore, Duncan hit .341, recording 14 hits. He scored 15 runs and had five RBI.

Weaver finished his senior season in the Southern outfield with a .361 batting average. He had 22 hits in 61 at-bats, including six doubles. He had a dozen RBI and scored 21 runs.

Tressler, an outfielder, concluded his junior year with a .383 batting average with 23 hits in 60 at-bats. He hit two doubles, had 11 RBI, and scored 19 times.

Four Huskies and three Rams were selected to the All-WMIL second team. Honorees from Northern are Kyle Gillum, Randy Wilhelm, Tyler Southerly, and Neil Kamp. Southern picks were Ryan Sweitzer, Tommie Reams, and Jake Briley.

Other first-team selections were: Corey Greig, Tyler Stevens, Sean Nolan, and Pat Winebrenner of Beall; Tristen Beyer and Eddie Szymanski of Allegany, Jamie Stowell and Jeremy Shingler of Westmar, and Tim Kunis of Fort Hill.



SWEEPING A DOUBLEHEADER over the Altoona (Pa.) All-Stars Sunday afternoon in Salisbury, Pa., was this local team of Rec Baseball League All-Stars sponsored by Personal Best. The Garrett County squad, composed primarily of top players from both Northern and Southern high schools, won the first game, 7-0, and took the second contest, 4-2. Pictured from left, front row, are: Coach Gene Harden, Matt Sisler, Nick Gregg, Corey Carr, Jason Ashby, Sean Nolan, and Coach Kevin Bittner. DCL Fisherman Being Sought For Mercury Survey

The Maryland Department of the Environment and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention will be conducting a free blood mercury level testing for 100 Deep Creek Lake fishermen. The survey will take place Sept. 17-21 from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the Deep Creek Lake fire hall.

Participants must be at least 18 years old and consume four large meals (approximately 12 ounces a month) of fish caught from Deep Creek Lake. Pregnant women will not be eligible to participate in the study.

Interested persons are asked to contact Melissa O'Neal at 866-833-1861 or BloodMercuryTesting@gmail.com.

Eligible participants will receive a $25 cash compensation for their time, and a confidential report will be sent to them following the survey, according to O'Neal. The study will begin after 100 participants have been surveyed.

Recovery Race Set For Sept. 9 At Wisp Resort

The Recovery Race, featuring a 5-kilometer run and a 2-mile walk, is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 9, at 9:30 a.m. at the Wisp Resort in McHenry. The marked and measured race course will be similar to that of the former Waffle Run held on Marsh Hill Road along the shores of Deep Creek Lake. The start/finish line will be located in the parking lot of the Wisp.

According to race director Bob Stephens, the Recovery Race is being held in September in recognition of National Alcohol and Drug Addiction Recovery Month, recognizing individuals who are in recovery from a drug and/or alcohol addiction. He added that the race "fits perfectly" as part of the second annual Garrett County Health Fair, which will begin at 11 a.m. that same day at the Wisp.

All pre-registered race participants will receive commemorative T-shirts. To date, more than 20 door prizes have been donated by local businesses for race participants. A $50 cash prize will be awarded to each of the fastest overall male and female finishers, and non-cash awards will be given to the top male and female finishers in seven different age groups. The top three male and female walkers will also receive awards. Making the presentations will be KDKA TV weatherman Jon Burnett.

"While the benefits of exercise and weight control for improved cardio-vascular health are well documented, experts also note a link between physical fitness and a drug- and alcohol-free lifestyle," Stephens said. "Nearly every family has been touched by the affects of drug and alcohol abuse."

Proceeds from the race will benefit the Garrett County Steps to Better Health Committee, which works to educate, inform, and inspire persons to live healthy lives.

For more information and/or to register for the race, persons may telephone Melissa King at 301-334-7670 or 301-895-3111.

The health fair will feature free health screens, demonstrations, information booths, and door prizes. Special guests will include Dr. Will Clower, author of the highly praised cultural comparison The French Don't Diet and The Fat Fallacy, both published by Random House. The books have been featured on television's The View with Barbara Walters, CBS's Up To The Minute, and ABC News, as well as in USA Today, Reader's Digest, and The New York Times.

FARES WELL IN TOURNAMENT – Evan Friend, 12-year-old son of Aimee and Jeff Friend, Oakland, recently competed in the Top Flite Championships, held at the Greenbrier Resort in White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. Evan shot a round of 87 to place fifth in the 12-and-under field, and eighth overall for the tournament series. In only his third year of tournament play, Evan says he looks forward to next year when he will play from additional yardage. The 13- and 14-year-olds move up one set of tees to compete for the top 24 qualifying spots for the tourney at the Greenbrier. Evan noted his appreciation to all who helped sponsor him in this effort.

BACK TO SCHOOL PHYSICALS

Whether your child is entering school for the first time or about to graduate, back-to-school time is a good opportunity for parents to check up on their child's health and make sure he or she is protected against common childhood illnesses. An annual physical exam is a great time to discuss any health problems your child may have, including acne or chronic health conditions, and to make sure that vaccinations are up-to-date. Your health care provider may also discuss relevant topics such as peer pressure, nutrition, and avoiding drugs, tobacco and steroids with your child. You should encourage an open, trusting relationship between your child and a health care provider so that your child will be comfortable asking questions or voicing concerns about puberty, normal development, or any medical conditions.

Western Md. Tennis Championships Hosted By MLP Club; Winners Noted

The four-day, 86th annual Western Maryland Tennis Championships were held Aug. 3-6 on the historic red clay courts of the Mountain Lake Park Tennis Club.

Known as the oldest red clay tournament in the Maryland district and the Mid-Atlantic Section, it is among the oldest in the nation.

Dave DeGrafft, tournament referee, certified that 70 players from California, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Washington State participated in 13 divisions of competition.

Mark O'Neill of Dublin, Ireland, returned to the tournament after a year's absence to once again defeat Cohn Parker in the men's open singles championship, 6-2, 7-5.

The women's open singles championship featured a frequent player in the finals, Marina Getz, whose opponent was Catherine Koontz of Morgantown. A recent graduate of West Virginia University who played for the WVU Women's team from 2004-2006, Koontz won the championship match, 6-1, 6-0.

In a hotly contested, 2½-hour match for the men's 35 singles title, Chris Stambaugh of Frederick defeated David Mast of Baltimore, 4-6, 6-3, 7-6(4).

Ken Barnas of La Plata, a frequent participant in the tournament, won the men's 45 singles crown by defeating Sean O'Neil of Jefferson, 6-1, 6-2. Barnas was a recent finalist with his son in the National Father-Son Grass Court championships at the Longwood Club in Boston.

Moving up a division from last year, William Moldoch, Annapolis, defeated Thomas Driscoll of Hagerstown, 6-3, 6-4, in the men's 55 singles final match.

In the men's 65 singles event, there was another hotly contested match, in which John Manougian of Silver Spring defeated Leonard Fechter of Pittsburgh, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Russell Fink of Annapolis defeated Jack Dorsey of Wheeling after a long, tough match in the men's 80 singles final, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.

Among the highlights of the tournament was the return of Brandon Ferguson. He and his family were long-time residents of Garrett County before they moved to the Seattle area. While attending Southern High School, Ferguson was the #1 singles player for the Rams, and advanced to the Maryland State High School championships in his senior year.

Teaming with Marina Getz of Frostburg, they won the open mixed doubles championship in a hard-fought, come-back victory, 0-6, 7-6(2), 6-3, over the team of Catherine Koontz and John Rogers of Morgantown.

In the men's open doubles championship, Mark O'Neill and Chris Stambaugh topped the team of Jason Box of Swarthmore, Pa., and Kenneth Holzapfel of Hagerstown, 6-4, 6-3.

Because of inclement weather, the combined men's 45-55 doubles final between Thomas Driscohl and Jim Hoizapel of Hagerstown, and the team of Donald Kingery, Keyser, W.Va., and Steward Swink of Frostburg is to be completed at a later date and place to be determined.

The men's 65 doubles championship between the teams of John Manougian and Harvey Ratner of Silver Spring and Dave DeGrafft, Mountain Lake Park, and Kent Parker of Morgantown was not played because of the weather conditions.

Russell Fink and Charles Luttrell, Boyds, were declared champions after a rigorous, 3-hour match over Jack Barnes, Lutherville, and Dave DeGrafft, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

After a lengthy and difficult match in the mixed doubles championship match, the husband and wife team of Robin and Ken Howard prevailed over the team of Sharon Wooten, Severna Park, and William Moldoch, 7-6(7), 6-7(5), 6-1.

During the signature social event of the tournament – the corn roast – Rev. Manning Smith spoke of the late Sam Eastman, a director member of the Moun-

Sarcoidosis Starts in the Lungs

Sarcoidosis is a condition that starts in the lungs and may spread to other body organs. The condition is characterized by inflammation. It is believed that it occurs due to an abnormal immune response which results from exposure to an unknown toxin, medication, or pathogen that has entered the body through the airways. The abnormal immune response causes small areas of inflammation, known as granulomas, to occur. There may be stiffening of the lungs, resulting in a reduced capacity of the lungs to hold air. Typically the condition resolves on its own within several years, although some persons may experience symptoms for the rest of their lives. When sarcoidosis affects only the lungs, symptoms such as shortness of breath and a cough may be experienced. Fever, weight loss, red, watery eyes, and small red bumps on the skin are other symptoms of this condition.

Prednisone is a strong anti-inflammatory drug that is sometimes prescribed for sarcoidosis. This medication works by mimicking the effects of hormones produced by the adrenal glands. Persons with sarcoidosis who require prednisone may continue on a low dose of the medication for several years. Serious side effects of prednisone include osteoporosis, cataracts, diabetes, and increased risk of infection.

Sailboat Racing
On Deep Creek Lake

IT DOESN'T GET ANY BETTER THAN THIS
by Dan Muss

The prediction for Saturday was for 3-4 NW, but as we left the mooring at the half-hour horn, there were only occasional zephyrs. It took us 40 minutes to sail the 500 yards to the starting line. It was hot and the motorboat wakes were tossing us about. With the light air, all four fleets were hunkered around the starting line for fear of not being able to be there at their start. We could not even get close enough to the committee boat to hail them with our fleet and sail number. So, as our starting sequence began, we, and two other Masters Fleet boats, headed home.

That turned out to be a mistake. Just as we bore away from the line a breeze came up; they got the race in and, after lunch, got another short race completed. In the Masters' Fleet, Peters led through the first two legs, but Elster took him on the downwind leg and held on the final beat.

If Saturday was "iffy," Sunday turned out to be a perfect sailing day. The prediction was for 4 SW; what we had on the water was more like 1-8. There were lulls, but for the most part, the sailing was lovely. My regular crew, Fearless Filemyr, was entertaining her family, so Kathy Rubel filled in, and we had a good time together. As we left the mooring and our sails filled, we hopped up on the gunnel, and I thought to myself, "It doesn't get any better than this!"

We got a great start on port tack only to lose it, as we seemed to stall and we were fifth rounding the windward mark. On the downwind leg the breeze fell off and I took the spinnaker sheets from Kathy as she dropped the jib. That really helped her keep the spinnaker full. and we crept up through the fleet and got inside Rissell at the leeward mark. But I had waited too long to drop the spinnaker, and my mark rounding was so sloppy three boats passed us. We came up again and, on the last leeward rounding, it was Rissell, Kemp, and Muss. Rissell didn't know which of us to cover on the last beat, but he managed to do both and he went on to win.

After we finished I looked back to see the rest of our fleet finishing some tens of seconds later. In a roughly 3-mile race that took about 60 minutes the average speed difference between the first and the last boat was only about 2%. Ours is a very competitive fleet.

will include a compilation of demographic profiles of current tourists that will allow better forecasting for job growth areas, education requirements of the tourist industry jobs, and stronger growth in tourism areas, according to the congressman.

"It is my pleasure to provide my continued support for the ARC," Bartlett said. "This grant will greatly improve the economy of Garrett County and the quality of life for western Marylanders. It will enable the business community to create more recreational opportunities, create over 300 jobs in the region, and increase incomes of the tourist industry jobs."

The ARC has funded over 100 area programs and initiatives, including grants to the Allegany Business Center at Frostburg State University; Hagerstown Community College Nursing and Allied Health Education and Training Program; the Route 220 Industrial Park Development Plan; and the Family Crisis Resource Center Emergency Shelter in Cumberland.

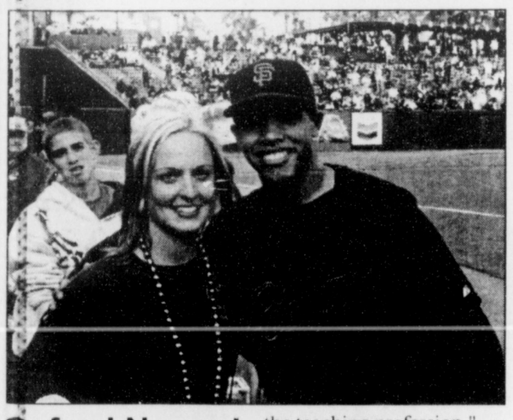
THERE FOR THE BIG MOMENT – Long-time Giants fan Charlie Upole, Oakland, witnessed Barry Bonds's record-breaking 756th home run last Tuesday in San Francisco. Upole bought the Giants tickets, which had him seated behind the Giants dugout, back in February before anybody knew what a spectacular game it would turn out to be. During a stadium tour, Uphole's daughter Erica is pictured below with Bonds's son Nikolai. Upole even gave interviews for local San Francisco television and radio stations. Pictured above, holding their game tickets, are Tony LaRue, Erica LaRue, Amber LaRue, Charlie Upole, Kris Upole, and Ryan Upole.

FOUR-WHEELER DONATED FOR CINDY'S FUND EVENT – Chad Montgomery of Xtreme Powersports is shown with the two passenger 4-wheeler that he has donated to Cindy's Fund. The vehicle will be among many "big ticket" items at a benefit dance and auction on Saturday, Aug. 25, at the Wisp Resort. Tickets are $50 and are available at Gregg's Pharmacy or at the door. Cindy's Fund, a non-profit organization, provides services and assistance to local cancer patients. Queen City Funk & Soul will be the featured band, providing music for a night of dancing, and Tom Henline will officiate at the auction.



Oxford Named

job, but later converted to sociology after a favorite professor expressed her admiration for one of his term papers in social problems.

"I discovered my abilities through significant relationships with healthy, mentoring adults," said Oxford. "I then interned at Northern Garrett High School and soon realized my interest in the teaching profession."

He went on to earn his master's degree in education in human development from the University of Maryland College Park in 1991.

He spent three years working with the Long-stretch Youth Home for Boys through the Garrett County Board of Education, as the U.S. Title I reading and math specialist. He worked with a class of over 50 male juvenile offenders as the lead teacher and a behavior management counselor. He also instructed the GED prep courses.

"These boys were not impressed with my college education," he said. "Most important to them was whether I could be trusted to always be in their corner. Almost immediately, I learned my mantra for my career. 'Students don't care how much you know until they know how much you care.'"

He was assistant program director, educational coordinator, and instructional field advisor for the Summer Youth Employment and Training Program from 1986 to 1998. He also piloted and designed the Learning Alertness Program (critical thinking and skills remediation) for ages 14 to 19 and was a part of many projects for Maryland DNR state forests and parks.

Oxford is widely known for his state and national contributions to technology reform, as part of the Southern Garrett Community Technology Center Project and for his work as a member of the Maryland Technology Academy staff through the Maryland State Department of Education.

"Overall, my technology leadership at many levels has led to my most significant contributions to the field of education," said Oxford. "My leadership with the Maryland Technology Academy and MICCA (Maryland Instructional Computer Coordinators Association) gave me a valuable networking connections throughout Maryland. I have provided leadership and professional development to hundreds of teachers and administrators around the United States."

One of the most intensive projects that Oxford directed was the Southern Garrett Community Technology Center/SHS Library Renovation Project. Thousands of dollars in technology grants written by Oxford were awarded to obtain new equipment. He entered into national, state, and community partnerships and organized technology mentors to work with youth in a safe, healthy environment.

"At one point in 2003, a group of educators from a CoNect National Review Committee remarked that our school had one of the most advanced technology programs in the state, and possibly the country," he noted.

Of all of the many awards Oxford has received, he said the one that means the most to him is Southern High School's Favorite Teacher award. He has received this title through student ballot every year since 1986.

"At first this may appear to be merely a popularity contest," he said. "Yet, for 22 consecutive years I have won the students' vote because I have always treated students with interest and have tried to instill in them a sense of self worth.... I make a point to acknowledge and speak to each individual student in my class...every day!"

Oxford says he likes to think of his classroom as a mixture of constructivism and lecture, with the lectures loaded with energy and humor. He vowed to entertain students with incidental learning, and said he never has a problem getting students' attention.

"My message to other teachers would center on student needs. Teachers should provide learning environments that nurture each student's desires and emphasize positive mentoring relationships," he said. "This includes giving positive regard and respect, regardless of age and/or abilities. Each child needs to know that he/she are accountable to a caring adult who is looking out for his/her best interests."

W.Va. Drivers Involved In Two-Vehicle Collision

A motor vehicle collision occurred at the intersection of Garrett Highway and Weber Road early Monday morning involving a 2003 Jeep Grand Cherokee and a 2006 Ford Focus.

The Jeep was driven by Jana L. Martin, Aurora, W.Va., and the collision occurred when she attempted to make a left turn from Weber Road southbound onto Garrett Highway.

An unknown truck was making a right turn onto Weber Road and obscured the Ford Focus, driven by Elsie V. Stemple, also of Aurora.

Martin pulled into the path of Stemple's vehicle, which impacted the Jeep on the passenger side.

Garrett Southern Rescue Squad transported Stemple to Garrett Memorial, where she was treated for minor injuries.

Martin was cited by the investigating Garrett County sheriff's deputy for failure to yield right of way while making a left turn.

Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also assisted at the scene of the accident.

NRP Arrests Four In State Forest On Alcohol Violations

The Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) charged four West Virginia persons with alcohol violations in the whitewater camping area of Savage River State Forest on the evening of Monday, Aug. 6.

NRP, in the area on daily patrol, observed a group of individuals with a large amount of alcohol, setting up camp.

Derick Robert Lee Murphy and Charles Henry Shugars, each 20, and of Keyser, W.Va., were charged with possession of an alcoholic beverage by a person under 21 years of age. Christopher Steven Keyes, 21, Piedmont, W.Va., was charged with furnishing alcoholic beverage for underage consumption. A 15-year old male juvenile of Keyser, was referred to the Department of Juvenile Services.

STAY ONE STEP AHEAD!

As a seller, you'd prefer a nice clean, unconditional offer at full price, right? One way to encourage such confidence among potential buyers is to have an inspection report available during showings, as well as any receipts (or estimates) for repairs. Why order an inspection when the buyers will probably do so anyway? Because when you take the initiative and perform repairs before listing, you are basically presenting a clean bill of health for your home.

Prelisting inspections are becoming a popular way to give sellers an edge in competitive markets. Taking such action also provides a great opportunity to take care of problems that otherwise might come back to bite you. Buyers today are armed with more knowledge than in the past, and they recognize the security offered when the seller is forthright and demonstrating that there is nothing to hide.

These are the conditions that are more likely to produce that unconditional offer. While it's probably a given that the buyers' representative will encourage them to order their own inspection, you also have a greater sense of confidence knowing that there won't be any surprises.

If you have any doubts about whether a prelisting inspection will improve your chances for an early sale, discuss it with your real estate representative, who will also undoubtedly have many other suggestions for successfully marketing your home. If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

care, and only 62 percent were able to identify a family dentist, according to the plan.

The document goes on to note that the Health Department met with area dentists, who identified the following reasons why few MCHIP recipients were receiving dental care:

1. The managed care reimbursement rate was too low.

2. Dentists often had claims denied.

3. The turn-around time on receiving reimbursement was too long.

4. There was the added burden of substantial investment for technology and office staff training required for electronic claim submission.

The Health Department responded to the barriers, the plan notes, by developing a network of community dentists, negotiating a 30 percent higher rate of MCHIP reimbursement, assisting network dentists with claim submission, guaranteeing payment for valid claims, initiating a public health dental clinic, and renewing community dental health education efforts.

As a result, the number of local dentists seeing MCHIP and Medical Assistance patients increased from three to five, and a dental surgery center was established at Garrett County Memorial Hospital which eliminated a six-month waiting period for patients needing dental care under general anesthesia.

The Health Department also promoted the fluoridation of public water supplies and increased oral health education efforts in county schools through the use of a dental hygienist, outreach workers, and three dentists who volunteer their time.

Community and Family Health director Bob Stephens, who oversees Something to Smile About, credited much of the program's success to those dentists.

"We have a group of dentists who work together to address these children's needs," he said. "With adults it's a little more difficult because there's no set mechanism in order to really get any type of reimbursement for dental care for adults."

Stephens explained that when Something to Smile About was initiated, his department wanted to focus on children first because there were more resources in that area and it wanted to focus on prevention and help children acquire healthy dental habits.

"Then over the years, you'll see things turn around," Stephens said about the strategy. He pointed to several statistics that indicated that it worked.

For example, from 1998 to 2005, the number of local children receiving dental services through MCHIP increased from 517 to 1,626; the percentage of children registering for kindergarten with untreated dental decay decreased from 41 to 18; and the decayed/missing/filled ratio for entering kindergartners decreased from an average of 3.5 teeth per child to 1.4.

Since the program began, the network of local dentists has seen more than 4,000 children, according to Stephens.

The Health Department, he said, now has an opportunity to apply for a grant from the Maryland Health Care Resource Commission to start addressing the dental health needs of adults.

The commission wants to focus on children's dental needs, Stephens said, but the Health Department is going to ask for funding for adults anyway, based on the success of Something to Smile About.

"We going to them with the approach that we have a demonstrated track record, that we can really make a difference in the community," Stephens said about asking the committee members for the funding. "We'll point out that we've received these awards and done such a good job for children that they really need to fund our dental program for adults."

The Health Department will also meet with dentists and solicit their assistance in developing a network and finding a solution to dental health needs of adults. Stephens noted that most local dentists do provide some form of assistance for hardship cases, but a network would enable them to do so in a more organized fashion.

"It's almost a bottomless pit," Stephens said about dental costs. "Those bills are huge. The grant we're going to apply for is somewhere between $150,000 and $200,000. If we had that every year, we still would be barely able to scratch the surface because of how expensive it is to provide dental care."

The director noted the Health Department does have a dental clinic, but stressed it can only provide a "pain clinic" for adults and do extractions. Even then, people can be on a waiting list for service for up to two months if they cannot afford the extraction.

"So that's where we are now," Stephens said. "We would like to bump that up so that some restorative work can be done and more preventive work done for adults."

Health officer Glotfelty said other funding sources may be available to help supplement the Maryland Resource Commission grant to get the program started. More funding would also be needed to sustain the program, he noted.

Glotfelty said the Maryland Resource grant would probably require a letter of support from the commissioners and a 10 percent local match, which is available in his department's budget.

In addition to being touted as a success story in the "Maryland Rural Health Plan," Something to Smile About has received an award from the National Association of County and City Health Officials and has been recognized at the American Association of Public Health Dentistry's National Oral Health Conference in Milwaukee, Wis., and during a meeting of rural health directors from northeastern states.

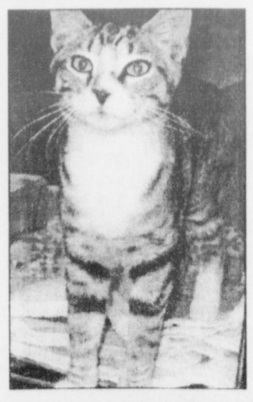
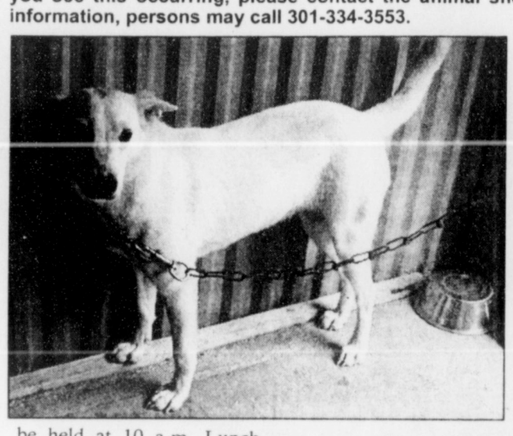
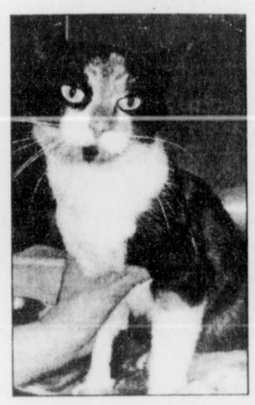
Adorable Adoptables



RETIRED HUNTING DOG LOOKING FOR NEW HOME – The 5-year-old beagle pictured above left was recently given up by his owner, possibly because he was no longer a good hunting dog. He is available for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. "We think he would make a nice pet!" said a Humane Society spokesperson. Also looking for a home is a young female tabby with a white bib, above right, that was brought in with its sibling. Both are described as nice cats. Below is a female hound mix that was picked up as a stray near Hutton. She did not have a collar or tags. "She is not real big and has a sweet disposition," said the spokesperson. Below right is a young female calico that was brought in as a stray and is said to be "very nice." "The black and white hound from several weeks ago was finally claimed by its owner," said the spokesperson. "The male black Doberman is still available, but only to someone who will provide vet care and will keep it as a house pet. Please note that if you are breeding and selling puppies, you are required by Garrett County law to have a kennel license. We have had reports of people selling puppies along the highway and in parking lots, which is not legal. If you see this occurring, please contact the animal shelter right away." For more information, persons may call 301-334-3553.





County United Way To Celebrate 50 Years Of "Caring For The Community"

County United Way will celebrate its 50th year of "caring for the community" on Sunday, Aug. 26, at 6 p.m. at Frostburg State University's Lane Center. The theme is "honoring the past, recognizing the present, and building partnerships for the future."

Guest speaker for the event will be Frostburg State alumnus Mitch Stoller, president of the Marrow Foundation (a supporter of the National Marrow Donor Program) and former CEO of the Lance Armstrong Foundation.

Prior to his work with the LAF, Stoller served as president and chief executive officer of the Christopher Reeve Paralysis Foundation for more than 10 years. He also served as the executive vice president and chief operating officer of the Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Alliance.

"The story of County United Way is really about the specific people who have been critical to the success," said a spokesperson.

With that in mind, the very first Community Caring Awards, through a partnership with the Greater Cumberland Committee, will be presented during the 50th anniversary celebration.

MITCH STOLLER

First United Bank & Trust will be recognized for investing and fostering volunteer opportunities, providing time off from work for employees to volunteer, and financially contributing to a cause or organization that "makes the community a better place to live and to work."

Mountain Lake Park resident Jeannette Fitzwater, a First United employee, will also receive a Community Caring Award for her long-time commitment to volunteerism and making a positive contribution to the citizens of Garrett County or an organization that impacts the quality of life of the community.

"Our celebration will focus particularly on the original founders whose names inspire respect to this day," said the spokesperson. "These were people whose foresight now allows us to provide critical services to 25 percent of the community's population."

Several of the original 150 community leaders who established United Way have been located and will be honored during the celebration. They are Judge James S. Getty, Mildred Martin, and Mrs. E. Wilton Young, who are still living in this area, and Woodward D. Pealer, who now resides in Florida.

Tickets for the 50th anniversary event are available by calling the County United Way Office, 301-722-2700, by Aug. 17.

MONARCH REPORT SLATED – Thirteen friends and volunteers of the Deep Creek Lake State Park Discovery Center traveled to Mexico this past March to witness the annual monarch migration, and to kick off this season's monarch tagging project, a talk about that trip will be given this evening at the center, beginning at 6:30 p.m. The Discovery Center has participated in a tagging program for the past three years through Monarch Watch, a cooperative network of students, teachers, volunteers, and researchers dedicated to the study of the monarch butterfly. Each August through early October, the center both raises and captures monarchs. Before being released, a tag is placed on the wing of each butterfly, as shown above. The tiny tags are about the size of a pencil eraser and contain Monarch Watch's web site address, phone number, project name, and a number specific to the Discovery Center. Four area schools and scores of volunteers assist in the effort, tagging between 500 and 700 butterflies annually from the Deep Creek area. Each year thousands of tags from North America and Canada are recovered in the sanctuary sites of Mexico. Tags are worth 50 pesos (or $5) and, once recovered, are reported to Monarch Watch to be checked by taggers across the country. Caroline Blizzard and several volunteers will be on hand this evening to give a report on the trip.

A COUPLE OF OPPORTUNITIES to witness demonstrations of some outstanding waterskiing and wakeboarding skills will be offered this weekend. Several of Maryland's top slalom skiers will be at Broadford Lake Park for a fall tournament tune-up, while the annual High Mountain Sports Bust Largness Wakeboard Contest will be held Sunday, starting at 7:30 a.m. Deep Creek Waterski Club members who are expected to participate in the event at Broadford Lake are Sam Descutner, Seth Ingram, Brad Dugan, Julie Bortz, Ray Bennett, Mike Kennedy, Sam Ingram, Eric Perfetti, Brian O'Brien, Gary Love, Dave Descutner and Matt Dugan. The club membership includes many of the top ranked skiers in the boys', women's and men's divisions in the state of Maryland and the Eastern United States Region of the sport's sanctioning body, USA Waterski. Winning a national title Monday was Sam Ingram (see front-page photo). Two members of the club are pictured in action above and below left. The times for the water ski exhibition are as follows: Friday, 5 to 8 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Bill's Marine Service is donating the use of a new Correct Craft Ski Nautique boat for the event. Pictured above right is wakeboarder Kyle Rouse, and below right is Elizabeth Green, who will be participating in Sunday's competition at Deep Creek Lake in front of High Mountain Sports. Registration forms are available online at: www.highmountainsports.com.

COUNTRY FEST AND AUCTION KICKS OFF – The 13th annual Country Fest and Auction will be held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds on Saturday, Aug. 25, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Pictured above is Christopher Orendorf, Accident, who took the lead in the kids' Tractor Pedal Pull last year. Among the many demonstrations, there will be chair caning by Rachel Miller, Grantsville, pictured at right, and the quilt auction will present 19 king- and queen-size quilts. Pictured below is last year's "Summer in Topeka," which sold for $2,400. See story for details.

Country Fest And Auction Set For Saturday, Aug. 25

Now in its 13th year, the Country Fest and Auction continues to draw people from the local community as well as a number of other states. This annual one-day family event will be held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry on Saturday, Aug. 25, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Breakfast foods, including fresh, hot doughnuts, will be available when the gates open. Most booths also open at that time with sales of fresh produce, home baked goods, and homemade noodles, jams and jellies.

Other food items offered during the day include funnel cakes, churned ice cream, soft pretzels, barbequed chicken, and a varied lunch menu.

Demonstrations this year include basket weaving, soap making, chair caning, milking and separating, ice cream freezing, quilting, and apple cider pressing.

The auction, which will begin at 10:30, features new Amish-made oak and pine furniture, framed prints, and many home décor and craft items, as well as the "In-Home Dinners" meal tickets offered by members of the Bittinger Mennonite Church.

Quilts will be on display until 1 p.m., when they will be taken down for the 1:30 p.m. quilt auction. Nineteen queen and/or king sized, locally pieced and hand-quilted quilts will be auctioned, along with many smaller quilted items.

Of special interest this year is "Around the World," a locally designed quilt. This quilt has 39 different blocks which bear the name of a country, city, or people group.

For the children there will be a live petting zoo, rides (horse & buggy, hay, pony, or "Barrels of Fun"), a pedal tractor pull (11 a.m.) and an aerial candy drop (2 p.m., weather permitting). Children's videos will also be shown throughout the day.

Streets of Gold, a men's quartet from Williamsville, Va., will be singing at intervals throughout the day, beginning at 10 in the auction building.

This event is sponsored by the Bittinger Mennonite Church.

Admission and parking are free.

For more information, persons should visit www.countryfest.org or call 301-245-4564.

Bark 'n Bites

Of Your Garrett County Forest Conservancy Board

by Paul Shogren

Your Garrett Forestry Board met Aug. 6 at the DNR Mt. Nebo Work Center to discuss subjects of interest to not only woodland owners, but also county citizens.

Gypsy Moth Defoliation

The gypsy moth defoliation was the main topic of discussion. This spring, some, but not all, areas affected by the gypsy moth were sprayed. Only a limited amount of money was forthcoming from county, state, and federal coffers, so all areas affected could not be sprayed. There is a predicted shortfall of monies for 2008 and 2009. Thus the directors are strongly urging those affected by the gypsy moth defoliation to contact state and federal legislators to fund spraying for the next two springs. All need to understand that the forest products industry is the largest employer in the county.

Emerald Ash Borer (EAB)

Another forest insect from abroad that is detrimental to our forests is the emerald ash borer (EAB). This insect has been found downstate in Prince George's County and in northwest Pennsylvania. (Guess what county is in between.) Although it has not been discovered here yet, there is every possibility of it arriving here in firewood! Yes, imported firewood from out of the county could contain the EAB. Common sense dictates that only firewood gathered within the county be used. The insect could arrive in infected ash nursery stock, so be sure any ash plantings are EAB free.

Natural Resources Careers Conference

The 2007 Natural Resources Careers Conference was held at the Hickory Environmental Education Center July 22-28. The members discussed the program and ways of improving it. There has been a decreasing enrollment over the last several years, and this year no students from Garrett County participated in the program. The NRCC is a weeklong conference to teach high school students natural resources conservation and to expose them to some of the career opportunities in these fields. Scholarships are available, and information on the program was disseminated through the school guidance counselors, biology departments and vo-ag departments, with no results this year.

Be Watchful!

The Forestry Board wants to alert county woodland owners and citizens enjoying the woods to the possibility of more foreign insects, diseases, and plants arriving in the county via firewood, nursery stock, on the wind, and by other means. Global trade has increased, and thus the danger of foreign pests and diseases has increased. So it behooves those who get into the woods to keep a watchful eye out for any strange looking plants, insects, or diseases, i.e., tree dieback, for unknown reasons, different species of plants beginning to grow where none were before and defoliation on various tree species.

To that end, the Garrett Forestry Board is planning to conduct some invasive species workshops in cooperation with Allegany County, the University of Maryland Extension Service, and other partners, to help citizens recognize such species including plants, insects, and diseases. These could be held this fall or in spring 2008. So keep looking for announcements in the local papers.

A HOUSE FIT FOR A DOG – Woodmen of the World Lodge #45 donated a dog house built by lodge member Cecil Kelly to the Humane Society during a lodge meeting on July 19 at the pavilion on Blooming Rose Road. The top of the dog house is shingled and hinged to open for convenience in caring for the dog. Bernadine Friend of the Humane Society is pictured above, being presented with the dog house, along with Carolyn Humberson, Burton Lytle, Kelly, Mary Friend, and Tori Lytle inside the dog house. The next WOW Lodge #45 meeting is slated for Aug. 16 at 6 p.m. Members are asked to bring a covered dish or dessert and a "pig in a poke" to be auctioned off. Corn on the cob and ribs will be provided by the lodge.

New Vehicles To Have Stickers With More Accurate Mileage Estimates

For three decades, it has been one of the most frequent complaints by new car owners. Feeling deceived, their actual mileage didn't come close to matching the city and highway mileage promised on the fuel economy sticker when they purchased the car. In some cases it was literally, and even worse, notoriously miles apart, says AAA Mid-Atlantic.

Depending upon the vehicle model, sometimes the estimates were 7 percent to nearly 40 percent off, previous studies by AAA revealed. Now, for the first time in decades, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is updating the way it measures fuel economy. The results of a new fuel economy rating system will soon appear on stickers on the windows of 2008 models rolling off the assembly line and hitting the showroom later this month and throughout the fall.

"This is a major victory for consumers, car buyers, and the motoring public," said Ragina C. Averella, AAA Mid-Atlantic's manager of public and government affairs. "It is also good news for area motorists, who waste thousands of gallons of gasoline daily enduring some of the worst gridlock in the nation. When it comes to car-buying, consumers will now have a more realistic snapshot of the highway miles and city miles of any car, van, truck, or SUV on the market. That's important because most drivers rack up 55 to 62 percent of the annual mileage on their vehicles in stop-and-go traffic. As always, fuel economy is much lower in rush-hour conditions."

Starting in model year 2008, EPA mileage estimates will reflect the effects of faster speeds and acceleration, air conditioning use, and colder outside temperatures.

"With the advent of the updated fuel efficiency stickers, it is likely that in the future many consumers will make different decisions regarding automobile purchases and fuel use. New fuel economy facts will appear on nearly 40 major brands of automobiles and more than 260 vehicle models," added Averella. "Consumers shopping for vehicles trust the government's safety rating. If things work as planned, they can now place that same trust in fuel economy standards."

After several years of working with automakers, dealers, and consumer groups, including AAA, the EPA revised fuel economy labels to more accurately reflect miles-per-gallon (mpg) ratings based on normal or "real-world driving" conditions, Averella noted. "Simply put, the new and improved label provides more information to motorists. What is more, mileage estimates are calculated with updated testing methods reflecting how people normally drive today."

In fact, under the new testing procedures, the updated EPA test actually lowered mpg estimates for most vehicles. For the sake of consumers with domestic and foreign models manufactured before the 2008 model year, the new rating system converts old mpg estimates into new ones.

Indeed, previous studies by AAA found that the actual miles per gallon achieved during the daily use of a vehicle generally fell well short of EPA estimates. EPA's old method of calculating mpg was established in the late 1970s. It did not take into account higher speed limits on many interstates and increased congestion nationwide, notes the auto club. "The tests were even conducted with the air conditioner off," said Averella.

In contrast, each year AAA car review experts tested new vehicle models under "real world" driving conditions and arrived at the same conclusion as did many motorists. Sometimes the estimates were inflated from 10 to 30 percent above actual performance, says AAA.

Recognizing these discrepancies, AAA was one of the leading consumer groups to encourage the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to revise its testing procedures for fuel economy.

"Consumers want to know and deserve to know that the information they see on a government-sanctioned label reasonably reflects what they will experience on the road," said Averella. "Now they will get it."

Even so, the fuel economy labels attached to the vehicle window on new 2008 models will provide consumers with an estimated annual fuel cost, assuming 15,000 miles of travel each year (55% city and 45% highway) and an average fuel cost of $2.88 per gallon for regular unleaded, $3.10 for premium, $2.89 for diesel, and $2.10 per gallon for E85. Each vehicle comes with two fuel economy estimates:

•City mpg – This figure represents urban driving, in which a vehicle is started in the morning (after being parked all night) and driven in stop-and-go, rush-hour traffic.

•Highway mpg – This estimate represents a mixture of rural and interstate highway driving in a warmed-up vehicle, typical of longer trips in free-flowing traffic.

"In several senses, fuel economy labeling is about truth in advertising," added Averella. "It's also about giving consumers the most accurate information possible so that they can make informed decisions when they purchase new vehicles."

The EPA has converted all mpg estimates to the new ratings system to help consumers compare the MPG of newer and older cars dating back to the 1985 model year. Motorists can review the information at: http://www.fueleconomy-.gov/feg/findacar.htm.

"However, there is one caveat consumers must come to grips with once they get behind the wheel," the spokeswoman for the automotive group cautioned. "Motorists must remember that the actual mileage they get will still vary based on driving habits, traffic conditions, and other factors."

A passion for DRIVING

At 52, Ken Schrader still has boundless energy for competition

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Ken Schrader has never lost his love for racing. At 52, when most drivers start angling for a seat in the TV booth or on the sofa, Schrader just keeps on racing in Nextel Cup, the Craftsman Truck Series and at any dirt track he can work into his busy weekly schedule.

He's still on standby to drive the Wood Brothers' No. 21 Ford in Nextel Cup, even though former Cup champion Bill Elliott has been driving that car.

Elliott has a past-champion's provisional starting spot, if needed. And that's a big plus because the team has spent several weeks outside the top 35 in owner's points and is in jeopardy of missing races.

Schrader also is the full-time driver of the No. 18 Dodge for Bobby Hamilton Racing in the Craftsman Truck Series. And then there are the dirt races, which sometimes take him to as many as five tracks a week.

"I enjoy all of them," he said, adding that he has not lost his enthusiasm for a whirlwind schedule.

"Last week, I ran five nights. This week, I've run three, and next week, I'll run five," he said last Saturday as he prepared for the truck race at Nashville Superspeedway. "I'll probably run about 100 races this year. I ran 119 last year."

He said his plans for next season are to continue to race in the Craftsman Truck Series, run his dirt car and if there's a good Cup ride available, he'll take it.

Either way, he'll keep adding to career stats that already have seen him make 910 starts in NASCAR's top three divisions since his first Cup race at the old Nashville (Tenn.) Fairgrounds track on July 14, 1984. In that 420-lap race, which was won by Geoffrey Bodine, Schrader started 27th and finished 19th in Elmo Langley's No. 64 Ford.

Since then, he has made 712 more Cup starts with four victories, 64 top-five and 184 top-10 finishes. He also has run 115 Busch Series races with two victories, 18 top-five and 39 top-10 finishes. He also has 82 starts in the Craftsman Truck Series with a victory, eight top-fives and 28 top-10 finishes.

He also owns a dirt track in Pevely, Mo., and has shares in two others.

But driving race cars is what motivates him, and the type of car or track isn't a huge factor. He does see benefits to the Truck Series schedule, compared to Cup.

"It's 25 weekends instead of 38," he said. "I can go run my dirt car more.

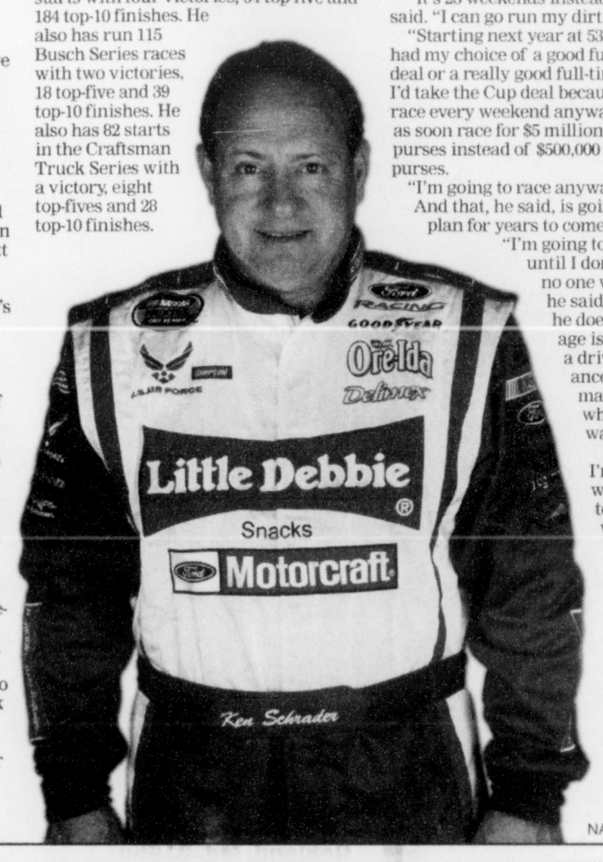
"Starting next year at 53 years old, if I had my choice of a good full-time Cup deal or a really good full-time truck deal, I'd take the Cup deal because I'm going to race every weekend anyway, and I'd just as soon race for $5 million or $6 million purses instead of $500,000 or $600,000 purses.

"I'm going to race anyway."

And that, he said, is going to be the plan for years to come.

"I'm going to keep doing it until I don't want to or no one will hire me," he said, adding that he doesn't think that age is a big factor in a driver's performance. "It's just a matter of whether you want to or not.

"I don't think I'm going to want to [race] a ton longer, but I want to for a while."



Ken Schrader will race wherever and whenever he can.

Rick Minter's OBSERVATIONS

Key story lines as the Cup Series heads to Michigan.

Earnhardt Jr. on the outside

When the field for the Chase for the Nextel Cup was expanded from 10 to 12 beginning this season, the hope was that the additional two spots would ensure that the sport's top stars would be included in the group running for the championship.

But when the engine in Dale Earnhardt Jr.'s No. 8 Chevrolet expired midway through Sunday's race at Watkins Glen International, the sport's most visible star dropped to 14th in the standings, 100 points out of the elite group.

And with just four more races to run before the start of the Chase, there's a good chance that Earnhardt Jr. will miss the Chase for the second time since the "playoff" format was adopted in 2004. Of the four tracks remaining on the schedule before the start of the Chase, however, two are among Earnhardt Jr.'s better venues. He has three victories at Richmond and one at Bristol.

His strongest challenges for a Chase berth are coming from the Penske Racing duo of Kurt Busch and Ryan Newman. Busch is 12th and Newman is 13th, four points ahead of Earnhardt Jr.

Jeff Gordon, despite a late-race spin at Watkins Glen, remains comfortably atop the points standings, 344 points over runner-up Denny Hamlin.

Tony Stewart, who won on Sunday, moved to fourth on the strength of his third victory in the past four races.

A Montoya road rage

Juan Pablo Montoya is bringing more than diversity and an international flavor to NASCAR. His road-course rage incident with Kevin Harvick after a crash at Watkins Glen brought some anger and emotion to a sport that many feel has scrubbed its image a little too squeaky clean.

Ironically, the incident with Harvick was due in large part to a misunderstanding. The wreck that triggered the shouting and shoving started when Martin Truex Jr. tapped Montoya from behind, knocking Montoya's car into Harvick's.

Still, Harvick was angry with Montoya. "It seems like he runs over somebody every week," Harvick told reporters.

"I don't appreciate it," Montoya said of Harvick's behavior.

Jeff Burton, Harvick's Richard Childress Racing teammate, was collected in the crash and blamed Montoya for blocking Truex and for not holding his brakes after the crash, which allowed his car to roll into Burton's path.

If NASCAR follows recent precedent, Harvick and Montoya can expect penalties for their behavior after the wreck.

Racing for a cause

Carl Edwards took the checkered flag in the third annual Nextel Prelude to the Dream, a race held June 6 at Tony Stewart's Eldora Speedway in Rossburg, Ohio. The event featured top Nextel Cup drivers and personalities.

But the real winners are the people served by the charities who received proceeds from the event, which offered a rare chance for fans to see multiple Cup drivers racing Late Model cars on a dirt track.

Stewart announced last week that the event, which was broadcast live on HBO Pay-Per-View, earned $800,000.

The Randleman, N.C.-based Victory Junction Gang Camp received the biggest check, for $600,000. Other groups benefiting from the race included the Autism Society of Delaware and Motor Racing Outreach, each receiving $25,000.

The remainder went to the Tony Stewart Foundation, which supports groups caring for chronically ill children, drivers injured in motorsports activities and those who protect animals.

UP AND COMING A look at some of the sport's rising stars

S.C. driver looks past hand injury to bright future

Jeremy Clements of Spartanburg, S.C., drives a limited ARCA schedule in a car fielded by his family. The budget is shoestring tight, but Clements has been able to make up for much of that with his savvy driving. At Pocono Raceway a couple of weeks ago, the 22-year-old driver almost got his first ARCA victory but ran out of gas while leading with the finish line in sight.

Then, last week at Nashville Superspeedway, the tank had fuel to spare, and Clements drove away from Ganassi Racing development driver Bryan Clauson to get his first career ARCA victory, a triumph he's hoping will propel him to a career in one of NASCAR's elite divisions.

Jeremy Clements' win at Nashville marked a big comeback from a career-threatening injury.

"Man, after all the Pocono misery, I just wanted to come and win a race," Clements said. "And to beat the big development teams ... this means a lot. You know, this is a small team. We build all our own engines, and we got this car from Richard Childress [Racing].

"Hopefully, we can get a sponsor or get a ride for me or something."

The Nashville victory, which came in his 30th ARCA start, also capped a comeback from what once appeared to be a career-ending injury in a dirt race at 311 Speedway in Madison, N.C., in July 2004.

Clements was at speed in his Late Model car when a suspension part broke, knocking the driveshaft loose and allowing it to come into the car and flail his right hand.

To facilitate the repair of the damaged tissue, doctors sewed his injured hand to his hip for a time, and he went through eight surgeries and countless days of rehabilitation before returning to the driver's seat the next year.

He said that despite the setback, which left him with limited movement of his scarred right hand, he never lost his desire to race.

"When that first happened, when I woke up in the hospital after a 10-hour surgery, I said, 'Man, what am I going to do?' " he said. "I don't know what else to do but race, and that's what I'm trying to do now. That's all I want to do. I want to be a top race-car driver."

Clements, who has established a reputation for being soft-spoken, polite and humble in dealing with fans, series officials and the media, said he hopes to make at least three more ARCA starts this season — at St. Louis, Chicago and Talladega. Also, he'll continue to race on dirt, where he has four victories this season.

"We've raced this one [ARCA] car all year long, and luckily I haven't wrecked it," he said. "I hope somebody saw me win this race and gives me a shot. It's so hard to get a ride now unless you have money."

NUMERICALLY SPEAKING

912 Laps led in Craftsman Truck Series races this season by points leader Mike Skinner, most in the series.

537 Green-flag passes by Matt Crafton this season, tops among Craftsman Truck Series drivers.

20 Top-10 finishes by Nextel Cup points leader Jeff Gordon, more than any other driver.

CATCHING UP WITH ... JUAN PABLO MONTOYA

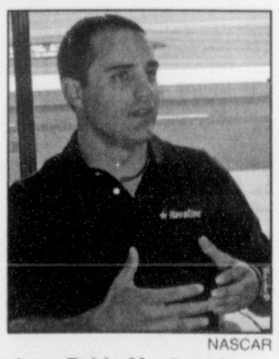
Juan Pablo Montoya, who has made an unprecedented move from Formula One to NASCAR, has won two major races in his first full-time season — in a Busch car on the road course in Mexico City and in a Nextel Cup car on the road course at Infineon Raceway in Sonoma, Calif. After wrecking at Watkins Glen International last week, the Colombia native is 19th in points heading into this weekend's 3M Performance 400 at Michigan International Speedway. He recently participated in a teleconference with reporters, including Rick Minter of Cox News Service, to discuss his season.

On his season so far: "I think it's pretty exciting. I've got to say we've been having a pretty good season lately. The last few races we've been getting better, getting very good results."

On his reaction to other people's surprise at how well he's performing in NASCAR: "I'm starting to get the hang of the car. I'm getting more comfortable to drive a little freer, a little bit looser and I think that's helping a lot. I think Donnie [Wingo], my crew chief, is starting to understand what I want out of the car and what I like and what I don't like, and that really helps."

On his chances of making the Chase for the Nextel Cup: "Being realistic, the only way to get up there is having a bit of luck, and you've got to be in at least the top five every race. I think it's a little bit out of my hands whether we get in or not. I think realistically it's very difficult to make it."

On which NASCAR tracks he likes and doesn't like: "I really enjoy the big tracks. I've got to be honest with you, Pocono was a little too long for my taste. It's just so long. The race circuit is very exciting to drive and the racing is really good, but it's still a little too long. I don't think I have one that I say I don't want to go back there. I'm not too excited about going back to Michigan, I can tell you that, not because it's not a great racetrack, it's just because we really [ran bad] the last time we were there. Hopefully, we can improve from that."



NASCAR

Juan Pablo Montoya is 19th in the Cup standings heading into this week's race at Michigan.

On the biggest challenge he's faced in NASCAR: "The biggest challenge is getting used to the cars and getting to know the people that I have to work with and understanding how the roles work, how everybody races, learning to overtake people. That's very hard. It's so different from open-wheel racing, so it makes it pretty tough."

On whether he considers himself a trendsetter who will lead other open-wheel drivers to NASCAR: "I know I'm probably not the first one. I know Paul Tracy tried it before. I think NASCAR is a great sport, and I'm just happy to be part of it. I'm happy that Chip [Ganassi] gave me a chance to race for him here. I'm actually really happy that I've been able to perform so far.

Plans Under Way For Reunion Of NHS's First Class

Members of Northern High School's first graduating class, the class of '53, will observe their 55th year as alumni on July 5, 2008, at the Bittinger fire hall. While the event is nearly a year away, organizers are hoping to contact as many classmates as possible far in advance.

"An announcement about next year's event was sent this past June to all classmates, using the address list from the last reunion," said John Georg, reunion chairman. Members who have not received a letter and want to attend should send their addresses to the Class of '53 Reunion Committee at 8303 Briar Creek Drive, Annandale, VA 22003.

"We are expecting a large number of our classmates to attend the event," said Georg. "We always hope all will be present, but know many have prior commitments, and some live too great a distance to travel."

At the most recent reunion, held five years ago, 31 members along with their spouses or invited guests attended.

The evening events at next year's reunion will begin at 6 p.m. with dinner and socializing. No formal program is planned, allowing alumni the opportunity to talk together. Each member will receive a current class roster to stay in touch until the next reunion, a spokesperson said.

Northern's first class of 94 students was brought together through the consolidation of three community high schools. Together they set the school standards, choosing the school mascot and colors.

Based on current information, there are currently 73 living members of the class. Since 1953, the group has held a reunion every five years.

Pa. Renames Rt. 219 In Honor Of Flight 93 Victims

Pennsylvania Department of Transportation (PennDOT) officials last Thursday dedicated a portion of Route 219 in Somerset County in honor of the victims of Flight 93.

"The heroism of the victims of Flight 93 is something we want to always remember," said PennDOT Secretary Allen D. Biehler. "From today forward, Route 219 will be known as Flight 93 Memorial Highway. Everyone who travels this route will never forget the bravery and unselfishness of those on the flight."

PennDOT installed four signs along the highway designating the route as Flight 93 Memorial Highway, and those signs were officially unveiled last Thursday.

Secretary Beihler was joined by state Sen. Richard Kasunic, who sponsored the legislation to rename the highway, and Kenny Nacke, whose brother was a passenger on Flight 93.

Also participating in the ceremony were members of the Shanksville Volunteer Fire Department, as well as other local community leaders and the National Park Service.

"Flight 93 Memorial Highway serves as a reminder of the heroic efforts of the passengers and crew of United Airlines Flight 93, which was en route from Newark, N.J., to San Francisco, when it was hijacked on Sept. 11, 2001," said a PennDOT spokesperson. "It should also serve as a reminder of the compassion of the emergency service personnel who responded to the crash."

Glenn's other Close calls with series work

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: I know Glenn Close is starring in the new show "Damages," but wasn't she on a series before? –John Stevenson, Charlotte, N.C.

A: The actress's current FX show marks the first time she's the leading star of a show, but she spent a season on the same network's "The Shield" as the Michael Chiklis character's boss. She also had made guest appearances on shows including "The West Wing," "Will & Grace" and "The Simpsons" (in voice only, of course).

Q: Zach Braff wasn't only an actor in "Garden State." How many other films has he also written and/or directed? –Susan Lewis, Baltimore

A: The "Scrubs" regular currently is prepping another movie he's written and directed. It's titled "Open Hearts," and he's also slated to act in it. Braff also has directed several episodes of his NBC sitcom, and before that, he cut his directing teeth on a short film titled "Lionel on a Sunday."

Q: Turner Classic Movies recently showed the movie "High Flight," and way down in the credits was a character named Bishop, played by Ian Fleming. Was he the same person as the James Bond novelist? –Larry Conner, Middle River, Md.

A: Good hunch, but no. There was an Australian-born actor also by the name of Ian Fleming, and his credits did include that 1957 drama about RAF pilots in training. He died in 1969; writer Fleming passed away in 1964. An interesting side note, though: Another star of "High Flight" was Bernard Lee, who would play Bond's boss "M" in many of the screen adventures of Agent 007.

Glenn Close

Q: Is the show "Girlfriends" available on DVD? I have searched several stores and have not found it. –Michelle Johnson, Jefferson, Md.

A: You may want to search some others. Paramount Home Entertainment has released the complete first season of the CW sitcom.

Q: Jeff Foxworthy seems so natural as host of "Are You Smarter Than a 5th Grader?" Did he ever host a game show before? –Mary Carter, Bloomington, Ind.

A: Not another game specifically, but the country-flavored comedian has other experience as a host, part of the reason Fox wanted him for his current television job. He's presided over Country Music Television's CMT Music Awards the past several years, and his long, hugely successful stand-up-comedy career also could be deemed hosting of a sort.

Harr Affiliates With Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty

Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty announced this week that Linda Harr has joined the company as a sales associate. Harr is a 60-year resident of Garrett County, and retired in June from the Garrett County Board of Education, where she worked for 30 years as a personnel secretary.

She recently completed the Maryland Real Estate Commission's required pre-licensing class, passed the state real estate licensing examination, participated in Fast Start (Coldwell Banker's career education program), and is now licensed with Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty.

Linda has two sons, John and Ed, and five grandchildren: Zachary, Noah, Ian, Jessica, and Madison. Her favorite thing to do is spending time with her grandchildren.

Foster Parent Training To Be Held By DSS

An orientation meeting for Garrett County residents interested in foster parenting or adopting will be held at the Garrett County Department of Social Services (DSS) at 12578 Garrett Highway in Oakland on Aug. 20 from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

The training itself will be conducted by DSS beginning Tuesday, Sept. 4. Licensing, which includes training and a home study, is required of any person looking to be a foster or adoptive parent.

The training sessions will be held from Sept. 4 to 27 on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. For more information or to register, persons may call Monica Barnett or Stacey Weimer at 301-533-3040.

"MY NEIGHBORHOOD PARTY" was the theme of the second play-date of Landon's Library, held Saturday at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. The play-date series is one component of Landon's Library, a foundation dedicated to emphasizing the importance of books in the lives of young children. This month the children experienced the many facets of small-town living as they made a small bank, wrote a letter and dropped it off to postman Neil Leverenz (shown below), learned about the importance of recycling, and watched a puppet show about fire safety, featuring Oakland fireman Jim Feather. Melanie Cooper decorated the faces and hands of the children with fire hats and trucks, police badges, and ice cream cones, and police officer Mole Alexander of the Oakland City Police Department talked with the youngsters. The young guests toured a fire truck (pictured above), police car, and mail truck. Another feature of the play-date was a magic show by Pastor Edsel Calhoun. The event ended with horse and carriage rides courtesy of Ray Miller with his horse, Red. Included in each child's gift bag was a copy of the book Corduroy's Busy Neighborhood, and a coupon for a free scoop of ice cream courtesy of the Lakeside Creamery. The sponsors for this month's play-date were First United Bank & Trust, Get N Go, and Bank of America. The next play-date is scheduled for Sept. 1 with the theme of "Sports Ball Party." The special guest will be Elmo. The business sponsors for September are Rodeheaver and Associates, Fitzwater Furniture Inc., and Gregg's Pharmacy. Pre-registration for the play-date is required at www.landonslibrary.org. For more information about Landon's Library, persons may contact Brian Boal at 301-334-4007.

The church is located on Amish Road.

Workshop Slated For Future Small Business Owners

Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division will hold a free workshop on Tuesday, Aug. 28, from 6 to 9 p.m. for persons interesting in starting a small business. The event will be held at the McHenry campus.

Small business counselor Beverley Williams will facilitate the workshop, which will help participants assess their readiness to be in business, learn about local resources, identify financing options, discover the importance of a business plan, and other issues.

To register, persons may call the college at 301-387-3069.

Salem School To Host Eighth OutSpokin' Event

The 8th annual Maryland Salem Children's Trust OutSpokin' for Kids Banquet will take place at the Wisp Resort on Saturday, Sept. 8. The guest speaker at this year's event will be Ryan Dobson, author of author of three Christian books: 2 Live 4, 2 Die 4, and Be Intolerant.

The evening will begin at 5 p.m. with an artisan sale featuring photography, art work, and crafts created by the children of Salem. Dinner will be served at 6 p.m.

"Dobson's writings examine moral relativism and its role in society today and challenges readers to choose Christianity, 'the ultimate adventure,'" a spokesperson said. "He is an articulate speaker with humor, enthusiasm, and a passion for the topics he feels that the next generation needs to hear." The author is the son of James Dobson, founder of Focus on the Family.

The Maryland Salem Children's Trust is located on a 380-acre farm off Lower New Germany Road. The facility provides a home, family, therapies, and education to children who have been abused, neglected, and/or abandoned. How about this touring mobile? It was the last word in luxury in its' day. Models have changed quite a bit since then. So have the prices!

Change can be difficult to accept, but living in the past can keep us from enjoying the present. Change is inevitable as time goes by, we might as well be prepared for it.

The strongest force equipping us to meet change is our faith in God. Faith provides the stability we need while the wheels of time, progress and history keep relentlessly turning. That stability is rooted in the simple fact that God does not change.

To keep your equilibrium through changing times, find your place in the life and work of your house of worship. The teachings there are unchanged, unchanging; a model for living.

Let Go Of Your Anger

Anger and animosity are like cancers which will eat away at us and sap our spirit and energy. But, sometimes our anger feels so righteous. We are so certain that we are right and that others are wrong that we refuse to give up our anger. We may even tell ourselves that it is a matter of principle, and that it would be a denigration of our principles to let go of our anger. Who can deny that there is a time and place to be righteously angry? And yet, most of the time that we find ourselves holding onto our anger, it is more about our egos. We may feel as if we have been insulted, and must make it right. Or, we feel certain that we are right and someone else is wrong, and we want the world to recognize the correctness of our position. If we are fighting for some great social cause, then righteous anger may be appropriate. But if we are fighting for our puffed up ego, then at least we should be honest enough to recognize that, and realize that this sort of anger is a worm that will gnaw at us and eat us alive, sapping us of our zest for life. We should learn to let our anger go. We will be glad we did.

Be angry but do not sin; do not let the sun go down on your anger, and give no opportunity to the devil.

This Plant Shows Promise in Clinical Trials

Spirulina refers to a large group of blue-green algae. While the plant is found naturally in the warm tropical waters of Mexico and Africa, it can also be cultivated. Traditionally, spirulina was used to treat infections, allergies, stomach disorders, and many different health problems. Spirulina contains proteins, B vitamins, vitamin E, and minerals. The medicinal value of spirulina comes from its antiviral and antioxidant properties. Early studies of spirulina for the treatment of allergic rhinitis and high cholesterol in humans have shown promise. However, larger studies are needed to fully evaluate the effect of spirulina in the treatment of these conditions.

Possible side effects include headache, facial flushing, sweating, confusion, and rash. Since spirulina contains the amino acid phenylalanine, persons with phenylkentonuria should not take it. Spirulina should be used with caution when taking calcium supplements. Elevated calcium levels have been reported when taking both supplements. Spirulina should not be used by women who are pregnant or breastfeeding.

Matted Coat Could Signal Deeper Problem

Q. My dog, "Cutter," is about 12 years old and loves to play in the woods out back. The past few months, however, his coat has been growing steadily more matted and dirty. Some of the mats I've been able to comb out, but some are so thick I've had to cut them out, leaving his coat looking patchy. He never used to get this dirty before when going out in the woods. His coat also feels oily. I've walked out there with him and haven't found any choice mud puddles or other "rolling around" spots that might be the culprit. Any ideas on getting his coat back to its old, fairly clean state? — Jim B., via e-mail

A. Long-haired dogs are most prone to chronically matted coats, and must be brushed frequently to minimize this annoying and uncomfortable issue. Even short and medium-haired dogs can have issues with matting, especially if they spend a lot of time outside.

However, sometimes a matted, oily coat signals more than just a dog that loves to roll in mud or other icky stuff. In this case, because Cutter is a senior dog whose coat has suddenly changed, I would recommend taking him to the veterinarian and explaining the situation.

The vet will check for underlying conditions that might be causing the change in his coat. If he finds nothing wrong, great — Cutter is a healthy senior dog who has found some secret mud spot. If the vet finds something wrong, then Cutter can get treatment that can help his coat, along with his health, return to top condition.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• In a study conducted by doctors in Oxford, Great Britain, two years ago — before the much-hyped recent release of "Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows," obviously — it was found that on weekends when Harry Potter books were released, children had lower rates of accidental injuries. I suppose eyestrain from reading 700-and-something pages in a single weekend doesn't count as an accident.

• It was Aldous Huxley, famed British author of such works as "Brave New World" and "The Doors of Perception," who made the following sage observation: "Experience is not what happens to you; it is what you do with what happens to you."

• The United States Supreme Court was founded in 1789, but it didn't actually get a building of its own until 1935.

• You may — then again, depending on how often you go to the movies, perhaps you may not — be surprised to learn that Hollywood employs more ghostwriters than the entire book and newspaper industries combined.

• It's been reported that in 1937, a new suit was introduced to the standard deck of playing cards, but it never caught on. I suppose the four-suit deck was already so widespread that nobody relished the idea of replacing all their packs of cards.

• You certainly know what a hologram is — that three-dimensional image you see on "Star Trek" episodes. But unless you're a lawyer, you probably didn't know that "holographic" also means "written by oneself" or "written by the signer" and is used primarily when referring to wills.

SENIOR CENTERS UPGRADE GYMS – The Mary Browning and Grantsville senior centers and the Flowery Vale Fitness Center each recently added two new pieces of exercise equipment to the gyms in order to enhance the centers' physical fitness programs. The exercise room upgrades include a new motorized treadmill that displays speed, distance, heat rate, and calories burned off the person walking, and a recumbent exercise bicycle that has the same tracking features as the treadmill. Both pieces of equipment have been an attraction for seniors who haven't routinely exercised in the past. The equipment is reported to be very user friendly, and an orientation is given prior to using the equipment. "I enjoy coming to the center to exercise. I don't have to pay for a gym membership, and I can work out with my friends," said Eddie Goldman, pictured above at the Grantsville Senior Center. The exercise room at the Mary Browning and Grantsville senior centers are open to persons age 60 and over, and their spouse, free of charge. The Flowery Vale Fitness Center has a daily or monthly fee for persons age 50 and older, and includes a wider variety of exercise equipment available. For more information about the centers' exercise programs, persons may call Leona Lavin at 301-334-9431, ext. 139, or by e-mail at llavin@garrettcac.org

Voters' League To Host Elected Officials Picnic

The Garrett County League of Women Voters will host its annual picnic with the area's elected officials on Monday, Aug. 20, at Broadford Park.

The picnic will begin at 5:30 p.m. and will be held at Pavilion #1. All of the board members will provide the food and all other members are asked to bring desserts. The public is invited and are welcome to bring food to share, although that is not a requirement for attendance.

"This event always allows you to meet and discuss your concerns and issues with our elected officials, as well as learn more about the political pulse of our county," a league spokesperson said.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization that is not exclusive to women. The mission of the organization is for members to learn and express opinions about issues affecting the county, state, and nation, and to assist the public in these endeavors.

New members are welcome, the spokesperson noted. All interested persons are invited to the picnic and/or one of the league's monthly board meetings. These gatherings are held on the second Monday of each month at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland, at 5:15 p.m.

For more information, persons may contact Barbara Briggs, president, at 301-334-9597.

Low Water Level Forces Closing Of JRL's Shaw Beach

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Jennings Randolph Lake has closed the Shaw Beach recreation area for safety reasons after unusually dry conditions have caused low water conditions, a spokesperson said.

The beach is closed when the water falls to an elevation of 1,455 feet mean sea level. At this elevation, the designated swim area is no longer usable.

The beach will reopen to the public for day use when the water returns to a safe elevation level.

Shaw Beach is located next to the West Virginia overlook, just off state Route 46, five miles north of Elk Garden, W.Va.

To receive the latest updates on the Shaw Beach recreation area, persons may call the lake status information line at 304-355-2890. The number connects the caller to a recorded message which gives information on lake conditions, the local weather forecast, and other pertinent lake-related information.

Persons may also call the Corps's park office at 304-355-2346 or 301-359-3861 from Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., or visit the lake's web site at www.nab.usace.army.mil/recreation/jenran.htm

Offender Fails To Notify Officers Of Address Change

In recent Garrett County District Court hearings, a Friendsville registered sex offender was found guilty by Judge H. Jack Price on a charge of failure to report a change of address.

Charles Henry Sines, 20, was arrested in April after a member of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office attempted to locate Sines at his last known address to inform him that he had failed to re-register as a child sex offender. A person at that residence informed the officer that Sines had moved two weeks prior.

Sines was sentenced to six months of jail time, all of which was suspended, as well as a fine of $350 and 24 months of unsupervised probation.

In other District Court news, Stacy Lynn Curtis, 24, Grantsville, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on charges of unlawful usage of livestock motor vehicle, unlawful taking of a motor vehicle, and theft of more than $500. The charges were filed by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in July.

Aaron Wade McNeil, 31, Oakland, received stet rulings on charges of possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia stemming from an arrest made by the sheriff's office and the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force in April.

NHS & SHS DELEGATES ATTEND NATIONAL CONFERENCE – Student council delegates from both Northern and Southern high schools recently attended the National Association of Student Councils Conference, which was held in Overland Park, Kan. Delegates from all over the United States attended the convention, which included workshops, networking, guest speakers, and service learning projects. The students participated in a daylong Special Olympics student organized competition that was the biggest student organized Special Olympics event yet. Pictured above, left to right, are advisor Michelle Harman, NHS freshman delegate Blake Harman, and SHS senior delegate Brison Harvey. For information regarding attendance to next year's event, persons may contact Michelle Harman at Northern High School.

He also received 36 months of supervised probation and a fine of $450. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Kristi Jo Klink, 27, Md., pleaded guilty to a charge of DUI per se and received a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended, as well as a fine of $250 and 18 months of supervised probation. Klink was also ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. She was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

Joshua Aaron Kury, Pa., was found guilty on a charge of DWI and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), as well as a fine of $500, all of which was suspended except for $307 and two years of supervised probation. He was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Jeffrey Alan Auvil, 36, Md., pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI and was handed a PBJ, as well as a fine of $500, all of which was suspended except for $357 and one year of supervised probation.

Vanessa Fay Logan, 21, Md., pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI, and was handed a PBJ, as well as 12 months of unsupervised probation and a fine of $250. She was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Join naturalist Caroline Blizzard and volunteers from the Discovery Center for an evening of photographs and inspirations from the trip.

• 7:30 p.m. – Twilight Canoeing with the Naturalists. Visit Meadow Mtn. Cove and learn about the night sounds of Garrett County wetlands. The naturalists will also attempt to call in owls. Saturday, Aug. 18

• 11 a.m. – Black Bears and You. Learn all about black bears while hiking along Snakeroot Trail. See and touch a bear skin and skull. Wear proper shoes for a rocky trail. (90 min.)

• 8 p.m. – Campfire: Scales 'n' Tales. Meet at the amphitheater to see a red-tailed hawk, screech-owl, and several reptiles and amphibians. Guests will learn their "tales" of why they are at the center, and how to help take care of these creatures in the wild. If there is rain, the program will be held in the Discovery Room. (Approx. 60 min.)

Sunday, Aug. 19

• 11 a.m. – Nature Hike. Hike with a naturalist to the Snakeroot Trail. See the new wildflowers, listen to birds, and possibly find amphibians and other signs of animals. Proper footwear required. (Approx. 90 min.)

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

I was concerned several times during our rash of thunderstorms, but it was not as bad as when I was driving last Wednesday on Garrett Highway when a monster storm with heavy rain and some very bad thunder crashes surrounded me. I was scared to death, with limited visibility on the water-covered roads. I was glad when I could turn onto Glendale Road where high speed is not too common. When I got home I discovered poor Boo was out in the storm alone. She was very happy to see me. I imagine that was the worst couple hours she every experienced.

The Today Show was interrupted due to the covering of a severe storm for this morning. Apparently it caused a lot of flooding. I am so glad I don't live in a flood plane. The closest to flooding I ever experienced was in 1976 and I was working at the Washington International Horse Show at the Capital Center. The stable area was in the parking lot when it rained and rained. It was almost impossible to keep the stalls dry and clean with all the mud. It was a real mess. I had wet feet for a week. We had to build dams with dirty straw. At the time I was grooming for "Mink and Pearl," which was a pure white horse.

When I was driving during Wednesday's storm, I was a little worried about my Meredith on the youth group rafting trip. She was still on the river during the storm, and said it was "cool." A river run is like an interstate highway; once you are in the flow, you can't turn back, and with only a few available exits.

I watched a sunset with a friend the other evening, and it was an unusual sunset with a rainbow. In the south the sky was like lilacs fading into a pink peach color, and in the north it was yellow, but no green.

If we get the same weather pattern as we have had this winter, we will get mild temperatures with lots of snow. The bad news is that keeping my lane open sometimes gets costly when it snows almost every day. If we get heavy snow, I guess I will just have to stay in.

I regret that it seems we are getting some kind of hot rods who are choosing Rock Lodge Road to drive on. It seems like every evening I hear a souped-up vehicle on the road. It also seems that of late we have many motorcycles on the road.

The entry day for the fair was always a high-stress-level day when I was less than 10 years old. I had to get my livestock perfectly clean, all their things packed, and then get them set up in their area. But it wasn't just animals that I had to enter – school projects, baked goods, my deadline for my hemmed dishcloth, and canned goods for the 4-H barn. The excitement of a new fair was almost too overwhelming for me. There were new people to meet, new friends to make, the thrill of competition, being hopeful for some blue ribbons, a parade float to put together, another horse show, more junk food to eat, another ride on the Ferris wheel, and lots of excitement and fun.

But if entry day was stressful when I was a kid, it did not hold a candle to when I was a young homemaker. I tried to live up to my title "Homemaker of the Future" from my senior year in high school. I had to polish my jars, pick the most beautiful vegetables from my garden, then wash them and pick the perfectly matched five of a kind of vegetables, and some three of a kind. It was a continuous cycle. It was also getting my cut flower entries by finding wildflowers and arranging them. Then it was helping the girls with their entries, with the last-minute matting or framing some of their artwork for their school entries. I am sorry that my girls didn't have a chance to enter a pony and hang out in the pony barn.

Now I am stuck at home, and my natural urge is to be where the action is. But we don't have enough cars and I am the one without. I don't know if it is a natural urge to go to the action or just an old habit hard to break, but with my condition the way it is I guess I will have to stay home.

I am sorry for my girls who also didn't experience hanging out in the dairy barn. It was like a big extended family. A favorite activity of the dairy barn young kids was to cover a long piece of baling twine with sawdust and trip each other. It was harmless fun. However, I had the best time in the pony barn, especially when Misty had a foal. The fairgoers would "Ooh" and "Ah" at the cute little baby. Of course, with the opposite sex, some crushes sometimes developed, but didn't go anywhere after the fair. In the first show at the fair that Joey and I entered, we won fifth place in the Ladies Western Pleasure Class in a mid-week evening horse show. It did not matter that it was a pink instead of blue ribbon; it was the most beautiful thing in the world.

The most embarrassing moment was when I modeled the baby doll I made in the Fair Dress Review. Rodney and I took our beagle dressed in some clothes my grandmother made for him to the pet show. Also, I was dressed in an Indian costume on my pinto pony in the Trail Class at the horse show.

The first big moment at the fair was when I was 9 years old and showing my first dairy entry named Bo-Ru Joan. She won the junior champion Holstein. Then I was up against a neighbor showing her adult cow, which was the senior champion. The judge kept moving us around the ring and finally he awarded the 4-H grand champion to me because of a fault – the senior cow moved on her hind legs.

As a mother I was both proud and nervous when Claire showed her hermit crab in the pet show. She was so cute. I did some judging at the fair, and the hardest part was the pet show. Another hard job as judge was the year I had to judge the parade. I remember the first time I took Claire and Caitlin to the carnival and they took their first merry-go-round ride.

Bittinger 4-H Club had some pretty fun floats. In the mid 1960s we had some boys with Beatle wigs on carrying guitars, and our slogan was "Fad will pass, 4-H lasts." The favorite of mine was a clean manure spreader loaded with kids with pitchforks with the slogan "Spread the News–4-H is great."

What the fair means to me is the smell of clean livestock, the smell of cotton candy, dust, and sawdust, the row of shiny canned goods, the free things you can get from the commercial booths, such as pencils, yardsticks, balloons, nail files, and popcorn, the taste of the Rotary french fries, Creamery ice cream, and the sound of the paging of people to report here or there.

The first day I got back to Garrett County after my European tour, we went out to the fair and the first thing I heard was, "Would Joan Glotfelty please come to the office." One thing I missed in Europe was a hot dog, and there were plenty of hot dogs at the fair. If you spend several days at the fair, you probably see almost everyone you know in Garrett County.

The bottom line about the fair is that it is a great show place for the many skills of Garrett County citizens.

I got a phone call from a reader in Delaware who said that the drought is so bad there that the corn is flat down and his grass is brown. So I guess we are pretty lucky here in Garrett County. The corn crop is great, and my lawn is green and growing fast. But Rock Lodge spring is still not running. That is a deep concern to me.

The long summer college break for my Claire and Caitlin will be gone in "a blink of an eye." I pictured that I would have the pleasure of their summer at home, but with their jobs and social lives, the time spent with me was scarce. It is over and I am sad. When the fair is over, school closely follows, and then only a short time until Labor Day is here, summer is over, and fall is about to begin.

This Thursday marks a milestone 21 years ago in my life. I looked into the eyes of my newborn baby and fell in love. I had never seen anything so beautiful. Claire was an unusual newborn, as she could hold her head up and make eye contact. She was unusually pretty for a newborn.

That day started a joy ride about being a mother. Not that those 21 years was without tough times. She fell off a bicycle when she was about 3 years old and broke her arm. Probably the one event summary about how Claire was such a special little girl was when she needed some blood work, the doctor drew blood, and when he removed the needle, she said "Thank you." The amazing thing is that I still love her as much as when she was a beautiful baby. She was and is the best daughter I ever could dream about, although it is hard to believe she will graduate from college next spring. There was no doubt since she was born that she would graduate from college. But the years have gone too fast for me.

I was lucky to have two more girls close to a perfect match for Claire. It is amazing how close my three daughters are to each other.

Claire's cousin, Emma Bass, will turn 16 on this coming Sunday. Then on to Mother Ruth's birthday, which is the 28th.

Today has been pretty much a perfect August day. August is dubbed as the hottest month of the year. Today is pretty hot, but with a brisk breeze blowing here in Bittinger. We have plenty of sunshine and plenty cooling breezes. It is really not just a breeze, but a real wind. But the evening is perfect, with cool temperature and clear with a pinkish sunset. It is practically silent tonight, with not even insects or frogs breaking the silence, except for a rare and occasionally tiny cheep or some gentle sound. I bet the people within the beltway areas dream about the conditions we almost take for granted. There are a few traffic sounds from my house, but it is not like the more urban noise of traffic.

Most of my life I used to rush out to the fair after the exhibit barns were open and judging finished to check what ribbons that I had received. But now I have to find someone to haul my wheelchair out to the fairgrounds.

Now for some local news items and interesting items:

The Northern High School Junior Prom Committee will hold a pig roast on Saturday, Sept. 1, at the McHenry fire hall between noon and 4 p.m. All food is carry-out and the "cost" is a donation. They expect a good crowd and they will sell until the food runs out.

Ruth Beachy of Huntingdon, Pa., was a recent overnight guest of the Poholsky family and visited Bill and Thelma Emery. Bonnie and Ed Ulrich were visitors of the Poholskys this week.

Lenny and Torrey Poholsky attended the Steelers/Packers pre-season football game Saturday night, with the Steelers losing, 13-9. Torrey, Matthew Bass, and Preston Sisler left Sunday for Greensboro, N.C., for a "man trip." While there they will attend a Grasshopper game at the Greensboro Classic Golf Tournament. Torrey will begin classes the following week.

Betty Sacra, Winchester, Va., visited with Ruth DiPaolo for several days this week and attended the Garrett County Fair.

Garrett Charter School Initiative
A charter school is a public school. The difference is in how the school is run and the flexibility the school has to teach children individually.
Charter schools are run by boards of dedicated people, usually parents, educators, local business people, and other members of the community willing to create additional educational opportunities for the children living in their area.
All charter schools are held accountable to the same high standards as public schools.

The Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division of Garrett College has scheduled intake/assessments for potential Adult Basic Education program students.

Local Methodist Church To Hold Prayer Service

Deer Park United Methodist Church will hold a prayer service on Wednesday, Aug. 22, at 7 p.m. The church is located along Church Street in Deer Park.

"We are inviting people to come together to pray for our nation, our military, our leaders, and the war in Iraq," said a church spokesperson. "But these aren't our only concerns."

He said the greatest danger that the nation faces today may not be from outside terrorists, but from within.

"We are losing our ability to recognize right from wrong, or maybe we just don't care as much as we used to," said the spokesperson. "Times change and so have we. But our nation has seen times of spiritual reawakenings in the past, and we, along with may other people, are praying for a renewal right now."

The next prayer service will be Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 7 p.m. at White United Methodist Church near Gorman.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
Notice of Intent to Establish Low pH Total Maximum Daily Loads for Casselman River, Georges Creek, Savage River, Upper North Branch Potomac River and Wills Creek Allegany and Garrett Counties, Maryland

Section 303(d) of the federal Clean Water Act requires Maryland to: (1) identify waters, known as water quality limited segments (WQLSs), where technology-based effluent limitations and other required controls cannot achieve water quality standards; (2) for each listed water, establish Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs) for pollutants preventing the attainment of water quality standards; and (3) offer an opportunity for public review and comment on the proposed TMDLs.

WQLS	Basin Code	Location	Substance(s)
Georges Creek	02141004	Garrrett Co., MD	Low pH
Savage River	0214006	Allegany & Garrett Counties, MD	Low pH
Wills Creek	02141003	Allegany & Garrett Counties, MD	Low pH

The TMDL sets the maximum load limit for the impairing substance. The TMDL also reflects load allocations to point sources, non-point sources and a margin of safety that accounts for uncertainty in the procedures used to estimate the TMDLs. Once established by the State, the TMDLs will be subject to approval by the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The established TMDLs will support measures needed to attain water quality standards in the identified watersheds.

OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLIC REVIEW AND COMMENT

A 30-day pubic comment period for the draft document listed above will take place from August 9, 2007, to September 7, 2007. Shopping Online Can Help Support Historical Group

The Springs Historical Society (Pa.) has come up with a way to make people feel good about where they spend their money. "We call it 'shopping with a conscience,'" said group spokesperson Helen Green. "The best part is that it all happens by people doing something they are already doing – shopping on the Internet to save time and money."

In partnership with Fundraising-Solutions.org, the society now displays a gold shopping bag on its web site (springspa.org). When shoppers click on the bag, they are taken to the Springs Historical Society's "shopping mall," which is the largest on the Internet, according to Green. The mall has more than 1,500 participating merchants, including Wal-Mart, Amazon.com, Hallmark, Office Depot, Dell, Circuit City, Barnes & Noble, and Florist.com.

Shoppers click through to these stores, and all transactions are directly between the merchant and the shopper. A store will give up to 25 percent of the sale amount to the Springs Historical Society, and there is no additional cost to the shopper.

Shoppers may also receive special discounts from many stores. Plus, shoppers have the convenience of shopping from one Internet location (making comparison shopping easy), save gas, stay out of crowds, and, in most cases, avoid paying sales tax, Green noted.

"The stores expect to see lots of traffic they might have missed, and in many cases consider the donations good public relations," she said.

The participating merchants have been admitted to the mall based on the appropriateness and popularity of their web sites, the reputation of their stores, and their willingness to rebate a percentage of each sale back to the historical society.

"That's why we partnered with Fundraising-Solutions.org," Green said. "They showed us that if people knew about the opportunity to help, they would shop at their favorite online stores through our web site."

Money raised through the program will go toward the society's historical preservation programs.

"We are proud to partner with a historical society that is making education an important part of its mission," said Jim Gould, chairperson of Fundraising-Solutions.org. "We look forward to providing free materials for the society to distribute that explain this unique fundraising program."

For more information about the group, persons may call 814-662-2625 or visit its web site.

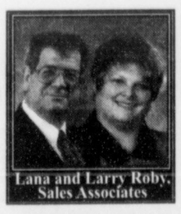
THE SIGN OF AN EXCEPTIONAL SALES ASSOCIATE.

SOLD

To Whom it May concern:

I was really hesitant to list my home/land for sale with a realty company. My move was based on a time line and I believed listing would set the price too high to find a quick buyer. After attempting to sell it by word of mouth and having no reasonable offers I made the decision to list it on the market.

My choice of Realtor was based on personally knowing them (Lana and Larry Roby) and their understanding of the situation I was in. Once we met, both assured me that they would get it listed, notify the other companies, and make sure the time frame was priority. The following day it was listed and the first showing was scheduled. . . and on Friday, one week from being listed, we had the offer from the actual buyer. . . I would guess that all sales do not work out this favorably but I can attest that had I not listed with Lana and Larry and Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty that my move would not have been possible.



Lana and Larry Roby, Sales Associates

Many thanks to all the staff at Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty for making my dream come true.

Sincerely,
Kim Trickett

Explosion, Fire Destroys House Near Deer Park

An explosion and subsequent fire resulted in the destruction of a house and its contents in the Paughville area, just west of Deer Park, Sunday afternoon.

Volunteers from the Deer Park, Oakland, Deep Creek, and Kitzmiller fire departments were called to the residence of David Pysell, located at 6367 Maryland Highway, at 4:19 p.m. after Pysell called 911 for assistance.

Pysell was reportedly in the back yard when he heard an explosion. He then discovered fire in the exterior wall of the kitchen.

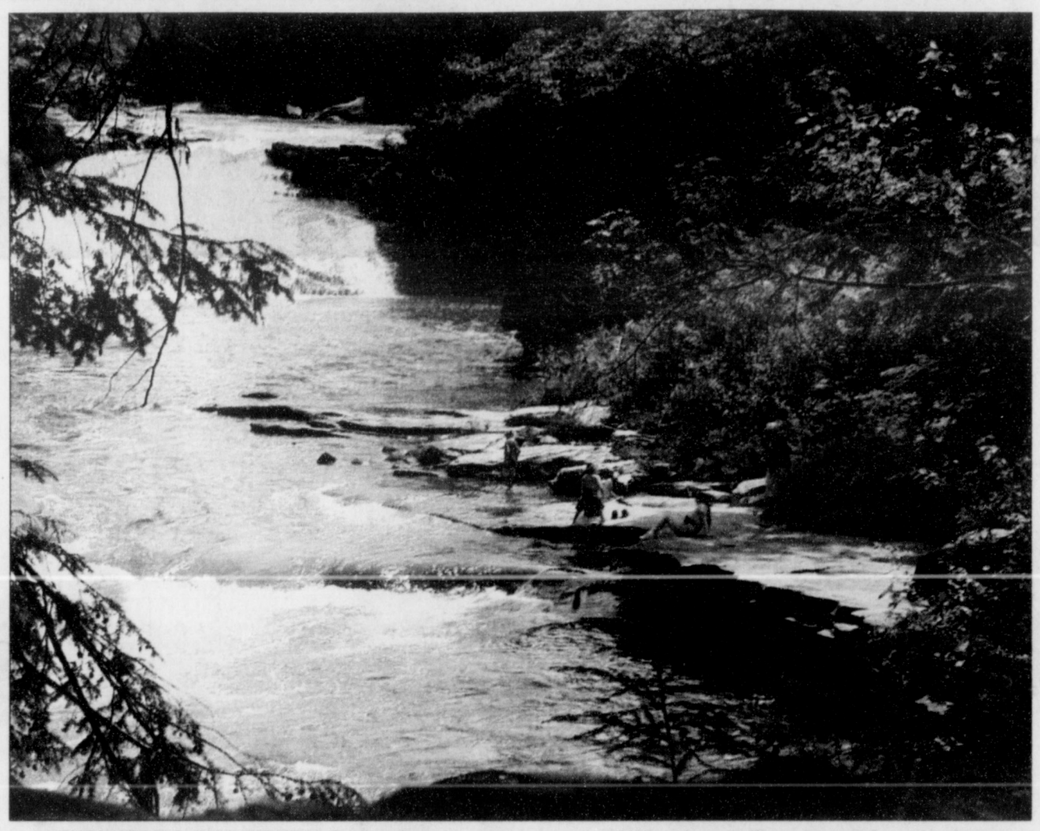
According to a report of Deputy State Fire Marshal Jamie Rodeheaver, the cause of the explosion was accidental in nature, and occurred when a leak in a propane gas supply line was ignited by the pilot light of the water heater/furnace unit.

The one-story, wood-framed dwelling was engulfed in flames upon the arrival of the first fire units, and it took approximately 30 firefighters an estimated ½ hour to get the blaze under control. Units were still on the scene at 7 p.m.

Rodeheaver estimated the loss to the house to be $70,000, and loss to contents to be $15,000.

Also responding was the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Rodeheaver's reports said that Pysell's house was equipped with working fire alarms. It stated that the house was rendered unsuitable for occupancy, and that Pysell was being assisted by family members.



THE WATER'S JUST RIGHT in Garrett County, even with the sudden downpour early this week when four inches fell within four hours. The mountaintop seems to be blessed this year, with far more rain than much of Maryland, providing for a bountiful harvest, but not so much as in the Midwest, where the flooding is worse now than it has been in more than 100 years. There are many such blessings to life in Garrett County, where one needs only to drive a few miles to take in scenery that tourists travel for hours to view. Swallow Falls of the Youghiogheny River is pictured here, along with some waders. While river-swimming is great fun, all should be aware of the dangerous currents and varying water levels. Have fun, stay safe. Photo by John McEwen.

Most Maryland Schools Set To Open Next Week

Public schools will begin opening in most of Maryland next Monday, as nearly 1 million students, teachers, and administrators get started on the 2007-2008 school year.

The first day of school for Garrett County students will be Tuesday, Aug. 28.

Prince George's County started classes Monday of this week, making it the earliest opening of any system in the state. Statewide, more than 850,000 students will fill classrooms over the next two weeks, with approximately 80,000 teachers and other instructional staff reporting for duty.

Twenty-three of Maryland's 24 school systems will begin classes this month, as only Worcester County on the Eastern Shore is set to begin classes after Labor Day.

Garrett Chamber Releases A New Byways Guide

by Jo Donaldson

New signs appearing along some of Maryland's highways and a new guide explaining Maryland Byways are visual representations of an effort to find a brand that represents what Garrett County has to offer.

Charlie Ross, president and CEO of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, worked on the relabeling of four scenic byways—the Coal Heritage Trail, Savage River Road, Cunningham Swamp, and The Glades—as the Mountain Maryland Byway.

The second entry in the new Maryland Byways booklet, following the section on the Historic National Road, is Mountain Maryland. This entry takes travelers through the 193 miles from Keyser's Ridge to Cumberland, stressing the natural beauty, history and activities along the scenic byway.

The byways were created to take people "through the state's most spectacular scenery, picturesque towns and landscapes that are woven into the fabric of our nation's history," wrote Governor Martin O'Malley in the booklet that encourages people to take the roads less traveled.

The State Highway Administration began Maryland's Scenic Byways program in 1988 by designating a 432-mile main scenic highway route from Oakland to Ocean City, and spur routes, marked by black-eyed Susan trailblazer signs.

The program expanded in 1991 to include tourist attractions and new scenic routes in metropolitan areas. Most recently, through a U.S. Department of Transportation National Scenic Byways grant, State Highway Administration, along with federal, state and local agency partners, redeveloped the Maryland program to complement the National Scenic Byways Program.

Local Company Awarded $18.5M Military Contract

Shirley Bailey, managing partner of Government Contracts Consultants (GCC), announced this week that the McHenry based company has received an $18.5 million contract to provide administrative support services for the Naval Air Systems Command at Patuxent River Naval Air Station for the next five years.

The contract will require that 65 personnel be hired to support the Navy's operations mainly in St. Mary's County, although, Bailey said, it will also result in growth in the corporate staff in Garrett County.

GCC is a U.S. Small Business Administration certified HUBZone company. It moved its headquarters from Cumberland in February to take advantage of the "progressive business environment" provided at the Garrett Infor-

Oxford Named Finalist For Md. State Award

Dr. Wendell Teets, county school superintendent, announced this morning that Doug Oxford, 2007-08 GC Teacher of the Year, is one of seven finalists for the Maryland Teacher of the Year award. He has been a teacher of social studies, psychology, American history, sociology, contemporary problems, and government at Southern High School since 1983.

Teets also noted that Oxford is the fourth consecutive Garrett County Teacher of the Year to be named a nominee for the Maryland honor.

Lisa Bender, business teacher at Southern High, was last year's 2006-07's recipient of Garrett County's honor. Dave Bender, Southern High teacher of government, politics, and social studies, was the winner of the 2005

Low-Interest Loans Available Through USDA

Because of severe drought conditions in some local areas, and some residents reporting failing water wells, USDA Rural Development is offering homeowners in rural areas 1% interest loans to help drill a new well. Other home repairs may also qualify for the loans, according to Tim Taylor, local USDA Rural Development specialist.

"The loans are available to low-income homeowners who can't afford regular loans," Taylor explained.

Income limits vary by county and household size. In Garrett County, very low income is defined as about $32,000 annually, depending upon the number of persons living in the household and other factors, according to Taylor.

In addition to wells, USDA Rural Development's home repair program can help with projects like fixing or replacing a roof; installing siding, insulation, storm windows and doors; replacing a heating system; repairing electrical wiring or plumbing; making a home handicapped-accessible; and other improvements that would eliminate health and safety hazards from the home.

Homeowners who have such needs and believe they may be eligible for this form of assistance are invited to telephone Taylor's office at 301-334-6972 during regular office hours.

MLP Awarded Funding For Heritage Trail

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has awarded $82,500 in federal funding to the town of Mountain Lake Park in Garrett County to develop the B&O Heritage Tourism Trail, Senators Barbara Mikulski and Benjamin Cardin announced last Thursday.

In addition to ARC funds, the state will provide $82,500 and the town has raised $6,670, bringing the total project funding to $171,670, according to the senators.

Mountain Lake Park will use the money to link the town to Oakland and Loch Lynn Heights along hiking and biking trails that pass through natural and commercial areas of the region. The trail is expected to draw more than 7,300 visitors to the area every year.

"Ecotourism in Garrett County is thriving, and this project plays an integral role in creating a recreational and functional inter-modal trail system to tie into the county and state trail systems," said a spokesperson

Lisa Kinney, the dance chairperson, is also pictured. There will be a number of "big ticket" items at the auction, which will be officiated by Tom Henline, a professional auctioneer. Tickets are $50 and are available at Gregg's Pharmacy or at the door. Queen City Funk & Soul will be the featured band, providing music for a night of dancing. Cindy's Fund, a non-profit organization established in memory of Cindy Kutchman, provides services and assistance to local cancer patients.

Commissioners Hear Reports From General Services, Financial Services

The Garrett County commissioners heard departmental update reports from General Services and Financial Services personnel on Tuesday. Topics discussed included the county's new roads garage, Solid Waste and Recycling Division expenses, the Bay Restoration Fee, and property tax collection.

Director Gary Mullich, General Services, reported that bid requests for the design and construction of the new Garrett County Roads Department's Oakland garage facility have been published. Sealed proposals must be submitted to the county's Purchasing Department on or before Tuesday, Aug. 28.

The facility will be the first one constructed at the county's Public Works Complex, located off Rt. 135 along Francis Sanders Drive near Mtn. Lake Park. Structures proposed for the roads department at the site are a 13,200 square foot maintenance garage/office building, a 19,200 square foot truck/equipment storage building, and a 4,500 square foot pickup truck building. The project also includes a fueling station, security fencing, engine heaters, and site development for stock pile areas.

Once the roads department facility is constructed, the county will construct a new detention center at the old garage site in Oakland. Mullich said General Services project manager Jerry Bell and Sheriff's Office personnel met recently with ATI, the architectural/engineering consultant for the detention center project, to review the facility's kitchen layout.

Mullich also reported that the Garrett County Airport runway would be closed until the end of the month, weather permitting, to allow for resurfacing work.

Supervisor Gary Love of General Services' Solid Waste and Recycling Division presented the commissioners a revenue/expense report for Fiscal Year 2007. His pre-audit figures indicate the division incurred more expenses than revenue generated last year.

Operating, debt service, and capital expenses totaled $2,878,102, while revenue from refuse permits, recycling income, customer payments, ad valorem taxes, other miscellaneous income was $2,583,263, according to Love.

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt noted that the division's biggest expense last fiscal year was for construction of the new Cell 3 at the landfill and that funding was available to cover that cost.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg asked what the projected life span was for Cell 3. About seven years, Love said. Prior to that, he stressed, work on Cell 4 and

Maryland State Police Seek Help In Solving Crimes

The Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack are investigating two recent crimes that occurred last week in Garrett County.

Unknown persons damaged a soda machine and removed the coins within at the Friendsville BP gas station sometime between Saturday and Sunday. Persons with information are asked to call Tfc. Whitaker at 301-895-1101.

The second investigation is of the theft of a black 1993 Trailmobile truck dolly, which was last seen parked in the parking lot of J&L Repair in Grantsville sometime between Aug. 9 and 10.

The dolly is an air ride dolly, which, according to the victim, is rare to find and could easily be identified. Persons with information are asked to call the McHenry barrack at 301-387-1101.

DNR Proposes New Criteria For Land Preservation

At yesterday's Board of Public Works (BPW) meeting, Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin and staff presented the agency's new proposed plan for targeting state land preservation areas through Program Open Space (POS). A key component of Governor Martin O'Malley's BayStat Initiative, the new criteria are designed to prioritize preservation of lands that will provide the most significant environmental benefits, while providing for appropriate public recreation opportunities such as trails and bay access, according to the DNR.

"The citizens of Maryland expect and deserve to see a return on their restoration investments," said Governor O'Malley. "The new science-based criteria for prioritizing land for preservation will maximize DNR's portion of Program Open Space dollars by ensuring that our efforts are as strategic and effective as possible. We remain committed to our pledge to protect Maryland's natural lands and special places through Program Open Space, and Maryland's role as a national leader in land conservation."

Soon after the first BayStat meetings in February, an interdisciplinary team within DNR began drafting the new proposed criteria. Under the new draft criteria, DNR will first target areas for acquisition based on their ecological significance, utilizing the updated Green Infrastructure Plan to identify high priority conservation areas. Only 30 percent of the 2.4 million acres of Maryland's Green Infrastructure is currently protected.

Properties will then be analyzed under implementation criteria, including bay tributary strategies, geographic balance, available funding, and potential partners, to select annual proposed target areas. Finally, to prioritize individual parcels within targeted areas, properties will undergo a parcel ranking to assess different benefits and management options.

While a majority of funding will go toward protection of high priority conservation areas, some funding will remain available for acquiring properties outside the updated Green Infrastructure Plan that offer unique active recreational, bay access, cultural and historical protection, and inholding acquisition opportunities.

"These new criteria will enable DNR to more strategically preserve open space and working landscapes, particularly important considering that our conservation opportunities always exceed available funding," said Secretary Griffin. "We look forward to working with our partners across Maryland to finalize this plan and strengthen Program Open Space."

Over the next several weeks, DNR staff will work closely with local planning and recreation officials, land trusts, conservation organizations, and other partners to further refine the proposed criteria and ranking system. Implementation of the new criteria will increase transparency of the land acquisition process, the DNR says.

"We are excited that this new land conservation plan will provide a systematic approach for acquiring the best possible open space and park lands for the state of Maryland," said Marcia Verploegen Lewis, director of Partners for Open Space.

Success of the targeted effort will be measured and reported through BayStat, which will specifically measure progress on annual acreage goals and quarterly track such items as:

- State dollars spent protecting updated Green Infrastructure and dollars spent for other purposes;
- The percentage of total Program Open Space acquisition dollars and acres protecting targeted priority conservation areas;
- Cost per acre by county;
- Dollars leveraged through partnerships or below market value offers;
- Acres of updated Green Infrastructure restored; and
- The percentage of new acres acquired in areas with complimentary conservation zoning.

The full Power Point presentation is available at www.DNR.Maryland.gov/dnrnews/.

Since 1969, Program Open Space has preserved nearly 321,000 acres of natural lands and working farms for open space and recreation areas. Most Maryland residents live within 15 minutes of an open space or recreational area funded by this program.

Established by Governor O'Malley via executive order, BayStat measures and evaluates Maryland's efforts to restore the Chesapeake Bay.

Two Juveniles Injured In Car Collision Sat.

Members of the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack reported that two local juveniles were transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital following a motor vehicle collision on Saturday at 3:23 p.m.

According to reports, a 17-year-old Oakland male driving a 1988 Jeep Cherokee failed to yield the right of way while making a left-hand turn from Kings Run Road onto Broadford Road and struck another vehicle, a 2000 Plymouth Neon, driven by a 16-year-old female of Oakland. The Neon collided with the Jeep on the driver's side door area.

Both drivers were transported to the hospital by Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, where they were treated and released. The driver of the Jeep was charged by state police with failure to yield to oncoming traffic while making a left turn.

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene of the accident.

Correction Noted On County United Way Celebration

County United Way will celebrate its 50th year of "caring for the community" on Wednesday, Aug. 29, at 6 p.m. at Frostburg State University's Lane Center.

The celebration theme is "honoring the past, recognizing the present, and building partnerships for the future."

Guest speaker for the event will be Frostburg State alumnus Mitch Stoller, president of the Marrow Foundation (a supporter of the National Marrow Donor Program) and former CEO of the Lance Armstrong Foundation.

First United Bank & Trust and Mountain Lake Park resident Jeannette Fitzwater will be presented Community Caring awards for their work with United Way.

Several of the original 150 community leaders who established County United Way will also be recognized during the event.

Tickets for the 50th anniversary celebration are available by calling the County United Way Office, 1-877-597-2700, by Aug. 24.

WATER OVERFLOWS DAM – The region received over four inches of rain in a 48-hour period this week, swelling streams and rivers, but evidently not causing a lot of damage. This photo above, taken by Tom Eichhorn of Terra Alta on Tuesday, shows that the spillway for the Terra Alta Lake dam could not keep up with the surge of water, the excess of which cascaded over the top of the dam. The water quickly receded, leaving the structure evidently undamaged.

ways Program is part of the U.S. Department of Transportation, Federal Highway Administration. The program is a grass-roots collaborative effort established to help recognize, preserve and enhance selected roads throughout the United States. Since 1992, national program has provided over $275 million in funding for 2,181 state and nationally designated byway projects.

To be designated as a National Scenic Byway, a road must possess at least one of the following six intrinsic qualities: historic, cultural, natural, scenic, recreational, archaeological. The features contributing to the distinctive characteristics of the corridor's intrinsic qualities must possess regional significance.

Ross said he is pleased with the designation of the Mountain Maryland Byway, and the chamber, working with other county agencies, continues efforts to receive Heritage Area Certification for the area.

Copies of the new Maryland Byways guide are available at the Chamber of Commerce Visitors centers in McHenry and in the 1884 B&O Railroad Station in Oakland.

Four People Sent To GCMH After Two-Car Collision

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to a motor vehicle accident involving injuries on Garrett Highway on Friday.

A 2006 Ford van, operated by Melvin Koehler, Millersville, was northbound on Garrett Highway when his vehicle collided with a 1998 Nissan traveling southbound, operated by Mary Dement, Oakland.

Dement, along with three juvenile passengers were transported from the scene by EMS personnel.

Southern Garrett Rescue, Northern Garrett Rescue, Deep Creek and Oakland VFDs, and Maryland State Police assisted at the scene.

At this time, the accident is still under investigation, and no other information is available.

Sheriff's Office To Receive $15,000 Of Grant Money

As parents and children prepare to return to school, the Maryland State Police have reminded motorists to be especially mindful of the presence of school buses and other school transport vehicles on the roads.

The Department of Maryland State Police announced in June the awarding of $522,000 in grants from the School Bus Enforcement Fund, established by the Maryland General Assembly in 2000 under Article 88B, Section 83. The Garrett County Sheriff's Office will receive $15,000 of the set grant money. The funds from these grants are to be used by the state and local police departments to enforce Maryland traffic laws related to school bus safety.

Police departments will use the grant funds to place officers, deputies, and troopers working overtime on special school bus patrols.

An additional $28,000 of supplemental grant awards will be distributed among law enforcement agencies that have the highest number of motorists who pass stopped school buses with their flashing red lights activated, in violation of Transportation Article, Title 21-706 of the Maryland Vehicle Law. The Department of Maryland State Police expects to award these additional fund in January through May 2008.

Police commanders across the state have directed their personnel to be particularly vigilant for violators of school bus laws. The violation most commonly observed by police continues to be motorists who fail to stop for the flashing red lights of school buses. When those lights are flashing, children are either boarding or disembarking from the bus, and in many instances, are crossing the roadway.

Police officers who observe a motorist failing to stop and remain stopped for a school bus can issue the violator a citation, which carries a $570 fine and a total of three points on the violator's license. Drivers failing to stop for pedestrians in a crosswalk can be issued a citation for $80, and drivers failing to exercise due caution when encountering children can be issued a citation for $70.

Man Cited For Children Left Alone In Vehicle

Oakland Police responded to the parking lot of Wal-Mart Wednesday evening for a report of children left inside a vehicle unattended.

When police arrived, they found two children inside the vehicle of Justin M. Regan, 26, Swanton. Regan was located, arrested, and charged with two counts each of child unattended and reckless endangerment.

He was taken to the Garrett County Detention Center for a bond hearing.

Juvenile Arrested On Felony Theft And Gun Charges

Members of the Garrett Bureau of Investigation arrested a 17-year-old Oakland area male Saturday night at approximately 9:30 p.m. for the alleged theft of a semi automatic handgun and other handgun charges.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office was contacted by a Garrett County resident on Saturday evening who advised of the theft of the handgun, and named the juvenile suspect. According to reports, it was further determined that the juvenile suspect had intentions of using the handgun in a crime of violence against others.

Upon further investigation conducted by the bureau, with assistance from sheriff's office, the juvenile was contacted and agreed to turn himself in on Saturday at 11 p.m. when he returned home from being out of the area.

A description of the juvenile's vehicle was broadcast to all local police agencies in the attempt to locate him due to the dangerous circumstances surrounding the case.

A Maryland State Trooper later observed the juvenile's vehicle traveling southbound on Rt. 219 near Deep Creek Lake, and a traffic stop was jointly conducted with the GBI investigator and deputies from the sheriff's office. The juvenile suspect was taken into custody, and a search of his vehicle revealed ammunition and a quantity of controlled pills.

The juvenile was charged with felony theft and possession of a handgun, and was incarcerated in the juvenile detention center. A Monday morning court hearing ruled that the juvenile remain in the custody of the Dept. of Juvenile Services, and he awaits a trial date.

Become a Partner...

Local educators are gearing up for the return of Garrett County's children to school next Tuesday to begin their 2007-08 year. While some students are likely dreading the return, and others are looking forward to it, probably in most cases their parents are elated that school is resuming (no more daytime sibling spats for a while, no more "Mom, there's nothing to do!" ...).

However, the beginning of school does not – or certainly should not – mark the nine-month hiatus of parental involvement in their children's lives. So many parents just turn their kids over to their teachers and basically wash their hands of them until next spring, or at least until Christmas break. And with that hand-washing comes the assumption that the schools, and not the parents, are somehow responsible for fixing everything that needs fixed in their children's lives. Educators are also automatically blamed for their children's misbehavior and/or failing grades, why they can't sleep at night, why they are withdrawn, why they won't eat their broccoli ...

The successful education of children absolutely requires a partnership between schools and families. Without consistent, concentrated involvement by parents in their child's educational life, the chances of long-term success for that child diminish exponentially, regardless of how good the schools, teachers, and curricula may be. While parents of today have an average of 1-3 children, any given teacher generally has a bare minimum of 15 students, and usually more like two dozen. Middle and high school teachers may have 100 students. They cannot devote inordinate amounts of time and attention to each individual student; there simply is not enough time in the day.

Some reading this may state that it is a minority of parents who are guilty of this lack of involvement in their children's school life. Yet look at how many parents are active members of their school's PTA/PTO. Count how many parents attend meetings of athletic and band booster groups. Try once to get enough parent chaperons for a school trip or competition. Check surveys about how many parents regularly read to their young children. Where are all of these parents?

It is obvious that the children of non-involved parents are the real victims here. But so are those parents. Those of us whose children are now adults know how fleeting the time was when our kids were under our roof. While in the midst of it, admittedly there were times that we thought they would never grow up, but then all of a sudden, they were gone.

So to all the young parents out there, don't miss all of these golden opportunities to play such an important role in the development of your children. Don't end up with all kinds of regrets when looking back on your effectiveness as a parent. Become a partner with your children's school(s) and with those other adults who devote their lives to teaching them.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

We wanted to let people know just how proud we are of the "giving community." We both had the privilege of participating in the Hospice Jail & Bail at the Garrett County Fair again this year.

The people who gave were of all ages and backgrounds. A lot of small toddlers gave change, as they were seated in their strollers; they all had big smiles and were proud to put their donation in the old coffee pot that I was holding. Many of the children asked when we could get out of jail and come be with them. There was such a sweet spirit coming from these little ones. Some onlookers remarked that that was "chump change," but believe us, that change was very much appreciated. We are reminded that in the Bible it tells of the "widow's mite" and how it meant more than gold and silver. All donations were so appreciated. And we say, "Thank you."

I place this challenge to the community – I will wear a grass skirt (with taste) and do the hula if I get a $1,000 donation for Hospice. Please do not stop giving to Hospice just because the fair is over. Your donations are needed all year long.

Also remember that Hospice is in need of wheelchairs, medical supplies, and other related items.

Thanks again, Garrett County. We love you!

Sincerely,
Pastor Sidney and Sandi Nazelrod
Shepherd for the Lord Ministry

To the Editor:

This past week was the annual Garrett Co. Fair, which is a big event for children of all ages. I think it is ridiculous that now when you enter the fair grounds they stamp your arm instead of giving you a ticket. This was done only to control what people did with their tickets, like being nice and giving their ticket to some child who had an animal down at the fair. This should be the right of the ticket holder, once they have purchased that ticket.

My daughter did some of her service learning hours at one of the local booths, and after volunteering for 8 or more hours, she would go back up and pay $8 to ride rides. The organizations that have the booths pay $4 per ticket for the passes that get the volunteers into the fair, so actually the fair board is making $12 on each of those volunteering. That's nothing but pure greed.

I remember as a child they had kiddy day, when you paid $2 and children under 13 got to ride. I know it's unrealistic at that price, but it would be a great idea for families that have several children. Progress has taken over this county; is it good or bad? Well, I am not sure, but I do know there are children who don't get to come to the local fair and that's just wrong.

I think the fair board needs to think this over, because this year there weren't half the people that are normally at the fair. The entries at the derbies were very few, and people just didn't come out to the fair. It's time to think of the children instead of the almighty dollar. I know that tourism brings a lot of money into our area, but what about the local people? There is not one thing in this county that is about the local people more than the fair. So why not honor the local people by having a fair to which all people have the chance to come out and see what this rural area is truly all about?

There is no place any nicer or more beautiful than Garrett County, so let's show the people what we're really all about.

Sincerely,
Garrett County native
Connie Simmons

To the Editor:

Thank you for printing the photo of our Monday morning overflow of wet clothes, books, and furniture left by discourteous people Sunday evening at the Christian Crossing Thrift Shop loading dock. Seven volunteers worked for four hours to clean up from the weekend overflow of clothes, books, household goods, and furniture. Two of us at the loading dock carried over 40 bags of wet clothing to the rear dumpster; that's about 1½ tons of clothes wasted because unthinking people left their contributions exposed to the weather when our shop was not open.

What we ask people to do is drop off contributions when we are open: 10-1 Tuesday, 10-1, 5-7 Thursday, and the first and third Saturdays, 9-noon. If we had more volunteers we could stay open longer.

As president of the Christian Crossing Thrift Shop, I would like to remind your readers that we are an all-volunteer, non-profit organization serving the public by offering low-priced, second-hand articles of all types and sizes. We are self-supporting and independent, and monies we make over expenses we contribute half to other organizations and half is saved for emergencies and major repairs to our warehouse and apartment building next door.

If you are a burnt-out victim and referred to us by an aid agency, we will supply you with free necessities. Fire and rescue companies can come and pick up free, laundered fluffy animals to give to children disaster victims. All Bibles are free. We give away encyclopedias and similar books to public schools, which distribute such to needy students. We assist the Amish-Mennonite community with its mission program by supplying clothes.

Last but not least, we estimate we keep one ton of used goods per week out of the trash system and recycle such for citizens' use.

What we ask in return is: 1) Cooperation in leaving goods only during our opening hours. 2) More volunteers so we can stay open longer.

Our address is: P.O. Box 707, Oakland, MD 21550. Phone us at 301-334-6339. My phone number is 301-334-1386.

Sincerely,
Paul Shogren

To the Editor:

My daughter works on crafts and sewing exhibits for the fair. Last year she exhibited a caned chair and received a blue ribbon. So, this year we purchased a rocker at an auction for her to cane. After entering the beautifully caned rocker, she mentioned it throughout the week, wondering what award she would receive. On Saturday as we traveled to the fair to retrieve the items we had entered, she again mentioned the rocker that she had worked on for so many hours.

When we arrived at the exhibit hall and saw no ribbon at all, we were all disappointed and knew something was wrong. Fair personnel told us that it was not judged, because it was exhibited last year! In 2006 she exhibited a chair, and in 2007 she exhibited a rocker. Even so, could not a person cane two chairs which were alike in consecutive years? (We have four identical chairs for her to cane.) Luckily, the sewing department gave her a blue ribbon on her embroidery, even though she had used the same stitches two years in a row.

This article was barred from competition because of someone's poor memory, causing disappointment and anxiety. This rule needs removed or adjusted, so that one person cannot prevent an exhibit from being judged.

Sincerely,
Bonnie Langan

NRP Makes Two Weekend Alcohol Related Arrests

The Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) arrested a Westernport woman on alcohol related driving charges on Savage River Road Friday at 7 p.m.

NRP was patrolling the area near the Allegany Bridge when they stopped Gail Ann Hershman, 46. After taking field sobriety tests, Hershman was placed under arrest and transported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, where she was charged with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol and driving a motor vehicle while impaired by alcohol, and released on her own recognizance.

In a separate incident, NRP arrested Benjamin Jon Licht, 45, of South Park, Pa., Saturday at 11:17 p.m. on State Park Road on alcohol related driving charges.

NRP made contact with Licht after observing his vehicle parked partially over an embankment along Deep Creek Lake. After taking field sobriety tests, Licht was placed under arrest and transported to the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack, where he took a breath test, which showed a blood alcohol level of .19 percent.

He was charged with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, driving a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol per se, driving a motor vehicle while impaired by alcohol, and consuming an alcoholic beverage in a motor vehicle. He was released on his own recognizance.

MDE Files Action Against Swanton Property Owner

The Maryland Department of the Environment Water Management Administration Compliance Program issued seven enforcement actions to Maryland residents between June 8 and Aug. 15, the MDE announced this morning.

Among those is Terry E. Hale Sr., Swanton. The MDE filed an administrative penalty assessment against Hale on July 29 for alleged violations of sediment control, sediment pollution, and water pollution control laws at property owned by Hale at 1305 Steiding Church Road.

MDE is seeking a penalty of $11,600 in this case for allegedly conducting land disturbing activities without an approved sediment control plan or discharge permit, and for placing pollutants in a position likely to pollute waters of the state, according to the department.

OUT OF CONSIDERATION FOR VOLUNTEERS – Its obvious that persons who made donations to the Christian Crossing Thrift Shop over the weekend had little consideration for the volunteers who spent hours disposing of tons of wet items. As shown in the picture above, donors even dumped offerings directly in front of the sign that asks persons to only donate items during store hours. Some items that were placed under the covered deck were salvageable, but most items left on the loading dock became drenched and unusable.

Maryland's Labor Market Saw Little Change In July

The secretary of Maryland's Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation (DLLR), Thomas E. Perez, announced today the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in the Maryland's labor market was little changed in July.

While employment advanced, a slight increase in the number of jobseekers caused unemployment to inch up by 0.2 percentage points to 4.0 percent in July. The share of unemployed Marylanders searching for employment remained considerably below that of the nation, which was reported at 4.6 percent in July, according to DLLR.

"Maryland's job market has held up well, especially considering the slowdown in the construction, housing and financial markets that has reduced the overall pace of job generation nationwide," said Perez.

According to a separate survey of business establishments, Maryland's private sector employers added 2,100 jobs during July, with gains in education and health services industries leading the expansion.

Since last July, Maryland's private sector payrolls have grown by nearly 24,000 jobs, with almost two-thirds of the increase resulting from combined growth in the professional/business services and education/health services sectors, according to DLLR.

At the local level, the influx of seasonal jobseekers into the labor market caused non-seasonally adjusted unemployment rates to rise in all but two jurisdictions. Fifteen local jurisdictions reported unemployment rates at or below the statewide non-seasonally adjusted rate, with a low of 3.2 percent shared by Howard and Montgomery counties, according DLLR.

planning for a new landfill site need to begin.

Work continues on the proposed recycling center at the landfill. The project will enable the county to recycle more items, which should help extend the life of the cells, county officials noted.

Financial Services personnel also updated the commissioners on their activities. Accountant Jenny Harsh reported that 85 property owners have received Bay Restoration Fee financial hardship exemptions so far this fiscal year. A total of 106 property owners received this exemption last year, according to Harsh.

Persons must reapply each year and are exempt if they meet certain criteria and supply proper documentation. Exemptions are given to persons receiving Supplemental Security Income, food stamps, energy assistance, Social Security disability, veterans' benefits, energy assistance, and/or meet certain income guidelines. Persons must meet at least two of those conditions.

Accountant Nikki Brown noted that property owners may also apply for a Bay Restoration Fee special circumstances exemption. Conditions for this exemption include the property not being inhabited anymore, Brown noted. Property owners must also reapply for this exemption each year.

Cheryl Uphold, supervisor of tax collection, reported that her office has been busy in July and August. More than $27 million in taxes have been collected so far this fiscal year, she said.

BACK TO SCHOOL PHYSICALS

Whether your child is entering school for the first time or about to graduate, back-to-school time is a good opportunity for parents to check up on their child's health and make sure he or she is protected against common childhood illnesses. An annual physical exam is a great time to discuss any health problems your child may have, including acne or chronic health conditions, and to make sure that vaccinations are up-to-date. Your health care provider may also discuss relevant topics such as peer pressure, nutrition, and avoiding drugs, tobacco and steroids with your child. You should encourage an open, trusting relationship between your child and a health care provider so that your child will be comfortable asking questions or voicing concerns about puberty, normal development, or any medical conditions.

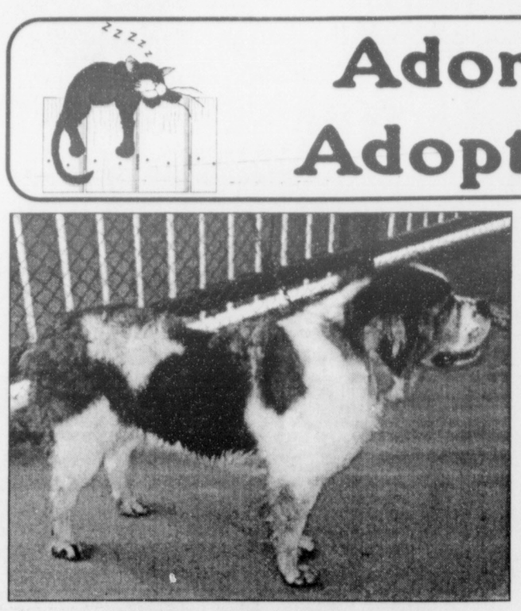
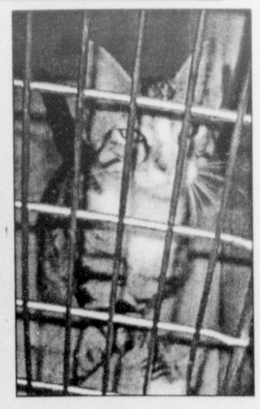
Adorable Adoptables





ST. BERNARDS ARE KNOWN FOR RESCUING people, but the one pictured above needs some help from her two-legged friends. She was picked up as a stray along Cranesville Road and is currently housed the Garrett County Animal Shelter and needs a home. "It is hard to imagine that her owner doesn't notice she is missing," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "But we noticed she needs a good bath and a trim." Also available for adoption are a young black cat and a tabby, plus several other nice felines. Last week's featured older beagle was adopted, but the calico cat is still waiting for a home. "During the hot weather, you must provide shelter and water for all your pets and farm animals," said the spokesperson. "If you are in need of having your pet spayed or neutered, please contact PAWS (Partners for Animal Welfare & Safety) or the Garrett County Humane Society for help. We have already had over 200 cats/kittens come through the shelter this summer. Please prevent more homeless animals by having your pet altered and by bringing in your litters of kittens and puppies." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553.

Local Property Is Certified As Wildlife Habitat

The National Wildlife Federation (NWF) has announced that the property of Jack Orner, located in Grantsville, is now recognized as an official Certified Wildlife Habitat site. This achievement contributes to the organization's goal of certifying 100,000 sites by the end of 2007.

Orner's property now attracts a variety of birds, butterflies, and other wildlife while helping to protect the local environment. With the help of NWF, many habitat enthusiasts have turned their yards and other garden spaces into enticing wildlife refuges, according to an NWF spokesperson.

NWF began the Wildlife Habitat certification program in 1973 and has since certified over 85,000 habitats nationwide, as well as more than 2,700 schools and hundreds of business and community sites.

The average habitat is between 1/3 and ½ acre, but certified sites range from urban balconies to thousand-acre areas.

In order to become certified, a property must provide the four basic elements that all wildlife need: food, water, cover, and places to raise young. It must also employ sustainable gardening practices.

Participants who achieve certification receive membership in the National Wildlife Federation, including a one-year subscription to National Wildlife magazine. They also receive a personalized certificate and are eligible to post NWF's special outdoor sign designating their yard or garden as wildlife-friendly.

Hospice Slates Classes For New Patient Care Vol.

Hospice of Garrett County Inc. will sponsor training classes for patient care volunteers on Tuesdays, from Sept. 11 to Oct. 16, from 6 until 9 p.m. Graduation is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 23, from 6 until 8 p.m. at the Hospice office, 69 Wolf Acres Drive, Oakland.

"We are in need of patient care volunteers who provide companionship to terminally ill patients and their families," said a Hospice spokesperson. "The volunteers may be asked to sit with the patient, run errands, or help with meals or housekeeping needs."

Volunteers are also needed for bereavement after-care. The Hospice Bereavement team stays in touch with a family for one year after the death of a member. Volunteers do mailings, and home visits, and maintain a relationship with the family by telephone.

The first class, "Working with the Volunteer Coordinator," will be presented on Sept. 11 by Debbie Workman, volunteer coordinator for Hospice. Executive director Brenda Butscher will also give an overview of the agency.

Social worker Nancy Elizabeth Nimmich will teach "Listening Skills, Family Dynamics, and Stress Management" on Tuesday, Sept. 18.

Cheryl Scheffel, RN, director of clinical services, will discuss a wide variety of topics on Sept. 25: confidentiality, HIPPA and patient privacy, documentation, universal precautions, infection control and safety, signs and symptoms of approaching death, personal care, patient care, and sexual abuse.

Shirley Fitzwater of First United Bank & Trust will teach "Legal and Financial Planning," and physical therapist Audrey Kennedy of Garrett Rehab will discuss "Transfer Skills" on Oct. 2.

The class will tour Burdock Funeral Home in Oakland on Oct. 9 to understand the involvement of a funeral home and staff in the bereavement process.

The final class will be held on Oct. 16. Jane Sealing, director of bereavement for Hospice, will review "Grief Counseling Skills," and Pastor Philip Mathews of Hospice will also speak about the "Spiritual Aspects of Hospice."

"Hospice extends an invitation to you to become a part of the Hospice team and to be a patient care volunteer," said Butscher. "You will find working with the terminally ill and their families to be very rewarding. Keep in mind that doing good for others is doing good for yourself."

To register or obtain more information, persons may call the Hospice office at 301-334-5151 or 1-800-521-5252.

FSU Trident Initiative Announces Second Annual Conference Sept. 6-7

The Trident Initiative at Frostburg State University and the U.S. Small Business Administration's Western Maryland SCORE Chapter 682 will host their second annual conference, "The Odyssey... From Entrepreneurial Opportunity to Regional Economic Prosperity," on Thursday, Sept. 6, and Friday, Sept. 7, in FSU's Lane University Center.

The event will focus on possibilities for collaboration within the tri-state region of western Maryland, southwestern Pennsylvania, and northern West Virginia in order to foster regional economic development. This year's conference will also feature an in-depth FastTrac® workshop called "Listening to Your Business," offered by the Kauffman Foundation. It will include case studies that depict the entrepreneurial "odyssey" of a new business and establish the linkage between entrepreneurial initiative and economic progress for the surrounding region, a spokesperson said.

Another aspect of the conference will be the recognition and honoring of leading entrepreneurs of the region, with a showcase of the region's best practices in small business. Accordingly, two awards, Model Entrepreneur of the Year and Young Entrepreneur of the Year, will be presented during the event.

The spokesperson said the conference will be of interest to aspiring — as well as practicing — entrepreneurs, the academic community of students, faculty and staff of regional educational institutions, economic development agencies, city government officials, and the region's citizenry.

Hands-on, practical, and educational forums will be offered, with the participation and presentations by regional business resource providers and representatives from governmental agencies and academic institutions.

Benefits of attending the conference include: Discovering entrepreneurial opportunities and resources in the region; investigating potential sources of funding and financial incentives; and networking with other regional entrepreneurs.

For more information, persons may call 301-687-4008 or e-mail trident@frostburg,edu.

Amateur Artists Sought For Works Depicting Oakland

The Oakland Main Street manager, Jack L. Cougle, is looking for amateur artists interested in allowing the Main Street program use of their work in order to raise funds to help support projects for Oakland Main Street.

The program is looking for donations from amateur photographers and canvas artists of "scenes that depict Oakland" from the past or present. A committee will be chosen to select from art work submitted that the Main Street program will use on T-shirts or other items that may be of interest to area residents, as well as visitors.

By submitting work, artists will be handing over all usage rights to Oakland's Main Street program. Persons interested may contact Cougle at 304-334-5095 or by e-mail at jcougle@atlanticbb.net.

MPA Offering Bassoon, Piano Recital

Music at Penn Alps' 15th summer series of concerts will continue Saturday, Aug. 25, with a performance by bassoonist Peter Kolkay and pianist Alexandra Nguyen. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall at Penn Alps, Grantsville.

Peter Kolkay became the first bassoonist to be awarded the Avery Fisher Career Grant, which he earned in 2004. He is also the first bassoonist to win the Concert Artists Guild International Competition, and was recently awarded the Carlos Surinach Prize from Broadcast Music Inc. for outstanding service to contemporary American music.

He is currently a member of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center's CMS Two Program, the IRIS Chamber Orchestra (Germantown, Tenn.), and the South Carolina Philharmonic. Kolkay serves on the faculty of the University of South Carolina, and is a frequent chamber music performer at festivals in Vail, Newport, Savannah, Cooperstown, and Bridgehampton. As well as degrees from the Eastman School of Music and Lawrence University, Kolkay holds a doctorate from Yale University.

A native of Montréal, Alexandra Nguyen is an accomplished pianist who has appeared throughout the United States and Canada, including performances at the Weill Hall at Carnegie Hall (New York, New York); the Dame Myra Hess series (Chicago); the 2000 Bartók International Congress (Austin, Texas); and the Societe Pro Musica Chamber Music Series (Montréal, Canada). Dr. Nguyen's honors include the John Newmark Prize at the Prix d'Europe Competition and the Barr Award and the Brooks Smith Fellowship, both at the Eastman School of Music.

Awarded the first Performer's Certificate in Piano Accompanying and Chamber Music at the Eastman School, Nguyen was the first recipient of the C. Eschenbach Award given for outstanding performance in a vocal recital, and was a three-time winner of the Excellence in Accompanying Award. She is the associate artistic director of Eastman's International Piano Competition and has taught piano at the Hochstein School of Music and Dance (Rochester, N.Y.) and the Ecole de musique Claude Debussy (Montréal, Canada).

The program will include: Concertpiece, op. 2, by Franz Berwald; Romance, op. 62, by Sir Edward Elgar; Lyric Sonatina (1970), composed by Jean Coulthard; Solo de concert, op. 35, by Gabriel Pierné; and Sonata in f minor, op. 120, no. 1, by Johannes Brahms, transcribed for bassoon by Peter Kolkay.

This concert is sponsored by Railey Mountain Lake Vacations and underwritten by Betsy Maxfield. General admission is $12, while those under age 19 are admitted free of charge.

Music at Penn Alps offers 10 chamber music and two American music concerts annually during the summer months.

OTT's Final '07 Play-Reading Slated Sunday

Our Town Theatre will offer its final play-reading of this summer on Sunday, Aug. 26, at 7 p.m. in the basement of the theatre, which is located along Center Street in Oakland.

Two plays based on religious themes will be read, according to Jane Avery, artistic director.

One will be "The Parable of the Three Rings" from the play Nathan the Wise, which was written in 1779 by Gotthold Ephraim Lessing.

"The main idea is that noble character may be associated with the most diverse creeds, and that there can be no good reason why the holders of one set of religious principles should not tolerate those having entirely different views," Avery said.

The other play is Avery's own modern translation of the medieval play Everyman, a late 15th-century English morality play.

"Called by Death, Everyman can persuade none of his friends — Beauty, Kindred, Worldly Goods — to go with him, except Good Deeds. Both plays are food for thought," the director said.

Those who attend have a choice to participate in the reading or just listen. Questions should be directed to Avery at the theatre: 301-334-5640, ext. 3.

Heavenly Tapestry

When contemplating the vast And unimaginable galaxies in space
To what known formula can they be compared?
Great geniuses of all time could not conceive
The infinite glory of the cosmic mind.
And yet this power that holds the spinning spheres
And controls mighty forces revealed
Has deemed within the eternal plan
To weave an everlasting pattern
With the fragile souls of man.

BACK TO SCHOOL NUTRITION

by Abbi Kifer, R.D., L.D.
Extension Educator

Back to school time brings many thoughts and concerns. Healthy eating and what to pack for lunch may be one of them.

Choosing a healthier lifestyle does not have to be difficult and can really be one of the most rewarding things that a family can do. One key place to begin is at the breakfast table.

After a good night of sleep, breakfast is needed to refuel the body. Breakfast can take place at home or at school. It really is the most important meal of the day, and a good choice here can predict how well the day will go. Eating breakfast is associated with being more productive during the day and improving concentration, strength, endurance, and problem solving skills.

Breakfast doesn't have to take much time. A piece of whole wheat toast with peanut butter, a glass of low fat milk, and a small piece of fruit is a great place to start. If breakfast is a hard meal to stomach, just try starting with the toast. The breakfast selected really does make a difference.

High -ugar foods should be avoided as they will give a quick rise in energy, but drop off quickly, and hunger sets in much faster. Choose a well-balanced breakfast to start the day off right.

Lunch is also a very important meal to consider throughout the school year. Skipping out on lunch can have many negative effects on a healthy lifestyle. Skipping meals does not help maintain weight or promote weight loss. Missing out on meals can actually lead to weight gain. Hunger may take over and overeating at the next meal is likely.

Skipping lunch and other meals cuts your concentration and energy for the rest of the day. When packing lunch, try to include all the food groups at lunch time. A good variety means that vitamins and minerals will be consumed. It also keeps lunches from becoming boring.

Kids and teens can create a favorite list from all the food groups: grains, fruit, vegetables, milk, and protein. Get creative when packing lunch. Offer different sandwiches like low-fat meats one day and grilled vegetables the next. Vegetables with a low-fat dip help ensure that children are getting a jump on the recommended servings from this group. Send milk money so children can select low fat milk with lunch. Packing low-fat yogurt or cottage cheese is another great selection from the dairy group.

Fresh fruit is a wonderful option for the fruit group. Packaged fruit is okay, but make sure that small children can open the containers. Select packaged fruit that is in their own juices, not syrup. Most children do not need very much juice, so stick with the whole fresh fruit instead.

Avoid packing soda or flavored fruit drinks in lunches. These choices offer no nutritional value, add empty calories, and too much sugar is not recommended. High-sugar drinks can lead to obesity and weight problems when taken in large amounts.

There is nothing wrong with plain water, and it should be encouraged and offered very frequently throughout the day. Our bodies need a certain amount of water to function properly.

Keep food safety in mind when packing lunches. Don't forget to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. Use insulated lunch bags and send an ice pack along too.

Keep good nutrition in mind and the school year is sure to be a success, as well as the rest of your family's lives.

For more information about healthy meals, please contact the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

Garrett County SKIES

By Dr. Bob Doyle
Frostburg State Planetarium

SEPTEMBER 2007 SUN – As September opens, the sun is in the star group Leo, where it stays through September 16. In the early morning hours of September 17, the sun enters Virgo where it stays through October 30. (These dates are based on actual star group boundaries and sun's position, not the 2,500-year-old dates used by Western astrologers.) The amount of daily sunlight in September drops; early September has 13 hours, while the end of September has 11.8 hours. Sunrise in Oakland in early September is 6:46 a.m.; sunrise at September's end is 7:12 a.m. Sunset times in September advance from 7:49 p.m. at the start of the month to 7:02 p.m. as the month ends. During September the sun's peak height at midday drops from 58 to 47 degrees. In the morning, stars begin to fade away around 5:30 a.m., while the evening stars first appear about 8:40 p.m.

SEPTEMBER 2007 MOON – The moon can be seen in the late evening at the start of September. On September 3, the moon appears half full. On September 4, the moon appears near the planet Mars in the southern dawn. On September 9, the crescent moon appears to the left of the brilliant planet Venus. On September 11, the moon is new, nearly lining up with the sun. A few days later, the crescent moon can be seen low in the western dusk. On September 17 and 18, the moon appears below the bright planet Jupiter in the southwestern dusk. On September 19, the evening moon appears half full, at its best for viewing the craters and mountains through binoculars or telescope. On September 26, we have the Harvest Moon, the full moon that lingers longest in evening sky for the next four nights. Before mechanized farming, farmers gathered their harvest after sunset by the light of the Harvest Moon.

BRIGHT PLANETS IN SEPTEMBER 2007 – Our five nearest planetary neighbors appear as points of light that shine steadily, unlike the bright night stars that twinkle. Venus is dazzling in the eastern dawn, creeping higher, and farther to the right each week. Jupiter is the only bright evening planet, appearing in the southwest at dusk. In late September, the bright planet Mars can be seen low in the east in late evening. In September, the planet Mercury is too low in the western dusk to be seen.

EVENING STARS IN SEPTEMBER – The Big Dipper is low in the north northwest with its two rightmost stars pointing up and right to the North Star. The Dipper's handle can be extended outward to Arcturus, a bright golden star in the west. Low in the southwest is the bright pink star Antares with the bright planet Jupiter above it. Nearly overhead is the Summer Triangle, a trio of bright stars. The long sides of the Triangle points south. On moonless nights in early September, the Milky Way may be seen running across the Summer Triangle in dark sky areas.

ASTRONOMY ACTIVITIES IN SEPTEMBER – The Frostburg State Planetarium will reopen September 9 with a new program, "Inner Planets: 2 Hot, 2 Cold, and 1 Just Right," shown each Sunday at 4 and 7 p.m. The Planetarium is in Tawes 302 in the middle of the FSU Campus, near the Lane Student Center and the large Performing Arts Center. Our planetarium programs are live, interactive, and last about 45 minutes. After a brief intermission, there will be tours of the Compton Exploratorium at 5 and 8 p.m. across the street from Tawes. To obtain a Planetarium/Exploratorium bookmark that features a campus map, persons may call Dr. Doyle at 301-687-7799 and leave name and mailing address.

Dr. Doyle writes this column for beginners who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards. To ask questions or get a free brochure or sky charts, persons may call the FSU Planetarium at 301-387-4270 and press 4. Doyle hosts "Sky Watch," a brief program on days of the week and sky sights that airs weekday evenings just before 9 p.m. on WFWM at 91.9 FM in western Garrett County and 96.3 FM in the Oakland area. Doyle's e-mail address is rdoyle@frostburg.edu.

county award, with Michelle Harman, a science teacher at Northern High School, taking home the GC award the previous year.

The winner of this year's Maryland honor will be announced at the Teacher of the Year Gala in Baltimore, scheduled for Oct. 5.

"We're very honored to have had our last four teachers go on to be named finalists for the state honor," commented Teets. "All of them should have been winners, as they represent the outstanding quality of all Garrett County teachers."

and teachers are looking forward to an exciting new school year," said State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "Our schools are making consistent and sustained progress, and Maryland's efforts have gained national acclaim."

Among the headlines for the new school year:

•This year's junior class is the first group of students who must pass the state's High School Assessments in order to receive a Maryland high school diploma. Data for the spring 2007 administration will be released later this month.

•Career and technology education programs are growing in importance. As business leaders in Maryland and across the nation are calling for better prepared graduates in technology and career programs, Maryland's programs are increasingly sophisticated and popular, according to Grasmick.

•More than 7,000 new teachers were needed in Maryland schools for the upcoming year. There are more than 900 openings as the first day of class approaches. The teacher shortage has affected the state for more than a decade.

•Full-day kindergarten, in effect in Garrett County for many years, is now required in all 24 school systems.

•Public charter schools continue to be an emerging presence in Maryland. Nine new schools are scheduled to open this fall, enrolling more than 2,100 students.

In Loving Memory of CONNIE HUMBERSON

January 30, 1947 - August 23, 2004

Connie, Darling we were entwined just like the Bible said we would be. Connie, you were A-B-C- and D. You loved A - angels, B - butterflies, C- carousels, and D was your dogs, and you cannot forget your grandkids. The day Jehovah God took you, He took you very kind, gentle, and sweet. I have thanked Him for that. Darling, you were always here for me. You would always make everything OK. Darling, I still have the memories. Connie, Darling, the tears won't stop. Yes, my beautiful Connie Sue, your earrings are still in and your hair looks great. Darling, our bags are still packed for Boston. Connie, Darling, Happy 44th Anniversary to you, my "Golden Lady," "Earth Angel," fairest of them all. Sweetheart, I know you're watching me from a faraway place. Darling, you always said to keep the lights on for you. Sweetheart, the lights just keep getting brighter. Love you, hurry home.

Oakland All-Stars Participate In Two Tournaments

A slew of Little Leaguers recently recorded a number of hits as the Oakland 11-12 All-Star baseball team ended its post-season run after participating in two local tournaments.

During the first tournament, the Tri Towns Little League Tournament, the local team played a total of six games and came out in second place.

With the first victory, the Oakland team nipped Moran Lawn Care, 3-2, in extra innings. The All-Stars then defeated the Southern Garrett All-Stars, 14-2, to advance into the winner's bracket. Scott Cooper and Landon Todd each collected two hits to pace the hitting attack.

In the third game played, the Oakland team landed a victory over Frostburg, and Seth Holler keyed a sixth inning rally to put his team in the finals of the winner's bracket. Cody Sliger was the winning pitcher.

The Oakland All-Stars then dropped a 4-0 decision in a pitcher's duel to PVAA to lose its first game in the double elimination tournament.

The fifth game resulted in an 8-2 victory over Frostburg, and the sixth game was lost to PVAA by a 2-1 margin. Logan Stewart and Aaron Shotwell were the defensive standouts for Oakland throughout the tournament.

Several players garnered individual awards. Dillon Bennett recorded the most hits and had the highest batting average of any player in the tournament. Derek Getson won the Best Infielder award.

The Oakland team had three players on the All-Star Tournament team—Bennett, Getson, and Nick Noble—and traveled to Salisbury, Pa., to participate in the 16-team Salisbury Lions Club tournament.

The team took sixth place overall, and opened with a 7-6 loss to Hampshire and dropped to the loser's bracket. The team proceeded to defeat Southern Garrett, 7-0; Frostburg, 13-7; Moorefield, 13-0, and Central Garrett, 8-7, to see its season to an end.

Three players gathered individual honors, while two were named to the All-Tournament team. Scott Bittinger collected the most RBI, Noble scored the most home runs, and Justin Ashby was awarded the Best Outfielder award. Noble and Rodeheaver were selected to the All-Tournament team.

"It was nice to have so may different players win awards at the two tournaments," said head coach Dave Shotwell. "Our young men played very hard and represented the Oakland baseball league exceptionally well. We won seven of our eleven games, but more importantly, the entire squad improved and showed progress."

Local Softball Players Receive All-Area Honors

One softball player from Southern High School and one from Northern High received recognition via a vote of area coaches recently, as the first- and second-team All-Area squads were selected.

Named to the second team from Southern as a pitcher was senior Lauren Shue, while Kerri Harding, a senior center for Northern, was also selected.

Receiving honorable mention from Southern was catcher Sarah Brenneman.

Shari Beavers of Fort Hill and Kelsey Smith of Allegany were named Co-All-Area Players of the Year. Placing four players on the All-Area first team was Moorefield, Westmar had three, and Beall, Allegany, and Frankfort each placed two.

NHS Athlete Plays Hoops In Holland With People To People

Morgan Brosnihan, an incoming freshman at Northern High School, recently returned from a 10-day People to People Sports Ambassador program to Holland.

She participated in a 3-day training camp and competed in a 4-day basketball tournament for girls ages 15 to 18. There were teams from Belgium, France, Germany, Hungary, and Spain, as well as several U.S. teams. After being seeded during pool play, the team Brosnihan played for advanced to the championship round and won, earning a gold medal for Team USA in its division.

"My team had a lot of post players, I was appointed point guard, which was an exciting challenge," Morgan said. "I usually play a wing position but have been working on my point guard skills during our summer league games, which ended just prior to this trip. I had some very good players around me, and together we were able to implement some solid plays. I was required to play man-to-man defense, which was fun, but intense. Other differences were the rules for traveling, foul shooting, and the dimensions of the key."

The People to People program gives participants a taste of international competition and the chance to get to know athletes from other parts of the world. Eight different sports are represented at the Youth Friendship Games with over 7,000 athletes from around the globe. More than 2,000 athletes from the United States traveled to make up the largest delegation at the games.

"It was interesting to experience the different style of play countries like Spain and Holland had," Morgan said. "Players from Spain were very physical and aggressive, and those from Holland were very fast. My favorite team for camaraderie was the team from Hungary."

In addition to competing in basketball at the Youth Friendship Games, Brosnihan trained with experienced coaches and explored Holland with teammates from throughout the United States.

"My roommates were from Texas, New York, and Washington. It was fun getting to know them and learning about their schools, communities and ways of life," she said.

Brosnihan was specially selected to participate in the Sports Ambassador Program, and is completing the academic credit requirements related to the program's cultural and heritage excursions and sports activities. Coaches, leaders, and a delegation manager who coordinated the cultural and recreational excursions and is familiar with the local area accompanied the group. Brosnihan had an opportunity to visit the house of Anne Frank and a cheese factory, ride bikes near the canals, and tour a wooden shoe factory.

"It was exciting to go to Amsterdam," Morgan said. "The buildings were interesting, and everywhere you went people rode bikes."

Before departing, the Garrett County teen attended several orientation meetings with local leaders and coaches to prepare for the journey and to learn about the program, destination, and the responsibilities of representing the United States in overseas competition.

Brosnihan began planning and setting goals for her trip in June 2006. She worked to improve her game, playing for her school's tri-county team as well as on a summer traveling team. She also participated in a summer league team at the WMCA in Cumberland. Brosnihan has played over 90 games since last December.

To help pay for her tuition, Morgan gathered sponsors and pledged to shoot 50,000 shots by this past June. She also researched the locations she would be visiting to maximize her knowledge and enhance the journey, she said.

"I am so grateful to everyone who supported me for this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. I believe this experience will help me in the future — with basketball, as well as with my sense of adventure and my communication skills with new people," Morgan said.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower founded People to People during his presidency in 1956. He believed that ordinary citizens of different nations could make a difference where governments could not. People to People Sports Ambassador programs are based in Spokane, Wash., where the educational travel program has been coordinated for more than 50 years.

ACS Beneficiary Of Golf Event At Alpine Lake

Alpine Lake near Terra Alta, W.Va., hosted the American Cancer Society (ACS) "Golf for the Health of It" Tournament recently, an event that netted over $10,000 for the society, which will be used to support various ACS programs and services available to people with cancer, as well as their families and caregivers.

Specifically, the monies raised will maintain many local patient services and survivorship programs offered by the ACS in West Virginia, including: Reach to Recovery, a one-on-one visitation for women with breast cancer; Dietitian on Call, which provides nutritional information to cancer patients; Wigs and Prostheses, available to patients by request; and Hope Lodges, located across the U.S. to provide cancer patients a "home away from home" while receiving treatment.

Camp Winaca, a free, weeklong camp in nearby Tucker County for children with cancer, and scholarships for childhood cancer survivors to attend institutions of higher learning will also be supported by the tournament proceeds.

Team One Auto Mall was the tournament's title sponsor. Gold sponsors were Homes For All Seasons, Wal-Mart, and Alpine Lake. Food and beverage sponsors were Jerry Gagnon and Coldwell Banker Realty, Clutter Realty, and Kingwood Pharmacy. The hole-in-one sponsor was the Alpine Lake Property Owners.

Appreciation was also extended by tournament organizers to all of the tee and green sponsors, to those who donated money and time, and to all who purchased honor/memory flags which lined the 18th fairway cart path.

The ACS's National Cancer Information Center (1-800-ACS-2345) is available to patients and caregivers 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Sailboat Racing On Deep Creek Lake

THE LASER INVITATIONAL REGATTA
by Dan Muss

The lawn of the Turkey Neck Yacht Club was thick with Lasers Saturday morning. Their white sails covered the landscape like a blanket of snow. It was a sight to see. There was a total of 34 boats there, sailing in two fleets: Lasers with Radial sails (reduced area for young competitors) and full sails. Our regatta was also the Laser District competition, and I counted 14 boats from as far away as Richmond.

The wind was N at about 0 to 5 knots, and even more shifty than usual. The Lasers were sailing a triangular course and they got five races in on Saturday. It was a good thing, too, because Sunday all racing was canceled because of lack of wind. The Laser racing was very tight between Joni Palmer, Darrell Van Hutten, Eric Silverman, and visitor Ted Morgan. Joni and Darrell were tied for first place, with Joni winning the tiebreaker with two firsts.

Out sailing with the Radials were brother and sister, Justin and Jessica Burnham. Jessica beat her brother in three of four races to place third! Josh Bullock dominated the Radial Fleet with three firsts and a second.

That Saturday night, the Laser sailors ate a fine chicken dinner and danced to the music of Joe DeGiovanni and his band.

The Lasers went out to sail early Sunday, but there wasn't enough reliable air and all racing was canceled. As the Lasers came back in, I saw Josh Bullock nose up to the dock. He stood on the bow and jumped onto the dock. I guess he learned about Newton's Second Law (for every action there is an equal and opposite reaction); he landed on the dock, but his boat was propelled away from the dock. Josh immediately dove in and swam his Laser back.

The Flying Scots raced in another part of the lake up toward the Glendale Bridge. At the start I was approaching the line with seconds to go when I heard a horn. I got confused and thought my time was wrong, so I put the helm over and started across the line. Then I heard the real horn ... we had started about 10 seconds too soon, so I circled back and restarted, at the very back of the fleet! The first horn I had heard was a Laser horn. We managed to catch a few boats, but it was a very frustrating sail with one patch of no wind that seemed to last forever.

RACE RESULTS

Full Sails – 1. Joni Palmer, 2. Darrell Van Hutten, 3. Ted Morgan, 4. Eric Silverman.

Radial Sails – 1. Josh Bullock, 2. Carrie Dodd, 3. Jessica Burnham.

MSDE Awarded Spec. Ed. Grant Of $6.2 Million

A federal grant worth $6.2 million will help the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE) better serve special education students and their parents.

MSDE's Division of Special Education/Early Intervention Services has been awarded a five-year State Personnel Development grant from the U.S. Education Department's Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services worth $1,240,000 per year.

The federal program is designed to reform and improve State systems for personnel preparation and professional development in early intervention, educational, and transition services in order to improve results for children with disabilities.

Maryland's grant focuses on a collaborative, technology supported approach to professional development for the purpose of recruiting, training, and retaining certified and highly qualified special educators; ensuring access to the general education curriculum and attainment of academic targets by students with disabilities; serving preschool children with disabilities in age appropriate settings; and improving parent outreach and involvement.

"This grant will help MSDE's work in several areas critical to improving success for many of our most vulnerable students," said State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "We continue to place a high priority on the search for new funding to continue this important work."

MSDE is working with the Johns Hopkins University Center for Technology in Education to meet the goals of this project.

Town Hall

LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS

• The town will be sponsoring an annual picnic at the pavilion on Friday, Aug. 24, at 5 p.m. The town will be supplying corn on the cob, hotdogs, and sodas. Those planning to attend are asked to bring a covered dish and a lawn chair. Music will be performed by Summer Wind from 7 to 9 p.m., and in case of rain, the band will perform inside the Community Center. Past and present residents are welcome to attend.

• Alvarez Contractors and Thrasher Engineering are continuing work on the sewer rehabilitation for the town of Loch Lynn Heights. Because of the amount of rain during the week of Aug. 20, Alvarez Contractors will be working along Alley 7, Alabama Street, Maple Avenue, Bonnie Boulevard, Tallahassee Street, and the immediate areas. The town asks that residents and guests continue to be patient with the work in progress.

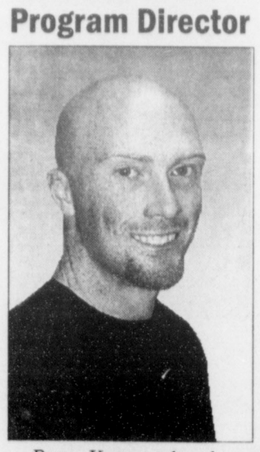
Scheduled Meetings

A Planning Commission meeting was held on Monday, Aug. 20, with next one scheduled for Monday, Sept. 17.

The next regularly scheduled council meeting will be Tuesday, Sept. 4.

All scheduled meetings are at the town hall and open to the public.

Fitness Center Welcomes New Program Director



Ryan Kentrus has been hired as program director at Flowery Vale Health & Fitness Center, Accident. Kentrus took over operations this week, according to Adina Brode, director of Garrett County Community Action's Area Agency on Aging.

"The AAA is pleased to have identified such a qualified young man to replace Christy Hoalcraft as director of the center. Although he has some mighty big shoes to fill – those of Christy and her predecessor, Elaine Kackley – I'm sure Ryan is up to the task. His knowledge, experience, and pleasant personality will enable him to work well with the population the center serves," Brode said.

A native of Calvert County, Kentrus lived in Frostburg for six years while he completed his undergraduate and graduate work at Frostburg State University. He was awarded a master's degree in business administration in May.

During his tenure as a graduate assistant, Kentrus coached swimming and diving. He is also in the process of receiving certification as a strength and conditioning specialist, as well as a personal trainer.

"I am looking forward to working with the members of Flowery Vale Health & Fitness Center and developing some additional programs for them. The people I have met at the center have made me feel very welcome," Kentrus said.

Membership in the Flowery Vale Health & Fitness program is open to everyone age 50 or over, and classes offered there are open to people of all ages. The center is operated by Garrett County Community Action's Area Agency on Aging. For more information on services offered at the center, persons may call 301-746-8050.

Local Docs To Be Presenters At Health Fair

In preparation for the second annual Garrett County Health Fair, the Garrett County Steps to Better Health Committee is lining up speakers for the event. They will include several local physicians, including Drs. Dona Alvarez, Cindy Parks, Richard Porter, Sotiere Savopoulos, and Charles Walch.

The health fair is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 9, at the Wisp Resort, beginning at 11 a.m.

The event's featured speaker will be nationally recognized health guru Dr. Will Clower, who is one of the world's leading experts on fighting obesity and maintaining a healthy body. He is the author of two best-selling books.

Dr. Alvarez's topic is "Things that go ouch in the night," which will cover the various conditions that many suffer from when trying to fall asleep at night. From carpal tunnel to arthritis, she will talk about what persons can do to alleviate some of those discomforts. She will also review certain conditions that may require surgery.

Early childhood care will be the focus of Dr. Parks's presentation. She notes that when children develop cavities and other dental problems at a young age, they are more likely to have serious complications as they get older. She will discuss proper dental care and the prevention of cavities for parents and children, as well as some new advances in pediatric dental care.

Dr. Porter will be discussing the indications for the HPV (human papillomavirus) vaccine, which has been shown to reduce the risk of cervical cancer. He will also discuss the benefits of the vaccine, any possible side effects, and who should receive the vaccine.

A local family practice and obstetrics physician, Dr. Savopoulos will review conditions such as high blood pressure, diabetes, obesity, and other medical problems that could lead to complications during pregnancy, including pre-term labor. He will discuss ways to improve a woman's health prior to pregnancy in order to prevent complications that may affect both mother and baby.

Dr. Walch, a general surgeon who sees patients with a variety of stomach conditions, will be speaking on ways to prevent these conditions, as well as a variety of screening tests to diagnose conditions such as GERD. He will also share new advances in the treatment of stomach problems.

Other fair offerings will include health screenings, informational booths from nearly 50 area health-related businesses and organizations, and demonstrations from Jump Smart and Trooper 5, among others. The master of ceremonies for the fair will once again be KDKA weatherman and TV personality Jon Burnett.

There will be no admission fee to the fair, which will also feature "a variety of healthy and fun activities for all ages," according to a spokesperson for the event.

The Steps to Better Health Committee is currently seeking other sponsors and volunteers to participate in the fair. Anyone interested in obtaining further information on the upcoming event may telephone Kearstin Hinebaugh at 301-533-4041.

SHS CLASS OF '57 MAKES DONATIONS – The Southern High School class of 1957 recently held its 50-year reunion. In memory of deceased classmates, donations were made to Hospice of Garrett County and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Receiving the donation from class treasurer Patty McBee, pictured at the podium, are Rev. David Moon, rescue squad president, and Beverly Beard, Hospice board of directors president.

THE Garden Patch
by Master Gardener Suzanne Carol

THE WAR ON WEEDS

There is one thing that gardeners the world over have in common regardless of location, climate, temperature, or rainfall – that is weeds. All gardeners fight the war on weeds! Like all wars, an understanding of your "ene-my" is essential to claiming victory, so let's reconnoiter the world of weeds.

In addition to the way they look and the fact that they can overrun your garden or flowerbeds, there are other important reasons to eliminate weeds. Weeds compete with your herbs, flowers, shrubs, and veggies for the valuable nutrients vital to a healthy plant. They also can be home to harmful insects and diseases.

Since weeding is an absolute must, here's a little secret to making it easier: Maintain a good attitude about it. You can actually get into a meditation-type state when weeding. It gives you time to think about other things and relax while you get rid of those little nasties. Since you're right down there close to your plants, it also gives you the opportunity to really inspect them and get a good feel for what's going on in the area.

Did you know that weeds can be annuals, biennials, or perennials? They are just like flowers in that respect. Annual weeds are the easiest to control, with a life cycle lasting a year or less. Summer annuals, such as crabgrass, sprout in the spring and go to seed in the fall. Winter annuals, such as chickweed, sprout in the fall, over winter, and go to seed in the spring or by summer.

Biennial weeds, such as Queen Anne's lace, form roots and a rosette of leaves the first year and set seed the second year. Perennial weeds live for more than two years. These are the hardest to control because they reproduce four different ways: by seed, roots, stems, and stolons. Perennials, such as dandelions, are a particular nuisance, because if you overlook a piece of root or stem they come right back again.

A single weed has the potential to produce as many as 250,000 seeds! Some of those seeds sprout right up, but others can lie dormant for decades. If they are buried more than several inches deep, the lack of light keeps them from germinating. Seeds sail in on the wind, by water runoff, and in bird droppings. They can also be introduced to your garden or flowerbed via your shoes, clothes (or your pet's fur), gardening tools, or in the soil surrounding a plant brought in from another source, such as one purchased from a garden center. CAUTION: Lawn seed can be contaminated with weed seed, so it is important to buy only seed that is certified weed-free.

Now that you are sufficiently depressed by the ongoing war with weeds, let's talk about some ways to get rid of them.

One of the most important things to remember is: Don't let weeds go to seed. Remove them before they have the opportunity to go to seed. Don't put them in your compost pile unless you keep the pile's temperature high (140 to 160 degrees F.). The high temperature kills the seeds.

Always use weed-free mulches such as clean straw, bark, sawdust, wood chips, and black plastic. Mulching prevents sunlight and air from getting to the weeds/seeds. A 3- to 4-inch layer of mulch applied between the rows in your garden or in flowerbeds can slow down or, in many cases, prevent the regrowth of weeds. Don't add fresh (seed-riddled) animal manure. Compost it first in a pile that reaches 140 to 160 degrees F.

Cover garden soil with black plastic to kill existing weeds and stop seeds from germinating. Don't leave the plastic in place for more than a couple of months because the soil needs air and water to stay healthy.

Prevent grass from creeping into your garden or flowerbeds by creating barriers between your grass and those areas (use wood, metal, or plastic edging or the like).

If you are vigilant with weeding, the beauty and health of your garden or flowerbed will be worth all the effort!

Suzanne Carol graduated from the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service Master Gardener Program in 2003. Arrested After Failing Field Sobriety Tests

Franklin Eugene Fitzwater, 59, Oakland, was arrested Saturday night by a sheriff's deputy after his 2005 GMC truck was observed tailgating another vehicle on Garrett Highway near Foster Road.

The deputy conducted a traffic stop, and the suspect appeared intoxicated. Field sobriety tests were conducted, leading to Fitzwater's arrest.

He was held at the Garrett County Detention Center to await an initial appearance with a District Court commissioner.

Pyrography, GPS Classes Scheduled At Grantsville Ctr.

Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development division has announced a variety of personal interest courses that will be offered at its Northern Outreach Center, Grantsville, in September. They include "Pyrography – Learning Skills for Wood Burning" and "Finding Your Way with GPS."

The pyrography class is slated for Fridays, Sept. 7 to 28, from 9 until 11 a.m. Ralph Miller, a retired Garrett County public school system teacher who has taught extensively in both art instruction and classroom settings, will be the instructor.

Pyrography is the ancient technique of "drawing with fire" and one that may be familiar to those who had a wood-burning kit as a child. Students will be allowed to copy or draw their favorite landscape, animal, house, plant, etc., and burn in the design with a wood-burning tool. Shade and color will be demonstrated for added effects. Tools and materials will be provided to complete one project.

"Finding Your Way with GPS" is a one-day course scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 22, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Designed for those who enjoy the outdoors, this course will teach the enthusiast the basics of GPS (Global Positioning System) technology using a combination of lecture, hands-on activities, and field work.

Topics to be covered include an overview of how GPS works; interfacing GPS with maps (including the use of coordinate systems); and using GPS receivers to determine one's position, find one's way in unfamiliar territory, and navigate to various locations.

This hands-on course will begin at the Northern Outreach Center for a morning lecture and hands-on activities, and then advance to New Germany State Park for the afternoon session, where students will use GPS receivers to navigate to various locations around the park.

The course will be held rain or shine, and no transportation will be provided to the park.

Peter Skylstad, associate professor at Garrett College, will instruct the course. Skylstad has taught several courses on GPS, as well as courses with the college's Natural Recourses and Wildlife Technology program.

In addition to the above mentioned classes, coming in September to the center are Trapper Education, Forklift Training, Microsoft Access I, Computer Skills II, Senior Surfers: the Internet and Web Literacy, Medical Coding Specialist I, Medical Insurance Billing, Medical Coding Advanced, and Study of Disease Process.

For additional information persons may contact, Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center coordinator, at 301-895-4700 or tbeachy@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for these courses, one may contact Kista Wilt, Continuing Education and Workforce Development, at 301-387-3069 or kwilt@garrettcollege.edu.

STATE PARK VOLUNTEERS DONATE BOOKS – The Western Garrett County State Parks Volunteers Inc. (WGCSP) recently donated two signed books by author Margaret D. Lomen – Life in the Treetops and It's a Jungle Up There – to the Oakland library. Wendy Mopsik, left, president of WGCSP, is shown handing the books to Lynn McDaniel, adult services supervisor. Looking on is Sheila Hughes, technical services librarian and vice president of WGCSP. Loman, a pioneering tree canopy scientist for more than 20 years and professor of biology and environmental studies at New College of Florida in Sarasota, recently visited Garrett County as part of the fundraising efforts for the Forest Canopy Walkway project at the Deep Creek Lake Discovery Center. Canopy walkways allow access to the upper parts of the forest (the canopy) that normally would be invisible. Loman's books describe her research and field work with forest canopy walkways around the world, and the challenges and adventures of a working mother and woman in field biology. The Forest Canopy Walkway is a project by the WGCSP in partnership with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Park Service and Forest Service. For additional information, persons may call Caroline Blizzard, Discovery Center director, at 301-387-7067.

Zion Lutheran Women Meet

Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America at Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting at the church on Aug. 13.

The study was "In the Power of the Holy Spirit," led by Leota Baker, which focused on a reading from the book of Acts. Devotions closed with the reading of the hymn, "Spirit of God, Descend Upon My Heart."

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

Received was a copy of the program that was used at the 20th annual convention of the West Virginia/Western Maryland Synodical Women of the ELCA on Aug. 3-4.

A tribute to the memory of Verta Durst on her birthday anniversary was made through a gift offering to Women of the ELCA-Churchwide. It was designated for the specific ministry Strengthening Families and Communities.

It was decided to discontinue sending washcloths to the Lutheran home at Kane, Pa. The home has sent a list of suggested items needed by residents, and the following are now being collected: combs, hairbrushes, soap, toothpaste, tooth brushes, and envelopes with postage stamps. The articles may be brought to the church during the coming weeks.

A new study series scheduled to begin next month is titled "Blessed to Follow: The Beatitudes as a Compass for Discipleship." The series was written by Martha E. Stortz, professor of historical theology and ethics at Pacific Lutheran Seminary, Berkeley, Calif.

Back to School

It's that time again, the traditional beginning of a new school year. As this new year of learning begins, students start fresh with blank notebooks and freshly sharpened pencils. Teachers are ready with their lessons; there are exciting new things to learn.

We may have experienced our last "back to school" season long ago or just recently. Even so, each fall we're reminded of a time of starting over, learning anew. No matter what our age, we continue to learn, long after our traditional education is complete. It has been said that true intelligence is realizing that knowledge is an endless pursuit.

Our house of worship is a place of learning, too. When we gather there we have another chance to enrich our lives...a chance to begin again. "Let the wise listen and add to their learning" (Proverbs 1:5). We can learn many lessons when we study God's word. He is the greatest teacher.

Enduring For God

Whenever we think that our present dedicated service for our Lord is difficult, we should remember that some day we are going to be with Him. But, if we give up when we suffer, and turn against God, then He must turn against us. (2 Timothy 2:12). We don't usually like to think about suffering or enduring for God; however, in the Bible, most of the great Saints had to endure various challenges. When we think about all that God has bestowed upon us, and that we may be called His children, we like to believe that our lives will be free from difficulties. As children, our loving parents were there to protect and help us in all our difficult situations; however, as we grew we had to learn to accept the responsibilities of our own lives. Our Lord is always there helping us to grow, and we should accept the tribulations of this world as essential so that we can mature in His love. It is not always easy to be a child of God; but, we should have the peace and joy to know that we have a Father in Heaven who loves us and wants us to spend eternity with Him where there will be no more tears or sorrow.

And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are called according to His purpose. New K.J.V. Romans 8:2

Maitake Mushroom Has Medicinal Value

Maitake mushroom is also known as cloud mushroom, dancing mushroom, and King of mushroom. It has been used as a food source. An extract of the mushroom is used for medicinal purposes. The active substance in maitake mushrooms is thought to be a beta-glucan polysaccharide. Maitake is sometimes used to modify the immune system of people with cancer and HIV (Human Immunodefiency Virus). In one small, non-controlled study, maitake extract was associated with tumor regression and symptom improvement in those with cancer. Maitake may exert its effects by improving the activity of certain immune cells in the body that have anti-cancer properties. More studies are being conducted to fully evaluate the effects of maitake extract on persons with cancer.

Maitake has exhibited blood pressure and blood sugar lowering activity in animals. It is unknown if maitake lowers blood pressure or blood sugar levels in humans; therefore, persons with high blood pressure or diabetes should monitor their conditions closely when using the product.

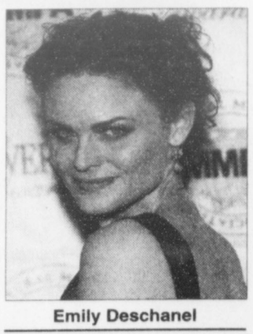
No 'Bones' about it: Third year is upcoming

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it



Emily Deschanel

Q: "Bones" is one of my favorite shows. When can I expect its new season to begin? –Margaret Landan, St. Charles, Ill.

A: You can expect it to start Sept. 19 on Fox. The cast, still led by Emily Deschanel and David Boreanaz, appears to be intact for the show's third year; the second season will get its DVD release Sept. 11.

Q: Is there any word if ABC is bringing back the show "What About Brian"? –Lori Leistman, Wantagh, N.Y.

A: Yes, and the word is "no." ABC didn't renew the series for a third season. Title star Barry Watson recently said that he felt by last winter, the writing was on the wall; thus, he made another pilot for the network, and it sold. He'll star with Christina Applegate in the sitcom "Samantha Who?" premiering Oct. 15.

Another "Brian" cast member with a new show is Sarah Lancaster, now featured in NBC's "Chuck," debuting Sept. 24. The existing two seasons of "What About Brian" will be released in a DVD set Sept. 25.

Q: Why did Fox cancel the show "Standoff"? –Antoinette Birchall, Fort Lee, N.J.

A: The precise "why" would have to come from the network's executives, but no favors were done for the hostage-negotiator drama by delaying its return several times after Fox's coverage of postseason baseball. By the time "Standoff" finally resurfaced after the 2006-07 season officially was over, the show's cancellation was pretty much a done deal.

Q: Was "Pirate Master" moved to another time slot? –Gerald Boyden, Anaheim, Calif.

A: Yes – the slot known as "off the air." By scheduling the unscripted series, CBS undoubtedly thought it was onto a potential ratings gold mine in this summer of the highly anticipated movie "Pirates of the Caribbean: At World's End." It didn't work out that way, and the network pulled the Cameron Daddo-hosted show before its broadcast run could end; remaining episodes have been posted online at CBS.com.

Q: Will the show "Traveler" be back this fall, or later next season? –Dave and Patti Nyhart, Hamburg, N.Y.

A: No, though the closing moments of the last episode that ABC aired made it seem the show was taking itself back to square one. Asked recently about the drama's fate at a gathering of television critics, network programming chief Steve McPherson indicated he was less than satisfied with the show creatively, and that must have accounted for its being scheduled after the television season had ended. Originally, "Traveler" had been aimed for a midseason slot.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• You might be surprised to learn that there are no distilleries in the town of Bourbon, Kentucky.

• Bausch & Lomb, a company best known for its eye-care products, was originally known as Vulcanite Optical Instrument Company.

• Celine Dion and Gladys Knight both made their public singing debuts when they were only 5 years old.

• Unless you've been living under a rock, you've heard of the seventh, and final, installment in the Harry Potter series, "Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows." It's now become the fastest-selling book in history, with 11 million copies being purchased in the first 24 hours alone. The series has been so successful that the author, J.K. Rowling, is the first person to become a billionaire by writing books. According to Forbes, she is the second richest female entertainer in the world (after Oprah Winfrey, of course), and the magazine also ranked her as the 48th most powerful celebrity for 2007. With all her fame and money, it's interesting to note that Rowling was once fired for writing on the job.

• It was libertarian author and lecturer James Bovard who, in 1994, made the following sage observation: "Democracy must be something more than two wolves and a sheep voting on what to have for dinner."

• Those who study first families of the United States say that first lady Pat Nixon ironed her own dresses, first lady Rosalynn Carter mended the family's clothes, and President Harry Truman washed his own undergarments.

• The last state to officially abolish slavery was Mississippi — and it wasn't until 1995 that it happened.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Aug. 27, 1859, Edwin Drake strikes oil at 69 feet near Titusville, Pa. — the world's first successful oil well. This source of crude oil, or petroleum, opened up a new, inexpensive source of power and quickly replaced whale oil in lamps.

• On Aug. 31, 1888, the first victim of London serial killer "Jack the Ripper" is found murdered and mutilated in Whitechapel's Buck's Row. The police, who lacked modern forensic techniques such as fingerprinting and blood typing, were at a complete loss for suspects. In 1892, the Jack the Ripper file was closed.

• On Aug. 29, 1911, Ishi, described as the last surviving Stone Age Indian in the contiguous U.S., is discovered lost and starving in Oroville, Calif. He was unfamiliar with white ways and spoke no English. With the help of a Berkeley anthropologist named Thomas Waterman, a crude language was created that allowed communication. For five years, Ishi lived at the Berkeley Museum, where he learned to understand and survive in the white world. He died on March 25, 1916, of tuberculosis at an estimated age of 56.

• On Sept. 2, 1931, Bing Crosby's first radio show, "15 Minutes With Bing Crosby," debuts on CBS. Crosby was born Harry Lillis Crosby in Tacoma in 1903. As a child, his devotion to a cartoon character named Bing won him his lifelong nickname.

• On Aug. 30, 1963, a 24-hour-a-day "hot line" system between Moscow and Washington, D.C., goes into effect. The hot line was never really necessary to prevent war between the Soviet Union and the United States, and its significance at the time was largely symbolic.

• On Aug. 28, 1972, toward the end of the Vietnam War, the U.S. Air Force gets its first ace since the Korean War when Capt. Richard S. Ritchie shoots down his fifth MiG near Hanoi.

Celebrate Responsible Dog Ownership

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I read stories in the paper almost every day of cases of animal neglect and cruelty, or of dogs so mistreated or ill-trained that they lashed out and injured a human. As a person who takes pride in owning two happy, well-socialized dogs (one a hound mix, the other an Australian shepherd), I want to contribute to the pet-ownership community by making more people aware of how much responsibility is required to care for and train a dog, and to show them how rewarding such a relationship can be.

This September, the American Kennel Club is calling attention to exemplary dog ownership by holding Responsible Dog Ownership Day, a special event held nationwide on various dates through the month. Participating organizations are holding dog shows, microchipping clinics and other events to both entertain and educate dog owners (and those interested in becoming dog owners).

Well-behaved dogs can take the AKC Canine Good Citizen Test, a 10-step exam where they can demonstrate their good behavior. A lot of other fun things will be available for both pets and their humans, so won't you please let your readers know about this event? Many thanks — Chet W., Wilmington, Del.

DEAR CHET: You just told 'em! Readers, September is Responsible Dog Ownership Month, and AKC-sponsored events will be held nationwide, most around the middle of the month. For a complete listing of events by state, visit www.akc.org.

Eggshell China

Q: I have inherited some china and am curious if it has any value. The pattern is Eggshell Georgian and manufactured by Homer Laughlin. — Barbara, Sonoma, Calif.

A. During the late 1930s, Homer Laughlin China Company produced Eggshell lines of dinnerware. The Eggshell wares were different from all of the previous designs in that the pieces were much lighter in weight due to the new precision machines and tools that had been installed by the company at its main plant in Ohio. The Eggshell Georgian is the second pattern issued in this series. Advertisements in trade journals promoting the new china were published as early as October of 1935.

For a complete history of this pattern and others manufactured by Homer Laughlin, I highly recommend The Collector's Encyclopedia of Homer Laughlin by Joanne Jasper (Collector Books). I found several copies available at amazon.com for $18.96, used copies $12.50. Typical prices listed in this excellent guide are an Eggshell Georgian 10-inch plate, $9-$12; tea cup, $3-$6; teapot, $45-$65; and salad bowl, $15-$30.

Garrett College Student Receives Bachelor's Degree

A Garrett College student was awarded a bachelor's degree during a commencement ceremony last week at Franklin University in Columbus, Ohio. The graduate, Jodi McClintock of Accident, completed her bachelor's degree in business administration at Franklin.

The university offers students the opportunity to earn a bachelor's degree online through its Online Completion Program. After completing an associate's degree, students can take "bridge" courses (approximately 36 quarter units/24 semester hours) at their local college and online classes (a minimum 40 semester hours) through Franklin University to earn a bachelor of science degree in one of 16 majors, including accounting, business administration, information technology, and human resources management.

The program provides students the opportunity to earn their bachelor's degree online while remaining in their community.

"Adults have responded enthusiastically to the convenient online format, the focus on maximum transferability of credits, and the ability to fit classes into their daily schedule," said a Franklin spokesperson.

Students are able to access Franklin's resources via the Internet or by phone. Those resources include academic advising, a help desk, and a library system. Each student is also assigned a student services associate who provides support and guidance by answering questions about transcripts, financial aid, or even how to purchase textbooks.

Franklin University serves more than 10,000 students annually through its on-campus programs and the Community College Al-liance. More than 240 community colleges in 32 states have teamed with the university to serve students, according to the spokesperson.

Dear Beverly and Bob,
Alan and I want to thank you both for the outstanding support you provided us in the recent sale of our home in Sky Valley. We believe that your vigorous marketing of our home, including the "Southern Breakfast" that attracted over 30 agents, made the difference in bringing interested buyers into our home and ultimately lead to the sale during this tight market.
Our Sky Valley home was a modest listing but we felt you provided us with superior service. We only wish we had interviewed you a year ago when we first listed the home, unsuccessfully, with a different agency. We're glad we finally made the connection this spring.

Everyday Women Who

Make A Difference

Sandy Sutton, Alcohol and Other Drug Prevention coordinator for the Garrett County Health Department, credits her two years in AmeriCorps for helping her "find a purpose in life." Her current position involves assessment, coordination, and implementation of alcohol and drug abuse prevention programs, including education programs and alternative youth activities for children and their parents to decrease and prevent drug and alcohol involvement and related risk behavior.

About her time in AmeriCorps, she said, "I felt that what I did (installing smoke detectors, doing fitness testing, planting a garden) really made a difference in the lives of others who were placed in my path.... I was then hired as clerical support, moved to an outreach position as a substance abuse prevention specialist, then to a coordinator position, and now a very proud AmeriCorps supervisor."

Sandy has been recommended to the Commission for Women for this special recognition. Persons who would like to suggest names of other women are invited to telephone Joan Crawford at 301-387-6125.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

HARMFUL RADIATION

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. What are UV rays, and why are they bad for you?

A. UV is short for ultraviolet, which refers to some of the radiation coming from the sun that we cannot see. Too much UV radiation can damage skin cells, increasing the chance of getting cancer.

The electromagnetic spectrum is described according to many different categories of radiation, such as radio waves, microwaves, infrared, visible, ultraviolet, X-rays and gamma rays. Those are listed in order of increasing energy. The sun produces all of them. Long ago, only the visible portion was noticed, and that was called "light." With a better understanding today, we often refer to "infrared light," and "ultraviolet light." In all cases, the words "light" and "radiation" are used interchangeably.

The intensity of light from the sun is greatest in the visible range, but there is still plenty of infrared and ultraviolet light reaching us. Photons of visible light carry more energy than infrared light, and ultraviolet light is more energetic yet. Going up further in energy, the amount of X-rays coming from the sun are not as great, and there are very few gamma rays – even though individual ones are very powerful. Similarly, sunlight contains radio waves and microwaves, but the total energy content of those regions of the spectrum is lower, and need not concern us here.

The thing that makes part of the spectrum visible is that such light interacts with receptors in the eye, and stimulates nerves to transmit signals to the brain. The energy-levels of the receptors are ideally matched to various energies of the incoming photons, so that the sensation of "red" or "yellow" or "blue" is produced.

Infrared light, on the other hand, isn't energetic enough to activate those receptors in the eye. It just makes you feel warm.

Ultraviolet light is so energetic that it goes right past the receptors in the eye without stimulating any response. We say that we don't "see" it. However, because of its high energy, ultraviolet light can damage cells in the body. Of course, the cells it reaches are the ones on the outside, namely the skin cells. Skin cells contain a chemical called melanin, which changes color under UV light, producing a suntan. The difference in skin color among people is just because of the chemistry within the skin.

A little UV radiation is not so bad. Too much UV gives you a sunburn, which hurts. Melanoma is a form of cancer that seems to be associated with skin cells getting too much UV radiation over a lifetime.

Certain chemicals are very good at absorbing ultraviolet light, thus preventing it from reaching skin cells and causing damage. Zinc oxide is one example. Smearing on a sun-block cream is a way of coating the skin with such a chemical.

Another molecule that absorbs UV radiation is ozone, O_3. In the upper atmosphere, as UV radiation arrives from the sun, some ordinary oxygen (O_2) absorbs UV photons and breaks up into single O atoms; then one of those combines with another O_2 molecule to form O_3. A whole series of chemical reactions takes place, all in the region known as the "Ozone layer" (about 20 miles up). O_2, O and O_3 just keep going around in circles, but every reaction absorbs some more UV rays. The consequence of all that chemistry is that relatively little UV radiation actually reaches the surface of the Earth. Over thousands of generations, human beings have adapted to live with the spectrum of sunlight containing a modest amount of ultraviolet radiation.

Ultraviolet light does some very useful things. Beyond damaging human cells, UV also can totally kill bacteria. Therefore, some food-packaging processes expose the food to UV light at one stage, in order to eliminate live bacteria that might otherwise grow while the food is stored. Two generations ago, linoleum for floors was a dull color that soon looked dingy; but modern floor tiles are manufactured by coating the basic plastic with a chemical that is then exposed to ultraviolet light, which causes it to turn into a hard, shiny surface that lasts a very long time.

Preston County Farm Service Agency Reports

Eric M. McCartney, County Executive Director
Preston County FSA Office
425 E. Main St., Suite 420, Kingwood, WV 26537-1793

USDA DESIGNATES COUNTIES PRIMARY NATURAL DISASTER AREAS

The U.S. Department of Agriculture designated 42 West Virginia counties, as well as Garrett County in Maryland, as primary natural disaster areas because of losses caused by continuing drought that began May 15, 2007.

Preston and Tucker counties were among the West Virginia counties designated, and Garrett County was so designated because it is a contiguous county to Preston and Tucker.

Grant County is also eligible because it is also a contiguous county. In Pennsylvania, the contiguous counties of Beaver, Fayette, Green, and Washington are eligible.

All counties listed above were designated natural disaster areas on August 9, making all qualified farm operators in those areas eligible for low-interest emergency (EM) loans from USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA), provided eligibility requirements are met. Farmers in eligible counties have eight months from the date of the declaration to apply for loans to help cover part of their actual losses. FSA will consider each loan application on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available, and repayment ability. FSA has a variety of programs, in addition to the EM loan program, to help eligible farmers recover from adversity.

USDA has also made other programs available to assist farmers and ranchers, including the Emergency Conservation Program, Federal Crop Insurance, and the Non-Insured Crop Disaster Assistance Program.

Interested farmers may contact the Preston County FSA Office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone 304-329-1923 for further information on eligibility requirements, and application procedures for these and other programs. Additional information is also available online at: http://disaster.fsa.usda.gov.

Miss Mong Marries Mr. Wampler In July Ceremony

Carrie L. Mong and David R. Wampler were united in marriage on July 29, 2006, in a double ring ceremony which took place at St. Luke's United Methodist Church, Martinsburg, W.Va., with the Rev. John R. Yost officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Charlie and Shannon Mong, Martinsburg. She is a 2001 graduate of Martinsburg High School and a 2006 graduate of Fairmont University, Fairmont, W.Va. with a degree in elementary education. She is currently employed as a substitute teacher for Garrett County schools and works at the Sante Fe Grille.

The groom is a son of Jim and Jeanette Wampler. He is a 2000 graduate of Northern High School and a 2005 graduate of Fairmont University, with a degree in electrical engineering technology. He is currently employed at Phenix Technologies, Accident, as an electrical engineer.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her family. She wore a strapless ivory gown by Impression. She carried a bouquet of 12 dozen ivory roses.

Serving as matron of honor was Denise Rhoads, and as maid of honor, Katy Mong, both sisters of the bride. Bridesmaids were Stephanie Twigg, Amanda Hamood, and Leslie Lehew, all friends of the bride; Amber Martin, friend of the couple; and Nicole Dupuis, cousin of the bride. They wore strapless cherry red gowns by Impression and carried bouquets of red and ivory Gerber daisies.

Serving as best man was Nathan Resh, friend of the groom. The groomsmen were Kenny Wampler, Ryan Savage, and Taylor Glotfelty, all cousins of the groom; and Kaine Howard, Jason Roach, and Keith Artice, all friends of the groom. The men wore black tuxedos accented with red cummerbunds and ties with Gerber daisy boutonnieres.

The ring bearer was Saylor Wampler, brother of the groom.

The guests were greeted by Kelsey Lamp and Harold Lamp III, both cousins of the bride.

Soloists during the ceremony were Jim Wampler, father of the groom, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," and Katy Mong, sister of the bride, who sang "When God Made You."

The reception was held at Heritage Hall, Inwood, W.Va. The grand ballroom was decorated with five-foot high crystal vases of Gerber daisies and tiered candlelight arrangements. Favors included M&M candies with the bride and groom's names and wedding date.

The children's table was decorated with a centerpiece bouquet of sweets and individual wedding coloring and activity books.

The guests were entertained by a PowerPoint presentation created by the bride, titled "The Story of Us." The guests provided a sparkler sendoff for the newly married couple, using 3-foot and 5-foot long colored sparklers.

The couple honeymooned at Sandals Resort and Spa in Jamaica and currently reside in Accident.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Purple Iris at the Hartwood Mansion, Martinsburg.

Brookfield Power

Outage planned by Brookfield Power at its Deep Creek Hydroelectric Station on the Youghiogheny River near Oakland, Maryland

- The outage is required to facilitate replacement of the two existing turbine valves at the facility, one of which is the original 82-year-old valve, with new butterfly turbine valves. Both valves are located within the powerhouse.
- A station outage involves securing and draining the entire pipeline from the intake structure at the reservoir to the powerhouse. This is especially important given the fact that the generating units are the only way to remove water from the reservoir without using the emergency spillway.

  Based on historic hydrologic data, the reservoir level at the start of construction would have to be elevation 2454 to reduce the likelihood of discharge from the emergency spillway.
- The impoundment will begin to fill from the start of construction and continue throughout construction.
- Following completion of construction, Deep Creek Hydroelectric Station will be subject to all normal parameters of the MDE permit and upper (URB) and lower rule bands (LRB)

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Last press day was pretty wet in Bittinger, and Thursday was a pretty busy day for The Republican staff. I know because in the early '80s I was a reporter for the paper. If breaking news happened a reporter was busy cranking out a story about it. Don Sincell, the editor, went back and forth between his various tasks, which were making decisions about what the mail and fax machines were spewing out, and writing the editorial. Someone needed to write the captions under the photographs, and everyone in the newsroom had to help with the layout, or the arrangement of the stories and photographs. My column was already laid out on Wednesday. Following all of the above, everyone went downstairs to the press room to help put together the sections and bundle up the finished papers. It is a hectic day for everyone, and we still had to deliver the bundle of papers on the way home.

I don't know how many small newspapers still come out with the group efforts like our Republican. When I worked there full time, our newsroom was so much fun. Besides myself, we had reporters Pam Frantz Ashby, her sister Sherry Frantz Crone, and Carol Canon, along with our favorite photographer Craig Phillips. So we have to thank The Republican for doing a great job getting this paper to you.

But that happened almost 25 years ago, and today the only thing on my mind is the sadness of watching Claire and Caitlin go back to West Virginia University. I know I must learn to live without them. The bad news on the news today was that WVU was voted the number #1 party college in the country. When you see pictures of them burning furniture on the streets following wins of their football team, it is pretty much evidence of their drinking and partying.

Speaking of letting your children go, Marci and Rodney Glotfelty delivered their twin sons, Darryl and Elliot, to Towson University on Monday. Robbie has already returned in order to work with the marching band, and Blakely will go the last of this week. It is a good thing they have their cat and dogs to keep them company. Also, Scott and Matthew Bass, sons of Carol and Kevin Bass, will be returning this week to the University of Maryland.

Brother Barry Glotfelty attended his 30th reunion of the class of 1977 of Northern High School. Some classmates returned to attend the reunion from Michigan, Indiana, and Colorado. The reunion included a dinner at good old Northern High School, and then a picnic at Accident Park on Sunday, where there were also some spirited volleyball games.

A cricket invaded my house, and it has a lot to say. I guess it is the first sign of fall.

It seems to me that the slide into fall is way too fast. Last week was so hot and now it is jacket weather. I saw color in a tree along Garrett Highway near McHenry. However, this past Tuesday was hot and humid weather again.

I am sure we are living in the greenest part of Maryland. Luckily the daily rain ceased for the fair. A wet week for the fair is totally miserable. The gate is not good when it is raining, and it is essential for the fair to make money. The pace of development around McHenry is putting the fairgrounds at risk. In fact, the hillside above the fairgrounds has been literally torn up with a new motel and water park that's going in.

Of course, my Meredith and the rest of Garrett school students will be back in school next week. The first couple of weeks of school were painful for me as a kid, as my bottom was not used to sitting all day. The only time I was happy to go back to school was when I went back to the university. It was good to see my friends.

Anyone who has not taught a college class can't imagine how much preparation it requires. I once had to read dozens of books to develop a new course. Then I had to develop a schedule and put each topic in the correct order. Then it was write a lecture for each class meeting and schedule the required papers and exams. The exams take as much time to prepare as the student has to study for them. Of course, it is not as bad if you already have taught. But even if they are a success, you still know you should make improvements. Most semesters I was scheduled to teach a new class, besides my standard courses, introduction to college composition and introduction to literature. I also taught women's literature, American literature, introduction to speech, introduction to the theatre, and preparation for college writing. Our primary job was teaching students, but the faculty also had to advise dozens of students. I don't miss the stress and overworking, but I do miss the contact with the students. The most unforgettable assignment was to chaperone a Halloween party. A bunch of males got into a fight, and I had to run and find someone to stop it.

I think I was at the fair since I was 7 years old, but this year I was unable to get there, as my wheelchair was not charged up. So I had to stay home. I was distressed that I couldn't get my Rotary french fries, and I wanted a hot dog from the Kitzmiller booth. I missed just watching the crowds go by and seeing lots of old friends. I believed when I sent my art entries I might have a good chance to win, but I only came out with one blue, and a couple reds and whites.

There is good news about Lottie Brenneman's physical condition. She is driving now in her own car and getting around pretty well.

Beulah Moon had two of her grandchildren, Jessica and David Moon, children of her son Jay Moon, with her at church on Sunday.

Pastor Randolf Richardson and wife Cindy visited their son in Columbus, Ohio, and stopped on the way to visit friends.

Maxine Legeer is still a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in the ICU unit. Keep Maxine in your prayers.

Lenny Poholsky visited with Torrey in Greensboro this week and attended the Wyndham Championship Golf Tournament at Forest Oaks Country Club.

Saturday visitors of Sally Poholsky and Ferne Beachy were Doug, June, Matthew, and Marly Stemper of Hagerstown. Ferne and Sally visited with Bertha Rodamer, Springs, Pa., Lena Beitzel, Accident, and Maxine Legeer at GC Memorial Hospital this week.

The Rev. James and Norma Mitchell, Fowler, Colo., spent the week with Linda Buckel and also attended the Clark Brenneman cousins' family reunion at Lana and Larry Roby's home at North Ponds, Bittinger, over the weekend. Some of the out-of-town cousins were Brenda Morrow from Missouri, who attended the reunion and spent some time with Danny and Hazel Klotz of Grantsville. Gail and Denny Allio from Silver Spring, Lynn Musselman and family from Mercersburg, Pa., and Ron Dunty, Baltimore, also attended, besides Lottie Brenneman and her family and grandchildren. Brian Brenneman, who is soon to open Brenneman's Store in Bittinger, treated them to free ice cream. Some of the items will be pizza and soft ice cream. So look for the opening again of Brenneman's Store.

The Women of Emmanuel are collecting wrapped soap bars for Lutheran World Relief. All sizes of bars are acceptable.

Rev. Alex and Eleanor Black will observe their 50th wedding anniversary this Friday, Aug. 24. If you wish to send cards, their address is 101 Braddock Road, Fairmont, WV 26554.

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish collected things for our service men and women, and the response was excellent. We need more names and addresses of Garrett County's service men and women. If you know of a service person call our church at 301-245-4202 and we will send them a care package.

It was not a total waste of money to add a Pittsburgh sports channel to my dish TV. The first game was a comeback victory for the Pirates, and during the rain

4-H Club News

GARRETT HOOF PRINTS
by Christine Welch, reporter

President Lara Schad called the July 9 meeting of the Garrett Hoof Prints to order at the Maryland State Police barracks in McHenry. The Pledge of Allegiance and the 4-H pledge were recited. Twelve members were present for roll call. No minutes were available for the June meeting. Kelsey Vansickle gave the treasurer's report.

Details of a clinic that was held at the stables along Herrington Manor Road that was scheduled for July 11-12 were discussed. A list of items to bring to the clinic and a schedule were handed out. At least 12 members were slated to participate. Parents Nancy Zbel, Sandra Tressler, Mary Vansickle, and Lisa Welch were chaperones.

Fair books were not printed in time for the July meeting, so leader Brenda Wotring was to get them to members when they are available.

Members decided not to have a float in the fair parade.

Reservations for horses and campers at the fair were due earlier in July. Horse events included the Mtn. Top Saddle Club Show, a written horsemanship test, and showmanship and halter competitions.

Each barn at the fair had a set feeding schedule.

To help the Mtn. Top Saddle Club, the Hoof Prints worked at that club's booth at the racetrack on Sunday night during the horse pull. 4-H members were encouraged to work other times, especially those who needed service learning hours.

Members were reminded to sell their 50-50 raffle tickets and were asked to volunteer to sell at business locations and at the horse shows.

Details of the Sept. 9 show were to be discussed at the club's next meeting, which was held on Aug. 20.

GARRETT HOOFPRINTS

The Garrett Hoofprints 4-H Club will host a horse show at the Garrett County fairgrounds in McHenry on Sunday, Sept. 9. This schooling show will include events for both western and English riders. Jumping classes, halter classes, and game classes will provide events for riders of all ages and experience.

A variety of fun competitions, such as an egg race, water race, and boot race, will be added to the more traditional show bill.

Registration for the various classes will begin at 8 a.m. and the competition will begin at 9 a.m. The entry fee is $3 per class entered. Participants under the age of 18 must be accompanied by a parent or guardian who can complete the necessary forms. Proof of a current negative Coggins test must also be shown. Persons with questions may call 301-334-1438 after 4 p.m. or 301-746-6465.

Proceeds from the show will be used to support the Hoofprints Club's activities. Members will compete and work at the show, including staffing a refreshment booth. There is no admission fee for spectators, who should bring their own lawn chairs for seating.

The Garrett Hoofprints Club held a schooling and fun horse show on June 10 at the fairgrounds. The following riders won the various divisions:

Youth English – champion, Lara Schad; reserve champion, Lily Thompson.

Youth/Open Equitation – champion, Nancy Zbel; reserve champion, Lara Schad.

Schooling Hunter – champion, Nancy Zbel; reserve champion, Christine Goodwin.

Low Hunter – champion, Lily Thompson; reserve champion, Christine Goodwin.

Open Hunter – champion, Brittany Wotring; reserve champion, Dottie Schmidt.

Small Fry Western – champion, Megan Sherbin; reserve champion, Ashley Ball.

Adult Western – champion, Sandy Lutzens; reserve champion, Pam Adams.

We are thankful for the rain we got this summer, which I think is above average, but still not enough for the Rock Lodge spring to start running again.

August is the time of year for fresh sweet corn and ripe tomatoes. Bittinger now has sweet corn. The farm stand at Kauffman's Repair Shop has both green beans and new ripe corn. There are very few things more delicious than a fresh ear of corn smothered with real butter. I remember many hours doing an important job, which was cutting off kernels of sweet corn for our freezer and thinking about how delicious the frozen corn would taste the next winter.

Future Gibbs driver Kyle Busch quickly gaining maturity

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

NASCAR fans who are wondering how Kyle Busch will fit in at Joe Gibbs Racing, his new Nextel Cup team, need only look to Billy Ballew's Craftsman Truck Series team, where Busch has been a part-time driver for the past several seasons.

Ballew said he has worked with a far different person from what some in the sport perceive Busch to be.

"Kyle is like a son to me," Ballew said. "I can't say how much I've enjoyed working with him. He's a part of the family of our race team. He spends a lot of time in the shop, and our crewmembers all get along with him."

Ballew said Busch is a true team player who is willing to shake down trucks for younger drivers and who is enthusiastic about testing, an exercise many veteran drivers try to avoid.

Ballew pointed out that last week, Busch was at a truck test at Caraway Speedway in Asheboro, N.C., early on a Monday morning after racing his Cup car at Watkins Glen the afternoon before.

"He was at the track by eight o'clock, which means he was on the road by 6:30," Ballew said. "That's just the way he is."

And Busch's affiliation with the truck series isn't a matter of money.

Ballew wouldn't divulge how much or how little his small team pays Busch, but he says that "he's the least-paid person in the race shop."

Team owner Ray Evernham, who lost out in the bidding contest for Busch's services, told reporters that he came to see the side of the 22-year-old driver that Ballew knows.

"I hate that we didn't get Kyle, but our performance isn't where it needs to be, so I certainly understand why we didn't get a driver, but maybe made a new friend," Evernham said. "I've also got a lot of respect for Kyle and learned a lot about him that I hope a lot of other people will learn — that he's really a good kid and very mature and professional for 22 years old."

Even Busch's critics can't find fault with his talent. He already has four Cup victories, 24 top-fives and 48 top-10 finishes in 100 starts, heading into Michigan. He also has eight victories in the Busch Series and four more in trucks.

Busch said during his introduction at Joe Gibbs Racing that he's willing to address the outspokenness and other issues that have caused some to criticize him.

"I feel like being 22, I've got some time and a lot of room to grow and become more responsible, more mature, things like that," Busch said. "For the past couple years, I haven't shown probably my full potential. I guess I'm different when the camera shines its light on me than I am when I'm behind closed doors. ... I say a lot of things probably I shouldn't say. I need to learn how to keep some of those to myself and not let everybody else know about it."

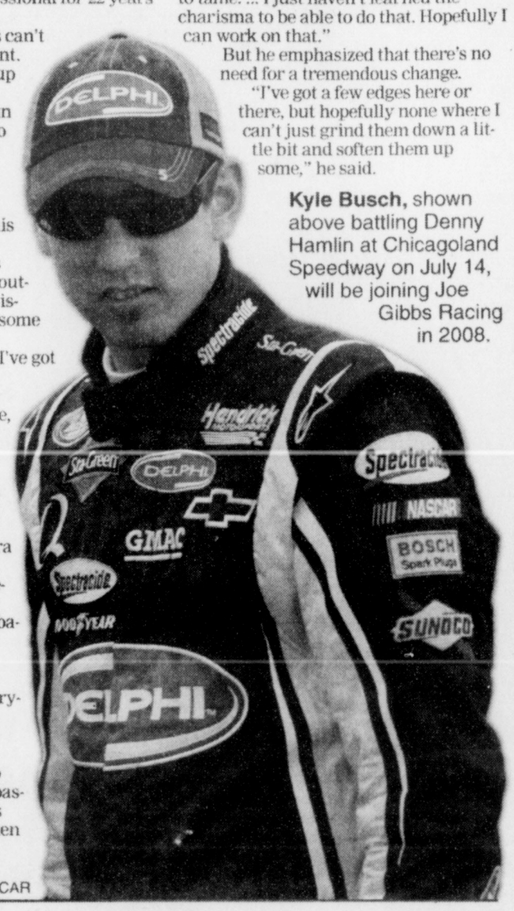
He said the bottom line is that he needs to keep from letting his passion for winning races get the best of him when things go badly on the track.

"I'm not going to be the guy that goes, 'Oh, shucks, darn. I guess there's next week,' " he said. "I'm going to be the guy that's raring to go and is ready to get back in that race car.

"For me, that's something that I've got to tame. ... I just haven't learned the charisma to be able to do that. Hopefully I can work on that."

But he emphasized that there's no need for a tremendous change.

"I've got a few edges here or there, but hopefully none where I can't just grind them down a little bit and soften them up some," he said.



Kyle Busch, shown above battling Denny Hamlin at Chicagoland Speedway on July 14, will be joining Joe Gibbs Racing in 2008.

Rick Minter's OBSERVATIONS

Some key story lines as the Cup Series heads to Bristol

The honeymoon is over

Juan Pablo Montoya's honeymoon period in NASCAR, if he ever had one, is pretty much over.

A highly publicized run-in with Kevin Harvick at Watkins Glen two weeks ago is the most visible sign that Montoya has made a few enemies on the track. But most label him as aggressive, which is a positive attribute in motorsports.

MONTOYA

Harvick continued to pour on the criticism in his comments to reporters at Michigan International Speedway.

"[Montoya] drives like he doesn't know what he's doing, to be honest with you," Harvick said. "He can run fast, but he's all over the place, and every week, it seems like he runs into a different person. In four weeks, it's cost us a couple of hundred points, and he shrugs it off like he doesn't really care about anybody or anything, that he's just here to race.

"You make him mad and it's, 'Well, I've got a five-year contract, and I'll just wreck you every week.' It's hard to talk to him, and he doesn't really respect anyone around him."

Harvick added that he's not the only one who feels that way. "My opinion is pretty widespread," he said.

Montoya responded that the Watkins Glen wreck was started by Martin Truex Jr., who ran into him before he hit Harvick.

"Things will happen like that; it's racing and we understand, so it's a shame he [Harvick] didn't," Montoya told reporters.

Montoya, a Formula One veteran, said NASCAR racing has more beating and banging than any other racing he has done, and he said he's no different from any other driver.

"I've been really careful this year in trying not to pick any fights, and I think we race really smart all year and made a lot of friends," he said. "I've been very conscious about the give-and-take in the racetrack, so I'm pretty comfortable."

Trimming the team

Team owner Jack Roush has begun to look at ways to cut his five-car Nextel Cup team to the NASCAR-mandated maximum of four.

He said in a news conference at Michigan last week that the fifth team could be used to jump-start another multicar team for a different owner, who could rely on Roush for technical and off-track support.

"We're looking at the prospect of an investor group that might be willing to come in and start another four-team program," he said. "I think we could help somebody come in, and the fifth team that will become available for me in 2010 will be a seed corn, potentially, for that."

He said an earlier transition isn't on his radar right now.

"The idea of me going down to four teams without some external force in 2008 is certainly not on my mind," he said.

COT not cutting costs

NASCAR's Car of Tomorrow is being billed, among other things, as a cost-saving vehicle for car owners because the same car can be run at different types of tracks. But Ford team owner Jack Roush said that's deceiving, at least from a cost standpoint, because the COTs cost more to build and repair than conventional cars.

"I absolutely feel that there will not be a net savings to the teams based on the amount of money that goes into the cars to get the chassis the way that NASCAR wants it for its inspection and the amount of sheet metal that has to be replaced to fix a relatively small problem," he said, explaining that what seems to be minor body damage often results in the replacement of the entire car.

"For the time being, we anticipate at least a 70 percent to an 80 percent increase in labor that's required to keep these cars ready to go from one race to the next," Roush said. "I see a 20 percent reduction in the number of cars likely to be used and 80 [percent] to 100 percent more labor required, first of all to build the car and then get it through inspection in the first place, and then to repair it after it has the inevitable problem on the racetrack."

Editor's note: Due to the rain delay of Sunday's 3M Performance 400 at Michigan International Speedway, updated Cup standings were not available at press time.

UP AND COMING A look at some of the sport's rising stars

Like his employer, Pro Cup driver has racing in his blood

When Dale Earnhardt Jr. picks drivers for his JR Motorsports team, he seems to prefer prospects who have backgrounds similar to his own.

Some he has hired came of age in racing the way he did — running Late Model cars on the short tracks around North Carolina and Virginia. Richard Boswell, who drives Earnhardt Jr.'s entry on the Hooters Pro Cup circuit, came up through those same Late Model ranks, but he also shares something else with Earnhardt Jr. Both are from families who have a history in NASCAR.

Boswell's father, Dickie Boswell, raced in NASCAR's Busch Series from 1982 to 1986.

Richard Boswell, 23, started racing at age 10, running go-karts on tracks near his home in Friendship, Md., and in Virginia before moving up to Late Models.

Richard Boswell, 23, says the experience he's gaining on the Pro Cup Series is "a great training ground for a career in NASCAR."

Then he moved to the Charlotte, N.C., area to attend UNC-Charlotte. There, he met Earnhardt Jr.

"I kind of got hooked up with Dale Jr. and some of those guys, just hanging out helping on some of the Late-Model stuff," Boswell said. "One thing led to another, and I ran a Late Model for him last year and just moved up to the Pro Cup Series this year."

He said that despite Earnhardt Jr.'s busy schedule, he's hands-on as a Pro Cup car owner.

"I actually see him quite a bit," Boswell said. "He's usually gone Thursday through Sunday, but I usually see him those other three days.

"I see him quite a bit and interact with him quite a bit. It's a lot of fun working for him and driving for him. He gives us a lot of input. He's a really smart guy, as far as what cars need and stuff like that. He's a big help to us."

And because of that, there are expectations.

"Mark McFarland and Shane Huffman both drove this Pro Cup car before me, and they both ran really good," he said. "So there's pressure there. And driving for Dale Jr. ... of course there's pressure there just because he's such a high magnitude of a person in the NASCAR level. It's definitely demanding, but he tries to make it as easy on you as possible. He knows what it's like to be an up-and-coming driver. He tries as best as he can to not put pressure on you, but you know, in the back of your mind, it's Dale Jr. and there's always going to be pressure."

Boswell, running in the Pro Cup's Southern Division, has made 13 starts, recording two top-fives and five top-10s.

"I'd say by far it's the most competitive short-track series out there," he said. "I think there's been one repeat winner this year."

He considers the circuit a great training ground for a career in NASCAR. "You learn a lot," he said. "These cars are a lot like the Busch cars. If you are fortunate enough to move up, you've got a lot of experience driving these cars. ... Hopefully, we'll just get through this year, stay in the top five or top 10 in points and get up there and win the rookie deal. Hopefully, that will lead to bigger things for us."

CATCHING UP WITH ... RAY EVERNHAM

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Ray Evernham recently sold controlling interest of his NASCAR race team to Montreal Canadiens owner George Gillett. Team owners taking on investors and partners seems to be a trend in the sport. Evernham recently met with reporters to talk about the changes:

On the benefits of a change in ownership: "It will allow us to go forward and continue to grow the company in a way that we want to. ... It will allow me to concentrate a little bit more on the competition side, but it also allows us to be in touch with other professional sports and sports-marketing programs and some entertainment and recreational things across the country, across the world that we would never have access to."

On the difficulty of letting go of a major stake in his company: "You always have mixed emotions when you build something from the ground up. But you also have to look to what you want to accomplish. As the sport changes, the job gets bigger. ... Sometimes you've got to have a little bit of help. My goal is to win the championship. The direction the sport has grown, there's no way I was going to be able to accomplish that on my own. You'll see in the future that there are very few teams that are owned by a single person. It was a perfect opportunity because George does the things that I need someone else to do. He can open doors for the company that I just couldn't open. It will allow me to focus on the competition side, which he doesn't do."

On his plans for the No. 10 team and driver Scott Riggs: "It's all about points. ... Our goal is to get that thing in the top 35 in points. We've got to keep building it stronger and stronger. Scott and I are still talking. We've got some options, and we've not closed anything yet. I want Scott to be a part of our program next year. We've got to bring up overall performance, and that's on my shoulders. He can help us do that. As the thing grows, I want Scott to be part of it."

On whether he'll make all the racing decisions going forward: "We're still trying to work through those things. Right now, nothing's changed. I'm pretty much the CEO of the company, and I'm still making a lot of the business decisions. I'm hoping to come up with a system that we decide what George is going to support. I'm always going to have a pretty big vote in whatever happens, whether it's business or competition. But I really want to hand off some of the day-to-day business stuff to other people. ... I'm going to focus as much time as I can on building our new cars and making sure our engines are going in the right direction with this new Dodge R-6 engine and the COT [Car of Tomorrow] program is on track."

On whether he considers this year a setback after winning six races last year: "It's been hard; there's no doubt. I think it's been the hardest competitive year of my life. I don't think I've ever been involved in a race team in 30 years that's run this bad, ever. That's something that you grow into. I accept the responsibility for it. It's on my shoulders to change it. ... It's a tough business, and like Elliott Sadler says: 'There are just days you've got to get up in the morning and put your big-boy britches on and go to work.' WHEN THE FUR FLIES!

We all know how stressful a move can be, but if pets are part of your family, there may be an added level of anxiety. Many real estate agents have practical knowledge from working with families with pets, and experience has proven that there are some simple steps you can take to alleviate the stress on your four-footed friends.

First be sure that your pets are wearing current tags. It's wisest to have your cell phone number as part of the tag's information, so that you can be reached either here or there in an emergency.

Have a reasonable supply of any medications and food, so that you're prepared during travel and upon arrival. Before you move, do some research in your new area to locate a new veterinarian, and be sure to have copies of your current vet records ready to transfer.

When moving day arrives, seclude your pet from the chaos in a quiet room with a "Do Not Disturb - Pets Inside" sign. In your new home, be sure to immediately set out all your pet's cherished belongings, like favorite toys, bowls and bedding.

As we all know, pets keenly perceive emotions. Taking a few steps to be prepared will help to reduce your anxiety, and your pet will hopefully follow suit. Consult with your veterinarian for other excellent moving day advice.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call at the office or on my cell at 301-501-DALE.

Who Should Get the Meningitis Vaccine?

Meningitis in an inflammation of the membranes and cerebrospinal fluid surrounding the brain and spinal cord. Most cases occur in persons between the ages of 15 and 24, and older adults tend to have a higher incidence than young children. In most instances, this is caused by a viral infection, although bacterial and fungal infections may also lead to this condition. Typically, bacterial meningitis is more severe than viral meningitis, and may be fatal if left untreated. Symptoms may include a high fever, severe headache, confusion, seizures, stiff neck, and sensitivity to light. Immunizations used to prevent bacterial meningitis include haemophilus influenzae type b vaccine and meningococcal conjugate vaccine. Recently, the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have recommended that all teenagers between the ages of 11 and 18 years receive a bacterial meningitis vaccination to reduce the incidence of this condition.

Intravenous antibiotics are required for treatment of acute bacterial meningitis. The type of antibiotics used depends on the type of bacteria causing the condition. This may be determined by examining a sample of the cerebrospinal fluid. Rest, fluids, and over the counter pain relievers are recommended for associated fever and body aches. Antiviral medications also may be prescribed.

State Mortgage Program Reaches Record Heights

The Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) set new highs for homeownership lending in Fiscal Year (FY) 2007, shattering all previous homeownership lending records in DHCD history. From July 1, 2006, to June 30, 2007, the Maryland Mortgage Program (MMP) provided over $750 million in mortgages, enabling nearly 4,000 workforce families in Maryland to achieve the "American dream" of homeownership.

"Homeownership provides a solid foundation for financial security and is crucial to strengthening Maryland's middle class," said Governor Martin O'Malley. "Through the Maryland Mortgage Program we are increasing homeownership opportunities for working families and making Maryland a better, more affordable place to live."

Primarily targeting first-time homebuyers, MMP is the state of Maryland's flagship mortgage assistance program, featuring a variety of low-interest, fixed-rate mortgage loans, including 30-, 35-, and 40-year fixed-rate mortgages, as well as several, safe interest-only loan options. For nearly 30 years, MMP – also known as More House 4 Less – has provided Maryland's families with reliable and flexible mortgage loans.

The program is administered by DHCD's Community Development Administration (CDA) and is funded by private capital raised through DHCD's ability to issue mortgage revenue bonds. Program loans are administered by a network of over 50 private lending institutions across the state, enabling potential homebuyers to receive MMP assistance through their local banks.

In response to rising down-payment and closing costs, which are often the greatest barrier to homeownership, MMP also provides an assortment of down-payment and closing-cost assistance programs. Program borrowers can receive this assistance in the form of zero-percent deferred loans through programs like the Downpayment and Settlement Expense Loan Program (DSELP), the employer matching program House Keys 4 Employees (HK4E), and the Live Near Your Work Plus program.

As an alternative to the loan options, MMP also offers down-payment and closing-cost assistance in the form of grants equaling either 2 percent or 3 percent of the mortgage loan amount, depending on the MMP option selected.

"The Maryland Mortgage program is very flexible, and its loans are a great alternative to many subprime loans offered in the commercial mortgage marketplace," said DHCD Secretary Raymond Skinner. "The combination of quality mortgages with down-payment and closing-cost assistance has enabled many Marylanders to realize the dream of buying a first home they can afford, giving them a greater connection to their communities, and strengthening neighborhoods across our state."

During FY 2007, the typical MMP borrower had an income in the mid-$50,000 range and purchased a home priced at nearly $200,000. Over half of MMP borrowers were minority, first-time homebuyers.

Additionally, MMP's mortgage delinquency rate is currently at its lowest level in program history and far below comparable Federal Housing Administration (FHA) delinquency rates in Maryland

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Garrett County Board of Education is required by its own policy and by Federal and State Law to annually notify eligible students and parents who have children attending public school of the policy regulating the handling of student records and the information contained within them. Board of Education Policy #474.20 and Procedures #474.21, the "Confidentiality of Student Record Policy," establishes the guidelines that the Garrett County Public Schools employ.

The provisions of this policy are intended to preserve the right of students and parents to have full access to all official records about the students which are maintained by the Garret County Public Schools; to have removed from these records any information about the student which is determined to be inaccurate or misleading; to enjoy confidentiality and privacy in regard to the disclosure of information contained in those records to outside agencies; and to provide for efficient student records management.

Individual pupil records maintained by teachers or other school personnel under the provisions of this policy are to be confidential in nature, and access to such records may be granted to professionals who are directly involved with the educational process of the individual student in a teaching guidance/counseling, or consulting situation. Individual student records, with the exception of such records as are designated as permanent, and with such other exceptions as provided by law, should be destroyed when they are no longer able to serve professionals who are directly involved with the educational process of individual students in a teaching, guidance/counseling, or consulting situation.

Institutions of elementary and secondary education of the Board of Education of Garrett County shall not permit access to, or release of education records of students, or personally identifiable information contained herein (other than directory information), without the written consent of the parents of the eligible student with the exception of disclosure without consent as required by Federal law, and/or State law and bylaws. Education institutions of Garrett County, however, shall make the cumulative records of a student available to officials of other elementary or secondary schools or another school system in which the student seeks or intends to enroll. The institution of elementary and secondary education of the Board of Education of Garrett County will forward without consent cumulative records on request to a school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll.

Directory information means the student's name, address, telephone number, date, and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of members of athletic teams, dates of attendance, and other similar information. Directory information may be made public without the consent of parents or eligible students. Student records limited to directory information and student address may be made available at the discretion of the principal for legitimate educational purposes, such as post-secondary schools and Armed Services Recruiters, for the purpose of informing eligible students of post high school educational opportunities, to businesses officially recognized by the schools as requiring legitimate contact for purposes of graduation activities, yearbook production, and alumni associations of schools in the organization of class reunions. A parent or guardian may refuse to permit personally identifiable information from being designated as directory information by informing the school in writing of one's refusal within the first two weeks of the school year.

The policy goes on to spell out the types of data in a pupil record, the types of student records, and how the records are transferred between schools, individuals, institutions, and agencies.

If access to a student's records is desired by an eligible student or parent, he/she should contact the appropriate school principal. In most cases, there is a charge for copies of student records.

Swanton Man Pleads Guilty To Conduct Charges

In recent Garrett County District Court hearings, a Swanton man received additional charges during a court hearing for previous charges.

Donald Guy Duckworth, 60, pleaded guilty and was found guilty on charges of both disorderly conduct and failure to obey a lawful order. He received a jail sentence of 60 days, all of which was suspended except for 10 days, as well as 24 months of unsupervised probation and a fine of $57, which was suspended.

Duckworth was arrested in June by a member of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office when he made threats and obscene comments to court officials after deputies refused his requests to be handcuffed and shackled during his court hearing.

In other recent District Court happenings, Bruce Lee Best, 54, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a charge of trespassing on private property and received a 90-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended, as well as 36 months of supervised probation and a fine of $250.

Best was arrested by members of the sheriff's office in May after refusing to leave the premises of Denny's restaurant, where he was reported as being a suspicious person.

Jeffrey L. Robinette, 26, Keyser, W.Va., pleaded guilty to a charge of issuing a false statement to a police officer and received a jail sentence of 30 days, all of which was suspended, as well as 18 months of unsupervised probation and a fine on $200.

Robinette was arrested in April after he issued a false statement during the conduct of an official investigation regarding the insurance status of the vehicle in which he was pulled over.

Robinette received a consent ordered verdict on a charge of obstructing and hindering, and was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on charges of driving uninsured and driving an unregistered vehicle on a highway.

Ronald Jan Jackson Sr., 63, Lanham, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of marijuana and received a probation before judgment, as well as one year on unsupervised probation and a fine of $200.

Officers were dispatched to the 7-Eleven gas station in Oakland in December 2006 following the complaint of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS), wherein Jackson had allegedly left a bag of suspected cocaine on the check-out counter. During a search of his vehicle, officers recoverd a vial of unknown liquid concealed in a film canister, a suspected burnt marijuana cigarette, a baggie of suspected marijuana, and three pills later identified as Percocet.

Jackson was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on two charges of CDS possession other than marijuana.

Larry Kuligowski, 44, Cumberland, pleaded guilty to a charge of trespassing on public grounds after hours and was handed a 90-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended, as well as one year of unsupervised probation.

Members of the sheriff's office arrested Kuligowski in May after they received complaints of a person living in Grantsville Town Park, despite numerous attempts to warn him. Kuligowski was not prosecuted on a charge of trespassing on private property.

Carol Patricia Burke, 50, Annandale, Va., pleaded guilty to a charge of trespassing on private property and was handed a PBJ, as well as 18 months of unsupervised probation and a fine of $300.

Burke was arrested by members of the sheriff's office in May after officers received a complaint of a woman repeatedly entering a residence within the Youghiogany Mountain Resort. When officers arrived at the private residence, Burke was found to be intoxicated and passed out on the couch.

Burke was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on charges of intoxication endangerment, disorderly conduct, and fourth degree burglary.

Tracy Lynn Holland, 24, Oakland, was not prosecuted on charges of malicious destruction of property resulting in $500 worth of damage and second degree assault, stemming from a May arrest.

DWI/DUI CASES

Several driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while intoxicated (DWI) cases were heard in Garrett County District Court recently.

Darwin Dean Hunter, 39, Md., faces one year of jail time, as well as 18 months of supervised probation and a fine of $300, after pleading guilty to a charge of DWI. Hunter was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on charges of DUI and driving on a suspended license.

Granville Park Halterman, 76, Md., pleaded guilty to a charge of DUI and received a six-month jail sentence, all of which was suspended. He also received one year of supervised probation and a fine of $300. Halterman was not prosecuted on a charge of DWI.

Debra Lynne Ambrose, 48, Md., pleaded guilty to a charge of DUI per se and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), as well as one year of supervised probation and a fine of $300. Ambrose was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on charges of DUI and DWI.

Wesley Wade Wagner, 23, Pa., pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI and was handed a PBJ, as well as 12 months of unsupervised probation and a fine of $250. Wagner was not prosecuted on charges of DUI, DUI per se, and negligent driving.

Frank Joseph Cimino, 51, Md., pleaded guilty to a charge of DUI per se and was given a PBJ, as well as 6 months of unsupervised probation and a fine of $300. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

James Robert McMenamin, 77, Md., faces charges of DUI, DUI per se, and DWI, all of which were placed on the stet docket.

GIRL SCOUTS STEP "BACK IN TIME" – Several local Girl Scouts recently attended the "Back in Time Day Camp" at Camp Roy Weller in Bruceton Mills, W.Va. The celebration will be held Sunday, Sept. 23, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Oakland Community Center (the former National Guard Armory). The event will be open to Girl Scouts past and present, as well as anyone interested in joining Scouts. Those in attendance will be able to do crafts, sing Girl Scout songs, learn about camping, make s'mores, and much more. "The Scouts would also like to thank the County United Way, whose generous support make many of our community events possible," said Debbie Carpenter, Garrett County Girl Scout communications manager. Home Health Care

MEDICINE MISTAKES CAN COST FREEDOM

If you've ever helped an older adult try to manage his or her medications, you know that keeping track of what to take when is not easy. Add a level of cognitive impairment, and managing one's medicine can be a monumental challenge. Research show that 50% of older adults do not properly follow medication regimes. Experts attribute about 30% of elderly hospitalizations and 23% of nursing home admissions to medication mistakes. If you are worried about a loved one making a medication mistake, but want to honor his or her request to remain at home, a home health agency can help you manage medications safely while the patient stays in the comfort of his or her familiar environment.

Our clients and their families enjoy the peace of mind that comes from the highest level of quality service in all that we do. At TENDER LOVING HOME CARE, INC., medication management is but one among the many home care and home health services we offer, ranging from running errands and companionship to meal planning and preparation, walking, and light housekeeping. Our caring, professional staff is available for 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Long or short-term care is available, whenever it's needed. All our carefully screened home care providers are licensed, bonded and insured.

P.S. Older adults between the ages of 80 and 84 have an average of 18 prescriptions written for them each year.

RESERVE CHAMP AT 5 – Almost too cute for words is 5-year-old McKenzie Winegardner, who was named the reserve grand champion in the Pee Wee Showmanship 5-year-old division at the recent 51st annual Garrett County Fair. (Ok ... the pig is pretty cute, too.) McKenzie is the daughter of Bret and Heather Winegardner of Swanton. Today's issue of The Republican contains an entire section of photos from the fair, as well as information on competition winners and judging results, plus a list of sellers and buyers in the annual livestock sale, which garnered over $300,000. SCHOOL YEAR COMMENCES WITH FOG – As Garrett County students returned to public schools for the 2007-08 school year this week, the county experienced some heavy fog, making boarding the school buses in the morning dangerous. Drivers are reminded to turn on their headlights during foggy conditions, and are also reminded that it is illegal and extremely unsafe to pass a school bus displaying its red flashing lights in either direction, as children often have to cross busy streets in order to board buses. Students from the Limpopo neighborhood in McHenry are pictured above boarding Delmar Yoder's bus number 6 on Mosser Road. Photo by Mandy Geisler.

Checkpoints Prove To Be Effective In Deterring DUIs

As Marylanders prepare to hit the highway for the long Labor Day weekend, which is historically the third deadliest holiday involving impaired driving crashes, state and local law enforcement officials launched "Checkpoint Strikeforce," a half-year, high visibility statewide education and enforcement campaign to stop drunk drivers.

A key focus of the 2007 campaign is to raise public awareness of the many dangers and consequences of impaired driving, including being arrested or killing someone. Col. Terrence Sheridan, secretary of the Maryland State Police, kicked off the more than half-million dollar campaign.

"There is no excuse for driving under the influence," said Sheridan. "DUI enforcement is a top priority in Maryland. We know the danger posed by drunk drivers, and we will continue to do all we can to identify and

Deputies Arrest Two Men On Assault Charges

Garrett County sheriff's deputies, while on patrol in the Loch Lynn Heights area early Wednesday morning, arrested and charged two men with second degree assault.

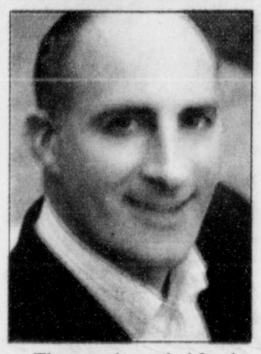
While conducting an interview on suspicious persons in the area of West 1st Ave., additional persons arrived, and a disturbance was created by the suspects involved.

Deputies arrested Shawn Smith, 25, Loch Lynn, along with Christopher Brooks, 22, Cumberland. Smith was charged with second degree assault, CDS possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia.

Brooks was charged with disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace, and second degree assault. He was also found to be wanted in Allegany County for unrelated charges.

Additional units from the Sheriff's Office and Maryland State Police responded to the incident.

Cantore Named Grand Marshal Of AG Parade



The grand marshal for the 40th annual Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade is Jim Cantore, the Weather Channel's "storm tracker." Yellowstone Custom Log Homes is sponsoring his appearance in the event, which begins at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 13, in Oakland.

"Jim's passion for field reporting during extreme weather events is well known among Weather Channel viewers," said a Garrett County Chamber of Commerce spokesperson. "Whether it's 'thunder snow,' an ice storm, tornado chasing, or a category 5 hurricane, there is no place Jim would rather be than right in the 'eye of the storm.'"

Wildweather.com voted Cantore "Meteorologist of the Month" for August 2000. In its acknowledgment of his award it read,

GC Commissioners Learn About Forest Canopy Walkway Project

The Western Garrett County Park Volunteers are getting the word out about their Forest Canopy Walkway project, group president Wendy Mopsik told the county commissioners on Tuesday.

"What we're going to tell you about is a very exciting new project . . . that's going to extend the education and investigation of the world around us at the Discovery Center," she said.

To be located at Deep Creek Lake State Park, the $300,000 structure is a partnership between the volunteers and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Park Service and Forest Service.

"Canopy walkways allow access to the upper parts of the forest, the canopy, which is where most of the action is," said Caroline Blizzard, Discovery Center director. "From the walkway, birds, butterflies, flowers, and various other species of animals, plants, and insects that live in the roof of the forest, and which are otherwise invisible, can be seen up close."

She, Ranger Becky Wilson, Mopsik, and other volunteers have discussed the local walkway project with various groups in the community for the last several months.

The walkway will begin off the rear deck of the Discovery Center, with a slightly sloping wheelchair-accessible bridge leading to

Sheetz Corporation Official Notes Concern About Proposed Bypass

by Glenn Tolbert

The Sheetz corporation has weighed in on the controversy surrounding the proposed Oakland/Rt. 219 bypass, expressing concerns that its construction will likely have a negative impact on the Sheetz store located along Third Street in downtown Oakland.

Dr. Dona Alvarez, who is a leader in the group known as Garrett Countians for Smart Growth, which opposes the bypass, shared a letter she received from Steve Augustine, director of real estate for Sheetz Inc.

The letter states that Sheetz has decided to "reinvest another 20 years in Oakland" and is planning to spend an estimated $2.7 million on a rebuild project at the store, which opened in August 1987.

"The proposed Oakland bypass certainly is on our radar and will impact our decision to remain at our current location," the letter reads. "Obviously, our fuel offering caters to the traveling consumers. A diversion of Route 219 would greatly impact the average daily traffic that currently passes our facility. If completed, the bypass would most likely force Sheetz to relocate to the north (Wal-Mart area) or to the southern side of town."

In a subsequent telephone interview, Augustine reiterated what was in his letter.

"Just the threat of a bypass around Oakland makes us leery about plans to upgrade our current store for the couple of million dollars we were thinking of," he said. "What we're interested in is traffic, and if a bypass is built, there goes the traffic, and with it the generation of money. So we're keeping a very careful eye on your town's bypass issue."

The current proposed rebuilding project would increase parking to 38 spaces, and is designed to improve the traffic flow from both fuel customers and store customers.

Augustine's warning about the economic conse-

Commissioners Hear Staff Reports; Livestock Sale Nets Nearly $300K

The Garrett County commissioners held their monthly staff meeting on Tuesday, hearing reports from 10 county departments and agencies. Among the topics discussed were the recent Garrett County Agriculture Fair, a hazardous materials exercise, a health fair, the National Book Festival, Rt. 40 School, and a summer youth employment program.

Extension Office

"We had a successful Garrett County Fair, with a lot of 4-H members and their families participating," reported Director Ann Sherrard, Extension Office.

The 4-H/FFA Livestock Sale garnered $297,457 for local youth, she noted, thanks to the generosity of buyers. (More information about the fair is available in a special section of this issue of The Republican.)

Some local 4-H members are currently participating in the state fair. Three members have already qualified for national events, including Catlin Carrico, who will compete in a welding competition.

"I imagine she will be the only female competing," Sherrard said.

The director also reported that the gypsy moth program was well under way, and Sherry Frick, program assistant, is busy conducting many egg mass surveys.

"We still have a big job ahead, but we've gotten a good start," Sherrard said about getting ready for a gypsy moth suppression

Local Paddler To Compete In Extreme Event

Local kayaker Jesse Shimrock announced that he is to compete in the Adidas Sickline Extreme Kayak World Championships in Austria from Oct. 3 through 6.

Whitewater kayakers from all over the world will meet in Austria's Ötztal for the event. At the famous Wellerbrücke, the Ötz River holds one of the most sophisticated whitewater sections on Earth, thus being the perfect setting to determine the world's best extreme kayakers.

Shimrock, a resident of McHenry and former U.S. freestyle kayaker and national medalist, said, "I have wanted to compete in this event for years and feel like it is now my strongest form of competitive kayak-

MONARCH MADNESS is the name of a program going on now at the Deep Creek Lake State Park Discovery Center, where the fascinating life cycle of the monarch is being followed every step of the way. (See the center's calendar of events on page B-12 of today's issue.) There seems to be an increase in the caterpillar/butterfly population this year, much to the delight of anyone who is familiar with the creature's quick and remarkable progression of stages, from tiny egg to caterpillar to chrysalis to butterfly. The increase in numbers this year, according to experts, is partly because of the bumper crop of the only substance they eat: milkweed. The two specimens pictured were "raised" by Kelly Baker of Mtn. Lake Park, who watched them progress from egg to adult. They will now join fellow butterflies on their migratory trek to Mexico. Photo by Andrew Hill.

McHenry Teen Faces Charge of Negligent Boating

The Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) recently charged several persons in the Deep Creek Lake and surrounding areas last week.

A 16-year-old male of McHenry was charged in a boating accident on Deep Creek Lake on Monday at 11:30 a.m.

According to reports, the youth was operating a 21-foot 2001 Correct Craft vessel, southbound near McHenry Cove, when he noticed the gauges on the vessel were not operating properly. While the youth continued to check the gauges and operate the vessel at the same time, he ran across a section of dock and collided with an unoccupied 24-foot 2007 Sea Ray vessel moored at the Lakeside Club docks.

Both vessels sustained disabling damage and were removed from the water.

The youth refused medical treatment at the scene. He was charged with negligent operation and failure to maintain a proper lookout.

Richard James Goulding, 61, Mount Pleasant, Pa., was charged with two alcohol related driving offenses in the area of the Rt. 219 Bridge on Deep Creek Lake, last Friday at 10:40 p.m.

Goulding was stopped for operating his vessel after sunset without displaying proper navigational lights. He displayed signs of intoxication, and after failing field sobriety tests, was placed under arrest and transported to the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack, where he took a breath test, which showed a blood alcohol level of .11 percent.

He was charged with operating a motor vessel while under the influence of alcohol, operating a motor vessel while impaired by alcohol, and operating a vessel without proper navigational lights. Goulding was released on his own recognizance.

Charles Daniel Alt, 50, Moorefield, W.Va., was charged with alcohol and drug related driving offenses near Glendale Bridge on Deep Creek Lake on Saturday at 7:05 p.m.

Alt was stopped for failing to display registration numbers on the right side of the vessel. He displayed signs of intoxication, and after failing field sobriety tests, was placed under arrest and transported to the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack, where he took a breath test, which showed a blood alcohol level of .08 percent.

He was charged with operating a motor vessel while under the influence of alcohol, operating a motor vessel while impaired by alcohol, operating a motor vessel while impaired by drugs or any combination of drugs or alcohol, and improper display of numbers. Alt was released on own recognizance.

John Gregory Riordan, 34, Laurel, and Jonathan Damon Hill, 34, Glen Burnie, were each charged with drug violations in the campgrounds of Swallow Falls State Park on Sunday at 12:10 a.m.

While patrolling the campground, NRP officers observed the two men allegedly sharing a suspected marijuana cigarette. The officer approached the men and observed a small smoking pipe, which was seized, along with a small quantity of suspected marijuana.

Riordan and Hill were each issued criminal summons for possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS), marijuana, and possession of CDS paraphernalia.

Henry Edward Harris, 38, Washington, D.C., was charged with two alcohol related driving violations on Deep Creek Lake on Sunday at 12:55 a.m.

Harris was stopped for operating his vessel after sunset without displaying proper navigational lights. He displayed signs of intoxication, and after failing field sobriety tests, was placed under arrest and transported to the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack, where his blood alcohol level was .08 percent.

He was charged with operating a motor vessel while under the influence of alcohol, operating a motor vessel while impaired by alcohol, and operating a vessel without proper navigational lights. Harris was released on his own recognizance.

NRP To Conduct Extra Enforcement During Labor Day

The Labor Day holiday marks the traditional end of the summer boating season and the beginning of Maryland's hunting seasons.

"While early September is the perfect time of year for family and friends to gather and enjoy the state's forests and waterways, accidents tend to happen more frequently during the busy holiday weekends," said Sgt. Ken Turner of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

To keep Marylanders safe, the Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) will be conducting an extensive enforcement effort spanning the state called "Operation Nightfall."

Operation Nightfall is designed to remind people of the need for safety in the boating and hunting environment. Over the course of the extended holiday weekend, NRP officers will be conducting patrols to detect and apprehend boaters operating while impaired and in a negligent or reckless manner.

Patrols will utilize aircraft, vessels and surveillance units to keep unsafe operators off the waterways. Roving land patrols will also be monitoring hunting activity, with a focus on safety-related violations and trespassing. Additional patrols will concentrate on public lands, as this is one of the most popular camping weekends of the year. Officers will focus on park quiet hours enforcement and safety issues that infringe upon the quality of a visitor's experience in Maryland's parks and forests.

Although the 2006 Labor Day holiday weekend saw less boating activity than normal, because of poor weather conditions, NRP still issued a total of 1,035 citations and warnings. Officers investigated one boating accident and one boating-related fatality. Four individuals were charged with operating a vessel under the influence of alcohol, four individuals were arrested on other criminal violations, and one was arrested on a charge of operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol.

Two Suffolk Horses Die After Being Struck By Lightning

by Mandy Geisler

Following last Monday (Aug. 20) evening's humbling thunder and lightning storm, Samuel Yoder of Gortner Road in Pleasant Valley discovered that he had lost two unique members of his farm.

When Yoder's two Suffolk Punch draft stallions didn't show up for 6 a.m. breakfast at the barn, he went looking for them in the pasture, and what he found was catastrophic.

The horses, ages 19 and 2, were lying on the ground, struck dead by lightning. According to Yoder, the horses had had their "tails to the storm" and were probably dead before they knew what hit them. They fell with each other to the right side sometime around what he guesses was midnight. Upon initial inspection of the remains, there were no burn marks or open wounds. Yoder's flock of cows, who occupy the same field, were too spooked to walk past the stallions until coaxed.

According to the American Suffolk Horse Association, Suffolk Punch draft horses are a rare breed, with only 1,500 to 2,000 registered in North America. Suffolks are commonly used as work horses because of their determination and build.

Yoder, a third generation breeder of Suffolk horses at Garrett Land breeding farm, said that the older horse, who went by the barn name Tom, was "extremely quiet for a stallion," and was so laid back that even Yoder's children could drive him. Tom was also different in that he only had one eye, due to an accident that occurred before the Yoders knew him.

Plans to bury the horses are under way, with consideration of possibly making a head mount or tanning the hide of the older horse.

Man Hits Parked Trailer, Causes Damage To Load

A Pennsylvania man was charged with negligent driving following an accident that occurred on Chestnut Ridge Road north of I-68 at 5:59 p.m. last Friday.

Bryan Mitchell, 22, Somerset, lost control of his 1992 Acura, which struck the rear of a parked trailer owned by ATS Specialized Trucking. Mitchell's vehicle continued to move along the side of the trailer, causing damage to the trailer's load.

Mitchell was not injured. Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, Northern Rescue Squad, and Maryland State Police responded to the scene.

Juveniles Arrested After Allegedly Burglarizing Store

Swallow Falls Store, Oakland, was broken into last weekend, and cigarettes and beer were removed from the business.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office received the call and located DNA evidence at the crime scene. An investigation was conducted leading to the arrest of two juveniles Sunday.

One juvenile is a 17-year-old Mtn. Lake Park resident, and the other is a 17-year-old Oakland resident. Both were released to the custody of their parents, and charges are being forwarded to the Department of Juvenile Services.

PRAYERS FOR HABITAT — Local church communities are being asked to participate in the International Day of Prayer and Action for Human Habitat, which is the third Sunday in September each year. Doug Riley, executive director of Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, noted that many volunteers in the home-building organization are drawn to it through prayer, and many prayers are answered for families and communities when the organization completes new, comfortable, and safe homes for families. Riley is urging all believers to take part in the observance on Sept. 16. See story. Pictured above is a Maryland work group from Walter Johnson High School, Montgomery County, and St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church from Columbia in front of a new house they built. Riley noted that in addition to congregations praying for Habitat, the organization members themselves will also engage in prayer, "asking that God will direct people to use their gifts and put their faith into action."

International Day Of Prayer, Action Slated For Habitat

The International Day of Prayer and Action for Human Habitat is to be observed on the third Sunday in September, according to Doug Riley, Garrett County Habitat for Humanity executive director. Riley is urging all believers to take part in the observance.

"The International Day of Prayer and Action for Human Habitat is a time when the entire Habitat for Humanity community is urged to come together in prayer for those in need of shelter," Riley said. "Through prayer, Habitat for Humanity continues to make a dramatic difference in the lives of people around the world."

Riley said volunteers are often drawn to the housing ministry through prayer.

"And other prayers are answered when families and communities overcome the hurdles involved in funding and building homes," he said.

The Day of Prayer was begun in 1983 to make housing a matter of conscience, Riley said, with the intent of enforcing the belief that poverty housing is unacceptable.

The international organization invites local churches to do one or more of the following on Sept. 16:

Shape the worship service that day around "God's call" to serve one another; use the bulletin inserts designed especially for this day, available from the local Habitat organization; offer prayers for those in need of shelter; and adopt housing as an ongoing ministry emphasis.

Twenty-six months of pure perfection, twenty-six months of unbelievable joy,
Our hearts ache every second for this angelic precious boy.
The cutest little belly, a heart-melting smile, and the most innocent perfect soul,
What we would not give today to look for our favorite chipmunk hole.
Pulling wagons, riding around town with O1' Red, or just playing ball,
It was always a special treat watching you play for hours in the middle of the mall.
We had so much fun eating Chinese, singing silly songs, and making birthday cakes in the sand box,
We especially loved spending time with Riley taking our long stroller walks.
Isaac's favorite thing to do with you was to hold your precious hand,
Thank you for teaching him to "swim," eat raisins, and "tolerate" the sand.
Knowing that you are alive NOW more than ever is a blessing from God above,
Your perfect life is now eternal and you are in the presence of His everlasting love.
God's promise to us is that we will live eternally together and never really die,
We will be reunited with you and rejoice together within a blink of an eye.
We love you, Landon, and treasure the many memories we have made,
While we wait to reunite in heaven, your twenty-six months of complete perfection will never, ever fade.

Our dearest, precious Landon–
We will never, ever be complete until we are with you in heaven– in our prepared "castle." You are such an important part of our family and we miss you more with each passing day.

All our love,
Gary, Your best buddy– Isaac, Brayden, and "Your Second Mommy"

What Say You?...

The controversy surrounding the proposed Oakland bypass took a major turn this week, with perhaps the strongest blow yet registered by those in opposition to the $42 million project. While the group known as Garrett Countians for Smart Growth is well organized and has done a lot of work gathering data to try to derail the project, the brunt of its attack has been mostly just the collective opinion that the bypass is a bad idea.

It is the opinion and projection of the GCSG members that the bypass will be bad for downtown Oakland, that it will cause a lot of inconvenience for residents of Mtn. Lake Park and beyond as they try to enter and leave Oakland, that it will create safety hazards, that it is too expensive, and that it will destroy the beauty of the land along the bypass. While they have considerable data that seem to support some of their opinions/projections, they have been lacking one major item – real input from some of the major business owners in town, particularly those along Third Street; until now.

The Sheetz store in Oakland, owned by a major corporation, is one of the busiest, most successful Sheetz stores in the region. It was learned over the past few weeks that the company intends to spend $2.7 million rebuilding and improving the Oakland store. However, that project is now evidently on hold until it is known for sure if the bypass is going to be built or not. If it is, Sheetz will look to move its store out of downtown and build a new one at either the northern or southern end of the bypass. Who could blame them?

Much of the basis for decision-making by major chain stores like Sheetz is watching what other major chains that have stores in the same location are going to do. So if Sheetz is considering a move in the event the bypass is constructed, what about the neighboring McDonald's and Pizza Hut restaurants? It would be helpful to hear from them in particular, but also from the many other business owners whose stores are located along Third Street. What say you?

To the Editor:

I have had the privilege to encounter a young woman who is walking with faith to raise funds for a public library in Timau, Kenya, Africa. Debbie Schachner departed California to walk the American Discovery Trail to Delaware. Along the way, she is seeking partners to help pony up $47,000 for the first phase of the library.

Debbie states that "books allow hopes to be built and dreams to be realized." She has already invested time in the African community as a volunteer, sharing her love and generosity, and teaching students who never before had the opportunity for an education. Debbie states that she "recognizes the struggles many have to survive," and she wants to do what she can for them. She says she cannot walk away from them, so she is walking for them.

To learn more about this amazing woman's efforts, visit the web site www.walkingwithfaith.com to discover the mission, photos, and more on how to donate to the cause.

Debra Wolf

To the Editor:

It's been said that illness is often at least partly a matter of the mind. The same can be said for wellness.

It is wellness that Garrett County Memorial Hospital seeks to promote from its admission procedures, all the way through its discharge services. (If this sounds like a public relations letter, I offer no excuses.)

What I do offer is the experience of a recent five-day stay where everyone from the cleaning staff to the nurses and doctors sought to keep a sense of optimism and wellness permeating the entire facility.

There were the little things ... like the brightly colored scrubs worn by ICU personnel, to the cheery face of a nurse sticking her head out from the other side of the curtain "just to make sure everything is okay."

The little things counted. But perhaps more important was a sense of being cared for by true health care professionals. And that's what hospitals should be all about. It's what Garrett County Memorial is all about every day and every night.

Sincerely,
Glenn Tolbert

To the Editor:

In last week's Republican newspaper (Aug. 23), it was reported that the Garrett County commissioners received a report on the moving timetable for the Garrett County Roads Department to the new location, and then the proposed construction of the new county jailhouse. Oops! my misstate; I mean detention center. I want to be politically correct.

This location for a $12,000,000 detention center, 50% from state funds, is unsuitable for such use. This seven-acre lot could be developed commercially and returned to the tax rolls of the county and the town of Oakland.

I served on the Tri-County Council and strongly opposed the construction of the prisons. Oops! Again, I mean the Correctional Institute in Cresaptown, Allegany County. This was intended to be a medium-security prison, and now it has been expanded to a maximum-security prison with a death row. The people of Allegany County didn't expect this or deserve it.

Our former Sheriff Sanders declared at a public meeting in the town hall in Oakland that only local prisoners would be locked up. With a jail with 92 beds and state money involved, there is a strong likelihood of state prisoners being transferred from downstate. Of course, our local government will be paid per diem for each inmate housed in our jail. Is this really the way to earn money for our county?

The friends who come to visit the inmates eventually bring along contraband to pay for the trip. This opens up a drug connection with the East Coast. This happened in Allegany County, which is experiencing an ongoing heroin epidemic. Several young people have died as a result of overdosing. The slanguage for heroin on the streets of Baltimore is "hay ron."

This could very well happen in southern Garrett County, and that's when we begin locking the house doors and taking the keys from the automobile.

The people of Garrett County, and Oakland in particular, know what a jailhouse and detention center look like every time they look at and pass by the historic courthouse.

To the Editor:

Recently, walking into a favorite store, I was slandered by "Jabber-jaw" for gawking on a "pristine" territory. This Reich's money and sacred "warning labels" should purchase some new soul. The one commercialized is stained with errors. Push the "courtesy" title further with perverse expressionism. Run a business by not sticking your nose in one's background. It's that time of the month's special. Customers are going fast! One salesclerk told me she liked me compared to another customer. Isn't it "we, the people" who consume a store?

I even had a hug from this stranger/clerk, leaving the impression that she enjoyed my company. Scold me, if human emotions are prohibited. Gazing is a way of appreciating beauty. If you have a problem with me, stop playing charades. There's no excuse for mistreatment. This owner stepped out of "field." This friendly neighborhood store lacks serious convenience. I'm guilty for associating with a friend who's been out of jail over a year. He served his penance for his shame. Still, he's rejected. They give anyone a badge to serve and protect. Send them on a wild chase to discipline the speechless without substantial reason. This alone is criminal. Another "quota" wasted!

I never forced myself on anyone, destroyed property, nor am I a thief. This is discrimination and there are more mature "shrines" to shop. Jabber-jaw approached me with "bad news" and threatened me with "trespassing" if I returned. This is God's "public property" on Earth. If you had any conscious faith, you'd know God's the only Judge in casting out anyone from any "garden."

I never spoke up until now. Here are my condolences... My pain dares not suffer over "your" misconduct. Shove your side-show matters elsewhere. Stop wasting my welcome!

You've lost countless customers with this habitual reputation. There's no justice, eating from tables of worthless scraps. Lead me down paths to destiny for caring about a sludge foundation. May this serve a purpose to "gawk"? Arrest me for disturbing your naive picnic. After years of broken trust, I still acknowledge the fakes. God forbid, convict me for "sharing" my poetry with someone who found it flattering. I asked her to warn me if I gave her the "creeps." Instead of "selective service," realize we're all God's favorites! Gossip is no procedure for selling lies! I'll get my going and stay out!

To the Editor:

President Ronald Reagan once jokingly stated, "I am not worried about the deficit. It is big enough to take care of itself." Unfortunately, Maryland is facing a growing deficit where spending is outgrowing the revenue.

While many in Annapolis refuse to believe that there is no other solution to our budget woes than massive tax increases, some of us have recently offered a proposal that brings spending in line with projected revenue without tax increases.

Why should we ask the citizens to pay for the state's fiscal irresponsibility? It is my belief that we must first get our fiscal house in order to correctly address the problem. We are still trying to correct the ship of state from the passage of legislation requiring spending without a source of revenue.

During the last session of the General Assembly my colleagues offered over 30 separate proposals that would increase the tax burden on our citizens. These bills ranged from increases in the ammunition, cigarette, alcohol, and snuff taxes, to extending the sales tax to services, to increasing the sales tax, and to even penalizing people for building or improving their homes and businesses through the now unpopular Green Fund bill.

Our governor has been trying to prepare the citizens of the state for massive tax increases by saying that Maryland has two choices: progress or decline. This reasoning is that we can either progress by providing services with new taxes, or decline if forced to cut the services to our citizens without tax increases. Yet, I believe that if we try to fix the structural deficit by increasing the already heavy burden of taxation, we will decline as a state.

Some may say that the taxation will only hurt those who "make the most money or those high income wage earners." That is simply untrue. Taxes affect the small-business owners who take the initiative to start their own companies or start their own businesses. It hurts the people who have to pay more for the gasoline for their vehicles because they have to drive long distances to places of employment; and it hurts the consumer, because companies who have to pay a higher taxes pass on the cost of doing business to their customers.

The House Republican proposal is simple: We must have fiscal responsibility. When the growth of government spending matches revenue, we will address the deficit. Though it is not a quick fix and it will mean making tough decisions, the choice is definitely clear. Maryland doesn't have a revenue problem; it has a spending problem.

Respectfully submitted,
Delegate Wendell R. Beitzel

quences to downtown Oakland reflects the feelings of many others in the community, as some 900 residents have signed a petition against the $42 million project. Yet most local officials are adamant in their support for the project, some even going so far as to tell the local citizenry that the time for protesting the project is past.

Oakland's Main Street program manager Jack Cougle said he had no opinion on the bypass, even though the general philosophy of the state and locally funded program he heads is geared toward preventing any threat (such as a bypass) against the downtown area.

Alvarez and the other opponents of the bypass believe that, not only will the proposed 2-mile stretch of roadway harm downtown Oakland economically, but will also destroy valuable agricultural land; be a barrier between the towns of Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park, creating inconvenience for persons traveling between the two towns; and pose a variety of safety hazards. They believe that far less money could be spent on other options to improve traffic flow through Oakland.

an octoganal platform "hub," located 20 feet off the ground among a grove of oak and hemlock trees. At the hub, the accessible bridge will loop out to the parking lot, while a 95-foot-long swinging bridge will lead visitors to a 50-foot canopy tower, designed to look like a typical Forest Service fire tower.

The swinging bridge will attach at approximately 24 feet off the ground, and visitors will be able to climb to the top of the tower, where an enclosed classroom will be located, or climb down to the ground and exit the canopy walkway.

Some type of lift may be installed at the tower to make that handicapped accessible as well. The Deep Creek canopy bridge will be the only wheelchair-accessible walkway in the world, Ranger Wilson said, and only the second public walkway in the nation. Myakka River State Park in Florida also has a public walkway. She and Blizzard toured it in 2005.

"I felt like a kid again when I hit the walkway," Blizzard said.

"A quietness descends upon you when you're out in nature," added Mopsik about her visit to a walkway in Mexico.

Commissioner Fred Holliday asked if the construction of the walkway would disturb wildlife. Project supporters stressed that in areas where walkways have been built, birds and insects get used to them after a while and resume their normal behavior.

In addition to helping visitors enjoy that quietness, the walkway will also promote conservation, research, weather observation, and ecotourism, according to project supporters.

"Visitation at Myakka River State Park increased 25 percent in the first year after the walkway was installed," Blizzard said.

The park volunteers hope to break ground for the first 100 feet of Deep Creek Forest Canopy Walkway in the spring. Once the project is completed, it will be turned over to the Park Service, Mopsik said. Lakeside Architecture Inc., a local firm, has been hired to design the structure.

"It's going to take everybody to get this built," Wilson told the commissioners.

Funding for the project will come from a wide variety of sources, including grants, contributions from foundations, and plaque donations.

About $30,000 has already been raised through these donations. Contribution levels range from $100 for a two-inch by four-inch deck-plank plaque to $5,000 for a four-inch by six-inch gold entrance plaque. Donor names will be inscribed on the plaques and placed throughout the walkway.

"Swan Meadow School has already booked a tour and bought a plank on the walkway," Blizzard said.

"We're trying to be creative and are open to other ways to do fundraising," Mopsik said.

The Western Garrett County Park Volunteers Inc. mission is to support and raise funds for local park projects. Persons interested in learning more about the group are invited to a new member reception on Thursday, Sept. 13, at the Discovery Center from 7 until 8:30 p.m.

For more information, persons may call the center at 301-387-7067.

State and local data were analyzed at the launch event, which indicated a 17% increase in alcohol-related traffic fatalities in Maryland in 2006. The year prior, however, alcohol-related traffic fatalities in Maryland decreased a total of 18% between 2004 and 2005—the second largest decrease in drunk driving deaths in the nation that year.

In 2006, Maryland law enforcement made more than 25,000 arrests for driving under the influence (DUI), which is equivalent to an arrest every 21 minutes, and confiscated more than 15,400 licenses, according to the Maryland Automated Accident Reporting System.

For the remainder of the year, Maryland State Police and more than 70 local law enforcement agencies will hold a minimum of one sobriety checkpoint or saturation patrol per week across the state.

Studies conducted by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety show that sobriety checkpoints can reduce alcohol related crashes by as much as 20%. Deploying sobriety checkpoints and saturation patrols, when and where drunk driving is most likely to occur, both deters motorists from driving under the influence and allows arrests for those who do so.

In addition to law enforcement efforts, Checkpoint Strikeforce employs radio and television ads in combination with other outreach initiatives to remind Marylanders of the many dangers and consequences of impaired driving.

Males between the ages of 21 and 35 are the primary target audience. This demographic group is typically harder to reach with public awareness campaigns and statistically represents the highest risk for driving under the influence.

Throughout the next 4½ months, more than 11,500 ads will run in Maryland and the Washington metro area.

"Maryland drivers are seeing the difference and supporting sobriety checkpoints," said a spokesperson for the strikeforce. A July 2007 public opinion survey of Maryland area drivers conducted for Checkpoint Strikeforce by MWR Strategies found that 89% of Maryland drivers support the anti-DUI initiative. In fact, 73% of drivers are aware of sobriety checkpoints in their area, while perceive drunk drivers as more than two-thirds of among the most serious Maryland drivers (70%)

Md. Children Make Gains In Numerous Areas

Based on recent data released by the Governor's Office for Children (GOC), Maryland children have made gains in numerous areas including education, and health and social behavior. The data also indicated that serious challenges loom in the near future unless appropriate measures are taken to confront them.

The 2007 Maryland Results for Child Well-Being book uses indicators and results to assess the general well-being of Maryland children and families in areas known to affect a child's ability to grow up healthy and secure. Data contained in the book look at youth development across racial, social, and economic lines, and generally deals with ages infancy to 19. The book is available online at www.goc.state.md.us.

"The Results book is a great tool to help us measure the progress Maryland is making toward meeting the needs of our children," said Catherine Motz, interim executive director of the GOC. "Using the results data, we can monitor the impact of services, programs, and initiatives on the children and families we serve."

Structured around "Maryland's Eight Results for Child Well-Being," the report contains data that examine a child's emotional, social, and physical health. The eight well-being results are: Babies Born Healthy, Healthy Children, Children Enter School Ready to Learn, Children Successful in School, Children Completing School, Children Safe in Their Families and Communities, Stable and Economically Independent Families, and Communities that Support Family Life.

GOC is using a collaborative approach to improve child well-being across the state, working with the Children's Cabinet and local management boards, to identify and focus on indicators that are priorities in each particular community and tailoring action plans to address them.

The Children's Cabinet consists of the secretaries of all of Maryland's child serving agencies, namely, the secretaries of the departments of Human Resources, Juvenile Services, Health and Mental Hygiene, Disabilities, and the superintendent of the Maryland State Department of Education, as well as the secretary of the Department of Budget and Management.

"The Children's Cabinet continues to make strides toward achieving its vision of all of Maryland's children being successful in life," said director Motz. "Through a collaborative approach, we can address the needs of the whole child, not just a part of the child's life targeted by a specific agency."

In the area of health, the statewide infant mortality rate reached a 10-year low in 2005. In 1996, there were 8.4 deaths for every 1,000 live births, whereas in 2005, the infant mortality rate had dropped to 7.3 deaths for every 1,000 live births.

On the social front, overall youth arrest rates for violent and serious nonviolent offenses declined between 1996 and 2005 for youth ages 10 to 17, the biggest drop occurring in the 15 to 17 age group. However, after slight declines in periods between 1996 to 1998 and 2000 to 2003, the arrest rate of juveniles between ages 10 and 14 for violent crimes has remained relatively steady and is cause for concern.

Some positive indicators include:

•2005 marked the lowest rate of child deaths in 10 years (29.8 per 100,000 children, ages 1-19)

•Strong gains were made in the percentage of students passing each of four high school assessments (algebra, biology, English 2, and government) in the 2005-06 school year.

•There were fewer deaths due to injury in 2005 for children ages 1-19 than 10 years ago, with a substantial decline in the death rate from accidents.

•More children are being reunified with their primary caregivers within 12 months, with 2005 marking the greatest percentage of reunifications within 12 months in the last 10 years.

Areas for improvement include:

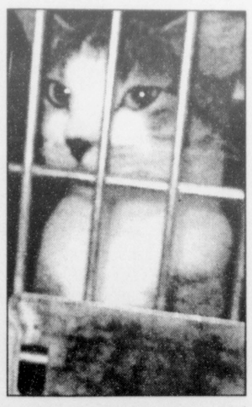
•The percentage of students absent from school more than 20 days annually has declined only slightly from 10 years ago.

•Fewer youth with a disability diagnosis of emotional disturbance are graduating from high school, with the lowest percentage of students (50.7%) in the last decade.

•The rate of injuries requiring in-patient hospitalization for children ages 0-19 has remained constant over the last decade, while the rate of injuries because of assault is on the rise.

•Since 1999, there has been a steady increase in the percentage of related children under 18 living in poverty, with 2005 marking an eight-year high.

Adorable Adoptables



THIS FRIENDLY COONHOUND was picked up in Accident and is currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. "She was not wearing a collar or tags," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "We hope her owner will want to come and reclaim her." Also looking for a home is a young female tabby with pretty markings. "We have several other nice young cats available, including last week's tabby siblings and a very pretty calico," said the spokesperson. Not pictured, but available for adoption, is a female retriever/shepherd/collie mix that was dropped off at the shelter after hours. She has long brown and black fur and appears to be a chow/Rottweiler mix. "The Garrett County Humane Society has provided $100 discount vouchers for residents whose cats have kittens," said the spokesperson. "But you must bring the kittens to the Animal Shelter in order to get a voucher. This is to prevent kittens from being given out freely to people who won't have them spayed/neutered, which of course adds to the cat overpopulation problem that already exists. You can then have your cat altered at virtually no cost to you. We will make every effort to get the kittens adopted or taken out of this area to a cat rescue, where they will be adopted. Cats can produce three litters a year, so having your cat spayed/neutered would prevent dozens of unwanted kittens from being born." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553.

University Women Meet, Plan Autumn Agenda, Schedule

The local Executive Committee of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) met earlier this month to plan the group's fall meeting schedule and agendas. President Marilyn Moors chaired the meeting.

Some of the issues on the agenda for future meetings include college scholarship funding, the group's high school mentoring program, the Read Out math program for children, the International Women's Program, fundraisers, and programs for new members.

All AAUW members and other women who are interested in becoming members are invited to a pizza dinner meeting on Monday, Sept. 10, at 5:30 p.m. Dr. Gail Herman will report on plans for the Tall Tale Storytelling and Book Festival, which will be held on Saturday, Oct. 13, from 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Fellowship Hall in Oakland. The event will be held during Autumn Glory Festival week, Oct. 10-14.

The AAUW is requesting gifts to be donated as prizes for the Tall Tale contest.

Admission to the Tall Tale Storytelling and Book Festival is $3 for senior citizens, $4 for other adults, and $2 for students and children 5 and older. Admission is free for those younger than 5 years. Proceeds from the event will fund AAUW college scholarships for Garrett County women.

For more information about the Tall Tale contest or pizza dinner, persons may call Judy Carbone at 301-616-5036 or Moors at 301-746-4057.

Md. Energy Administration Launches Four New Energy Efficiency Programs

The Maryland Energy Administration (MEA) earlier this month announced four new energy efficiency programs to save Maryland residents both energy and money. The programs will focus on increasing the energy efficiency of Maryland homes and saving energy through the use of compact fluorescent lights.

"These new residential programs will help us reach our 'EmPower Maryland' goal to reduce per capita electricity consumption in Maryland 15 percent by the year 2015," said Gov. Martin O'Malley. "In our lighting campaign alone, if each Maryland resident changed just one light bulb to a compact fluorescent light (CFL), we would reduce electric bills throughout the state by almost $20 million per year."

The Maryland Energy Administration will coordinate the four newest programs under the EmPower Maryland initiative.

"The least expensive kilowatt of energy is the one not needed," said Malcolm Woolf, MEA director. "These programs help promote affordable, reliable and clean energy."

The four new EmPower Maryland programs are as follows:

•Maryland Energy Efficient Affordable Housing Development Program – Using a $250,000 MEA grant, the Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) will initiate an affordable housing program to increase the energy efficiency of homes receiving funding assistance from DHCD.

New homes will have to meet the national EPA Energy Star program's energy saving target of being 15 percent more energy efficient than is required by code. Existing home rehabilitation projects will have to increase their energy efficiency levels by approximately 15 percent.

•Improving Energy Efficiency in Existing Homes – MEA will initiate a pilot program in Prince George's and Montgomery counties to increase existing home energy efficiency through a whole-house approach. The program will train local home remodeling contractors and heating and cooling contractors to evaluate homes using state-of-the-art equipment and recommend comprehensive improvements that will provide the highest energy savings at the lowest cost, according to an MEA spokesperson.

This pilot will implement the national EPA and U.S. Department of Energy's Home Performance program with the Energy Star program. The average energy savings, based upon experience in other states, should be approximately 20 percent, the spokesperson noted.

•Energy Efficient Lighting: Change A Light, Change the World – Gov. O'Malley will kick off a statewide effort with Maryland residents, colleges, schools, businesses, and utilities to promote the Change a Light, Change the World Campaign on Oct. 3. The campaign is initiated by the federal energy and environmental agencies.

The national campaign encourages each consumer to change at least one incandescent light bulb to a compact fluorescent light bulb. The Maryland campaign will encourage residents to add four CFLs to their homes to save even more energy than the national program.

If every Maryland home replaced four existing light bulbs with CFLs, residential electricity consumption in Maryland would decrease by 2 percent and equate to saving $81 million, according to the spokesperson.

•Energy Efficient Lighting for DHR Office of Home Energy Programs Participants – MEA, in coordination with the Maryland Department of Human Resources' Office of Home Energy Programs, will provide 100,000 CFLs to participants in the department's energy assistance programs.

"Low-income families are particularly hard hit by increases in energy prices, and this effort will help families cut their lighting bills," said the spokesperson.

In addition to these programs, the MEA was directed by the governor at his recent Energy Summit to develop a strategic energy plan to help Maryland "take control of its energy future," she noted.

program next spring.

Commissioner Fred Holliday stressed the need to have a "flat fee" across the board for all private land owners wanting to participate in the program, noting that it was not fair for one person to have to pay more than someone else.

Emergency Management

Director Brad Frantz, Emergency Management, reported that a full-scale hazardous materials exercise would be held at Garrett College on Saturday, Sept. 8, beginning at 8:30 a.m. The event will include the testing of decontamination equipment that was purchased with a grant from the Maryland Department of the Environment.

Frantz also reported that a commodity flow study would be conducted soon at Keyser's Ridge to learn more about what types of materials are being transported through Garrett County. At Keyser's Ridge, information can be "captured" from three major highways: I-68, Rt. 219, and Rt. 40, he noted.

Health Department

The second annual Garrett County Health Fair is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 9, at Wisp Resort, beginning at 11 a.m., health officer Rodney Glotfelty reported.

"It will be a very good activity for a Sunday afternoon," he said.

Jon Burnett, KDKA television weather anchor in Pittsburgh, Pa., will be the master of ceremonies. Numerous health care professionals will discuss a wide variety of issues, and many exhibits will be set up during the event, the director noted.

Glotfelty also reported that the U.S. Department of Agriculture conducted an aerial rabies vaccine baiting operation last week in the western portion of the county between Friendsville and Oakland. Two-inch blocks of fish meal containing the oral raccoon rabies vaccine were distributed in that area to help prevent the virus from spreading westward.

This is the fourth year that the baiting program has been conducted in Garrett County.

Glotfelty said the vaccine is specific to raccoons and would not harm cats and dogs. People, however, should not handle the bait. A toll-free telephone number is listed on the blocks for residents to call for more information.

Ruth Enlow Library

Director Cathy Ashby reported that the Ruth Enlow Library has chartered a bus to the National Book Festival on Saturday, Sept. 29, in Washington, D.C. The last day to sign up for the trip is Sept. 18, Ashby noted.

First lady Laura Bush will be the keynote speaker for the event. More than 70 authors, including Joyce Carol Oats, Jodi Picoudt, and David Baldacci, will also be in attendance.

Ashby also reported that the Oakland Library will hold an open house on Thursday, Oct. 18, from 3 until 4 p.m. to showcase the improvements made at the facility. A library board meeting will be held following the open house.

Board of Education

Dr. Wendell Teets, school superintendent, reported that Rt. 40 School was having problems with its well; which is currently only producing three gallons of water per minute.

The reason for the decline is unknown, and a new well will probably have to be drilled, Teets noted. The Health Department is working the Board of Education to resolve the problem.

Western Md. Consortium

Local youth participating in a summer employment program completed their final day on Friday, Director Jon Wynn, Western Maryland Consortium, reported.

"It was a good summer," he said, noting that 43 students, many with special needs, were employed at 26 work sites throughout the county.

The director also reported that 10 adults were participating in a retraining program in the medical field, including three registered nurses and two certified nurses aides.

Oxford Piano Quartet Next In MPA Lineup

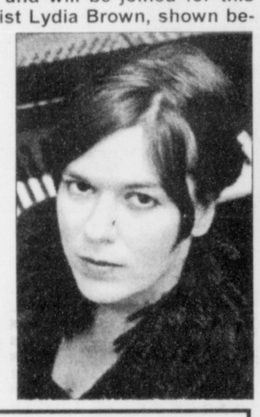
The 15th season of the Music at Penn Alps summer series of concerts will conclude this Saturday, Sept. 1, with a performance by the Oxford Piano Quartet. The presentation will be in the Great Hall at Penn Alps, Grantsville, and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

String players Harvey Thurmer, Mary E.M. Harris, and Pansy Chang perform regularly as a string trio and will be joined this weekend by pianist Lydia Brown to perform the Piano Quartet in E Flat Major by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and the Piano Quartet in C minor by Gabriel Fauré.

The Oxford String Quartet holds a faculty residency at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, and tours regionally and nationally. International activities include annual performances at the Echternach Festival in Europe, concert tours of Argentina and Venezuela, and recent performances in Austria, South Korea, and Japan.

Violinist Harvey Thurmer is a soloist, concertmaster, chamber musician, and pedagogue. He has performed and taught extensively throughout Europe, England, and the United States. Dr. Thurmer is currently an associate professor of violin at Miami University, Ohio, concertmaster of the Richmond Symphony Orchestra in Indiana, and a member of the DaVinci Quartet in Denver.

Harris, and Pansy Chang, shown above, perform regularly as a string trio, and will be joined for this MPA performance by pianist Lydia Brown, shown below. See story for details.



Violist Mary E.M. Harris is a graduate of the University of Indiana, Bloomington, and an associate professor of viola at Miami University, Ohio. She has served as principal violist of the South Dakota and Fox Valley symphonies and the New American Chamber orchestra, touring Europe extensively and performing at international music festivals.

Cellist Pansy Chang earned her master of music degree from Yale University, and has performed as a soloist, chamber musician, and orchestral musician in North America, Europe, Asia, and Israel. A former member of the Oregon Symphony, she has also appeared with the National Symphony Orchestra and the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center. She is an assistant professor of violoncello at Miami University.

Pianist Lydia Brown holds a doctoral degree from the Juilliard School and degrees from the Eastman School of Music and Yale University. She has performed extensively as a soloist and collaborative pianist throughout the world, at venues including the Goethe Institute, Steinway Hall, Kennedy Center Terrace Theater, and Weill Recital Hall.

SO LONG SUMMER, HELLO AUTUMN! The Remedy will again close the Little Yough Summer Music Festival season with a concert this Friday, Aug. 31, at 7 p.m. in the Mountain Fresh Producers pavilion, Oakland, that is if the weather cooperates. This local band's Labor Day weekend salute to summer was delayed last year by heavy rain showers. Band members include an audiologist, elementary school teacher, county administrator, health officer, dentist, optometrist, and a surgeon, who like to unwind from their professional duties by playing lots of rock, blues, and boogie-woogie. Seating is limited for this free concert, so those attending may want to bring a lawn chair or blanket. Food vendors will set up at 6 p.m. Pictured, left to right, in the front are Jana Brown, Kim Grimm-Weimer, and Dr. Jim Jones. In the back are Monty Pagenhardt, Greg Was, Rodney Glotfelty, Dr. Dave Paolini, Gino Mauricci, Dr. Charles Walch, Dr. Fred Hazelwood, and Bob Browning.

Historical Soc. To Host Benefit Dinner/Concert

The Garrett County Historical Society will present a dinner/concert benefit event on Thursday, Sept. 13, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The complete turkey dinner with desserts and beverages will be followed by a concert of New Orleans jazz performed by the Sugarfoot Stompers. The group is a traditional jazz quintet that performed at the society's annual dinner meeting in June, "to a standing ovation," noted Bob Boal, president of the organization.

Members of the quintet are Steve Vortigen, trombone; Tom Simpson, trumpet; Gino Mauricci, clarinet; Matt Eary, bass; and Abe Folmsbee, banjo.

The tickets for the benefit are $20 per person and can be reserved or picked up at the Garrett County Museum, located along Second Street in Oakland (301-334-3226).

The proceeds will go toward the urgently needed new furnace at the museum, Boal said.

Frostburg State Univ. Announces Second Annual Appalachian Fest

The local region's cultural heritage will be the focus of Frostburg State University's second annual Appalachian Festival, slated for Sept. 21 and 22.

"The event will bring together a variety of performers and craftspeople to celebrate the natural landscape, history, food, and musical and artistic offerings of western Maryland and the surrounding areas," a spokesperson said.

Film, live music performances, storytelling, and public demonstrations are among the festivities making up this year's event, many of which are free and open to the public and suitable for the whole family, the spokesperson noted.

The Appalachian Festival will kick off with a special screening of two films at 8 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 21, at downtown Frostburg's historic Palace Theatre along Main Street. The Palace will show The True Meaning of Pictures by Jennifer Baichwal, a documentary that examines the work of Shelby Lee Adams, a photographer who takes pictures of Appalachian people.

The second film will be Ready for Harvest: Clearcutting in the Southern Appalachians by Anne Lewis Johnson, which explores the complex questions associated with extensive logging in the southern Appalachian mountains. Tickets to see both films are $5.50 and may be purchased at the door.

On Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., FSU's Upper Quad will be the location of a variety of activities, demonstrations, and music performances, all free and open to the public. Regional music, displays and sales of traditional arts and crafts, Appalachian food, history presentations, children's activities, environmental talks, storytelling, and more will be going on throughout the day.

Featured musicians will include the Allegheny Drifters, Sparky and Rhonda Rucker, Greg Latta, and the Critton Hollow String Band. There will be handmade crafts on display, including spinning, seat caning, and quilting, created by artists from such groups as Pennsylvania's Participating Artists of the Turkeyfoot Highlands.

ATHERTON'S MULTIMEDIA EXHIBIT ON DISPLAY – Prints and sculptures in a variety of media created by Natalie Atherton are now on display at the Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council in Oakland. The Gallery will host an informal public reception for the artist on Friday, Sept. 7, from 5 to 7 p.m. Pictured above is Atherton's terra cotta wall sculpture. See story for details.

Atherton Exhibits Prints, Sculptures At The Gallery

A new multimedia exhibit featuring prints and sculptures by Natalie Atherton has opened this week at the Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council in Oakland. The Gallery will host an informal public reception for the artist on Friday, Sept. 7, from 5 to 7 p.m.

'I make art because I like to arrange and rearrange images that can tell part of a story, or introduce a conversation," said Atherton in introducing her work. "I use a vocabulary of images — maps, books, origami cranes, bricks, etc. — that are recognizable to most anyone. They are recognizable, but not necessarily used the way one might expect."

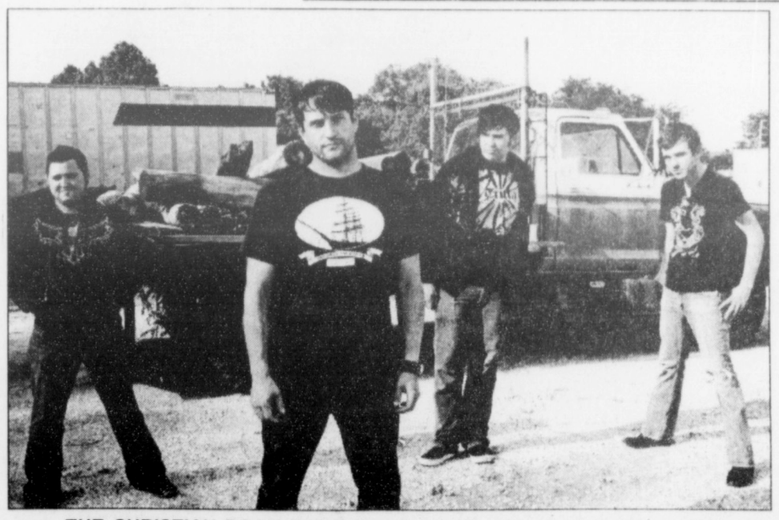
Atherton has won awards from the Chautauqua Institution in New York and the University of the Arts in Philadelphia, where she earned a master of fine arts degree in ceramics. She taught the art of clay work at the Clay Studio in Philadelphia and at the Carbondale Clay Center in Carbondale, Colo. She has contributed to exhibits and installations in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and at a number of other venues in Maryland and Colorado.

"I like clay because it can be made to look like pretty much anything," she said. "It takes impressions, records them, and if I am not careful, distorts them. I like that, too."

Atherton's sculptures at the Gallery are complemented by two-dimensional monotype prints.

"The monotypes are an experiment," said the artist. "Through the prints I can see how color impacts the image vocabulary I use in my sculpture. Without coming from the same motivation, the sculpture and prints go together and tell a more complete story."

Atherton's exhibit will remain on display at the Gallery through Oct. 6. Additional information about the exhibit and the Sept. 7 reception is available by calling the Garrett County Arts Council at 301-334-6580.



THE CHRISTIAN ROCK BAND Jonah 33 will present a concert on Saturday, Sept. 1, beginning at 7 p.m. at Cherry Glade Mennonite Church. There will be a $5 admission charge. For more information on the band, persons may visit www.jonah33rock.com. The concert is part of the annual "Breakaway" event at Country Acres Retreat, which begins tonight, and runs through Sunday, Sept. 2. William Shakespeare's most memorable scenes will be performed "in fast forward, hitting all the highlights," in Frostburg State University's Cultural Events Series parody titled The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged).

This unique presentation of Shakespeare's most timeless tales of love and tragedy will be presented on Wednesday, Sept. 19, 7:30 p.m., in the Lane University Center's Alice R. Manicur Hall.

An off-Broadway hit and the longest running comedy in London, this tribute to the bard condenses his 37 plays and 154 sonnets into a two-hour performance by three actors. All 16 comedies become one story featuring a shipwreck, an influential duke, and three sets of identical twins.

"Hamlet, despite complaints by the actors that there are 'too many words,' is done both forwards and backwards," a spokesperson said. "Irreverent and hilarious, the dauntless cast speeds through 75 different characters, dozens of costumes, and nearly 100 props. And in the true spirit of Shakespeare's Globe Theatre, this play requires its performers to improvise, think on their feet, and react to the will of the crowd."

Tickets are $25, which includes the show as well as a meal of either steak or vegetable primavera. A cash bar will also be available. Those who opt to attend the performance only may purchase tickets for just the show at $16 for the general public, $14 for faculty and staff, $12 for children 17 and younger, and $5 for FSU students.

To purchase tickets or to obtain more information about the show, persons may call the FSU Cultural Events Box Office at 301-687-3137 or toll free at 1-866-TIXX-CES.

The Cultural Events Series is supported in part by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council, an agency funded by the state of Maryland and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Ungar and Mason will perform a variety of musical selections, including Appalachian melodies, Cajun and Celtic fiddle tunes, Civil War classics, songs from the Golden Age of swing and country, and original works. Playing together since the late 1970s, they gained widespread recognition for their soundtrack work in the Ken Burns PBS series, The Civil War, including the performance of Ungar's original composition, "Ashokan Farewell." The soundtrack won a Grammy, and Ungar's melody was nominated for an Emmy.

Garrett County To Host Half-Iron Triathlon

Kyle Yost, marketing director for the SavageMan Triathlon, has announced that the "Tri-To-Win" SavageMan Triathlon will be held in Garrett County on Sunday, Sept. 16.

A triathlon is a strenuous endurance event, with this particular race consisting of a 1.2-mile swim in Deep Creek Lake, followed by a 56-mile ride around Garrett County, then a 13.1-mile run in Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Triathlon organizers expressed the need to inform Garrett County residents of a few concerns in order to inconvenience residents as little as possible on race day.

The event will utilize a 56-mile stretch of Garrett County roads for the cycling portion, which could result in minor inconveniences, including brief closures of Toothpick, Spring Lick, and Westernport roads.

Residents in the area of the event are asked to keep all pets tethered on the day of the race between 8:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Residents are also asked to support the athletes by cheering them on or to volunteer at the event, if willing.

"This triathlon is already succeeding in bringing a number of athletes to the area to train, and after the event occurs and the word spreads about how beautiful the region is, only more active tourists will make Garrett County a destination," said Yost.

Approximately 300 athletes are expected to participate in the triathlon, and an additional 300-500 spectators are expected to come to the area in support. Athletes from as far as Australia and Belgium will attend to test themselves on the local mountains.

The fastest athletes will complete the course in less than five hours, while some athletes will take up to nine hours.

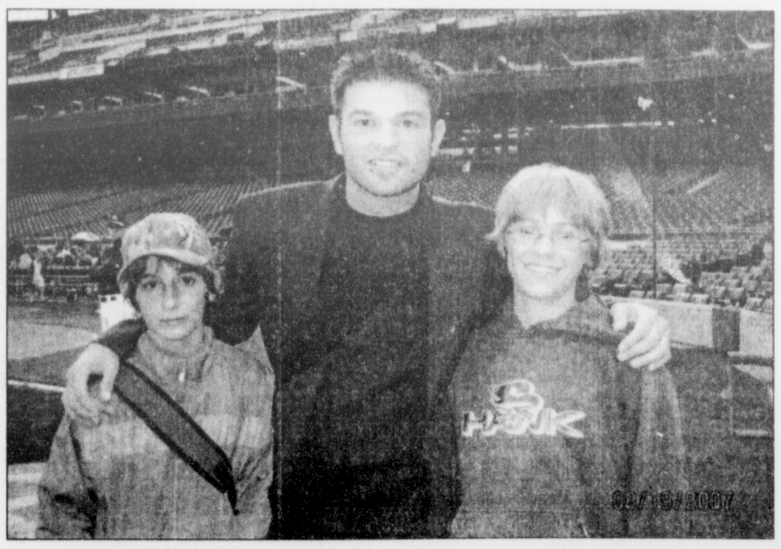
Yost announced that 100% of all proceeds will benefit the Joanna M. Nicolay Melanoma Foundation, which supports the prevention, detection, care, and cure of Melanoma.

The race will start at 8 a.m. from the boat ramps in DCL State Park, and will conclude at 4:30 p.m. in the park. There will be limited access to the park, and no access to the public boat ramps until the final athletes are out of the water and on their bikes.

Westernport will be the hot spot of the race, where spectators will congregate and cheer on participants as they struggle over the Westernport Wall and Big Savage Mtn. The main race venue will be at the north end of the park near the pavilions, where the race will finish.

Persons who live near Deep Creek Lake and have one or more free bedrooms, and are willing to host an athlete should e-mail race organizers at info@savagemantri.org. Some of the athletes will be professionals who are traveling around the world to participate in "Tri-To-Win" triathlons, and the committee would like to provide them with comfortable, friendly lodging near the race venue.

Persons interested in volunteering during race day may e-mail volunteers@savagemantri.org.



LOCAL BOYS HAVE BRUSH WITH PIRATE GREATNESS – Josh and Justin Nesselrodt, Kitzmiller, recently attended a Pirates baseball game and got an added bonus when the game was delayed by rain. Jay Sedlak, coordinator of in-game entertainment, gave the boys a tour of the facilities. Then after the game, Justin and Josh went onto the field as Sedlak started the pre-game activities for the Friendship Series 2007, an all-star game between teams from Japan and the United States. While on the field, Freddy Sanchez, second basemen for the Pirates, invited the Nesselrodts to have their picture taken with him. The boys also toured the batting cages, locker room, and media area from where the games are broadcast. Sedlak showed Josh and Justin how such things as stats, pictures, and music are done during games, and how replays are presented. While there, they met and talked with Bob Walk and John Wehner, Pirates baseball broadcasters. At the end of the tour, Sedlak gave the boys baseballs from the field, T-shirts, and other Pirates merchandise. Sanchez is pictured above with Justin (left) and Josh, and the boys are shown below with Walk and Wehner.

Huskies' Golfers Open With Three Straight Wins

Northern High School's golf team got off to a solid start by taking first in three recent matches. The Huskies won its own invitational, played Thursday, Aug. 16, then defeated Keyser in a match played Aug. 22, also at Wisp, and finally topped both Frankfort and Keyser in a Tuesday evening match.

With just one player lost to graduation, Coach Warren Glotfelty and the 2007 Husky golf team are optimistic about the season.

Anchoring this year's team are seniors Zak Brosnihan, Jeff Smith, and Andrew Joslin, junior Ed Herpel, and freshman Austin Doerr.

"I can see great talent from the entire team this year," said Coach Glotfelty. "Every member of this team has great potential and is of great value to our team's success."

Northern cinched the lead during its invitational by 20 strokes, with a team score of 355, topping Preston with 375, Southern with 389, Ft. Hill with 399, and Allegany with an incomplete score.

Ed Herpel recorded a low score of 83 for Northern, followed by Austin Doerr with a score of 86.

Preston's Jordan Schreider had the lowest score of the day at 77.

Southern's Brady Donaldson and Tyler Ewing tied with a score of 93, and Drew Morgan had a score of 85 for Ft. Hill.

Northern carded a 176 last Wednesday at Wisp, 23 strokes under Keyser High School's team score.

Pacing the Huskies was Herpel with a 41, and finishing with two strokes back were both Doerr and Zak Brosnihan.

Tim Sick led Keyser with a 41, followed by Brad Ryan with a 50 and Maverick Nelson with a 52.

In Tuesday match, Doerr carded the lowest score of the day at 37, helping Northern to a team score of 163 to top Frankfort's 170 and Keyser's 191.

Other low-scoring players for Northern were Brosnihan with a 39 and Herpel at 42.

Jeff Alt led the Falcons with a 38, and Jr. Lucas shot a 39. For Keyser, Maverick Nelson and Charlie Abernathy each shot 47s.

According to Glotfelty, this season's team motto is "to look to the future and not dwell on the past, shot to shot, hole to hole, and match to match. Always look forward."

The Huskies finished with a record of 17-26-1 last season.

Northern will play Mt. Ridge at Maplehurst this evening, and will play Southern next Thursday at the Oakland Golf Club.

Rams Golf Team Opens Season With 7-2 Record

The golf team of Southern high school recently opened its 2007 season under returning coach Alan Skidmore, and currently sports a record of 7-2.

In its most recent match, played Tuesday evening, the Rams took Tucker County, 185-202, after topping Preston and Fort Hill at a home match played last Thursday evening.

Coach Skidmore lost Seth Fike, Ryan Martin, and Joe Albert to graduation. The top returning player is senior Derick DeWitt.

Other notable players include senior Jeff Stem, juniors Reece Duncan and Tyler Ewing, and sophomores Brady Donaldson, Mark Mattingly, and Trevor Messenger.

"We have some good, young players who are gaining confidence, and will help us this year," said Skidmore.

In last Thursday's triangular golf match played at the Oakland Golf Club against Preston and Fort Hill, DeWitt shot a 42 to lead Southern to victory.

Southern's team score was a 177, Preston had 178, and Fort Hill 183.

Brady Donaldson had a 44 for the Rams, while Jordan Schneider and T.J. Thompson each shot 44s for Preston.

Curtis Deter of Fort Hill was the low medalist with a 41, and Jared Bean carded a 43.

During Tuesday's match, Donaldson shot a 43 to help Southern to a team score of 185, sailing past Tucker County, which recorded a 202.

DeWitt had a 44 for the winning team, and Tucker County's Jake Testerman had a 46.

According to Coach Skidmore, the Rams expect their most difficult opponents to be Northern and Preston, and Skidmore's biggest concern is that his team doesn't have one or two players who consistently shoot in the 30s. On the other hand, he said that they do "have six or seven players who can consistently shoot in the 40s."

Southern also played in a five-team tournament at Wisp, where it placed third. (See other golf story.)

Southern will play against Tucker, Moorefield, and East Hardy again this evening at 4 p.m. at Canaan Valley. The Rams will host Mt. Ridge at 4 p.m. next Tuesday, and Northern next Thursday at 4 p.m.

Oakland Golf Club To Host Patriot Golf Day Sept. 1

Oakland Golf Club will participate in the nation's first Patriot Golf Day on Saturday, Sept. 1.

Patriot Golf Day is a joint initiative of the PGA of America and the United States Golf Association. Golfers across the country and at Oakland Golf Club will be asked to donate $1 to Wounded Warriors, which benefits the Fallen Heroes Foundation to support families of those who have become disabled or lost their lives in the line of military duty.

Oakland Golf Club will request an additional $1 for each green fee that is processed on Sept. 1.

"This is a great way for the golf industry to help the families of those who have lost their lives so that we may have our freedom," said Patrick Warren, PGA professional of the Oakland Golf Club. "This is a wonderful opportunity for golfers in our community to give back to those who have given something."

Patriot Golf Day is spearheaded by PGA professional Dan Rooney of Stillwater, Okla. Rooney, an F-16 pilot in the 125th Fighter Squadron of the Okalahoma Air National Guard, has logged two tours of duty to Iraq, and following his most recent tour, he began to think of ways he could stay involved in the war effort. Rooney is also in the process of establishing the Fallen Heroes Foundation, which will pay for the education of an adult who has lost a spouse and/or children who have lost a parent in Iraq or Afghanistan.

Wounded Warriors' mission is to provide support to families of those who have been wounded, injured, or killed during combat operations. The organization owns family-friendly resort condominiums in Orlando, Fla., and Galveston, Texas, where war-torn families can retreat to restore peace and solace to their lives after the trauma they've endured.

For more information about Patriot Golf Day, including a list of participating facilities and how to make a donations, persons may visit the web site at www.PlayGolfAmerica.com.

Thank You!

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the volunteer fire companies who responded to the fire at my home on Sunday, August 19, 2007. Also, thank you to all the friends, neighbors, and especially my family for their generosity and donations during this loss. Special thanks to the Garrett County Roads Department for all you have done for me at this tragic time.

Thank you all so much,
David Pysell

Sailboat Racing
On Deep Creek Lake

AN IMMACULATE 270
by Dan Muss

This past weekend blessed us again with great sailing weather. Saturday the forecast was for 5-10 SW, but it was more like 10-15 SW on the water. We got off to a reasonable start in the middle of the line, but Rissell was called over early. It turned out that a Laser was coming downwind on the port tack while Rissell was approaching the line upwind on starboard with about 15 seconds to go. With the wind howling both boats were traveling very fast, and Ted had to head up to avoid slicing the Laser in two. This move put him over the line. He ducked back down, but the committee boat called him over at the horn. He had to go back and restart, which put him at the back of our fleet. He then crawled his way back up to finish fourth, really great sailing.

We were sailing close-hauled on the starboard tack as the Championship Fleet came down toward us with spinnakers flying, when we came very close to disaster. The lead downwind boat headed up to avoid us, but a puff hit us and the tiller slipped out of my hand. As our boat heeled over, I lost my balance and pitched forward; for a split second I was looking at green water coming in over the gunnel, but I was able to stop myself from going into the drink by putting my hand on the leeward gunnel. The boat rounded up into the wind and tacked itself onto port and then bore off downwind. We had just done an uncontrolled 270-degree turn in the midst of a fleet of downwind boats.

I was then able to grab the tiller again and regain control. I was bleeding from a gash on the hand that I had used to stop my fall, but we were back in the race. We must have fouled several championship boats, but I guess they saw that we were out of control and were forgiving. Having survived that "Chinese fire drill" in one piece, it's not unreasonable to call the outcome miraculous. All the while this was going on, I never heard a peep from my crew, Fearless Marilyn Filemyr; later she told me that she was sure I was going into the water headfirst!

We were then at the back of the fleet as we rounded the first windward mark, but we caught a bunch of boats on the spinnaker run and a couple more on the next reach. We were right behind Elster and Kemp as we hardened up for the beat after rounding the leeward mark, when we saw Elster capsize. Her crew, Julie Powers, was out on the centerboard and, even though Julie looks like she weighs less than 100 pounds (wet), she was able to right the boat. But Elster did not have a boarding ladder on her boat and Julie was not able to get Barbara back in the boat to continue the race; they had to get outside assistance from the patrol boat.

It was now a race between us and Kemp, and he beat us handily to the windward mark. However, on the downwind leg, Kemp did not fly his spinnaker and we overtook him. Now we had a choice of whether to pass him to windward or to leeward. If I chose windward we would take his air as we went by, which would slow him down even more. If I chose leeward we would have to sail through his wind shadow. But he had no spinnaker up and we did. If we tried to pass to windward he could luff us very rapidly and our spinnaker would become a liability ... we went to leeward. As we drew ahead, Kemp, inexplicably, bore off and his boom hit our port shroud. We were leeward boat and he had to do a 720-penalty turn. On the final beat to the finish, Kemp was again closing on us, but we held on to win.

While Saturday was tough with pretty heavy air, Sunday was lovely with near perfect racing conditions. Wind 5-10 N with a few puffs up to 15 and temperatures in the 70s. We led for the first leg, but Kemp caught us downwind and had room at the leeward mark. I gave him what I thought was sufficient room, but his boom again hit our shroud and he protested us for not giving sufficient room. I thought that he had not rounded in a "seaman-like" manner and did not do penalty turns.

The protest was disallowed on a technicality (no red protest flag), but a hearing was held for heuristic purposes. The protest committee concluded that we had not given Kemp enough room.

I went home to nurse my bruises from the previous day's racing and to contemplate next weekend's Commodore's Regatta, the last formal event of our season.

In last week's column I had to submit my copy before I had the Flying Scot results, so I'm including them here.

DNR Announces Hunting Seasons For Waterfowl

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Wildlife and Heritage Service has finalized the 2007-2008 late waterfowl hunting seasons for Maryland, which feature a 60-day duck season. The duck season has three segments, running from Oct. 13 to Oct. 20, from Nov. 10 to Nov. 23, and then from Dec. 11 to Jan. 26. The daily bag limit will be six ducks per day.

"As always, public input helped guide our decisions. The individuals who took the time to attend our public meeting and provide comments through our online forum should be commended," said Paul Peditto, director of DNR's Wildlife and Heritage Service.

One change that hunters will notice in the new duck hunting regulations is an increase in the canvasback daily bag limit. Hunters will be able to take two canvasbacks per day this year. The estimated spring breeding population of canvasbacks was 865,000, 53 percent above the 1955-2006 average and the North American Waterfowl Management Plan goal of 500,000. The 2007 estimate for this species is the highest ever recorded.

The 2007 spring breeding pair survey of Atlantic Population (migratory) Canada geese was 195,700, compared to 160,020 in 2006. Although the number of breeding pairs increased, cold weather and a delay in the spring snow melt led to a reduced nesting effort. Banding crews on the Ungava Peninsula indicate that gosling production was poor, especially along the Hudson Bay coast.

The AP Canada goose season will remain at 45 days, with a daily bag limit of two geese, and will be split into two parts, running from November 15 to November 23, and again from December 15 to January 26.

Hunters who participated in the public meeting desired a later opening to the snow goose hunting season. Thus, the snow goose hunting season will run from Oct. 27 to Nov. 23 and from Nov. 26 through March 8.

Hunters 15 years old and younger are encouraged by the DNR to participate in National Youth Waterfowl Hunting Day on Nov. 3. Participants accompanied by an unarmed adult age 21 or older may take ducks, coots, mergansers, sea ducks, snow geese, brant, and Canada geese on this day.

The 2007-2008 late waterfowl season dates and bag limits will be published in the annual migratory game bird season synopsis and distributed to DNR Wildlife and Heritage Service offices and sport license agents in mid-September.

All migratory game bird hunters, including landowners who are license-exempt, are required to obtain the Maryland Migratory Game Bird Stamp. Hunters must possess the printed receipt showing proof of purchase of the Maryland Migratory Game Bird Stamp while hunting migratory game birds.

All waterfowl hunters age 16 and over must also purchase the Federal Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp (Federal Duck Stamp), which must be signed and in possession while hunting waterfowl and coots. Hunters may obtain federal duck stamps at U.S. post offices, National Wildlife refuges, and some DNR sport license agents. New this year, hunters may purchase the Federal Duck Stamp online at www.duckstamp.com.

Non-toxic shot is required for hunting waterfowl and coots. Hunters may not possess or use non-toxic shot shells containing shot larger than size No. T, or any lead shot shells while waterfowl hunting. Approved types of nontoxic shot and other information on migratory game bird hunting are listed in the 2007-2008 Guide to Hunting and Trapping in Maryland or on DNR's web site at http://www.dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide/index.asp.

Hunters are encouraged to report banded migratory game birds by calling toll-free 1-800-327-BAND (2263). Banded birds can also be reported online at: http://www.pwrc.usgs.gov/bbl/homepage/call800.htm.

For more information about the 2007-2008 Maryland late waterfowl seasons and bag limits submitted to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, persons may visit http://www.dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide/lwfchart.asp.

Tender Loving Home Care
Understanding HOME HEALTH CARE
by Kristine Graber, RN, BSN
COMPANIONS CAN IMPROVE SENIORS' LIVES
Do you know an older adult whose health is strong but needs a little extra help to remain at home? Perhaps that person does not like to walk his or her dog in the bad weather. Or, maybe he or she fears falling in the bathtub and doesn't like to shower without someone else in the house. The basement stairs can be a dangerous impediment to doing laundry for someone who is unable to navigate the narrow stairs safely. However, none of these obstacles should mean that a person has to head to a nursing home or specialty housing. Most home health agencies employ people called companions who can perform a vast array of non-medical tasks for the patient.
TENDER LOVING HOME CARE, INC., can provide you and your family with home care and home health care, such as kind companionship, tailored to your specific needs. Other services range from assistance with personal hygiene and bathing, dressing, to escort to appointments, and most importantly–tender loving care. For more information, please call. Our caring professional staff is available for 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Long or short-term care is available, whenever it's needed. Since 1987, Tender Loving Home Care has provided in-home personal care services to adults throughout Washington, Allegany, and Garrett Counties.
P.S. Research shows that people who maintain social connections in their old age experience less mental decline.

"Jim Cantore pushes television forecasting to the next level. Much as Michael Jordan changed basketball, Jim Cantore has forever altered the field of weather forecasting. This man means business."

Though Cantore is best known for his animated, "in-your-face," live field coverage during the last 15 years, he also was the creator, producer, writer, and talent for an annual on-air segment called "The Fall Foliage Report," which was later expanded to 1-900-WEATHER and weather.com.)

During the 1999-2000 NFL football season, Cantore was part of the Fox NFL Sunday team, reporting on the games affected by the weather.

He has reported from such events as the Space Shuttle Discovery Launch, the Winter X Games, PGA tournaments, and the National Cable Television Association Convention.

In addition, for two years Cantore was the anchor for a live New York City area local forecast insert called Tri-State Weather.

He is a member of both the National Weather Association and the American Meteorological Society (AMS). He holds the AMS "Television Seal of Approval."

The Wellerbrücke rapids, called the Eiger North Wall of kayaking, are one of the most difficult whitewater sections in the world. The championship takes place on a 200 meter course, where competitors have to master a gradient of 10%. The difficulties are between class V (extremely difficult) and class VI (only runnable under ideal circumstances), according to the international standard from class I to class VI.

This event will be the eighth stop on Shimrock's THRIVE Lifestyles tour, which can be followed on his blog at http://thrive-lifestyles.blogspot.com. For more information, persons may e-mail Shimrock @ jshimrock@adventure-sportscenter.com or call 240-321-0686.

Dreaming in Libro

by Louise Bernikow

c. 2007, DaCapo LifeLong, $22.95, 202 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Remember falling in love? Remember how your senses go on full alert? The smell of her hair, the feel of his cheek, the sound of her voice, the look in his eyes, the taste of kisses, all imprinted on your brain for good. What can compare to that giddy feeling you get when you're close to your beloved?

So who ever said that the one you love has to have two feet? In the new book Dreaming in Libro by Louise Bernikow, you'll read about a love affair that you can really sink your canines into.

Louise Bernikow is a writer. She's used to coming and going as she pleases, leaving for Paris on a minute's notice, flying to workshops, and flitting to book signings. She was positively not a dog person.

That is, until she was jogging in Riverside Park in Manhattan and saw a crowd of people surrounding a police car. Curious and despite herself, Bernikow looked inside the car and found herself eyeball-to-eyeball with a boxer dog who nearly demanded that she help him. She claimed him and, with dog in tow, headed home. She promised both herself and the dog that it would only be temporary.

"Temporary" lasted nine years.

Far from the inconvenience Bernikow thought he might be, Libro quickly became Bernikow's Saturday night date, her lunch companion, sounding board, office staff, protector on walks, travel buddy, giver of slobbery kisses, and the subject of her last book. He accompanied her on book-signing trips around the country, on relaxing walks in the city, and on vacation in the Hamptons. He shared a bed with her sometimes; meals, now and then; and the sofa, as often as possible. Libro gathered friends faster than a Dale Carnegie graduate, and he introduced his new buddies to his housemate. Bernikow, former come-and-go-as-she-pleased writer, had become a completely smitten, head-over-heels dog lover.

But – as Bernikow struggled to remember – the answer to "How long does a dog live?" is "Not as long as his owner." Libro had physical issues when he adopted Bernikow. As he aged, his health declined and veterinarian visits increased. Libro's presence had protected Bernikow on the streets of Manhattan. Could anything protect her heart from the inevitable?

On your way home from getting this book, be sure to give yourself time to stop for a box of tissues. You're going to need it when you read Dreaming in Libro.

Author Louise Bernikow is alternately funny and wise; willing to poke fun at her lack of knowledge, shrug her shoulders, and treat Libro as the person she knows lurks inside his brown coat. Typical of a newly minted (or any) dog lover, she's eager to tell tails about her boy, coo over his intelligence, comment on his superb abilities, and brag about his social life and the friends he accumulates.

If you've ever carried a photo of your dog in your wallet, Dreaming in Libro is a book you'll completely identify with. For dog lovers of any age, this book is an absolute dream.

Med Center To Participate In AIM-HI Study

Mountain Laurel Medical Center in Oakland has been selected by the American Academy of Family Physicians as one of 24 practices across the United States to participate in the Americans in Motion–Healthy Intervention (AIM-HI) study.

Mountain Laurel will enroll 30 or more patients in the project to determine the effects of primary care counseling and new screening techniques on patients' physical and emotional health, a spokesperson explained.

"The whole model of AIM-HI is that you need to live a healthy lifestyle if you're going to preach a healthy lifestyle," said Ron Greger, M.D., Mountain Laurel's medical director. In addition to recruiting patients to participate in the study, Mountain Laurel's staff has volunteered to participate in the study.

"An earlier pilot study showed that when physicians and staff members made small changes in their own lifestyles, they incorporated those better into their patient care," said Greger. "That's what we're trying to show with the new AIM-HI project. We want to move from general advice such as 'Increase your physical activity,' to specific and practical suggestions, such as parking farther from the store to get a longer walk or eliminating one soda, or 240 calories a day, from your diet."

The research project will study how physicians, office staff, and patients integrate healthy activities into their lives, according to Sarah McMullen, AIM's director. "For example, we'll look at who the 24 practices employ and do a review of staff members to help them integrate behavior change within their daily lives, whether it relates to nutrition, exercise, or emotional well-being. Then we'll invest in helping them make changes at the practice level that will translate into helping patients improve their health."

Mountain Laurel Medical Center patients may volunteer to enroll in the AIM-HI study, but there is no pressure or sense of obligation to participate, Greger noted.

To enroll in the study, patients should be at least 18 years old and should have a body mass index (BMI) of 30 or more, the threshold for obesity. "People with a BMI that high are more likely than others to be at risk for diabetes and heart disease," Greger said.

To show change as patients progress, Greger and nurse practitioner Terry Harvey will monitor insulin resistance, which can predict diabetes, as well as the patient's cholesterol profile, which reveals heart disease risk factors.

The study developers hope that improvements in the measures at three-month intervals may encourage patients to keep on the health track. In addition, Mountain Laurel will take BMI readings at each visit for patients enrolled in the study. Each visit will include a brief discussion of one or more of these study topics: nutrition, physical activity, and emotional well-being.

CANDY FELL FROM THE SKY to the delight of youngsters attending the 13th annual Country Fest and Auction last Saturday at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. In addition to a candy drop, the event featured demonstrations, gospel music, a live petting zoo, horse and buggy rides, and a quilt auction. The three highest quilts this year were "Maryland, My Maryland," $1,800; "Bear Prints," $2,100; and "Around the World," which tied the previous quilt auction record at $4,000. The overall quilt average was $1,047, according to an event spokesperson. Proceeds from this event are primarily used for the building and expansion of the Bittinger Mennonite Church and School. Ten percent of the proceeds is donated to Christian Aid Ministries (CAM), a Mennonite non-profit, tax exempt relief organization headquartered in Berlin, Ohio. "CAM serves as a channel for the church to minister to physical and spiritual needs around the world," said the spokesperson.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

The sighting of wildlife is worthy of mention. Number one is the bear sighting, which is always an inspiration to the one who spots it, and to give details of when and where and what he did. Certainly more talked about would be the sighting of a mountain lion or panther. It is very rare, and a reality that makes Garrett County a wilderness. Even the common deer gets talked about. It is special to see a fox and a big snake. Garrett County does a fairly good job in balancing the conflict between wilderness and development. The successful removal of troubled bears, and a more extensive bear-hunting season are still being debated. We are very lucky to still experience a measure of wilderness. We have here some rare and fine plants and animals in the 21st century. A very popular conservation topic is the sighting of beautiful and rare birds like the bluebirds, scarlet tanagers, indigo buntings, and orioles.

The term "tree-hugger" is the name for any extreme environmentalist. Everyone in Garrett County should observe our huge variety of trees, in our lawns, in the fields, and woods. Trees are a most wonderful part our landscapes. Pick a tree at a place you pass a lot so you can observe the amazing change daily or weekly and even monthly. It is bad about the prediction of next year's onslaught of the gypsy moth damage throughout the county. I know from painful experience of this year's damage all around me.

I was appalled to realize that I missed the Perseids meteor shower. Most years the peak is about Aug. 20. It is a really great show some years. Sometimes you see dozens of shooting stars in a few minutes. But this year I missed it. To lie in a field watching is a magical scene. I was once camped out at a hunt club in Virginia during the August meteor shower. The sky was full of shooting stars and a full moon had risen. It woke the pack of foxhounds in the kennel, and they really "bayed at the moon." It sounded like a Sherlock Holmes movie. But 30 years ago, I experienced something that is still one of my most treasured memories. That year, on the way home from the fair, I saw a remarkable meteor. It streaked above the horizon, throwing spectrums of colors from red to yellow, then green, finally blue, and then exploded. It is not as much fun to watch the show alone. In the early '80s we would get together with three other couples and sleep outside to be able to watch it.

I am amazed how much my hummingbirds like the blossoms on my "weed patch" and my touch-me-nots. They are ignoring my feeder now that the touch-me-nots are blooming. The most remarkable event with the hummers was when I visited the bee patch, or what I used to call Indiana paint brushes, and heard the sound of dozens of hummers. It was overwhelming. This was another of my top 10 nature memories. I decided to try to paint my hummingbird among my touch-me-nots but I am not sure how successful my attempt was. My Meredith said it was "cute" and she was able to recognize it as a hummer.

YOUNG BUILDERS TO COMPETE – The Garrett Engineering and Robotics Society (GEARS) is looking for teams to compete at the next "SuGO Sunday" event, scheduled for Sept. 2 at the GEARS center in Accident. SuGO is a combination of sumo wrestling and LEGO robotics. Each team builds a robot from a large selection of LEGO pieces, and then competes in a sumo 'bot tournament. Its an opportunity for young builders to learn how machines work. Construction kicks off at 1 p.m., and the matches begin at 3:30 p.m. Entry is free for GEARS members, and $10 per team for non-members. Chuck Trautwein is pictured above left at the last SuGO event giving some construction tips to the team of Danielle, David, and Timothy Kettelle. GEARS is a non-profit organization that hosts engineering and robotics teams, camps, and competitions. For more information, persons may visit SuGOGERASinc.org or call Phil Malone at 301-387-2331.

It is great news that Brenneman's Store in Bittinger reopened last week, serving ice cream, pizza and wedgies. It is great not to have to go to McHenry for fast food. Actually, it will be nice not to have to battle the traffic there.

I can't believe that we are having days without a rain storm. This summer that has been unusual here on the tableland between Meadow and Negro mountains. Of course, our memory of childhood is golden when you look back on everything that was wonderful. Of course, I remember rainstorms in the past. At least I haven't had to water my flowers. We are also lucky we are not in a flood plain because the Midwest is a real mess. They say that everyone needs flood insurance, but I think my home is one that is safe from flooding. Only Noah's flood would reach my house.

When I heard that Steve and Eileen Schlosnagle are planning to move south, probably to North Carolina which is somewhat warmer, I was dismayed as in the past couple years so many of my friends have moved away; Christine Fielder and her husband Rich who moved to a town right beside the Canadian border in Maine and then Patty and Steve Dielhman moved to an island off the Maine coast. I can't afford to lose any more friends.

Bittinger's Maryland "Terrapin" students have all returned to College Park to continue their college careers. Scotty Bass is the only freshman entering the school as an engineering student. His brother Matthew and Blakely Glotfelty will be juniors, and Robbie Glotfelty will be a senior.

I often wonder whether my parents were as sad to see me go back to school. I doubt it, as for one thing I came home almost every weekend. We had many kids from up here in our area to get a ride home with, and they still had two little boys and a sister to keep them company as well as each other. I can't barely wait for Labor Day weekend when Claire and Caitlin come home. I am sure they will want to attend White Noise's appearance at the Boardwalk on Labor Day.

I used to look forward to Labor Day's Barn Party. A lot of downstate friends as well as our Garrett County friends came to the party. Many of the out-of-towners often brought their closest friends, and then they often returned on their own. One of our regular guests was Joe Volonakis, who is now in Iraq. One of my friends got an e-mail from him telling them of some of his coworkers getting kidnapped. If Joe V., who is friendly and outgoing and also comfortable in almost any culture he is among, would be captured he probably would make friends with his kidnappers.

Blackberries are on my mind because I know it is the time for their ripening. Cindy Stanton picked about a cup of them for me, and when she brought them up for me she also had a cup of Brenneman Store ice cream. She is as glad as I am about its re-opening. It is good to have even a few blackberries, but I still long for gallons to can. I believe a steady diet of blackberries is one reason my "Pappy" Orval Glotfelty lived a long and healthy life. My grandmother canned dozens of jars of blackberries. They certainly taste good in the winter.

It is not a fly-less summer, but most of the fly population is down. Maybe it is because my girls didn't have a pig project. Whatever the reason, I am delighted.

Ruth DiPaolo spent her 78th birthday with her friend Betty Sacra in Winchester, Va. She was a guest of Ginny Hesson for dinner at the Hen House on Saturday night. On Sunday she attended a play at Jennerstown Playhouse and dinner in Somerset along with former Grantsville BPW members.

It takes more than a few thousand miles to keep proud grandparents from seeing their tiny grandchild. Sam and Cindy Stanton recently spent a week with their daughter, Lea Pochet, her husband Mike, and grandson Blake at their home on Kirtland Air Force Base in Albuquerque, N.M. While there they toured Carlsbad Caverns and saw the 300,000 bats come out at dusk. They also visited the NM National Zoo and Aquarium and Old Town Albuquerque.

Following his DREAM

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Carl Edwards won one for racing's dreamers Saturday night. His victory in the biggest night race of them all, the Sharpie 500 at Bristol Motor Speedway, was a win that he described as the biggest of his career.

Appropriately for such a monumental moment, he paused in Victory Lane to thank the people, like journeyman car owner Mike Mittler, who helped him move from the relatively obscure short tracks of the Midwest to the elite divisions of NASCAR.

"To win here at Bristol, I think, is everybody's dream," Edwards said.

"Anybody out there who has a dream, just follow it. It was emotional to win this race. I've watched this a lot. I think every short-track racer out there dreams about this."

But most short-track racers, despite their skills, will never get to race in NASCAR or at Bristol. Edwards advanced to the top largely because he worked so hard at it.

He passed out his "driver for hire" business cards to anyone who would take one. He once shoveled snow off a racetrack to practice in the dead of winter. He stayed over to meet the powers that be at the NASCAR races at O'Reilly Raceway Park in Indianapolis after running his USAC car, a decision that forced him to hitchhike home to Columbia, Mo.

His big break came when he persuaded Mittler to give him a chance to race in the Craftsman Truck Series. Mittler, a Foristell, Mo., machinist who fields his own part-time Craftsman Truck Series team, said he gave Edwards a chance mostly because he was so persistent in asking.

It paid off for Edwards. In his third start in Mittler's No. 63, he finished eighth at Kansas Speedway in 2002. The next year, when Kyle Busch suddenly left Roush Racing for Hendrick Motorsports, Edwards was signed to drive a Roush truck. He won three times that year and has gone on to win 25 NASCAR races — six each in Nextel Cup and trucks, and 13 in the Busch Series.

After Bristol victory, Edwards thanks those who made it possible

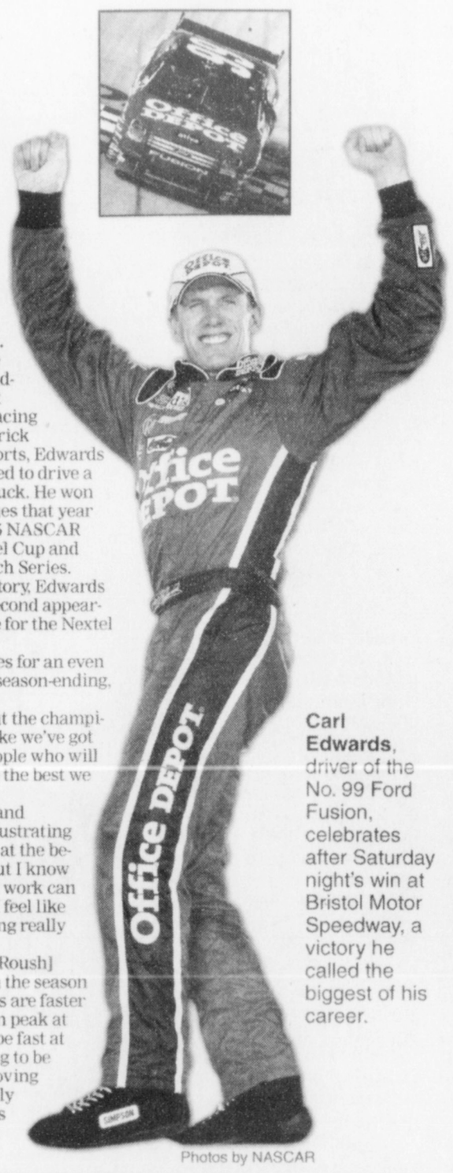
With his latest Cup victory, Edwards assured himself of his second appearance in NASCAR's Chase for the Nextel Cup.

And he likes his chances for an even greater milestone in the season-ending, 10-race "playoffs."

"I feel pretty good about the championship," he said. "I feel like we've got a group of racers and people who will do anything it takes to be the best we can in this sport.

"The sport has its ups and downs, and it was very frustrating last season, at times, and at the beginning of this season, but I know I firmly believe that hard work can get you somewhere, and I feel like everyone has been working really hard.

"[Team co-owner Jack Roush] said it really well early in the season when he said, 'Those guys are faster than us now, but if we can peak at the right time, if we can be fast at the right time, we're going to be great,' and we've been moving in that direction. I'm really excited about it, so I guess I'd say I feel like we stack up pretty well."



Carl Edwards, driver of the No. 99 Ford Fusion, celebrates after Saturday night's win at Bristol Motor Speedway, a victory he called the biggest of his career.

Rick Minter's OBSERVATIONS

Key story lines as the Cup Series heads to California.

Earnhardt Jr.: Give Teresa a break

Dale Earnhardt Jr. showed class when he urged his fans to move past his upcoming split with Dale Earnhardt Inc.

Speaking to reporters at Bristol Motor Speedway, Earnhardt Jr. said he wants fans to ease up on their criticism of his stepmother and car owner, Teresa Earnhardt. Many fans have criticized Teresa for letting Dale Jr. leave the team and sign with Hendrick Motorsports and for not letting her stepson take his car number with him to his new team.

"It is about time to give Teresa a break," Earnhardt Jr. said. "She makes the decision on the number because she owns it. And as much as I am disappointed and frustrated over the fact that I don't get to keep driving the No. 8, the stuff that I read on the Internet and the stuff that I am hearing that is going on, the remarks about her, directed toward her, I don't think anybody deserves that.

"If people just take a step back and look, she hasn't done anything intentionally that is detrimental to me. I have a good future, I have a good opportunity in my hands and she is doing what she needs to do, what she feels like she needs to do.

"I think everybody needs to lay off a little bit because she was married to my daddy, and I know he wouldn't be too happy about what is going on and what is being said about her."

Fourteen for 12 spots

With two regular-season races remaining, only two drivers outside the top 12 in points still have a shot at joining the elite group for the Chase for the Nextel Cup. NASCAR's most popular driver, Dale Earnhardt Jr., is in 13th place, 158 points behind 12th-place driver Kurt Busch. Ryan Newman, in 14th place, is 17 points behind Earnhardt Jr.

If Earnhardt Jr. or Newman make the Chase, it likely will take a great amount of luck and some heroics at Richmond International Raceway in two weeks. No matter how well he runs this weekend at California Speedway, Earnhardt Jr. can't overtake Busch unless Busch finishes 41st or worse.

Earnhardt Jr. finished fifth at Bristol, but only gained five points on Busch, who finished sixth. In his post-race comments to reporters, Earnhardt Jr. sounded as if he realizes his Chase hopes are fleeting.

"I want to win," he said. "If I can't get into the Chase, let's win a race. Let's do something. I'll be more ticked off if I don't win a race this year because I've run good all year."

The top five drivers in the standings — Jeff Gordon, Tony Stewart, Denny Hamlin, Matt Kenseth and Carl Edwards — have secured their spots in the Chase.

Logo dispute

NASCAR cars are like rolling billboards for sponsors, but all Jeff Burton advertised in Saturday's Sharpie 500 at Bristol was the dispute between his backer, AT&T, and the sanctioning body.

When NASCAR won a recent round in its court battle with AT&T, Burton's Richard Childress Racing team stripped the sponsor logos from his No. 31 Chevrolet. The ongoing dispute is over whether Burton's team can swap its old Cingular logos for the colors of AT&T. Cingular was grandfathered in as a sponsor, even though the circuit's title sponsor, Nextel, is a cellphone competitor. But when the Cingular name went away as part of an AT&T merger, the legal wrangling began.

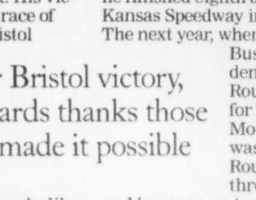
BURTON

Burton told reporters at Bristol that he's still hoping a compromise can be reached.

"I've said all along that reasonable people can come to reasonable solutions, and I'm still holding on to that," he said. "I can't see where it's in the sport's best interest to ask a sponsor that's been part of this thing for years to not be here. That doesn't make sense to me. Again, I hold in my heart the belief that reasonable people will come to a reasonable solution, and hopefully we can get there sooner than later."

UP AND COMING A look at some of the sport's rising stars

For Midwest driver, a future in racing is all in the cards



BlackJack Racing

In his second year in the ARCA Series, Dexter Bean is third in points, with his eye on the title.

For most upstart race teams, the real gambling begins when the cars are bought and races are entered.

For Dexter Bean and his family race team, the gambling came before the racing. Actually, it enabled the racing and thus the team name — BlackJack Racing.

"Dad always had aspirations of driving a stock car," Bean said. "He went to Vegas and won a bunch of money playing blackjack, then came home and bought his first stock car. He raced for a couple of years before I turned 16, then I jumped in the car.

"This year, we kind of stepped up, and here we are in our second year in ARCA."

On Sunday, Bean, a 20-year-old driver from Westby, Wisc., turned in another strong performance, starting fifth and finishing eighth in the Governor's Cup 200 in a home-state race at the Milwaukee Mile.

He's third in points and trails ARCA points leader Frank Kimmel, an eight-time series champion, by 245 points with six races remaining.

And he's still optimistic he can contend for the title.

"Hopefully, we can knock that Frank Kimmel guy off the top," he said. "I talk to a lot of people who would like to see a new champ, so we thought we'd give it a run."

Unlike most teams in ARCA and in the elite divisions of NASCAR, the Beans have kept their team at home, and they hope to keep it that way if and when Dexter moves on to either the Craftsman Truck Series or the Busch Series.

"We'd like to find enough money to do it ourselves with our own team," he said. "Granted, it's tough to do it out of Wisconsin. There's not a lot of resources for that type of racing like there is down in North Carolina. Right now, we're trying to find the sponsorship."

The funds search should be easier this year than last because of his improved performance on the track.

One of the leading factors in the turnaround is under the hood of his No. 6 Chevrolet.

"Last year, we had a lot of motor problems — six DNFs [did not finish] due to motors," Bean said. "This year, we switched to Tezar Engineering. They build great horsepower, and the engines are reliable."

Bean also is better behind the wheel, thanks to the valuable seat time.

"I'm seeing tracks for the second or third time rather than a first," he said. "That's helping a lot."

And his crew, a group of volunteers led by Chris Bires, has done its part, picking up speed on pit stops and better preparing his cars.

It helps that Bires has racing connections. His brother, Kelly Bires, races in the Craftsman Truck Series, and his brothers-in-law, Johnny and Tim Sauter, also race in NASCAR's elite divisions.

Bean hopes that before the year ends, he, too, can be on the NASCAR circuit. With ARCA's season ending in early October and the NASCAR season running through November, Bean looks to make a start or two in Busch or trucks. But he'll have to find a sponsor to help defray the cost. It seems his dad's blackjack winnings from years past weren't enough to get him all the way to NASCAR.

"Since then, there's been a good bit more spent than what he won, but it's definitely been worth it," Bean said.

CATCHING UP WITH ... CLINT BOWYER

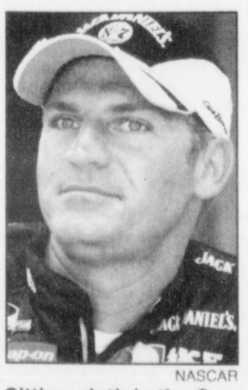
Clint Bowyer, the sophomore driver of Richard Childress Racing's No. 07 Chevrolet, is ninth in points, 65 ahead of the 12th and final Chase slot with two races left to make the championship field. He recently participated in a teleconference with reporters, including Rick Minter of Cox News Service, to discuss the season:

On the pressure that comes with competing for a spot in the Chase for the Nextel Cup: "There is a lot of pressure. There is no way of getting around it. All of us are under a lot of pressure at RCR. We've got three cars in the Chase. I don't think anybody's going to run us down and knock us out of the Chase if we keep doing the things we've done all season. We've just got to keep from beating ourselves."

On the contributions Jeff Burton has made to RCR: "I think he's brought a lot to the table since he started at RCR. He brought a lot of intelligence, a lot of positive things. He really speaks well and is outspoken at the meetings. And it is somebody that Richard really trusts and believes in, and we all just trust and believe in him. And he's very, very on top of things throughout the sport, whether it's on the track or off the track. And he's a good guy to have in your corner. As far as a teammate for myself, he is a go-to guy. He's a proven [driver] — he's won 18 races. You can't say enough about him. He's obviously a proven driver and somebody you can learn from, on and off the racetrack."

On the early success by Hendrick Motorsports drivers in races in which the Car of Tomorrow has been used: "It seems like here lately, I think everybody's kind of caught up. I think [Hendrick] just beat everybody to the punch and did a little bit more homework than everybody did preparing for that. But I definitely think that the teams have caught up to them, and I don't think we're an exception. I think our cars are better."

On the possibility of a fourth Nextel Cup team at Richard Childress Racing: "I know [Childress] is working really hard. He's had a lot of things come up here in the last couple of weeks. He's looking for a fourth team to put that together, but it has to be the right team. Richard's no dummy. And everybody at RCR, all three crew chiefs and the three drivers, we want another team. It's just that much more resources and information you can gather to take to the racetrack and to build a bigger database to go. But it has to be the right team. It has to be the right driver. It has to be the right crew on it, somebody that we can all work together with and push each other to be better and move forward.



NASCAR

Sitting ninth in the Cup standings, Clint Bowyer is in a good position to make the 2007 Chase.

On balancing his desire to get a victory vs. the need to get into the Chase: "You don't go to the racetrack to lose, but definitely that's a lot of stress and a lot of pressure on not only me, but the crew. It takes a gamble sometimes to win races, but you can't afford to make those right now. We can't afford to make a huge gamble and it not pay off and end up 35th and have the cars behind us win the race."

Class Of 2009 On Track To Pass State High School Assessments

Spring 2007 High School Assessment (HSA) results released Tuesday show that most students in Maryland's 2009 graduating class will complete testing requirements on time.

For students still having difficulty with the assessments, State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick said that MSDE has begun work on a bridge plan designed to move them toward graduation. The plan will involve locally administered projects developed for the small number of students who might still need to pass the tests by their senior year, based on state criteria and monitoring.

Approximately 51,000 members of last year's sophomore class – the first class needing to pass the HSAs to receive a diploma – have now passed the algebra assessment. The typical graduating class in Maryland is 55,000. The vast majority of the students who need to pass the tests for graduation also have completed the HSA requirements in biology, English 2, and government.

The new information, showing test results for the state, was released Tuesday in a presentation before the Maryland State Board of Education. The algebra data show that of the 4,000 or more students still needing to pass the assessment, nearly all will pass the exam by graduation. However, it is possible that 10 or fewer students in the average high school will need to use the bridge plan to complete the graduation requirements during the 2008-2009 school year.

"We know from these results that the vast majority of Maryland students are finding that they can pass these assessments and will be well on their way to graduation in 2009," said Dr. Grasmick. "But we believe a few students will be well served with a bridge plan that allows students to meet their testing requirement for graduation under alternative means.

"The HSA results are gratifying to all of us, and position Maryland well as we continue to raise the bar to meet the education and workforce goals of the new century," she continued. "Students and their parents are taking this seriously, and schools have improved instruction to help ensure students grasp important concepts."

Results for English, biology, and government are roughly equal to 2006 algebra results since most students did not take these three assessments until the 2006-2007 school year. While 45,000 students statewide have passed the English assessment by the end of 10th grade, 47,000 have passed government and 41,000 have passed the biology assessment. It is expected that the students who have not yet taken the three courses will test next spring and will increase the total number of passing students to the 55,000 mark.

Feedback from parents and other advocates for children indicates that the academic focus provided by the assessments has helped ensure that students are getting improved instruction.

"I have been told by parents of students with disabilities that since the High School Assessments became part of Maryland's graduation requirements, their children are receiving more focused instruction and are gaining more skills that will be useful to them for the rest of their lives,",Dr. Grasmick said.

At the same time, Dr. Grasmick said, the goal of the HSA program is to raise achievement, not decrease the graduation rates for conscientious students. The bridge plan – being developed in collaboration with local administrators, school-level officials, and teachers – is aimed at bringing those few students closer to their dreams of a high school diploma without decreasing standards. Students who have special difficulty on one or more of the HSAs after several attempts at passing them, and have received remediation, will have several options to add to their scores. These include grade point average, attendance figures, and other individual academic validation activities.

High School Assessment and Adequate Yearly Progress results will be released on the state report card site, mdreportcard.org, later this fall. School systems will be released their High School Assessment individually Tuesday and will be notifying individual student testtakers of their results in the next several days. Many of local systems have been tracking the data for individual students for several years and are able to produce a clear picture of their own students' progress.

After many years of study, the state board voted in 2003 to make passing the HSAs a requirement for the Maryland High School Diploma for the class of 2009 (this year's juniors), a measure supported by a broad coalition of business and higher education leaders. At the same time, the state board said it would re-examine the requirement before 2009, taking into account the latest data from the administration of the exams.

Approximately half of the states have instituted some form of exit exam as a graduation requirement. The HSAs replaced the Maryland Functional Tests, a group of basic-skills exams which had been a graduation requirement for more than a decade.

Local Educator Attends Gifted Ed. Conference in July

Gail N. Herman, Swanton, participated in Confratute 2007, the international conference/institute on educating gifted and talented children and youth, as a strand coordinator of primary schoolwide enrichment, held July 9 through 20 at the University of Connecticut.

Now in its 30th consecutive year, Confratute, sponsored jointly by the Neag Center for Gifted Education and Talent Development, and the Neag School of Education at the University of Connecticut, has distinguished itself as one of the world's most definitive conferences/institutes on gifted education.

A primary feature of Confratute is the converging of prominent leaders in the field upon a single site for one or two weeks to interact and consult with teachers, administrators, and parents to learn about exceptionally able youth. Who they are, how they learn differently from other children, and what parents and school personnel need to do to help the children develop their creative abilities and talents are explored in-depth by the participants.

Confratute 2007 was attended by over 1,000 educators from 48 states and U.S. territories, plus Canada, South Korea, Mexico, China, Jordan, Malaysia, Singapore, and several European nations.

All is not 'Lost' for show that returns later

By Jay Bobbin

Evangeline Lilly

Q: As a huge fan of "Lost," the season finale left me wondering if the show will be back next season. –Suzanne Bell, Stuart, Fla.

A: It will, but don't look for Matthew Fox, Evangeline Lilly and stranded company in original episodes until Feb. 7. Yes, that's February. Taking a cue from how past seasons played out, ABC intends to go with the same plan Fox uses for "24," waiting until all the new installments can be run straight through without repeats or scheduling interruptions.

Q: Around 1988, there was a miniseries with Richard Chamberlain and Jaclyn Smith called "The Bourne Identity." I had it on tape, but I lost it. Is it available in any form today? –William Ehling, Sunset Beach, N.C.

A: Warner Home Video released that made-for-ABC version of the Robert Ludlum suspense tale on VHS tape in 1995, and a DVD edition followed in 2002. You may have to do some Internet searching to locate them now. We're assuming you know "The Bourne Identity" also was made into a very successful 2002 feature film starring Matt Damon; the second sequel, "The Bourne Ultimatum," just set a record for the all-time biggest August opening weekend.

Q: When will "Prison Break" be back on? And will season two be coming out on DVD, and if so, when? –Sandra Weimer, Ferris, Texas

A: Though the first two years of the show got early starts on the television season, the third round of the Fox drama starts Sept. 17, much closer to the usual season-premiere week. You won't have to wait as long for year two to hit DVD; it arrives in stores this Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Q: I know SoapNet airs reruns of past seasons of "One Tree Hill," but I was wondering if The CW has any plans to do the same. –Jessica Grundy, Bloomfield, Ky.

A: Not that we know of, and it seems more unlikely because of the way the show will return to The CW at midseason. The characters will leap forward several years, so the network probably will deem it too confusing to replay stories that will have taken place considerably earlier in the characters' lives at that point.

Q: I recently saw a program on Lifetime Movie Network called "Inspector Mom," starring Danica McKellar, who played Winnie on "The Wonder Years." Is it being shown on a regular basis anywhere? –Harold Batt, Milwaukee

A: The steadiest place is that network's Internet site, where new "Webisodes" of "Inspector Mom" have debuted regularly. The two full-length "Mom" movies run on the network only from time to time.

Arnica: An Herb With Many Uses

Arnica is also known as Leopard's Bane, Mountain Daisy, Mountain Tobacco, and Wolf's Bane. This herb is found in Europe and Siberia. Traditionally, arnica has been used to treat skin, lung, and heart diseases. In Germany, arnica is used to treat wounds and fractured bones. Arnica contains several substances. The sesquiterpene lactones are thought to be responsible for most of its anti-inflammatory activity; however, other active substances include flavenoids, carbohydrates, and essential oils. The root and the flowers of the plant are used therapeutically.

Dosing tends to vary according to manufacturing practices. The following preparations have been used to treat various ailments: a 1:10 tincture prepared with ethanol, a 20-25% tincture or maximum 15% arnica oil cream/ointment, compresses that are diluted 3-10 times with water, and a mouthwash (tincture diluted 10 times with water and not swallowed). Adverse effect may include nausea, dizziness, vomiting, tremors, stomach pain, and diarrhea. Arnica should not be used with other medications or supplements that thin the blood due to an increased risk of bleeding.

Body and Soul

Consider the connection... work to body and soul.

Work and the body...a straightforward concept; whatever our work, we must employ our body; use a combination of our mental and physical talents.

Work and the soul...a concept we don't always think about; how we feel emotionally after an active and satisfying work day. We might feel a "good tired"; a feeling of exhaustion yet elevation of the body and the soul. Work done with dedication is also good for the soul! Over a hundred years ago, Henry David Thoreau wrote, "Good for the body is the work of the body, and good for the soul is the work of the soul, and good for either the work of the other."

On Labor Day, we honor our worldly work. When we visit our house of worship, may we honor and praise God as the source of our talents and our drive.

We Live Between Two Poles

There is an old Jewish custom (attributed to the 19th century Rabbi, Simcha Bunim) of carrying two slips of paper around, one in each pocket, with a different message on each slip of paper. On the one slip of paper is written, "The entire universe was created just for me." And, on the other is written, "I am but dust and ashes." There is surely much wisdom in this. On the one hand, God has made all of us in His image, and loves us deeply and has veritably created the universe for us. On the other hand, we are short-lived creatures who will perish like everything else. Catholics are told on Ash Wednesday to "Remember that you are dust and to dust you shall return." Ash Wednesday marks the beginning of Lent, a season which ends with the joyous celebration of Easter, which essentially celebrates the fact that Jesus has risen. By extension, we as the church, will also rise from the ashes. We do well to always keep in mind that we live between the poles of finitude and eternity.

Behold, I have taken upon myself to speak to the Lord, I who am but dust and ashes.

Strange BUT TRUE

• In 2002, the owners of a coin-operated car wash in Maryland couldn't figure out why they were losing hundreds of dollars every week when there was no evidence of anyone breaking into the coin machines. After careful observation, it was finally discovered that small birds were getting into the machines through the coin returns and flying off with the shiny quarters.

• It was way back in 1990 when baseball player Pete Incaviglia reportedly made the following statement about pro baseball players' salaries: "People think we make $3 million and $4 million a year. They don't realize that most of us only make $500,000." Only $500,000?

• In Shanghai, China, it's become something of a trend for affluent people to wear pajamas in the street and even to work.

• You're almost certainly familiar with the word "kleptomania," denoting a persistent neurotic impulse to steal. However, you may not be aware of another word that is derived from the same Greek root: A kleptocracy is a government by thieves.

• A porcupine is able to walk just two minutes after it's born.

• There are only two states in which it is illegal for you to pump your own fuel at a gas station. Do you know which states they are? New Jersey and Oregon.

• The current king of Spain was actually born in Rome.

• Researchers at Glasgow University (in Scotland, of course) have discovered a singularly unsurprising fact: People who have had a moderate amount of alcohol to drink find potential partners 25 percent more attractive than they do when they are sober. I'd really like to know how they conducted that study!

Pill Time Solutions

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I read your article regarding the cat not swallowing his medications. My father taught us years ago to teach our puppies to eat wet food off a spoon. Now that the dogs are older and our vet has them on glucosamine and vitamins C and E, we put the pills with the spoonful of wet dog food and voila, they eat it! In fact they look forward to their pill time. I don't know if the same method would work with a cat, but I would think so. — Sharon A., via e-mail

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: After reading your column on getting cats to swallow pills, I wanted to share information about a product I found to be helpful in this regard. It is called Pill Pockets, and it is available at many veterinary hospitals and most major pet stores. The product is essentially a treat with an open side to allow the pill to be put inside and then closed up by pressing in the sides. It come in pouches of approximately 45 treats and in different flavors like salmon and chicken. It is reasonably priced as well.

My cat loves the treat, and it allows me to give her a pill without any hassle or stress for either of us. It is also available for dogs. Please check it out. Your readers may find this product helpful. — Elaine B., Belmont, Calif.

DEAR SHARON AND ELAINE: Many thanks to both of you! I received several helpful tips from readers on giving medications to pets, from hiding the pills in food to ordering custom preparations from pharmacists. Sometimes a pet owner will have to try more than one method to see which works best, and I'm grateful to everyone for their suggestions.

Collecting

Q. My grandmother grew up on a chicken farm in Missouri during the Depression. While sorting through her estate, we found a trunk full of vintage feed bags in various patterns and colors. Could these possibly have any value? — Ted, Tucson, Ariz.

A. Jane Clark Stapel is the contact person for The Feed Sack Club, a group that buys, sells and trades old feed sacks. The address is 25 S. Starr Ave., Apt. 16, Pittsburgh, PA 15202. Incidentally, there seems to be quite a demand for older feed sacks, since many are being recycled into quilts.

Q. I have two pocket watches, both made by Elgin. I would like to sell them but have no idea of what they're worth. — Betty, via e-mail

A. I recommend that you do a little homework before you make a decision. You can access a great deal of information at elginwatches.org. This easy to use Web site features a database that includes a comprehensive history of the Elgin Company and its products, technical help and additional links that will connect you to established dealers and collectors. You should also check out values listed at www.watchpricing.com.

Remember, values are just a guide and nothing more. For example, if one of your watches is listed at being worth $200 but you can only sell it for $150, the true value is the lower figure, since an item is only worth what someone is willing to pay for it in cold cash.

Q. I have a 1925 dollar and a 1920 penny, and I would like to know the value of both. — Betty, via e-mail

A. For American issues, there are two excellent reference books that might be helpful: the 2008 U.S. Coin Digest, edited by David C. Harper and now in its 6th edition; and Warman's Companion U.S. Coins and Currency by Allen G. Berman. Both are published by Krause Publications and are available online or at larger bookstores.

Fire Assistant Grants Awarded To Local VFDs

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Forest Service awarded its 2007 Volunteer Fire Assistant (VFA) grants to 35 local volunteer fire departments across the state, including three to Garrett County departments.

The projects to be funded in seven Maryland counties focus on increasing capacity for wildland fire suppression needs in rural communities. Projects include wildland personal protective equipment, skid units for building brush trucks, replacing small diameter fire hose, upgrading communications equipment, purchase of Class A foam, installation of dry fire hydrants, and other equipment to enhance wildfire suppression.

"We are thankful for the fire protection provided by local volunteer fire departments," said Monte Mitchell, DNR state fire supervisor. "The grants help rural fire departments increase their effectiveness and safety in combating wildland fires in Maryland."

Grants provided by the USDA Forest Service funded 35 applications this year for $86,690 in match funding to complete $189,861 worth of projects. The maximum grant award equaled 50 percent of the total project cost, with a maximum of $3,000 per department. A DNR spokesperson said that grant applications were "very competitive," and funding was only available to assist two-thirds of the volunteer fire departments that applied this year.

Local departments that received grants were: the Bittinger VFD, $1,555 for a $3,110 project; the Bloomington VFC, $3,000 for a $6,142 project; and Deep Creek VFC, $3,000 for a $6,000 project.

For more information on the VFA program in Maryland, persons are invited to go to the Forest Service Wildland Fire Management web site at: http://www.dnr.maryland.gov/forests/wfm.asp and click on Volunteer Fire Assistance.

BIKERS ATTEND SUNDAY WORSHIP SERVICE, PICNIC – The Crellin Assembly of God Church recently held its annual Bikers Sunday. After the service, about 500 congregation members and visitors were served a picnic on the church grounds. The meal included roasted buffalo and pork and an abundance of regular picnic fare. The Christian band Pressed for Time presented a musical program. Crellin Assembly of God is located four miles west of Oakland along Hutton Road.

Medicare Offers Possible Savings On Prescriptions

Medicare recipients who are having trouble paying for prescription drugs may qualify for "extra help," even if they are enrolled in a drug plan and collect Social Security benefits, according to Medicare.

This extra help, available by applying and qualifying through Social Security, can pay for part of a recipient's drug costs, such as monthly premiums, annual deductibles, and prescription copayments. The assistance could be worth more than $3,300 per year, according to Medicare.

"Many people with limited income and resources qualify for these big savings, and they don't even know it," said a Medicare spokesperson. "So, be a smart consumer, and don't walk away from this extra help."

To quality in 2007, an individual's income should be no more than $15,315. For a married couple, it is $20,535. The income limit may be higher if individuals or married couples support other family members who live with them.

Resources such as bank accounts, stocks, and bonds cannot be more than $11,710 for an individual, or $23,410 for married couple. Houses and cars, however, do not count toward resources.

Persons must apply to find out if they qualify for this help. They can do so by calling the local State Health Insurance Information Program (SHIP) at 301-334-9431, ext. 140, or Social Security at 1-800-772-1214. Applications are also available online at socialsecurity.gov.

GETTING THE FACTS ABOUT GYPSY MOTHS – Garrett County commissioners Denny Glotfelty and Fred Holliday stressed the need for funding to combat the local gypsy moth infestation to state officials, including Gov. Martin O'Malley, during the recent Maryland Association of Counties (MACo) Summer Conference in Ocean City. Holliday, left, also had the opportunity to have a private meeting with O'Malley, right, and to present him a gypsy moth fact sheet compiled by the Garrett County Extension Office. Approximate-ly 50,000 acres of trees have been defoliated by gypsy moth caterpillars in the county this summer, according to the Extension Office. O'Malley and Del. Maggie McIntosh, chair of the House Environmental Matters Committee, both expressed interest in conducting a flyover sometime next month to view that defoliation first hand, the commissioners noted. Holliday said Senators Barbara Mikulski and Ben Cardin are also well aware of the problem and have been asked to keep funding for a suppression program in the federal budget. THE Garden Patch

COMPOST NOW FOR USE NEXT SPRING

If you are you intimidated by the process of creating a compost pile, let it go! There is really nothing to it. Composting is nothing more than the controlled decomposition of biodegradable organic matter. You provide the optimal environment in which the "decomposers," or aerobes, can thrive. You just need to get the mix of carbon, nitrogen, oxygen, and water correct. Among other things, compost can suppress plant diseases and pests and reduce or eliminate the need for chemical fertilizers. You'll want to start your compost pile now so it will be ready for use this coming spring.

There are five things that need to be controlled during the composting process. If you do this properly (and it's not hard), you'll have a wonderful, dark, rich compost to use in your garden in the spring.

1. Nitrogen/Carbon Balance: For nitrogen, layer "green" organic materials such as grass clippings, raw vegetable scraps, and well-rotted cow manure. (These days, with the risk of e-coli, it's recommended that bagged commercial cow manure be used.) For carbon, add a layer of "brown" organic materials such as dry autumn leaves and wood chips. Do this at a ratio of one part green to one part brown.

2. Particle Size: Grinding, chipping, and shredding your materials will increase the surface area on which the microorganisms can feed (this is a good thing). Smaller particles will produce a more homogeneous compost mixture and help insulate the pile to maintain optimum temperatures. Don't make the particles too small or they will prevent the air from flowing freely through the pile. Use your good judgment; talk to folks who have composted before.

3. Moisture Content: Microorganisms in your compost pile need moisture to survive. Water helps transport substances within the pile and is what makes the nutrients in organic material accessible to the microbes. There is some moisture in the organic materials in your pile. It will get moisture from rainfall, too, but you need to put a little water in your pile during dry weather. You want your pile to stay moist but not wet.

4. Oxygen Flow: Keep your pile turned about every two weeks. Add wood chips or shredded newspaper to help aerate the pile. This will allow decomposition to occur at a faster rate. Be careful. Don't put too much bulking material (wood chips, newspaper) in your pile. Too much oxygen will cause the pile to dry out and stop the composting process.

5. Temperature: Combining the above four elements/ingredients will generate heat, which is the final ingredient needed to destroy pathogens and weed seeds, and create compost. Microorganisms need a certain temperature range for optimal activity. Microbial activity is what raises the temperature of the pile's core to at least 140°F.

It should come as no surprise that weather plays a factor in how quickly your compost heats up. The process works best when outdoor temperatures are 50°F or higher. Since you are starting your compost pile in the fall you will have to do a couple of extra things to keep it going. Make sure your pile is at least three feet high. Be certain it stays moist (not wet) in dry weather. Turn it about every two weeks. When it gets cold, you can cover it with black plastic to help hold the heat in.

What to compost: animal manure, cardboard rolls, clean paper, coffee grounds and filters, cotton rags, eggshells, fireplace ashes, raw fruit and vegetable scraps, grass clippings, hair and fur, hay and straw, leaves, nut shells, sawdust, shredded newspaper, tea bags, wood chips, and yard trimmings.

What not to compost: black walnut tree leaves or twigs (releases substances that might be harmful to plants), coal or charcoal ash (could contain substances harmful to plants), dairy products such as butter, egg yolks, milk, sour cream, and yogurt (smells bad and can attract pests such as rodents and flies), diseased or insect-ridden plants (they might survive and be transferred to other plants), fats, grease, lard, or oils (smells bad and can attract pests such as rodents and flies), meat or fish bones and scraps (smells bad and can attract pests such as rodents and flies), pet wastes, e.g., dog or cat feces, soiled litter (can contain parasites, bacteria, germs, pathogens, and viruses harmful to humans), and yard trimmings treated with chemical pesticides (might kill beneficial composting organisms).

The composting process is not hard at all, and the benefits of the rich compost will make it worthwhile come spring. You will most likely find that you want to keep a couple of compost piles going year-round.

MTN. LAKE PARK WATER SYSTEM
NOTICE OF VIOLATION
Surface Water Treatment Technique

The Garrett County Department of Public Utilities is providing the following notice regarding the Mtn. Lake Park Water System. The springs for the water system have been evaluated for protection against surface water influence as required by the Surface Water Treatment Rule (SWTR), as adopted in the Code of Maryland, COMAR 26.04.01, Quality of Drinking Water in Maryland. The springs were determined to be under the direct influence of surface water by the Maryland Department of the Environment. As a result, this source requires additional treatment, such as filtration, or replacement with a protected water source. Federal and state regulations require that the Mtn. Lake Park Water System install filtration.

What is the Department of Public Utilities doing?

The Mtn. Lake Park Water System disinfects the drinking water that is produced from the spring. The drinking water is tested monthly for coliform bacteria and results have met state and federal standards.

The Department of Public Utilities is in the process of testing the design for a new water treatment facility.

What should I do?

People with severely compromised immune systems, infants, and some elderly may be at increased risk. These individuals should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. General guidelines on ways to lessen the risk of infection by microbes are available from EPA's Safe Drinking Water Act Hotline (800-426-4791). If you have specific health concerns, consult your physician.

What does this mean?

This is not an emergency. This notification is provided to advise Mtn. Lake Park Water customers of the treatment requirements for their water system. Any questions or concerns should be directed to Allen Festerman at 301-387-9141. Please share this information with others who may find it useful.

Date of Notice: AUGUST 2007

Oakland Man Gets Jail Sentence On Destruction Charge

In a recent Garrett County District Court case heard by Judge Teaette Price, an Oakland man received a six-month jail sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of malicious destruction of property of more than $500.

In March, deputies of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office responded to Browning's Foodland in reference to destruction of property and theft. Upon arrival, deputies saw a car with busted windows sitting in the parking lot. After talking to the owner of the vehicle, it was determined that the victim's wallet had been stolen from the vehicle.

According to court documents, Robert Lynn Pyles, 42, was spotted looking into the vehicles in Browning's Foodland's parking lot around the time of the break-in. A search for Pyles at that time was unsuccessful; however, he was spotted by deputies, running through a wooded area in Mtn. Lake Park later that evening.

Pyles was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on charges of theft of less than $500 and willfully tampering with and damaging a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

In other recent District Court news, Jeffery William Norris, 26, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to a charge of resisting arrest and served an unspecified amount of jail time. His fine of $57 was suspended.

Members of the sheriff's office responded to his residence in May after receiving a call about a domestic abuse situation in progress, and upon arrival, made contact with the victim, who showed visible signs of abuse. According to court reports, Norris had allegedly used force against arresting officers and was uncooperative. He was not prosecuted on a charge of second degree assault, but was ordered to have no further contact with the victim.

Timothy Lee Mullinex, 32, Salem, W.Va., was found guilty on a charge of possession of marijuana and was handed a 3-month jail sentence, which was suspended, as well as one year of supervised probation and a fine of $57.

Mullinex was arrested in May by Maryland State Police during a traffic stop after an officer smelled burnt marijuana coming from the vehicle. A search of the vehicle revealed a baggie of marijuana and a marijuana smoking device. He was not prosecuted on a charge of possession of paraphernalia.

Trinity Shawn Claycomb, 29, Keyser, W.Va., pleaded guilty to charges of both possession of paraphernalia and driving while under the influence (DUI), and received a probation before judgment (PBJ), as well as one year of supervised probation and a fine of $257.

Maryland State Police spotted a car pulled over on Rt. 219 in March, and upon further inspection, discovered that Claycomb was passed out in the car, with the engine still running. After failing field sobriety tests, he was arrested, and a search of his vehicle revealed marijuana and a glass marijuana smoking device.

Claycomb was not prosecuted on charges of possession of marijuana, DUI per se, driving while intoxicated, and negligent driving.

Robert Gurney Spiker, 44, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of paraphernalia and was handed a fine of $107.

Maryland State Police officers arrested Spiker during a May traffic stop after detecting the smell of alcohol coming from the vehicle. Spiker was a passenger in the vehicle, and officers confiscated a baggie of marijuana and a metal marijuana smoking device from the passenger seat cushion. He was not prosecuted on a charge of possession of marijuana.

Eric Jerome Mossman, 19, Swanton, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, as well as one year of supervised probation and a fine of $57. He received a stet ruling on a charge of driving on a suspended license.

Maryland State Police pulled Mossman over in February on a seat belt violation, and after doing a scan on his license, discovered that it was in fact suspended. Mossman was arrested, and a search of the vehicle revealed a marijuana smoking device containing burnt marijuana residue. During a search performed at the McHenry Barrack, a prescription bottle containing a small amount of marijuana was found on his person.

Mossman was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on a charge of possession of paraphernalia, but he was cited on a charge of possession of a suspended license.

Steven Warren Metzgar, 26, Bridgeport, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, as well as one day of supervised probation and a fine of $257.

Maryland State Police arrested Metzgar in May after a traffic stop. He was found to be in possession of marijuana and a marijuana smoking device. He was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on a charge of possession of paraphernalia.

Grover Cleveland Sisler, 20, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a charge of obscene telephone misuse and received a PBJ, as well as one year of supervised probation and a fine of $57.

From August to October 2006 an unknown caller placed obscene calls to Southern Middle School, and made sexually explicit statements to school staff members. The school used its phone service to eventually trace the number from which the calls were being made, and notified officers. Sisler was questioned at his residence, and eventually admitted to making the calls.

Sisler was not prosecuted on seven charges of telephone misuse of repeated calls, or on three additional charges of obscene telephone misuse.

James Logan Stout, 52, Bargersville, Ind., faces a charge of possession of a handgun in a vehicle that was placed on the stet docket, stemming from a March arrest conducted by Maryland State Police. The condition of the stet ruling is that the handgun is forfeited.

Zachary Markundutch Mossman, 23, Swanton, and Lee Coburn Rust, 21, Leesburg, Va., were each handed stet rulings on charges of possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia in unrelated

FSA UNVEILS SIGN-UP DATES FOR NEW LIVESTOCK AND CROP DISASTER PROGRAMS

Eric M. McCartney, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, announced this week that Agriculture Secretary Mike Johanns has determined sign-up dates for the new Livestock Compensation Program, Livestock Indemnity Program, and Crop Disaster Program. The three ad hoc disaster programs provide benefits to farmers and ranchers who suffered losses caused by natural disasters in recent years.

"Between 2005 and early 2007, agricultural producers across the country experienced financial difficulties as the result of devastating drought, floods, blizzards, tornadoes and other natural disasters," said McCartney. "I am pleased to announce that FSA is delivering these benefits to America's farmers and ranchers at a time when many need it the most."

Eligible ranchers and other livestock producers can apply to receive benefits under the Livestock Compensation Program (LCP) and Livestock Indemnity Program (LIP) beginning Sept. 10. Eligible farmers can sign up for the Crop Disaster Program (CDP) beginning Oct. 15, if they suffered quantity losses to their crops. FSA will announce and conduct CDP sign-up for quality losses as soon as possible.

The Livestock Compensation Program compensates livestock producers for feed losses occurring between Jan. 1, 2005, and Feb. 28, 2007, because of a natural disaster. This can include producers who suffered losses resulting from blizzards that started in 2006 and continued into January 2007. Livestock producers may elect to receive compensation for calendar year 2007 grazing season losses that are attributable to wildfire natural disasters occurring during the applicable period as determined by the secretary of agriculture.

Producers in primary counties declared secretarial disaster areas or certain counties declared presidential disaster areas between Jan. 1, 2005, and Feb. 28, 2007, are eligible, as are producers located in counties contiguous to those counties. Also, producers in a primary (or contiguous) county who received an Administrator's Physical Loss Notice directly associated with a disaster declaration made by President Bush may also be eligible. Producers incurring a loss in more than one of the 2005, 2006, or 2007 calendar years must choose only one year for which they want to apply for benefits.

The Livestock Indemnity Program compensates livestock producers for livestock losses between Jan. 1, 2005, and Feb. 28, 2007, that resulted from natural disasters, including blizzards that started in 2006 and continued into January 2007. Producers in primary counties declared secretarial disaster areas or certain counties declared presidential disaster areas between Jan. 1, 2005, and Feb. 28, 2007, are eligible, as are producers located in counties contiguous to those counties. Also, producers in a primary (or contiguous) county who received an Administrator's Physical Loss Notice directly associated with a disaster declaration made by President Bush may also be eligible.

Producers incurring eligible livestock losses in more than one of the 2005, 2006 or 2007 calendar years must choose only one year for which they want to apply for benefits.

The Crop Disaster Program provides benefits to farmers who suffered quantity and quality losses to 2005, 2006, or 2007 crops from natural disasters if the crop was planted before Feb. 28, 2007, or, in the case of prevented plantings, for crops that would have been planted before Feb. 28, 2007. Producers who incurred qualifying losses in 2005, 2006, or 2007 must choose only one year to apply for benefits. Producers may apply for benefits for losses to multiple commodities as long as the losses occurred in the same crop year. Only producers who obtained crop insurance coverage or coverage under the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) for the year of loss will be eligible for Crop Disaster Program benefits. Producers must have suffered quantity losses in excess of 35 percent to be eligible for CDP.

For more information about LCP, LIP and CDP, interested producers may visit the Preston County FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone 304-329-1923. Program information is also available in a fact sheet titled "Agricultural Assistance Act of 2007," found on FSA's Web site: http://www.fsa.usda.Gov. (Click on Disaster Assistance Programs). USDA is developing individual fact sheets about these programs that will be posted online.

USDA ANNOUNCES ONE-MONTH EXTENSION OF MILC PAYMENTS

Eric M. McCartney, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, reports that the U.S. Department of Agriculture Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) has announced the extension of the Milk Income Loss Contract (MILC) program payment rate calculation at 34-percent for the month of September 2007. CCC published a final rule in the Federal Register announcing the change.

On May 25, 2007, President Bush signed into law the "U.S. Troop Readiness, Veterans' Care, Katrina Recovery, and Iraq Accountability Appropriations Act, 2007" (2007 Act). The 2007 Act extends the MILC payment period and 34-percent payment rate for one month. Under previous law, the MILC payment period and 34-percent rate expires at the end of August 2007, and the payment rate for September 2007 will be zero percent.

The MILC program compensates dairy producers when domestic milk prices fall below a specified level. The 2002 Farm Bill authorized MILC through Sept. 30, 2005. The Agricultural Reconciliation Act of 2005 reauthorized the program through Sept. 30, 2007.

Gov. Announces New Policy For Inmate Release

Governor Martin O'Malley announced yesterday that effective immediately the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services (DPSCS) has adopted a new inmate release policy that will ensure inmates are released closer to their homes, closer to their families, and closer to re-entry programs and services.

"Today, we are taking concrete steps to make sure offenders who have served their debt to society have the tools and resources they need to re-enter society," said Governor O'Malley. "By releasing our inmates closer to their families, closer to their homes, and closer to re-entry programs and services, we can help ensure that these individuals become full, productive members of our community."

The change in release policy was discussed earlier Wednesday by Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services (DPSCS) Secretary Gary Maynard and Acting Commissioner of Correction J. Michael Stouffer at a meeting with the Hagerstown-Washington County Chamber of Commerce. J. Michael Stouffer, acting commissioner of the Maryland Division of Correction and a lifelong Washington County resident, signed the new policy on August 27.

"The Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services has always tried to be a good neighbor to the people of Western Maryland," said Secretary Gary D. Maynard. "Our primary mission has always been the safety of our officers and the communities we serve."

The new release policy comes after a DPSCS-initiated study of inmates released in the first half of 2007 that shows most inmates return to other areas of the state after being released from prisons in Western Maryland.

That study, just completed, shows that of 622 inmates released from facilities in Hagerstown and Cumberland prisons to the supervision of the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation between January and June of 2007, only eight who were not sentenced in Washington County remained there after their release from prison. Six of those eight work jobs that began before their release; the other two have family in the area.

Furthermore, of the 86 inmates who were under no obligation to report to Parole and Probation agents, only one without ties to Hagerstown prior to sentencing remained in that area after his release from prison, according to home plans examined in the same DPSCS study.

The study also examined inmate-by-inmate files for those who were sentenced specifically in the Baltimore-Washington area. During the period of January through June of this year, only four of the 272 inmates who had been sentenced in Baltimore City were supervised by Parole and Probation agents in Washington County. Three ex-inmates sentenced in Montgomery County remained under Parole and Probation supervision in Washington County.

According to the new release policy, inmates who are to be supervised by the Division of Parole and Probation upon their release from prisons in Western Maryland will be transported to Baltimore prior to their release unless they have set-up a home plan in the four westernmost counties: Frederick, Washington, Allegany, and Garrett.

During their discussion with the Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Maynard and Acting Commissioner Stouffer reiterated their commitment to quadruple the number of inmates who work before they are released from prison, either in jobs or community partnerships. This reduces idle time for inmates while they are serving their sentences, therefore increasing the safety for correctional staff; it also increases the likelihood that ex-offenders will be employable upon release, according to the officials.

"We strongly support and welcome the new release policy," said Phil Holmes, vice president of Goodwill Industries of the Chesapeake, a key community partner with DPSCS in its statewide re-entry effort.

"People being released from prisons need to quickly connect with community-based programs, ideally within 72 hours of release," Holmes said. "This policy and the renewed emphasis on employment for inmates are welcomed and much-needed changes."

The secretary and acting commissioner also praised the local correctional workforce, which supervises more than 6,000 inmates in three medium-security prisons, and the Parole and Probation agents, who oversee community supervision for ex-offenders who live in Washington County.

The Maryland Division of Correction operates Roxbury Correctional Institution, the Maryland Correctional Training Center, and the Maryland Correctional Institution-Hagerstown on Roxbury Road five miles south of Hagerstown.

The Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services is the parent agency for both the Division of Correction, whose nearly 8,000 employees oversee approximately 23,000 inmates; and the Division of Parole and Probation, whose agents supervise more than 67,000 people in the community.

BACK TO SCHOOL PHYSICALS

Whether your child is entering school for the first time or about to graduate, back-to-school time is a good opportunity for parents to check up on their child's health and make sure he or she is protected against common childhood illnesses. An annual physical exam is a great time to discuss any health problems your child may have, including acne or chronic health conditions, and to make sure that vaccinations are up-to-date. Your health care provider may also discuss relevant topics such as peer pressure, nutrition, and avoiding drugs, tobacco and steroids with your child. You should encourage an open, trusting relationship between your child and a health care provider so that your child will be comfortable asking questions or voicing concerns about puberty, normal development, or any medical conditions.

Ms. Steyer Weds Mr. Paugh At Walnut Bottom Assembly Of God

Linda E. Steyer and John E. Paugh were united in marriage on Aug. 11, 2007, in an afternoon ceremony at the Walnut Bottom Assembly of God Church, Swanton, with Pastor George H. Tichinel officiating.

The bride is the daughter of the late Wilburt and Edith Cooper. She is a 1971 graduate of Southern High School.

The groom is the son of the late Homer and Tenna Paugh. He is a 1967 graduate of Southern High School and served in the U.S. Army from 1969 to 1971, 14 months of which were spent in Vietnam.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her son, David S. Steyer, Oakland. She wore an Alfred Angelo ivory satin gown that had chiffon embroidered lace with crystal beading, a sequined dropped waistline, and a chapel-length train. The bride's headpiece was a crystal beaded tiara with a mid-length ivory veil. She wore a gold and silver necklace that was a gift from the groom.

Serving as maid of honor was Linda S. Phares, Oakland, a friend of the bride. She wore a navy blue knee-length dress. The bride and maid of honor carried matching bouquets of ivory star gazer lilies, ivory carnations, and navy blue delphinium.

Serving as best man was Randall Sharpless, Oakland, friend of the groom. He wore a navy blue suit with an ivory shirt. His boutonniere was an ivory carnation.

The ushers were Eric Paugh, Swanton, son of the groom, and the bride's son David. Both ushers wore ivory shirts and navy blue pants. Their boutonnieres were navy blue delphinium.

Dalton Paugh, Oakland, grandson of the groom, served as ring bearer. He also wore an ivory shirt and navy blue pants, and had a navy blue delphinium as a boutonniere.

April Karavis, the bride's niece from Pennsylvania, attended the guest book and handed out wedding bubble bottles.

The bride's friend, Peggy Lambert, was the pianist for the ceremony. She wore an ivory star gazer lily and ivory carnation corsage. Soloist Patty Tichinel, friend of the bride and groom, sang "From this Moment."

A reception hosted by the bride's sister, Wanda Paugh, was held in the Walnut Bottom Assembly of God Fellowship Hall.

After the reception, a limousine service transported the newlyweds to the Cumberland Holiday Inn for their wedding night. A honeymoon cruise to the Hawaiian Islands is planned.

The couple reside in the Oakland area.

Mtn. Lions Club To Host Antique Tractor Show

The Mountain Lions Club of Aurora, Eglon, Stemple Ridge, Amboy, and Horse Shoe Run will host the Grand Appalachia Lions Tractor Show on Saturday, Sept. 8, in Mount Grove, W.Va., along Route 219. The event will be from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"There is almost nothing more precious to a farmer's heart than the sound of a well-tuned antique tractor tilling the ground," said Lion Jerry Hauser. "I wish that I could work one of these fine tractors year-round."

This is the premier event of the year for the Mountain Lions, according to Lions Club president Alton Auvil.

"We do this show as a public service for all of our friends in this wonderful rural community, and as one of our fundraisers for our many public service projects."

There will be food available, and entertainment by a live country music band.

An added feature this year will be a mountain top tractor square dance.

"Eight tractors and drivers doing the 'do-si-do.' You have to see it to believe it," Hauser said.

"Over 50 tractors and farm implements were on display and in the competitions in the past years up at Mount Grove," said Lion Tom Donaldson, who will display his 1959 English International.

Persons who would like to participate in the competitions may call Hauser at 301-334-3702. Coffee and donuts will be served at 11 a.m., and lunch will start at 11:30 a.m. The show will begin at 1 p.m.

Viral Encephalitis is Treatable

Encephalitis is an inflammation of the brain caused by a viral infection. There are two forms of this condition. Primary encephalitis occurs when the viral infection directly affects the brain and spinal cord. Secondary encephalitis occurs when the infection initially occurs in another place in the body, then travels to the brain. Most cases of encephalitis are mild, causing symptoms like headache and lethargy. More severe cases may be accompanied by confusion, severe headache, stiff neck, and seizures. Arborvirus encephalitis is the type transmitted by mosquitoes and ticks. This type of encephalitis is not very common. Other viruses that may lead to encephalitis include those which cause herpes and rabies. Avoiding these viruses is the best way to prevent viral encephalitis.

For mild cases, recommended treatment is rest and healthy eating, with plenty of fluids. Over-the-counter medications such as acetaminophen may be used to alleviate fever and headache. Anti-inflammatory drugs may help reduce swelling and pressure of the skull. When encephalitis is caused by the herpes-simplex virus or varicella zoster virus, antiviral drugs such as acyclovir may be used for treatment.

Nov. 20, 1968 to Aug. 28, 2003

to get used to the loss of someone we love.
But it's important
that when people die, they leave something very special behind.
They leave us memories of many things
they said or did,
and as long as we have those memories
the people we love will live on in our hearts and minds forever.

The Aurora Community Education outreach Service (CEOS) was called to order by president Opal Myers at its Aug. 22 meeting in the Aurora Community Building. Ressie Conrad led devotions.

"The efficient and safe use of microwave ovens" was the study addressed by Wilda Harsh, lesson leader.

The Marketing/Membership Committee reported that volunteers Opal Myers, Ressie Conrad, Dean Sisler, Pat Stemple, Mary Kelly, and Dorothy Spaid had helped with refreshments at the summer reading program held at Aurora School.

Program topics for 2008 were reviewed and preferences chosen by members present. Fall Conference will be held Oct. 9-11 at Jackson's Mill. Program leader training is scheduled for Sept. 20 at the Extension Office in Kingwood.

Buckwheat Festival car tickets are now on sale. Members of the Aurora CEOS may be reached for advance purchase, and all tickets are to be returned to Opal Myers by Sept. 18, the next meeting date. The subject for the Buckwheat exhibit is "Obesity," and members are beginning work to prepare the exhibit. A "thank you" letter from the Relay for Life committee was read by Ressie Conrad. The group is also beginning to think of ways to raise money for next year's Relay for Life project.

Opal Myers told about a new project she had learned to make while attending the NVON meeting. The next meeting will also be held at 7 p.m. at the Community Building, with Opal Myers the program leader and Dee Douglas presenting devotions.

The evening included food and drinks, games, prizes, and a DJ. The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department conducted a presentation as well. Pictured below, dressing up as a firefighter during the presentation, is Austin Menges, 5, from Salisbury, Pa. A cooler of picnic supplies was also raffled off, with Steve Miller named as winner of the prize. The next GIG event is Back-to-School Night on Saturday, Aug. 31, at Little Meadows Camp Ground from 6 to 9 p.m. For more information about GIG, or to find out how to get involved in the group, persons may call Sharon Menges at 301-895-3111. Comp. Franchot Announces New Online Services

Comptroller Peter Franchot unveiled two new features on his office's web site this week designed to help streamline the tax-paying process. With this announcement, Maryland is now one of the first states in the country to offer online options for establishing direct debit payment plans for personal income tax liabilities, as well as submitting hearing appeal requests.

"Our number-one priority at the comptroller's office is to always provide the best customer service possible," said Franchot. "Simplifying the payment process makes it easier on the taxpayer and creates more efficiency. I urge all eligible Maryland taxpayers to take advantage of this new initiative."

Individuals who owe state back personal income taxes can now set up an online direct debit payment agreement through the comptroller's web site. Prior to this innovation, taxpayers were limited in choosing from more rigid payment schedules of three, six, nine, or twelve months.

To be eligible to use this new option, a liability must exceed $100 and individuals must make a minimum payment of at least $25 per month. Payment plans can last for no longer than 24 months.

In addition, taxpayers who receive notices of assessment or denials of claims for refunds for taxes and fees administered by the comptroller's office can now submit an online hearing appeal request. By law, Maryland taxpayers have the right to file an appeal if they are assessed a tax, fee, interest and penalty charges, or if they are denied a refund. This new service will allow taxpayers to schedule a hearing based on their availability.

Both of these new services can be accessed through the Comptroller's Online Service Center, available 24 hours a day and 7 days a week from any home, office or public access point at www.marylandtaxes.com.

Business Leaders Needed To Speak In Local Schools

The Maryland Business Roundtable for Education (MBRT) needs volunteers from the Garrett County business community to share their work experiences with area ninth graders and show them the connection between what they are learning in school and life in the real world, the organization announced yesterday.

"As a volunteer speaker, you will be part of the MBRT's Achievement Counts Speakers Bureau, a nationally recognized program designed to let Maryland high school students know about the rigorous coursework they will need to take – and complete – while in high school in order to succeed after they graduate, regardless of whether they go on to college or directly into the workplace," said a group spokesperson.

Through their interaction, businessmen and women are able to help students see how their classes in school parallel the expectations they will meet later in life, she added.

"Speakers Bureau volunteers motivate high school freshmen to take their learning seriously and begin planning their futures," explained MBRT executive director June Streckfus. "They provide students with concrete reasons why working hard in high school will enable them to get and keep the jobs they want."

MBRT plans to reach out to more than 450 ninth graders in Garrett County this fall. To do that, the organization estimates it will need 30 volunteers.

Statewide, MBRT hopes to attract 3,000 volunteer speakers to help carry the message to 80,000 eighth and ninth grade students in more than 200 middle and high schools.

"The success of the Speakers Bureau rests on the efforts of the dedicated speakers who show students through their own experiences how taking rigorous courses and working hard will translate into broader opportunities in their personal and professional lives," said Streckfus.

Volunteer speakers typically are asked to make four 45-minute classroom presentations during the fall semester. They are able to choose the school, dates, and times that are most convenient for them and that fit in with their work schedules. Before entering the classroom, each volunteer receives three hours of training on facilitating the Achievement Counts presentation in the classroom.

MBRT's Achievement Counts campaign has drawn high praise from educators, businesses, parents, and students and has won numerous regional and national awards, according to the spokesperson.

"It is important for those of us who have entered the world of work to show these students, that there is someone out there who cares about their future," said one Speakers Bureau volunteer. "It is very rewarding to witness a light bulb moment. . . the moment when you see the excitement in their eyes and know that the Achievement Counts message has reached that student."

The Maryland Business Roundtable for Education is a coalition of more than 100 major Maryland employers committed to improving student achievement in the state.

To register online or get more information, persons may visit mbrt.org/speak, or contact LaTara Harris at 410-727-0448 or latara@mbrt.org.

The Association of American Educators is offering scholarships and classroom mini-grants to teachers across the state of Maryland. The deadline is Oct. 1, and all Maryland kindergarten through grade 12 teachers are encouraged to apply.

For teacher scholarships, each candidate submits a resume and a short application explaining how scholarship funds will help advance his or her own professional career.

For classroom mini-grants, teachers submit a short application describing the proposed class project, the necessary budget, and the academic benefit for students.

For more information about the Association of American Educators and its scholarship and classroom mini-grant programs, persons can visit online at aaeteachers.org, call toll free 1-800-704-7799, or send an e-mail to info@aae-teachers.org.

Dedicated to the academic and personal growth of every student, the Association of American Educators is an educators' network that advances the teaching profession through teacher advocacy and protection, professional development, and promoting excellence in education so that "educators receive the respect, recognition, and reward they deserve."

AAE has members in all 50 states and welcomes professionals from all education entities.

DEWPOINT

Q. What is a "dewpoint," and why does it matter?

A. The dewpoint is related to the humidity, which in turn means the amount of water in the air. Because the dewpoint is fairly easy to measure, it makes it possible to determine the relative humidity easily.

The notion of the dewpoint comes about this way: Any air contains some water vapor, perhaps about 2% under typical conditions. Even in the desert there is a little water in the air. The water in the air has its own vapor pressure, which is related to the density, the mass per unit volume. The amount of water the air will hold varies with the temperature. Indeed, for any given temperature, there is some maximum density of water vapor that the air can hold, and that condition is termed saturation. Try to exceed that amount, and you can't – the additional water condenses into liquid droplets and falls on the floor. It rains.

The relationship runs the other way too: Hotter air is able to hold more water vapor. As the temperature decreases, the amount of water vapor that the air will hold decreases. For a certain amount of water vapor pressure, at some temperature the air can't hold that much water, and condensation to droplets begins. That temperature is called the dewpoint, and the relative humidity is 100% there.

Often the amount of water vapor in the air is around half of the saturation value. Exactly half is called "50% relative humidity." The air conditioners in many buildings strive to stay in the ballpark of that level.

Let's suppose you want to know how much water is in the air – you want to know the humidity. Starting with a sample of air that contains some unknown amount of water, first you take note of the temperature. Then you lower the temperature until the point is reached that the now-cooler air cannot hold any more water. At that point droplets start to form. All you have to do is observe the formation of droplets (easily visible) and note the new temperature. That temperature is the dewpoint.

If the temperature decreased only a little, it means the air was close to saturated in the first place, so the relative humidity will be a high percentage. If the dewpoint is much lower, it means the air didn't have much water in it to begin with, and the relative humidity is low.

To get from the dewpoint measurement to the humidity, you simply look up numbers in a table, in a handbook or on the Internet. Such a table provides the saturation values of vapor pressure at both the original temperature and the measured dewpoint temperature. The ratio of those two numbers immediately produces the relative humidity.

Here's an example of how it works: Suppose the outdoor temperature is 86°F (30°C). You cool some air and observe that the dewpoint is 68°F (20°C). Looking in a table (http://hyperphysics.phy-astr.gsu.edu/hbase/kinetic/watvap.html), you find the saturation pressure of water vapor is 17.54 units at 20°C and 31.8 units at 30°C. The ratio of 17.54/31.8 = 0.55, so the relative humidity is 55%.

You can do this in your own kitchen: Have a thermometer handy. First note the room temperature. Next, put a little tepid water in the bottom of a can. Third, start adding cold water a little at a time. When dew forms on the side of the can, the water has cooled to its dewpoint, so measure the temperature of the water in the can. End of experiment. Now just look up the two corresponding vapor pressure values and you'll have what you wanted to find out: the relative humidity.

On a very hot day with high humidity, thunderstorms often start in the late afternoon. This is because, as the nearly saturated air begins to cool from the maximum temperature of the day, very soon the dewpoint is reached, at which point raindrops form.

On calm nights with no wind in valleys, something else happens: Warm air cools until it reaches its dewpoint, and the tiny droplets forming in the saturated air give us the condition known as fog. At a lake, under late-summer conditions where the water temperature is warmer than the air temperature at night, vapor evaporating from the lake surface immediately enters cooler air, saturation is reached, and droplets form, producing fog. The next day the fog "lifts" when either the breeze blows or sunlight heats the air enough to raise its temperature above the dewpoint, and the droplets evaporate. If you see on the evening news that the dewpoint is higher than the predicted overnight low, and there is no wind, you might expect fog the next morning.

In the winter, even on a clammy, humid day, the outdoor air at 0°C (32°F) will contain little water vapor, say about 3.5 units. Heat that air up to 20°C (68°F, indoors), where the saturation vapor pressure is 17.54 units, and the relative humidity will be only 20% – a terribly dry condition that makes you feel cold. That's why people put humidifiers on their furnaces.

Number Of Home Foreclosures In Maryland Rising

Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation Secretary Thomas E. Perez announced this week that the number of homeowners in Maryland facing some phase of foreclosure continues to rise.

"This month there were 2,214 foreclosure events, which is the highest number on record since January of 2005," said Secretary Perez.

In national standings, Maryland has been on a steady slide in the wrong direction. In less than one year, Maryland has jumped from 40th to 16th in the nation for the number of foreclosure events.

According to RealtyTrac, one of the major providers of property foreclosure data, from the first quarter to the second quarter of 2007, Maryland saw a 146% increase in foreclosure events. The statistics are considerably more profound when comparing July of 2006 to July of 2007, which saw foreclosure events increase by 575%.

RealtyTrac reports that Prince George's County has the highest number of foreclosure events in the state, with 676. Montgomery County has the second highest number, with 327, and Baltimore City is ranked third, with 248.

Perez said that the Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation continues to protect consumers facing foreclosure. DLLR's Financial Regulation Enforcement Unit has already initiated investigations into 95 mortgage-related cases this year, and will hire four new investigators to step up their efforts to combat mortgage fraud.

Perez is the co-chair of the Governor's Homeownership Preservation Task Force, along with Department of Housing and Community Development Secretary Raymond Skinner, and they continue to explore a wide range of possible interventions. The task force will report to the governor in October with specific recommendations.

Everyday Women Who

Make A Difference

Deb Swiger is coordinator of the First-Time Home buyers' Program and the Home Rehabilitation Program of Garrett County Community Action. She helps first-time home buyers find a suitable house by interfacing with real estate professionals, banks, and other financial lenders to arrange mortgages for families with limited resources.

She also administers a home-repair service that helps eligible buyers repair and maintain their homes. An educational program is offered for prospective home buyers with training sessions on various aspects of home purchasing and ownership.

According to Swiger, houses in Garrett County have become the least affordable in Maryland, but her office has been able to help an average of 15 families per year.

SIGHTS AND SMELLS!

Attracting buyers has turned into quite the competitive sport. Once you catch a buyer's attention with a favorable asking price, how do you encourage them to select your home from the other choices? Namely, assault their senses!

Since first impressions do count, you should start at the front door. Apply a fresh coat of paint and new hardware. On the inside, paint the walls with neutral colors. Designers recommend golden beiges and sandy tans.

Now make the buyer's eyes dance around the home, taking in shiny new faucets, bright light fixtures, and attractive doorknobs and cabinet pulls. Like jewelry that accessorizes your home, these details can make quite a statement about your pride of ownership.

Another way to show off is to reduce your furnishings by at least 25% throughout the house, even if you have to pay for storage. This will convey a sense of open space to potential buyers as they size up the interior for their own belongings.

Finally, when your home is being shown, you can subconsciously influence buyers through their noses. It may sound silly, but it's proven that a home smelling of freshly made bread or cookies generates more offers. Of course, a spotless kitchen helps to increase that impact.

Conveying cleanliness and comfort throughout your home will make a lasting impression, so don't overlook the power of the senses! If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $41,000 in cash, cashier's check or certified check required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Sewer Rehabilitation Project/Phase II – All line and fixture construction should be completed by the end of this week. The final section of the construction project is located in the H/I Street alley from south of Oak Street to north of Cedar Street south of Route 135; and the north side of Oakland Avenue from the F/G alley to the G/Dave Turney alley. Line and manhole testing will be performed during the next several weeks. The contractor expects to have substantially completed all aspects of the project by mid-September, with the exception of paving the upper end of Pensinger Boulevard, which will occur before winter.

Phase III & IV – Thrasher Engineering has begun design and engineering on the final two phases of the Sewer Rehabilitation Project. The town has a pending application for funding in the amount of $943,000 from MDE, which, if granted, will provide for the construction of Phase III during the summer of 2008.

Residents are encouraged to check this column on an ongoing basis for Sewer Rehabilitation Project updates.

B&O Heritage Trail – This project has received notice to proceed for the design and engineering phase. The project should be ready for construction bids by December 1, with a proposed construction start date in spring of 2008.

Brush Pick-up Reminder – Regular brush pick-up will be today, Aug. 30, and tomorrow, Aug. 31. After the September pick-up, the final brush pick-up planned for this year is scheduled for October 25 and 26 (the last Thursday and Friday of that month). Dear Lana and Larry:
What a wonderful thing you are doing, making donations following our recent vacation home purchase! It has been clear to me since we first spoke that both of you were clearly kind people with strong family principles, and this certainly only adds to our high opinion of you!
We certainly appreciated all the work you did to finalize our purchase. With us being at a distance, you took care of every detail willingly, going that "extra mile" to be sure all of the necessary work was done. It made it so much easier for us, and we always felt as if we were in good hands.
Thank you for your time and dedication. We certainly hope to see you when we are at the lake enjoying our new get-away.

Catlin Jones Crowned As 62nd Farm Queen At Garrett Co. Fair

Catlin (Catie) Jones was crowned as the 62nd Garrett County Farm Queen during a ceremony at the Garrett County Fair. Andrea Steyer was named as the first runner-up.

Catie is the daughter of Johnny and Kim Jones of Oakland. She and her family raise custom beef and hogs.

Catie will be a senior at Southern High School this fall, where she is enrolled in the agricultural management program.

She is an active member of the Southern Garrett FFA Chapter, having held various offices. She is also a member of the Red House 4-H Club.

Catie has been an exhibitor at the Garrett County Fair for six years, showing market steers and pigs, as well as entering indoor exhibits.

She noted that she never aspired to be the farm queen before.

"Actually, I said I would never do it," she admitted. "I don't like being all dressed up."

However, at the last minute, she decided that it would be a good experience for her, and she decided to enter.

She said that once she was up on the stage with all the other girls, who were dressed up as well, it wasn't so bad.

"It was an honor for me to be chosen," Catie said. "I thought there were other girls who were just as farm-oriented as I was, if not more."

She noted that her first week as farm queen has been very busy and tiring, but it has been fun. She is thankful that she had her younger sister Jenny to help her get her steer ready for showing this year.

Her advice to other girls who may want compete for the farm queen title in the future is to "be yourself. Don't try to impress someone just because you want something. You have to want it for yourself."

First runner-up Andrea Steyer is the daughter of Randall and Kay Steyer of Oakland. She and her family operate a dairy farm where they milk 60 Holstein cows and raise replacement heifers.

Andrea is actively involved in many of the activities associated with the farming operation, and owns 25 of her own dairy animals.

She will be a senior at Southern High School, where she is an active member of the FFA Chapter, serving as the current president. She is also a member of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club.

Other contestants were as follows:

Rachel Schmidt is the daughter of John and Darlene Schmidt, Accident. The family operates a beef farm.

As a 4-H'er, Rachel was active in showing market livestock as well as rabbits and dairy animals. She owns several registered Angus and Holstein cattle of her own. Having completed her 4-H career, she continues to be involved as a volunteer leader.

Rachel is a student at Garrett College in the wildlife program. She plans to transfer to West Virginia University after completing her studies at Garrett.

Kasondra Broadwater is the daughter of Jearl and Sharon Barnette, Accident. She has been a member of the Grantsville 4-H Club for 5 years, where she has been enrolled in market livestock projects.

She is also a member of the Northern Garrett FFA Chapter. This fall, she will be a senior at Northern High School, where she is studying medical technology and will serve as the senior class secretary. She will also be enrolled in college level courses through the distance-learning program.

Hannah Sines is the daughter of Kevin and Rebecca Sines, Accident. She has been a member of the Snowy Creek 4-H Club for 8 years. She started showing market livestock animals at the Garrett County Fair when she was 9 years old, and she also helps on her grandfather's farm.

Hannah will be a junior at Northern High School this fall in the Allied Health program. She will serve as class secretary, and is actively involved in school organizations and athletics. She plans to attend West Virginia University and major in radiology.

Sarah Brenneman is the daughter of Jim and Lisa Brenneman, Oakland. She is a member of the Red House 4-H Club and Southern Garrett FFA Chapter. She has been an exhibitor at

Sweet Rewards Scholarship Award Given

For the fifth year, the Sweet Rewards Scholarship Award was presented by Don and Pam Adams of McHenry during the 4-H awards ceremony. They have agreed to provide the award for 20 years.

Participation in the program has grown from three the first year to over 10 in subsequent years.

Don and Pam live in Carroll County, but have been active weekend residents in McHenry over the last 27 years. In 2002, they purchased Klotz Farm and renamed it to Sweet Rewards Farm. They raise pygmy and boer goats, as well as red angus cattle on their farm in Carroll County.

"With Garrett County being such an agricultural environment, we felt it was important to help teach students to carry on this tradition and keep agriculture active in the community to continue to help the Garrett County economy," the couple said.

This year, nine 4-H members applied for the scholarship award. The requirements for the scholarship were that the student must be 18 years old or under, must have participated in a 4-H goat program, and must submit an essay.

"This year's award winners was difficult to choose, as so many good essays were submitted," the couple said. "However, there could be only one winner."

The award was presented to Levi Lantz. He received a framed certificate of excellence and a check for $500.

Each 4-H and FFA member who participated also received a framed certificate of achievement.

Other applicants included Aaron Lantz, Amanda Beitzel, Barry Upole, Alana Morgan, J.B. Gnegy, Tara Marple, Jessie Simson, and Becky Berkebile.

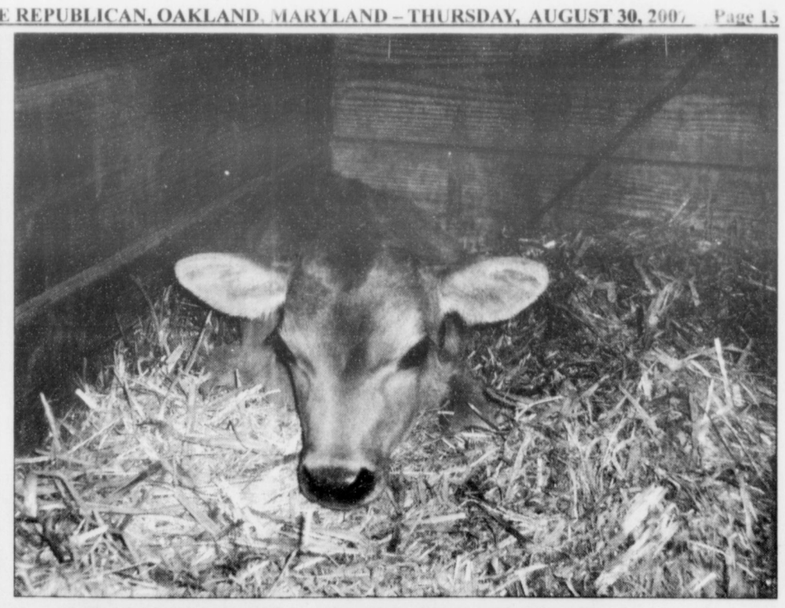
A LITTLE TEAMWORK is often necessary on the farm, and also at the Garrett County Fair. This little calf apparently had experienced a cold shower earlier, and was not thrilled at the prospect of having another one. Quite a bit of coaxing was required to get him to cooperate. Photo by Brenda Ruggiero.



A REAL GLAMOUR SHOT — This little Jersey calf entered the world at the very beginning of fair week, and was a popular exhibit in the dairy barn.

NOTHIN' COULD BE FINER than a great week at the Garrett County Fair, complete with warm days, cool nights, and plenty of refreshments — even for the pigs.

THE PRIDE OF WEST VIRGINIA TO MARCH AT SOUTHERN HIGH! The West Virginia Marching Band, also known as the Pride of West Virginia, has been scheduled to perform at the Southern Garrett Marching Band's Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, held annually during the Autumn Glory Festival weekend. The 375-piece group from WVU will serve as the featured band at Southern's Oct. 13 event, performing while the scores are tabulated for all bands competing in the tournament. The performance is being sponsored by the Southern Band Boosters, with the support of several area organizations and individuals. The Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club has already stepped in to assist in the effort, offering to feed the entire group of 404 guests. Others have also extended assistance, and will be recognized as the event nears. The Band Boosters are in need of monetary donations to help present the show. See story. Photo by Chris Southard, WVU Band.

Rabid Bear Shot For Threatening Behavior; Then Euthanized By NRP

Following a near bear attack reported last Wednesday evening, Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) announced they will not charge the Amish Road man who shot the rabid bear after it charged him and his wife and then attempted to come through a window after the couple sought refuge inside their home.

This brings the total number of positive rabies cases to four this year, according to Stephen Sherrard, director of the Garrett County Environmental Health Service.

NRP Sgt. Ken Turner said Friday that the husband and wife heard commotion outside their house and then saw a bear trying to get at two penned goats.

"The man said he shouted at the bear and the bear turned and ran toward the couple. He told the investigating officer that he was glad nobody was seated on the porch because the bear moved so quickly that they would not have had time to get into the house," Turner said.

The bear then attempted to pull an air conditioning unit out of the window frame as the wife held on to the unit from inside.

The husband grabbed a shotgun, loaded it with No. 4 pellets, and shot through the window at the bear, according to Turner.

"They had every right to do what they did," said Clarissa Harris, a biologist with the Maryland Wildlife and Heritage Service. "It is appropriate to defend yourself or your family or your livestock."

The couple called Maryland State Police at 7:30 p.m., and at 8 p.m. an NRP officer arrived to find the

Child Pornography Charges Handed To McHenry Man

A year-long child pornography case resulted in the arrest of a McHenry man on federal charges on Aug. 14.

In September of 2006, the Garrett Bureau of Investigation (GBI) received information that John Ray Manning, 28, was in possession of child pornography. Detectives of the GBI unit investigated the complaint, and on Sept. 25, a search and seizure warrant was executed on a computer located in Manning's residence.

During a forensic examination in April of the computer, detectives located a large amount of child pornography. Due to the amount of child pornography, the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) was notified, and elected to join the GBI unit in the investigation

WVU's "Pride Of West Virginia" To Be Featured At Southern Band Tourney

The West Virginia University Mountaineer Marching Band will perform in Garrett County this fall, having agreed to be the featured performance of Southern Garrett Marching Band's annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, slated for Oct. 13 at the athletic field of Southern High School. Numerous attempts have been made in the last many years to have the band appear locally, but the group usually has a WVU football game over the Autumn Glory Festival weekend, or has other engagements. This year, however, the band was available and plans are under way.

The Southern Band Boosters will sponsor the performance, dedicating the show to the longtime leadership and efforts by Richard Clever, director of Southern's band since 1966.

The responsibilities of the boosters in arranging for the WVU Band to perform include feeding the group of 404 guests, paying a several-thousand-dollar fee, and making sure there will be ample parking and accommodations for the group at the field.

The Oakland/Mtn. Lake Lions Club, with a spearheading effort by Tom Kuhn, is already planning to feed the large group. Preliminary plans involve the Lions preparing barbecued chicken dinners for the band, and most likely serving them at the Wisp Resort, offered for this use by Karen Myers. Dave and Vicki Insley are coordinating the band tournament, and the WVU portion is being handled by Lisa Drummond (band booster vice president) and Mary McEwen (WVU band alumnus and booster member).

Senators Note Funding For Rt. 40 Expansion

U.S. Senators Benjamin L. Cardin and Barbara A. Mikulski (both D-MD) have announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will provide a total $47,360 in Rural Development Community Facility Grant funds to expand Hershberger Lane to U.S. Rt. 40 in Grantsville.

"It's important that western Maryland communities have the resources needed to expand important infrastructure to meet the needs of residents," said Senator Cardin. "This expansion will ensure better access to town hall, the park, businesses, and residences."

"This is a federal investment in western Maryland communities today and tomorrow," added Senator Mikulski. "I'm so proud that Garrett County will be able to use these funds to continue to develop and grow. I will continue to fight to keep Garrett County communities a priority in the federal checkbook."

Pedestrians Killed While Walking On Accident-Friendsville Road

Two pedestrians, a husband and wife, were struck and killed by a motor vehicle while walking on Accident-Friendsville Road Tuesday evening at 6:55.

The victims, identified as Kimberly Ann Minnick, 27, and Jerod Lee Minnick, 25, both of Accident, were just recently married.

Jerod worked at Wayne's Water n' Wells, for about six years, and Linda Bolden, owner of the well and spa company, described him as a dependable and reliable worker. He was one of the rescue workers at the Quecreek mine accident in Somerset County in 2002.

Kimberly was an employee of the Maryland State Highway Administration at the Keyser's Ridge Garage. Her co-workers considered her an outstanding employee and said that she would be "sorely missed."

Daniel Joseph Porter, 19, Swanton, was operating a 1993 Buick Park Avenue westbound on Accident-Friendsville Road, east of Texas Eastern Drive, when he struck and fatally injured the couple walking along the country roadway, which has little to no shoulder, according to Maryland State Police.

Preliminary investigation revealed that glaring sun was a factor in the accident, which is still under investigation by Tfc. G.D. Byrnes at the McHenry Barrack. At this time, alcohol, speed, and negligent driving do not appear to be factors in the accident.

The Accident Volunteer Fire Department and Northern Rescue Squad responded to the scene of the accident, and the Garrett County Sheriff's Office is assisting in the investigation. The next of kin were notified on the scene by the investigating officer.

The Newman Funeral Home, 179 Miller Street, Grantsville, is in charge of arrangements for the couple. Obituaries for the couple may be found on page A-6.

College Officials Cut Ribbon At New Laker Hall

by Mandy Geisler

Before a Friday afternoon ribbon-cutting ceremony of Garrett College's brand-spanking-new Lake: Hall dormitory, I received a private tour of the building (which smells like the interior a new car) from Ed Robinson, dean of student affairs.

Laker Hall, which opened on Sunday, will house 124 students. It consists of two and four bedroom apartment-style suites, with bathrooms and kitchens in each suite, and includes furniture, wireless Internet capabilities, laundry, air conditioning, and game rooms on the second and third floors.

While the bedrooms are small, the kitchen and common room provide enough open space to hold four eager scholars and their piles of books. And the first residents of the dorm will have the luxury of sleeping on unused mattresses—a college rarity.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF LANDSCAPE greets Allan Collins these days, far away from his homeland. Pictured above is Akre, located in Kurdistan, where former Garrett County resident Allan Collins is working for the government to advise on the operation of a modern corrections system. Collins noted that he reads The Republican online every week, and some of the pictures make him long to return.

EXCAVATION IS UNDER WAY at the site of the new Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department building. The total cost of the project will be approximately $2.6 million. A committee has been formed to help raise the additional funds that will be needed for the facility. See story for details.

Excavation has begun on a new facility for the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department. Work completed so far includes the excavation of the foundation and storm water management for the new building.

The facility will consist of a new area for fire trucks, a kitchen, and a new social hall. The total cost of the project will be approximately $2.6 million.

The fire department presently leases the basement of Fechheimer Shirt Factory in Grantsville, which is expanding and needs more space. The factory has asked GVFD to find another location as soon as possible.

A committee has been formed to help raise funds for the new building. Gerry Beachy, pharmacist and president of Beachy's Pharmacy in Grantsville and Fred Holliday, Garrett County commissioner, have agreed to co-chair the new committee.

A meeting was held recently, and the Grantsville Firehouse Committee was chosen as the name for the group.

Other volunteer members of the committee include Renee Bittinger, fire department auxiliary representative, who will serve as committee secretary; Allen Shapiro, manager of the Grantsville branch of First United Bank, serving as committee treasurer; Edna McKenzie, McKenzie Tax Service, who will serve as assistant treasurer; and Adam Rounds, fire department representative.

The committee members discussed different projects that will be used to raise funds for the new facility.

A special area within the building will be used to display a helmet plaque listing the following levels of tax deductible donations: Chief level, $25,000 or more; Deputy Chief level, $20,000; Captain level, $15,000; Lieutenant level, $10,000; Firefighter level, $5,000; and Junior Firefighter level, $1,000.

A special mention will be given to the individual or business donating the most money to the project. The new social hall in the facility will be named by that individual or business.

Letters will soon be sent out to area businesses and individuals requesting donations for the new fire department.

Gerry Beachy stated that it is important to have a state-of-the-art facility where modern equipment will be kept, always ready to fight fires or help accident victims.

"We have a very active group of firefighters in Grantsville who answer calls quickly, and the members are very dedicated individuals," he said. "They should have a modern facility in which to base their operations.

The committee encourages all individuals and businesses to donate to the cause. Donations can be sent to Grantsville Firehouse Committee, P.O. Box 189, Grantsville, 21536. Checks should be made out to Grantsville VFD, with "New Building Fund" written in the memo section of the check.

The committee will also accept pledges from individuals or businesses.

The Grantsville Firehouse Committee meets on the second Thursday of the month at the Grantsville Town Hall at 7 p.m. For more information, persons may call Gerry Beachy at 301-895-5387 or 301-895-5177.

Two Men Receive Illegal Hunting Charges On DCL

Two men were charged by Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) with hunting waterfowl near Skippers Point on Deep Creek Lake last Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Igor A. Shamatrin, 25, Baltimore, and Dmitrijs Korablovs, 28, Kissimmee, Fla., were both arrested after NRP received a complaint from a concerned citizen that two individuals were hunting ducks with a compound bow from a canoe. NRP located the two men in the canoe with three dead mallard ducks, a compound bow and arrows equipped with broadheads.

Shamatrin and Korablovs were both charged with hunting waterfowl during closed season and hunting in a state park where not permitted. Shamatrin was also charged with failure to carry personal flotation devices aboard the vessel. NRP seized the ducks, the compound bow and arrows as evidence.

A court date of Jan. 10, 2008, has been scheduled for Shamatrin and Korablovs in Garrett County District Court.

NRP reminds citizens that they can report illegal hunting activity 24 hours a day, seven days a week, by calling the Catch a Poacher Hotline at 1-800-635-6124. The anonymity of the caller is guaranteed.

Brooklyn Man Arrested On I-68 On Drug Charges

A Maryland State Police trooper arrested a driver on drug charges after the vehicle was stopped for traveling 87 miles per hour in a 65 mile per hour zone on eastbound I-68 near the one mile marker on Sunday at 2:31 p.m.

Upon contacting the driver, Tpr. T.W. Bell detected the odor of marijuana and a probable cause search revealed a small amount of suspected marijuana, as well as drug paraphernalia.

The driver, Edwin H. Douglas, 39, Brooklyn, N.Y., was also found to have a suspended driver's license. Douglas was arrested and transported to the McHenry Barrack. He is currently at the Garrett County Detention Center awaiting a bond review before a District Court commissioner.

Woman And Child Sustain Injuries In Car Crash On I-68

A West Virginia woman and a 2-year-old toddler were injured in motor vehicle collision along I-68 at the 6 mile marker Tuesday.

The single-vehicle accident occurred just before the Friendsville exit, when Christine E. Johnson, 35, Falling Waters, lost control of her vehicle while traveling east.

Johnson's 1998 Honda Civic crossed three lanes of traffic, striking the median guardrail, and overturning several times before coming to a stop in the westbound lanes, according to the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack.

Johnson and child were transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by Northern Rescue Squad, where they were treated and released. The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the accident.

Rt. 219 Collision Yields No Injuries; One Driver Charged

The Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack responded to a 6:21 p.m. accident Monday on Rt. 219, south of Jasper Riley Road.

According to reports, a 1965 Ford driven by James Rush, 62, Friendsville, was traveling southbound on Rt. 219, and stopped to yield to traffic before turning left. A second vehicle, driven by Jason Rohrbaugh, was traveling behind Rush and failed to reduce its speed before striking the rear end of Rush's vehicle.

Rohrbaugh was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision. The crash resulted in no injuries.

Also responding to the scene of the accident were Southern Garrett Volunteer Rescue Squad and Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

Woman Arrested For Trespassing And Assault

Oakland Police arrested a Friendsville woman at a Liberty Street residence Wednesday night after she was reported trespassing by the owner of the home.

Ruth Ann Passman, 47, had been asked numerous times by the homeowner to leave the premises. She repeatedly refused, and then she allegedly assaulted him.

When they arrived, police also told Passman to leave several times, but she again refused. She was arrested and taken to the detention center.

She was charged with second degree assault, trespassing, and failure to obey a lawful order. She was later released without bond.

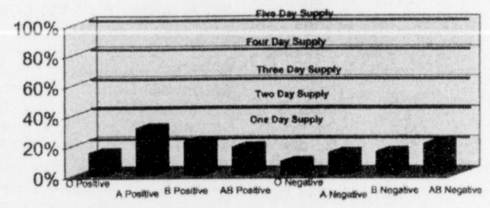
BLOOD DONOR APPEAL
SEPTEMBER 5, 2007
Inventories of four blood types stand at critical or severe levels, with less than a day's supply in reserve for nearly 100 hospitals in our area: O positive, O negative, A negative and B negative.



For example, this means that without additional blood donations, the current supply of Type O negative available for hospital patients would last only 12 hours!
Get the word out! Make sure people know how important it is for everyone to donate immediately.
Because of such low shortages we have issued an emergency appeal for donors and extended hours of certain blood drives in the upcoming days.

Separation Yields Weakness...

Opening its doors for the first time this week was the Khalil Gibran International Academy in Brooklyn, N.Y., and certainly not without controversy. The Arab-language, culture-focused school has faced major criticism, primarily because it is a public school. Critics say public schools in the United States should not have a single cultural focus, that the school may be in violation of the separation of church and state, and that in the minds of some, it could become a training ground for terrorists, all financed by the U.S. taxpayer.

While the latter fear may be a tad farfetched, the first principal of the school – who quickly resigned – certainly did not help matters when she allowed the sale of T-shirts that had the word "intifada" on them. While the literal translation of the word is a seemingly harmless "shake off," it is also a common Arabic term for the Palestinian uprising against Israel – hardly appropriate for display in any public school.

Whether or not this particular school starts churning out new, young terrorists at the expense of the public tax dollar, its opening nonetheless signals some disturbing trends in the United States. First of all, it will be extremely difficult to focus on Arab culture without invoking some level of hostility toward Jews/Israel. Will its teachers, for example, refer to Hamas militants as "freedom fighters"? Will it label Israel an apartheid state? Any remote sense of hostility projected toward Israel would then logically be projected toward its ally, the United States.

Secondly, maintaining the legally required separation of church and state will also be difficult in this new school since so much of the Arab culture is based directly upon its religion and religious history.

But perhaps the most disturbing trend concerns language, and making the decision to fund and operate public schools that teach its students via a language other than English. This is certainly happening in the U.S. with more schools than Khalil Gibran, and with other languages, particularly Spanish.

English is the language of the United States, and should remain so. While our shores and borders should remain open to immigrants of all nations (with proper documentation and controls), those who choose to live here need to learn English, and should not expect the government (ergo, the taxpayer) to provide schools in which instruction is given in their native tongue, whatever it may be. We can't afford it, and with immigrants from so many different nations, where would we draw the line? One need only look to our northern neighbor Canada to find out how many difficulties and excessive costs have been created by just a two-language society.

America has always been called the "melting pot," but without a common language, we will soon be a nation of many groups, all separated by language, culture, religion, and philosophies. That separation will ultimately yield weakness as a nation.

Ironically, English is the language that is most taught throughout the world, ever more so in recent years as we progress into the inevitable global economy. Students in scores of nations receive English instruction in all 12 years of their schooling. And there is certainly no objection to providing extra assistance to immigrants who are working to learn the language.

There is great value in native Americans learning other languages, and doing so should continue to be encouraged in our school systems. But it is crucial that the United States maintain the use of English as its primary language and insist that newcomers learn it as well.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Following the fire that destroyed St. Ann Catholic Church in Grantsville last December, neighbors and friends in the surrounding community came forth immediately with offers of assistance and support. That generosity continues in the form of donations from individuals and groups.

When the doors to the church building on New Germany Road closed, other venues opened to allow our church to continue to meet and celebrate our faith. Carol and Lynn Newman graciously invited us to use an elegantly appointed space in their funeral home for our Sunday masses.

Local church congregations, as well as those from across the state and the tri-state area, have continued to send donations for our rebuilding efforts. While we have sent out "thank-you" notes to all these people, we wanted to also send this public "thank you" for all the financial and spiritual support we have received.

The staff and members of St. Ann deeply appreciate the prayers and assistance as we move forward in faith to rebuild our church.

Thank you to all.

To the Editor:

You had better think twice about attending the Art and Wine Festival this Saturday at the Garrett County Fairgrounds! The wine tasting benefits a great cause – The American Red Cross. The festival has been given a blessing from local government officials.

So why think twice? Sounds like a wonderful afternoon. Wine tasting and local artisans proudly display their work.

Heading to Oakland after the festival? Good luck! Sounds like entrapment to me.

To the Editor:

Thank you for your wonderful section on the county fair in last week's edition. I deeply appreciate the thorough listing and many photos of the kids and their livestock, along with the other items from the fair.

Along with our 19 churches in Garrett, Allegany, and Mineral counties, we have a free baby comfort station service at the Garrett and Allegany fairs each year. Being a farm boy from North Carolina, the Garrett Fair has a warm spot in my heart, as it is so agricultural and geared toward Garrett's farm kids.

Also, I have a warm spot in my heart for The Republican, as I think you are doing a good job of helping preserve the Mountaintop's farm heritage, in the face of more people and money moving in, especially in the lake area.

God bless you!

To the Editor:

What a disappointment at the Garrett Co. Fair this year. The Gaithers gospel singers were scheduled for 2-4 p.m. in the tent. I arrived around 1:30 p.m. at the tent, which was half full of tractors. There were approximately 20 chairs set up. When the singers arrived, they asked for more chairs; they brought about 20 more. More chairs were asked for – around 2:45 p.m. a few more chairs were set up. There were approximately 50 seniors who had to stand up for the entire program. The Gaithers were told they had to be out by 3 p.m. (not 4 p.m. as the schedule said.) And there would be no gospel singing on Thursday because the tent would be filled with tractors.

Is this any way to treat your senior people, or the Gaithers? Next year we'd like better accommodations.

Fair Board members, are you listening?

We enjoyed looking at all the exhibits and the animals. And we always patronize the food vendors.

To the Editor:

Sitting down with last week's edition of The Republican (Aug. 30), I read and re-read with great interest Tony Jefferson's letter to the editor profoundly and forcefully renouncing...well, I have no idea what he was renouncing, actually. The point is he was fired up enough to turn some of the most intriguingly uninterpretable phrases ever muttered, at least by someone who could find a mailbox. What change does Mr. Jefferson seek in stating: "This Reich's money and sacred 'warning labels' should purchase some new soul"? Is there a Constitutional dimension to his asking: "Isn't it 'we the people' who consume the store?" Is he seeking sympathy or acclaim in writing: "Lead me down paths to destiny for caring about a sludge foundation"? What about the equally baffling but engaging: "Arrest me for disturbing your naïve picnic"?

Please, Mr. Jefferson, for the sake of all of us who enjoy fresh writing, stay engaged with your world and find additional injustices...or whatever they are...on which to take a stand. Then state your position with your trademark clarity in the good pages of The Republican. Your new fans are waiting.

Sincerely,
Robert Conlan

To the Editor:

A State Highway Administration notice in the newspaper notes that bridge work is to be undertaken on the Route 40 Alternate Casselman River bridge at Grantsville. During this period, all pedestrian, bicycle, and horse-drawn traffic is to be rerouted over the adjacent stone Casselman River Bridge.

This Casselman River bridge was constructed between the years 1813 to 1815. At 80 feet, it was the longest single-span stone arched bridge in the nation at the time of its erection. Its pronounced arch caused some concern that the bridge might collapse once the supporting timbers were removed. As legend has it, David Shriver Jr., superintendent of the National Road, had the key supporting structure quietly removed the night before the public opening. He stood beneath the arch and proclaimed that he might as well be dead anyway if the bridge failed.

The bridge stood and served as a major link along the National Road from 1813 to 1933, when a new steel truss bridge was erected on U.S. Route 40. The Casselman River Bridge was eventually closed to all vehicular traffic in about 1953.

I don't know about you, but I find it absolutely amazing that after over 190 years this bridge is still serving the purpose for which it was built.

To the Editor:

The "Garrett Countians for Smart Growth" should change their name to "Oakland Residents Against the Proposed Bypass." They aren't concerned about wasted funds for a performing arts complex at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, moving the Garrett County detention center to the present county roads facility, monies it will cost to transport prisoners back and forth, the town of Oakland spending $9,000 on a "kiddie train" that is covered up most of the time (not utilized), the town of Oakland spending money for lights around a walking trail that can only be used mainly in warm weather months when it's daylight longer, needing a 4-way-stop (intersection) at the dangerous intersections of Fourth Street and Memorial Drive in Oakland, other wasted monies spent at Deep Creek Lake, ruining its natural beauty with condos, and so on. Nor, are they concerned with how the residents of the northern end of Garrett County feel, or are they trying to get a special election held?

It seems that they are more worried with what the non-full-time residents say, splitting up Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park (something done a long time ago when each town became incorporated), and businesses being affected in Oakland. As Mr. Adrian of Adrian's Market in Hopwood, Pa., said, "It taught me more marketing skills." Marketing involves pricing. Prices need to be lowered so full-time residents and poor residents can afford things in Oakland. Wal-Mart needs some competition. If Sheetz wants to build elsewhere, then let them, and support local merchants like Markwood, Get-N-Go, Short Stop, and so on.

As far as farms being affected by the proposed bypass, where are there any real working farms in the city limits of Oakland?

I'm glad this group wasn't around when Oakland was established, or Oakland wouldn't exist.

To the Editor:

The 51st Garrett County Fair is behind us, and I know that my fellow board members are breathing a well-deserved sigh of relief. The board considers this year's fair a success, despite some short-lived growing pains that accompany change of any kind. The attendance was consistent with that of prior years, and the weather was nearly perfect.

As is true with any similar undertaking, it is nearly impossible to avoid an occasional mistake. For those shortcomings that were called to our attention, I think we collectively worked hard to right any errors that were made. We appreciate everyone who brought their concerns to us in a spirit of cooperation. Your feedback will help us continually improve.

Since joining the board, I have become aware of the fact that many people are under the impression that the fair generates large profits year after year. In reality, the opposite is really true. When everything is said and done, the numbers in the income and expense columns are sometimes too close for comfort. Another little known fact is that we are an all-volunteer board, and it is with that level of dedication the Garrett County Fair exists.

We are proud of the improvements that have been made to the facilities over the past several years. Those improvements are a testament to the level of commitment of the board and the faithful volunteers who support the fair. I am proud, and at the same time humbled, to say that, without exception, the improvements made to the buildings and facilities would not have happened without the contribution of time, talent, and funds from the fair's faithful supporters. Literally tens of thousands of dollars have been donated toward these improvements, in the form of cash and donated materials, use of equipment needed in the projects, and volunteer labor to make the projects happen.

Knowing all of this, when folks accuse the board of being greedy, and focused only on the "almighty dollar," I will admit it stings pretty deeply. Those comments are discouraging to the very people who work the hardest to make certain that the fair continues year after year.

I would invite anyone who wants a first-hand view of what it really takes to sustain the Garrett County Fair year after year to join us as a volunteer. I suspect it will be an eye-opening experience.

See you at the 2008 Garrett County Fair!

Sincerely,
Debra Friend,
President

To the Editor:

Voter registration is a very important topic which is usually not discussed. I am the chair of voter registration for the Garrett County Republican Central Committee.

"Why vote?" "My vote doesn't count." "They don't listen to me anyway." These are all responses I hear when I ask people to vote. As a person who has been elected to office, I can stress that a few votes go a long way, especially in local elections. The sheriff's race was decided by fewer than 20 votes. If only a few more had voted either way, the results could have completely changed. This is an example of how voting is important.

Our American government is a two-party, bicameral, voter-elected republic. This means the government is chosen by the voting citizens of the country. If enough people vote the same way, it creates a voting block. This allows their opinions to be voiced through their votes. Elected officials listen to those who vote. You decide if they get elected by voting for them, and this means a lot.

Why have a two-party system? The Republicans and the Democrats are our nation's two main parties. Many say they are independent and do not vote with either party. I say this is a false assumption since both parties have multiple facets within them that allow all options to be voiced on either side. Having more than two parties is dangerous to democracy. Adolf Hitler was elected by less than a majority of the vote and was able to take power because the German government had so many parties that it split the vote up so much, he won by a small margin. This stresses the importance of having an elected republic with two parties, the right and the left, and why every vote does count. If more people voted, Hitler would have never been able to cause so much devastation.

Please register and vote at election time. Your opinion matters and can be voiced through your vote. To register to vote, go to your local post office, MVA, or county elections board to pick up an application. Answer a few questions and mail it in. It is that easy. Please contact Brandon Butler, committee chair, or me via e-mail at Brandon_butler@hotmail.com or edclemonsjr@yahoo.com, or call the Garrett County Board of Elections.

Data Reveal Mixed Progress In Maryland's Baby Health Trends

by Andy Zieminski
Capital News Service

Maryland's rates of teen births and infant mortality have both dropped since 1997, but the number of underweight babies born in the state in the same time has gone up, according to a report presented Tuesday to lawmakers.

But even the good news in the report was tempered by racial disparities, with blacks lagging in every category and Hispanic teens giving birth at rates far above the state average.

"It looks like a lot of progress has been made. But clearly there's more that can be done," said Sen. Robert J. Garagiola, D-Montgomery, co-chair of the Joint Committee on Children, Youth, and Families, which received the report.

The increase in low-birthweight babies is troubling, officials told the committee, because those infants can have more serious health problems that can cost parents, hospitals, and taxpayers thousands of extra dollars.

Delivering an underweight baby costs a hospital about $65,000, compared to $10,000 for a regular-weight baby, said Sen. Richard S. Madaleno Jr., D-Montgomery. Additional costs pile up for critical care and the host of conditions that low-birthweight babies are more likely to develop later on.

Underweight babies – defined as 5.5 pounds or less – run a higher risk of cerebral palsy, cognitive impairment, and respiratory and behavioral problems as they grow older, said Department of Disabilities Secretary Catherine A. Raggio.

Statewide, 9.4 percent of births in 2006 were underweight, up from 8.8 percent in 1997. Maryland was consistently higher than the national average in years for which national numbers were available.

Within the state, Baltimore City and Prince George's, Somerset, Wicomico, and Dorchester counties posted the highest rates of underweight births from 2000 to 2005, according to the report.

While underweight births were rising, the infant mortality rate fell from 8.6 deaths in every 1,000 births in 1997 to 7.9 deaths per 1,000 in 2006. Births to teens dropped from 43.9 to 33.6 per 1,000, the report said.

The report focused on teen births, infant mortality, and low birthweight because those are "three unambiguous measures of performance" in ensuring babies are born healthy, said state Health Secretary John M. Colmers.

While teen birth and infant mortality rates improved overall, serious discrepancies remain when they are broken down by race.

Infant mortality affected blacks at about twice the rate for all races. The leading causes of infant mortality include birth defects as well as complications that can be the result of anything from the parents' genetics to substance abuse.

Madaleno pointed to one "amazing" statistic showing that babies born to black women with college degrees from 2002 to 2004 were more likely to die as infants than babies born to white women without a high school diploma.

"Frankly, we don't know what's going on," Colmers said, adding that high mortality among black infants was a nationwide problem, not one unique to Maryland.

While the teen birth rate fell to 3.4 percent, the rate among Hispanics skyrocketed. In 2006, nearly one in 10 Hispanic girls between 15 and 19 had a baby, according to the report.

Delegate Ana Sol Gutierrez, D-Montgomery, called it "horrible news for the Latino community."

The report also included recommendations for policymakers, with a special emphasis on expanding teen pregnancy prevention programs and perinatal care services throughout the state. It did not estimate what those recommendations might cost at a time when Maryland is facing a $1.5 billion deficit.

Special Events

The births of three area babies were announced this week, one boy and two girls.

A daughter, Morgan Elaine, was born to Benjamin and Amanda (Delaney) Grose, Clarksburg, W.Va., on Sept. 5 at United Hospital Center, Clarksburg. The paternal grandparents are Bill and Patti Grose, Cranesville, W.Va. Maternal grandparents are Earlie and Beverly Delaney, Clarksburg.

A daughter was born to Michael (II) and Amanda (Fazenbaker) Sweitzer, Accident, on Aug. 28 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Maximilian Thomas, was born to Chris and Kris (Keplinger) Hardesty, Rowlesburg, W.Va., on Aug. 16 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Adorable Adoptables

Childhood Obesity Prevention Class To Be Offered

A one-day course focusing on the prevention and treatment of childhood obesity through various levels of intervention is being offered by the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension and Garrett College.

Registered dietitians Dr. Jennifer Bentlejewski, Ann Sherrard, MPH, and Abbi Kifer will provide an interactive training focused on the contributing factors and prevalence of childhood obesity. Practical prevention strategies will address the roles that parents, child care professionals, teachers, healthcare providers, and the environment play in the prevention of childhood obesity.

The free training will be held at the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad hall in Mtn. Lake Park on Tuesday, Oct. 2, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Registration is required. To reserve a seat, persons may call 301-334-6960. Continuing education units are available.

For additional health and nutrition information, persons may contact Bentlejewski at the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

Community mental health organizations already face a serious staffing shortage, and looming state budget cuts could make the situation even more dire, advocates told lawmakers Wednesday.

"There's a serious shortage in mental health overall," said Herb Cromwell, executive director of Community Behavioral Health Association of Maryland.

But because the public mental health system is at the low end of the totem pole, "that shortage is particularly acute," he said after a meeting of the Joint Committee on Access to Mental Health Services.

Some agencies in the state have gone several years without a child psychiatrist or have stopped taking psychiatric referrals for weeks, Cromwell told the committee. One organization lost five employees in the last year to state agencies.

Now, with a budget shortfall of up to $1.5 billion looming, those organizations soon may have even less funds to hire and retain quality employees, he and others said.

Community-based agencies also have to compete with state agencies, which pay employees significantly higher wages – between 11 and 18 percent more when hired, and 8 to 15 percent more after three years, said Graham Atkinson, technical consultant for the state's Community Services Reimbursement Rate Commission.

Many community organizations pay less than the state's living wage, which will require state contractors to pay employees $11.30 per hour in urban areas after Oct. 1. The community organizations will not be affected by that law.

"We pay rehabilitation assistants $9.75 per hour and rehabilitation counselors $11 per hour," said Lori Doyle, chief of operations for Baltimore County-based Mosaic Community Services.

She said dozens of employees in the last year either left Mosaic in less than three months or did not show up for their first day of work, often because of the low salary.

And a law passed this year requires that employees at youth group homes complete a state-licensed training program.

Jim McComb, executive director of the Maryland Association of Resources for Families and Youth, applauded that move, but also said Maryland should raise both standards and pay for group homes.

"It is wrong to say you have to be certified, then say we can't pay you any more," McComb said.

But advocates fear that help, at least from the state budget, is not on the way.

The General Assembly in 2006 mandated that the state increase fees paid to community service providers each year to cover a cost-of-living increase. Most providers use those funds to target the staffing shortage, Cromwell said.

But the law said that cost-of-living adjustment, which is set by Atkinson's commission, "was subject to the limitations of the state budget." Community-based mental health providers received the full 4 percent recommended for fiscal 2007, but in fiscal 2008 that adjustment was cut to 2 percent, almost half what the rate commission advocated.

Now, with the state striving to close its budget deficit, next year's adjustment is in danger of being eliminated.

"We'll always be vulnerable" as long as the cost-of-living adjustment is not required, Cromwell said.

Sen. Delores Kelley, D-Baltimore County, co-chair of the joint committee, has said the recommended adjustment should be mandatory, a position she reiterated Wednesday.

"Our workforce needs are so massive," Kelley said.

But mental health advocates, while appreciative of that support, fear the cost-of-living increase might be only the first of many cutbacks.

"We're the first in line when cuts come," said Mosaic's Doyle. "And when the state's doing well, we're always last in line."

Making Informed Decisions About Prostate Cancer

by Diane Lee,
Public Information Officer
Garrett Co. Health Dept.

Many men know that 2008 Republican presidential candidate Rudy Guliani and former Secretary of State Colin Powell are prostate cancer survivors. But many of us also know men who have lost their battle against this cancer.

These events have broadened public awareness, reports Dr. William Pope, deputy health officer at the Garrett County Health Department.

The American Cancer Society projects approximately 218,890 new cases, and that 27,050 men will die from prostate cancer in the United States in 2007. The report also estimates that about 4,690 new cases and 540 deaths of prostate cancer will occur in Maryland during 2007, which is higher than the 2006 estimates.

While the chance of getting prostate cancer increases as a man gets older, there are also other factors that may increase that risk, including family history and race. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that one in six men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer, and one in 33 men will die from it. Men with a father or brother who had prostate cancer are more likely to develop prostate cancer, and it is more common among African-Americans than among whites.

The American Cancer Society encourages men to learn as much they can about their personal risks for prostate cancer and to talk to their doctors about options for early screening and potential complications of diagnosis and treatment in order to make an informed decision about their health.

"Our job is to educate men about prostate cancer and encourage them to initiate an open dialogue with their doctors about prostate cancer," Dr. Pope said. "Although early prostate cancer does not often result in symptoms, CDC reports that if symptoms do appear, they may include: blood in the urine; the need to urinate frequently, especially at night; weak or interrupted urine flow; pain or burning feeling while urinating; the inability to urinate; and constant pain in the lower back, pelvis, or upper thighs."

For more information about prostate cancer screening, persons are encouraged to telephone the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7775 or 301-895-3111.

Farming On The Mountaintop

County Named As Disaster Area, EM Monies Available

The USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) in Maryland has announced that Garrett County has been designated as contiguous to counties in West Virginia declared as primary natural disaster areas because of losses caused by continuing drought that began May 15. The announcement was recently made by Elizabeth Anderson, state executive director for the Farm Service Agency.

All qualified farm operators are eligible for EM loans, provided eligibility requirements are met.

Farmers in Garrett County have eight months from the date of the declaration to apply for the loans to help cover part of their actual losses. FSA will consider each loan application on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available, and repayment ability. FSA has a variety of programs available, in addition to the emergency loan program, to help eligible farmers recover from adversity.

USDA has also made other programs available to assist farmers and ranchers, including the Emergency Conservation Program, Federal Crop Insurance, and the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program.

Interested farmers may also contact their local USDA Service Centers for further information on eligibility requirements and application procedures for these and other programs. Additional information is also available at disaster.fsa.usda.gov.
